GRIM POLICE DIARY OF DEATH

A Little Girl Was Forever Lost

By GEORGE FLOWERS

"A little girl is lost."

The night desk sergeant at the Torrance Police Department heard these words on July 3. His reaction was that of any father or mother of any child. A chill fell upon him.

What happened from 7:45 that night should be of interest to any one who has fathered or mothered a child. Unfortunately, it is typical of what happens when such a frantic message reaches any policing agency in Southern California—a land, alas, known for its crimes against children.

The log of the Torrance Police Department, made public exclusively to The Independent, Press-Telegram, tells the story from 7:45 p.m. It goes like this:

July 3, 7:45 p.m.: Citizen Brown, by telephone, reports his daughter, Dorothy Gale, missing. Car dispatched.

8:10 p.m.: Car reports search under way. Neighbors assisting.

1 a.m.: Brown girl, 11, unfound.

7:20 a.m.: All available personnel dispatched to trailer court. Area search under way.

7:50 a.m.: List of friends of Brown family now in hands of searchers.

9:00 a.m.: Command post for searchers now established in trailer park. All off-duty policemen called to scene.

9:10 a.m.: Command post detail interviewing juvenile friends of Brown girl. Picture, procured from family, made available to newspapers.

9:10 a.m.: Off-duty policemen arriving. Search started of nearby apartment houses and courts.

9:15 a.m.: Personnel available. Squads organized to search nearby fields, railroad track areas.

9:15 a.m.: Better picture of lost girl delivered by family. Made available to newspapers, television.

9:15 a.m.: Harbor detail, Los Angeles Police Department, offers help. Accepted.

9:18 p.m.: Chief Bennett orders reserves to report.

9:19 p.m.: This is the Fourth of July, a holiday?

Final Repose for Dorothy

By ED KENYON

Bill Brown and his wife, Charlene, spent Saturday going over arrangements for the funeral of their only daughter, who less than a week ago was a happy 11-year-old girl who loved kittens, collected Elvis Presley records and was spoiled just a little by her parents.

Now Dorothy Gale Brown, called Gale by her mother and father is dead. Her murderer is still unknown, and the hopes that he will be found dwindle by the hour.

Funeral services at 11 a.m. Monday at the Stone and Myers Mortuary in Torrance will be conducted by the Rev. Ted Hicks, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in National City and the husband of Brown's sister. Burial will be in Roosevelt Memorial Park in Gardena.

Talking about final arrangements for their daughter's funeral with reporters, the Browns expressed hope that it would not attract a crowd of the morbidly curious.

* * * *

WHILE THEY were making funeral arrangements, the Browns also made plans to dispose of all of Gale's possessions.

"We're going to give all her things away," said Brown, a 38-year-old aircraft worker at North American Aviation. "We don't want anything around where we'll see it, so we'll probably give it all to some relief agency."

There was an occasional choke in his voice as he mentioned some of Gale's possessions, possessions that gave a hint about the life and personality of the smiling girl with the long blonde hair who dis-

How Hunt for Killer Goes On:

Investigators into the kidnap-murder of Dorothy Gale Brown, 11, Saturday were seeking:

To pinpoint the area where her nude body was cast into the sea Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. The U.S. Coast & Geodetic Survey was asked by Orange County officers to estimate the location by plotting sea currents and their directions.

The remainder of her clothing. Still missing since her dress and hairband were found at Bolsa Bay south of Long Beach were slip, panties, bra and sandals.

The child, who could not swim, drowned after she either fell or was thrown into the Pacific from a boat, investigators theorize.

L. B. Youth Killed on Drag Strip

A 22-year-old Long Beach youth was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control while traveling nearly 150 miles an hour and slammed into a light pole at a drag strip in El Monte.

Bruce Woodcock, 3532 Lewis Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at El Monte Medical Center.

The mishap occurred at the San Gabriel Valley drag strip located off Rivergrade Road about three miles north of the San Bernardino freeway.

Dead was Virginia Smith, 18. Her husband was booked on suspicion of murder at Foothill Police Station.

TOKYO (UPI)—Central and southern Japan got a respite Saturday from week-long rains but the death toll from floods and landslides rose to 52.

Red Atomic Sub Fleet Stirs Fear

Great Progress Made by Russ, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said Saturday Russia was making "enormous progress" in turning out nuclear-powered submarines.

The "growing number" of those Soviet subs poses one of the greatest challenges to the U.S. defense effort, he said in a radio-television interview.

Antisubmarine warfare, Jackson said, will present a formidable problem to the U.S. "It's going to take even a greater number of men, ships and submarines to combat this kind of threat to the heartland of the United States."

* * * *

JACKSON is chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee's subcommittee on weapons and in this capacity ordered a special study of submarine warfare a couple of years ago.

He said it was difficult to ascertain at present whether the Russians can match the U.S. Polaris submarines' ability to fire missiles from underwater.

But Jackson said there was "no doubt that they will have this capability ultimately," stressing the danger to the United States' heartland.

Jackson said he believes the U.S. has enough of a "survivable" retaliatory force to withstand an enemy nuclear attack and destroy the Soviet homeland.

* * * *

HE SAID, however, that he felt the United States will want to increase the number of Polaris submarines now planned for the fleet. Those 41, he said, are being produced very rapidly and should be completed by the end of 1964 or 1965.

Jackson's comments represented the first recent appraisal of Russian submarine strength by a knowledgeable U.S. authority. Until recently U.S. authorities did not believe the Soviets had nuclear submarines in operation, although it long has been assumed that they would eventually build them.

High A-Test Postponed Fourth Time

Unsuitable weather was blamed for the postponement until 5 a.m. Monday EDT.

Saturday's postponement came about eight hours before the shot was scheduled to take place.

Algiers Cheers Leftists

Arrival of the nine ALN army units was a bitter blow to moderate Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda and his cabinet, who are trying to marshal popular support for their shaky provisional government which seeks to retain close ties with France.

The provisional government (GPRA) already was faced with "hostile" action by Morocco in the Algerian Sahara in what could be the start of an effort to move in on its desert oil riches. It was feared that Tunisia also might follow suit.

BEN BELLA troops entered Oran from Tlemcen, near the Moroccan border, and proceeded directly to barracks reserved for them on the edge of the city. They did not pass by the European quarter of the city.

But Europeans, fearing bitter fighting in the power struggle between Ben Bella and Ben Khedda, stepped up their exodus to France. Throughout the day Europeans lined up outside airline and shipping offices seeking transportation to the French mainland. In their thoughts

L.B.-Area Women Fly in 'Puff' Derby

By LEE CRAIG
Aviation-Military Editor

OAKLAND—Fifty women pilots, including four from the Long Beach area, took off from International Airport here Saturday in the 16th annual transcontinental Powder Puff Derby after thick fog had delayed their departure for several hours.

First stop on the 2,500-mile race to Wilmington, Del., was scheduled at Salt Lake City, which was mandatory for all planes.

Leading the Long Beach contingent was prerace favorite Fran Bera, 4284 Pepperwood Ave., who won last year and five times previously. Her copilot is her sister, Edna Bower, 4813 Dunrobin Ave., Lakewood.

OTHERS FROM Long Beach were Ruth Gay, 440 Orange Ave., with Emma McGuire of Santa Monica as copilot, and Barbara London, 551 Margo Ave., with Norma Craig, 3841 Pacific Ave., copilot.

Judy Wagner, 2516 Via La Selva, Palos Verdes, was the other local entrant. She is flying alone.

Judy Wagner of Palos Verdes Estates was first among the 50 Powder Puff aviators to land at Salt Lake City, completing the first leg of the trans-continental race. She left immediately on the next step. Only minutes behind her was Frances Bera of Long Beach, pre-race favorite.

Because the contestants are restricted to daylight flying, it will be Wednesday before they start touching down at Wilmington.

Computers will be used this year for the first time to determine who's in first place on each day of the derby.

Priest Quells Hospital Riot

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Some 62 patients of the maximum security ward of the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane rioted for about three hours Saturday night but were subdued after the hospital chaplain went into the ward.

The chaplain, a Roman Catholic priest whose name is not available, talked his way into the barricaded ward. After talking with the patients for some time, 23 left with him.

Then guards, highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies worked their way into the ward and after a brief scuffle brought the disturbance under control.

India Jet Wreck Sighted

BOMBAY, India (Sunday) (UPI)—The wreckage of an Alitalia DC8 jetliner that crashed with 94 persons aboard was found Saturday night in a thick forest 100 miles northeast of Bombay with no sign of survivors, police reported today.

Strike May Hit Local Air Firms

Douglas, Ryan, American Told of Union's Intent

Three local aircraft companies were threatened Saturday by a 16-day strike warning.

Douglas Aircraft of Long Beach, Ryan Aeronautical of Torrance and North American Aviation of Anaheim and Downey were told by two aerospace workers' unions that a strike would be called July 23 if no new contracts were signed by that date.

The unions were United Auto Workers and the International Association of Machinists, representing most of the country's aerospace workers. Together the unions represent about 125,000 employes.

The industry-wide strike they threaten would halt work at 51 major aircraft plants, test sites and missile bases throughout the nation.

* * * *

Members of both unions have approved the strike.

Contract negotiations have been under way since April 24. The unions seek wage increases, union shops, added unemployment benefits and company-paid family health insurance. Average hourly wage in aerospace jobs currently is $2.71.

The strike threat was made despite a federal mediator's warning that Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg would not tolerate a walkout in the industry.

Walter Maggiolo, head of a team of 15 federal mediators, said last Tuesday that Goldberg's warning did not indicate how the strike would be halted. The government could invoke an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act or appeal to both sides to wait until a fact-finding

L.B. CONTESTANT

Anne Not Now Ugly Duckling

ANNE FANG

She was born in the midst of violence and scorned as a child with the tag "ugly duckling on stilts," but Anne Fang today is a serene and lovely young lady.

The loveliest, as a matter of fact, in all of Nationalist China.

And she'll be in Long Beach Aug. 9 representing the Republic of China in the International Beauty Pageant.

Anne was born during a savage air raid on Chungking in 1944 to Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Fang. When World War II ended, the Fang family moved from Chungking, the famous war capital of China, to Nanking, the nation's peacetime capital, and then to Formosa.

DAUGHTER ANNE, meanwhile, was growing into a tall youngster whose playmates teased her with the "ugly duckling" nickname and also called her "macaroni stick."

Still tall at 5 feet 5½ inches, Anne can no longer be called "ugly duckling." Last May 27 she was selected "Miss China of 1962" and was also named by the press corps covering the contest in Formosa's capital city of Taipei as the girl with the outstanding personality.

L.A.C. Says:

Honolulu

As we look out over Waikiki Beach—the tourist section of Honolulu—we see many high rise apartments in all directions. This morning's newspaper tells how Honolulu stands fifth in the nation as concerns new construction. Another story tells of how new wage and fringe benefits will set construction workers' wage scales at $4.50 an hour—and an estimate that electricians will be able to retire on $200 a month at age 55.

This is a side of Hawaii that is of little interest to the tourists here to enjoy the beauty of the islands and the friendly people of many races that make the visits so enjoyable. But it is a change that makes this island much less attractive to visitors who were here 10 to 20 or more years ago. It is more like going to Miami or Palm Springs. The charm of the past is being replaced by night clubs, apartments, shopping centers and multi-storied hotels.

The day before we arrived, the Wall Street Journal shocked the Islanders with an article, "Clouds over Hawaii." The local papers have carried daily articles attempting to dispute the Journal's gloomy picture of the Island's economy. But there is evidence that there is trouble ahead for these fabulously attractive vacation areas where over 350,000 visitors are expected this year.

It seems to us the problem is basic in that unions are pricing the pineapple and sugar industries out of business. These agricultural and canning industry workers are the highest paid in the world. But their products must face the competition of other Pacific islands where the workers are the lowest paid in the world. Pineapple canneries are closing as are sugar mills. Unemployment on some of the islands is growing at a time when it is lessening on the mainland.

The Journal article showed the Waikiki Beach area of Honolulu added 2,000 new hotel and apartment house rooms in the last two years—up one third—They are all filled at present, but for seven months of the year they are half empty, according to the article. The local answers to the article do not refute many of the allegations.

The economy of the Islands is dependent upon the great military installations of Pearl Harbor and many other locations. It is estimated their 59,000 personnel and $400 million annual expenditures are more than all the tourists—pineapple and sugar income that comes to the Islands. The only factor that indicates a steady increase is that of tourism—and that is where the greatest emphasis is being placed.

There is good reason to expect an ever increasing number of tourists. The splendid jet air service only five hours from the Pacific Coast—make the islands a perfect short or long vacation resort. Splendid hotels and attractive restaurants and night clubs make them a vacationer's paradise.

However, the constant threats of strikes by airlines and shipping workers is the real "Cloud over Hawaii." It is estimated 65 per cent of all their fresh food products are imported from the mainland. This is why the past shipping strikes have caused great concern to the Islanders. Only the Pan-American flight engineers are now threatening, but the constant threat of the Harry Bridges controlled longshoremen—pineapple and sugar workers is the cloud that is constantly over the most attractive people and lands we have ever visited.—LAC.

Boy, 4, Burned Seriously as He Plays With Matches

A 4-year-old boy was burned seriously Saturday when his shirt caught fire as he played with matches outside his home here.

Gary David Williams suffered second and third-degree burns over a large portion of his body.

He was taken to Maywood Hospital along with Robert Mason, 53, a neighbor who suffered burns on his hands when he tore the flaming shirt off the boy.

The victim was playing with the matches shortly before 3 p.m. when the mishap occurred.

His screams roused Mason, who lives next door. The man called sheriff's deputies after ripping the burning shirt off the boy.

Women May Become Carriers of Letters

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Postmaster Anthony J. Lambert says the letter carrier service may go coed in some Philadelphia neighborhoods in the fall if there are qualified applicants.

Although Lambert doesn't particularly like the idea, he doesn't have the say as he once had. A recent federal order said women no longer can be barred from appointment as postal clerks or letter carriers because of their sex.

"Now we'll have to take a second look at our employment procedure," Lambert said.

Shoreline Road Seen Necessary for Downtown

By GEORGE WEEKS

Long Beach's downtown shoreline is being jammed with vehicles even before the Arena and other planned improvements are ready for use.

Almost any hot Sunday as many as 95,000 motorists may be expected to converge on the area between the Los Angeles River channel and Alamitos Avenue.

On one recent day, June 24, 1962, mechanical counters registered 44,663 vehicle trips into and out of the area.

When new improvements are opened, one result is certain to be even more severe congestion unless a new shoreline road is constructed and existing access routes are widened.

The report will be used to strengthen city applications to the State Lands Commission for authority to use the oil money in the road-building projects, some of which will reach beyond the tide line into uplands.

The future increase is predicated on anticipated drawing power of such facilities as the Arena, the Maritime and Commerce Museum and Piers J, H and G in the harbor district.

Benefits foreseen from the shoreline artery, estimated to cost $1,350,000 for land acquisition and $1,436,000 for construction, include the following:

The roadway linking the Long Beach Freeway Terminus on the west with Alamitos Avenue on the east would substantially relieve traffic along Ocean Boulevard, already overcrowded.

It would provide efficient and safer access directly to facilities in the area.

It would provide east-west traffic circulation south of Ocean Boulevard, lacking under present conditions.

It would hasten the movements of vehicles arriving in the area during peak conditions and finding no place to park.

Gilkerson also pointed out that the projected Planet of Man Exposition and the proposed Magnolia Avenue Bridge to the harbor district will add sources of traffic. He estimated daily traffic volume generated by the fair on an average high day at 26,650 vehicles.

Besides right-of-way acquisition and construction of the freeway terminus and the connection at Alamitos Avenue, the city engineer recommended the widening of Elm Way and Locust Avenue south of Ocean Boulevard to 70 feet and Hart Place and Collins Way to 60 feet.

Pine and Linden Avenues should be extended to connect with the proposed beach roadway, he added.

UNION negotiators said the companies would be given formal notice of contract termination on July 13.

In a joint statement, IAM Vice President E. R. White and UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said their unions were asking "benefits already enjoyed by millions of other American workers.

"It has become clear," the statement continued, "that this industry . . . has pledged itself to resist our union's efforts to win equality for aerospace workers."

If the strike is called, workers will be off the job at these missile bases: Vandenberg AFB; Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Sheppard AFB, Texas; Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M.; Lincoln AFB, Neb., and Warren AFB, Cheyenne, Wyo.

Also Fairchild AFB, Wash.; White Sands, N.M.; and bases at Omaha, Neb.; Plattsburg, N.Y.; Forbes, Kan.; Shilling, Kan.; Altus, Okla., and Neosho, Mo.

Bonn Troops Join French for Review

RHEIMS, France (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle take the salute today from an unprecedented joint parade of French and West German panzer troops at nearby Mourmelon Camp.

Adenauer flew here Saturday night from Bordeaux, where he pledged in a speech to use "all my remaining energies" towards promoting the cause of French-German friendship.

He described such friendship as the "surest dam" against a further advance of Soviet communism. He spoke at a banquet given in his honor by the Bordeaux city fathers in the Grand Theater.

After today's review of German-French troops Adenauer and de Gaulle will attend Mass together in Rheims Cathedral and then Adenauer will fly back to Bonn.

About 1,500 French and 1,500 German troops are to take part in the parade.

Council Asks Nude Model Studio Taxes

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—City councilmen were expected to act next week on a proposed ordinance regulating and taxing studios where nude models are sketched or photographed.

The proposal calls for the studios to pay a $100 annual fee and be subject to police inspection.

Females under 18 and males under 21 would be forbidden to model and female models would be required to first obtain a police permit.

U.S. to Hear Claims of A-Test Damages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is prepared to consider claims for compensation filed by Japanese nationals who may suffer financial damage as a result of U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific, officials said Saturday.

They said the government "several months ago" sent a note to Tokyo informing the Japanese government about the U.S. position.

Boat Equipment Stolen at Marina

Navigational equipment and tools worth more than $300 were stolen from a boat moored at the Long Beach Marina, police said Saturday.

Murder Charged in Dual Killing

SANTA ANA (UPI)—Clytus Marian Deriso, 25-year-old psychiatric technician, was charged formally with murder Saturday in the fatal stabbing of two men.

Arraignment on the two accounts of murder is set for Monday.

Deriso was accused of stabbing Richard Adams, 34, Garden Grove, and James Benech, 34, Westminster. The bodies of both men were found Friday in a camping trailer behind a tavern owned by Adams' father.

The suspect has denied the killings.

Some 55 German firms will display their wares, which also include musical instruments, hunting rifles with telescopic sights and Christmas ornaments.

WRECKAGE OF missing Alitalia jetliner was reported sighted Saturday near Junnar, India (A). No sign of survivors among the 94 aboard was seen. Indian Air Force officers reported one of their Canberra bombers down near Itari (B). Weather in the region has been violent.

day when the plane, on a flight from Sydney, Australia, to Rome, was approaching Bombay for a landing.

Junnar is in the same area as Khed, where earlier unconfirmed reports said the crash took place. Yet another report had placed the crash site at Khajoli, 80 miles southeast of Bombay.

No Americans were aboard the plane.

* * * *

OFFICIALS in Poona, about 60 miles south of the crash site, said shepherd boys playing in a field near Junnar found a foreign banknote and turned it over to police. The find enabled police to narrow the search area.

Several Italian banknotes were found near the wreckage. Many of the passengers were Italian and the plane was en route to Rome.

was the fact that 95 persons were killed and 163 injured in Oran Thursday.

Ben Bella, who seeks to lead newly independent Algeria into a sort of a "people's democracy," split with Ben Khedda last weekend when Ben Khedda fired the ALN three-man general staff. That action brought charges from Ben Bella that the GPRA had "sabotaged" the revolution.

The provisional government was trying to heal the breach through negotiation but movement of the ALN troops into Oran emphasized the split.

Bulgaria Warned on 'Incidents'

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The defense ministry announced Saturday night it has warned Communist Bulgaria against what it called further border incidents.

The warning was issued after joint investigations into the fatal shooting Wednesday of a 16-year-old Greek shepherd boy by Bulgarian border guards.

X15 Set for Record

EDWARDS AFB (AP)—Maj. Robert M. White will rocket the X15 on its highest and longest flight next Tuesday.

White is slated to try for 280,000 feet, more than seven miles higher than the black dart's present world altitude record for winged aircraft of 246,700 feet.

Brazilian Politicos in Parley

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—President Joao Goulart called opposition leaders in Congress to his palace Saturday in a personal effort to work out a fast compromise in the political crisis that touched off widespread rioting against high prices and food shortages.

Informed sources said Goulart was under pressure from army leaders for a rapid conciliation.

The army put down the riots, blamed for the deaths of at least nine persons in the Caxias surburb of Rio, and was keeping the peace. Military leaders told Goulart, however, they were concerned with the growing unrest and advised him to resolve the dispute quickly.

THE 11-DAY power struggle appeared near an end with Goulart and conservative leaders of Congress reported close to agreement on measures to end or modify Brazil's nine-month-old parliamentary system.

The agreement would settle the basic dispute—over whether the president or Congress has final governmental power.

Goulart appeared to have won acceptance for his demand for a plebescite on the parliamentary regime before the end of 1962. It still was not clear, however, how much say he would have in the formation of a new cabinet.

Goulart conferred throughout the day with Social Democrat leaders (middle-of-the-road) and leaders of the National Democratic Union (conservative) on 10 civil portfolios in the cabinet.

* * * *

ANTONIO Oliveira Brito, undistinguished but uncontroversial minister of education in the last cabinet, was Goulart's choice for premier providing Brito could pick up congressional support for the plebescite scheme.

The president's second choice reportedly was Francisco Brochado da Rocha, president of justice in Rio Grande do Sul state, who, as a member of the state cabinet, energetically defended expropriation of the International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) Company.

Earlier Saturday, Goulart ordered a crackdown on hoarders of rice and beans in the Rio area.

Viet Leader Vows to Oust Red Raiders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—President Ngo Dinh Diem pledged Saturday on his eighth anniversary as head of South Viet Nam to drive the Communist guerrillas out of the land.

As he spoke two government operations against the guerrillas were reported under way in an area 20 miles west of Saigon and 150 miles to the south.

Preliminary reports said the 600 South Vietnamese flown into battle by American helicopters Friday had made contact with a guerrilla force in the Rachquet area 20 miles to the west and was "pursuing" them.

The reports said 12 guerrillas had been killed and six others captured in the first clash on the Plain of Reeds.

There were no final reports of another operation against the guerrillas who overran a civil guard post on the Camau Peninsula in southern Viet Nam. In this action, about 400 South Vietnamese were flown into battle.

Smog Drying Up Rome Pine Trees

ROME (AP)—A special study commission says many of Rome's pine trees are drying up largely because of gases in the air.

'Peace Congress' to Hear K

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is expected to make his strongest appeal for disarmament since his 1960 United Nations appearance in an address to the "World Congress for Peace and Disarmament" opening Monday.

The conference has attracted to Moscow an estimated 2,000 disarmament advocates from more than 100 countries. They include labor leaders, educators, scientists, churchmen and other public figures.

Some 150 delegates are expected from the United States.

The congress is under the auspices of the "World Council for Peace" which consistently has followed the Soviet propaganda line in its public pronouncements.

Western observers in Moscow expected some of the delegates from non-Communist countries to put forward views critical of Soviet disarmament policy.

Khrushchev's address to the delegates will be his first major speech devoted entirely to the arms problem since he proposed his plan for the U.N. General Assembly in 1960.

Doctors Fighting to Aid Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, recuperating from a thigh fracture, showed early signs Saturday night of phlebitis in his left leg.

Phlebitis is inflammation of a vein.

A bulletin issued by Middlesex Hospital said:

"Sir Winston Churchill had a comfortable night. There are early signs of phlebitis in his left leg and the appropriate steps have been taken to deal with the condition."

CHURCHILL

The bone he broke in a fall in Monte Carlo 10 days ago is in his left leg, near the hip. The bone was pinned in an operation here last week.

During the afternoon Sir Winston's wife visited him in his private room at the hospital. She stayed about 45 minutes.

Asked how serious the latest development seemed, she replied: "I am afraid if you want to know about the medical aspects of this, you must ask those at the hospital concerned."

Commenting on the nature of phlebitis in general, one doctor said:

"I suppose it is due to the fact that Sir Winston has been lying down a good deal, and it is the sort of thing that could happen in a person of his age, particularly after a fractured femur. Treatment of the condition would include extra rest in bed."

Skis Throw Attorney General

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy, his ailing 73-year-old father and others of the Kennedy clan Saturday held a family reunion aboard the Kennedy yacht —climaxed when Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy took a rough spill while water skiing.

The Chief Executive, in sports clothes, greeted his father, who has recovered considerably from a paralytic stroke last Dec. 19, at the local airport and drove him in a top-down white convertible to the familys seaside "compound" of homes.

R. KENNEDY

Kennedy's father had flown in from New York aboard the family's twin-engine Convair, the Caroline, named for Kennedy's four-year-old daughter.

Later the entire Kennedy clan went yachting aboard the family yacht, the Marlin.

The elder Kennedy, wearing a yachting cap and blue sweater, and the President, attired in blue sport shirt and tan slacks, sat in the sunshine on the stern of the vessel with other relatives.

While the Marlin was at anchor in Lewis Bay, near the family's home, the President's brother, the attorney general, went water skiing behind a Secret Service speedboat and took a header. He appered stunned when he climbed slowly into the boat, holding his head. But he later looked unhurt.

J. KENNEDY

The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, according to a report from his New York doctors, has regained some of the power of speech he lost in the December stroke and can now walk with the aid of a cane. Debarking from the Marlin, however, he rode in a wheelchair along the pier at the edge of his property.

Faulkner Eulogized, Laid to Rest

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—"A Mississippian by birth, an American by [illegible] of forces and loyalties which guided his art, William Faulkner now rests, the search done, his place secure among the great creators of this age."

That was President John Kennedy's eulogy of one of America's greatest writers.

Faulkner, 64, died of a heart attack Friday. He was buried Saturday in his private world beneath two massive water oaks. His resting place, a plot in the ancient St. Peter's Cemetery, is alone on the side of a red clay hill.

FAULKNER

The quiet, mixed emotions of his native townspeople were more clear as their famous citizen was being buried. The University of Mississippi's American Flag flew at half-staff. In memory, business establishments closed 15 minutes during the funeral.

Faulkner will rest in "the heart of the setting for that turbulent world of light and shadow which was the towering creation of his mind and heart," said the President at the White House.

The setting for many of Faulkner's 19 novels was the mythical Jefferson in Yoknapatawpha County, which he used to depict the South.

Many of his readers, and others, never really understood the slight, retiring, steel-haired Faulkner with his black mustache and his jaunty pipe—a frequent sight on the streets of Oxford.

Above-Ground A-Blast Fired in Nevada

NEVADA TEST SITE (UPI)—The first above-ground nuclear test over the continental United States since the world's powers placed a moratorium on atomic testing four years ago was conducted Saturday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense.

Friday's big below-ground shot here was more spectacular in appearance. The cloud formed by Saturday's shot was not of the mushroom type associated with atomic tests, and it was not dirty as was the case Friday.

Four tanks on flatbed trucks were seen heading into the test area Saturday morning before the explosion, indicating nuclear-warfare-test maneuvers by the military would be conducted in connection with future tests.

Newsmen were not permitted on the test site and witnessed the detonation from a vantage point about 50 miles away. Haze obscured vision of the site somewhat, making it difficult to see how extensive the flash from the detonation was.

700 Pay Last Respects to Rex Bell

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An overflow crowd of 700 including Nevada ranchers, politicians, businessmen and gambler, paid last respects Saturday to onetime cowboy film star Rex Bell, their lieutenant governor at the time of his death last Wednesday.

His funeral, not attended by his ailing widow, Clara Bow the "It Girl" of 1920 movies, was at Christ Church Episcopal.

Among those there was Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer, the man Republican Bell was campaigning to unseat. Another was Hoot Gibson, old-time cowboy actor.

Head-On Collision Kills Eight

COLONIAL HEIGHTS, Va. (AP) — Two automobiles jammed with 15 people met headon at full speed on a U.S. 1 hilltop just after dawn Saturday and in the thunderous crash near here, eight persons died.

In one of the cars, six of 10 were killed, including four members of a Baltimore family. The other car had five occupants and two—a Brooklyn man and his daughter—perished.

Medicare Decision This Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate opened debate Tuesday on one of the most controversial measures of the session—medical care for the aged.

Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., appealed for prompt passage of a bipartisan medicare bill that was sponsored by 21 Democrats and five Republicans. The new bill now covers 2.5 million elderly persons who were not eligible for benefits before due to a lack of Social Security credits.

On Friday the bill survived its first test in the Senate when a rival Republican plan was turned down.

The defeat of the Republican measure left the administration's Social Security-financed bill intact. A vote is expected this week.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a key sponsor of the Senate's bipartisan compromise old age health care bill predicted on a radio-television program this morning that measure not only would pass the Senate, but that some form of medicare bill also would clear the House.

If the bill passes, it still would have to be approved by the House.

In other developments:

Sugar — The Senate passed a compromise sugar-extension bill. In a move to meet Latin-American critics of the bill, the Senate passed another measure giving President Kennedy power to allot a total of 375,000 tons of sugar to alliance for progress nations. The South American nations had criticized the sugar-extension bill, saying it sharply cut their share of the U.S. sugar market.

Doctors' Strike Closes Hospitals

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—A growing shortage of physicians Saturday forced officials to close two of 35 Saskatchewan hospitals that have been providing emergency service since a majority of doctors struck July 1 against the province's compulsory medical-insurance plan.

There were reports that Saskatchewan's Socialist government would reopen talks with the doctors in an effort to settle the dispute. Dr. A. D. Kelly, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said he sees signs that "conversations will be resumed."

• • • •

KELLY ADDED, however, that the doctors' position remains unchanged—the strike will be called off only if the government suspends the controversial medical-care plan. The doctors claim the program opens the way for government control of the medical profession.

Socialist Premier Woodrow Lloyd said Saturday Saskatchewan's striking doctors have shown no interest in mediation of the crisis.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A labor leader said Saturday the outcome of the doctors' strike in Saskatchewan, Canada, will have a powerful impact on President Kennedy's proposals for medical care for the aged.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO industrial-union department, strongly urged Saskatchewan Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd not to retreat in his dispute with the province's medical men.

Carey wrote Lloyd that the six million union workers he represents are "shocked and horrified at the callous action of Saskatchewan doctors who have left their posts and now refuse to treat the sick."

House Eyes W. Virginia H'way Plans

WASHINGTON — The House highways investigating subcommittee focuses its attention on West Virginia next week in its search for mismanagement in the nation's $41 billion federal aid road program.

About 30 witnesses are scheduled for a week of public hearings which begin Tuesday. They will bring to light material dug up by subcommittee investigators who have been visiting West Virginia periodically for more than a year.

The sessions will concentrate on the state's past management of its program for acquiring land for building highways financed in part by federal funds. They are expected to point up instances of apparent loose administrative practices rather than any widespread criminal conspiracy.

* * * *

THE WITNESS list includes present and former West Virginia highway officials, subcommittee investigators and officials from the bureau of public roads.

West Virginia was the fifth state on the subcommittee's list. It previously investigated and conducted follow-up public hearings on the highway programs of Florida, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Massachusetts.

The hearings have emphasized defects in the multi-billion dollar program ranging from inadequate supervision to cases of suspected collusion between contractors and highway officials.

* * * *

THE SUBCOMMITTEE was set up about 2½ years ago to make certain that federal money that is funnelled into the program is not wasted. The government pays up to 90 per cent of the cost of the bigger interstate highways.

Rights of way costs—which also was the subject of the Massachusetts hearings — comprise about 20 per cent of the $41 billion price tag.

Subcommittee members contend that the investigations have performed a valuable service by publicizing weaknesses in the road-building programs of the states investigated. They said the revelations have resulted in other state reappraising their programs to correct similar deficiencies.

MERELY RICH, NOT VERY, VERY RICH AFFECTED

Zounds! Does Tailing Off of Caviar Mart Indicate Rich Man's Recession?

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Are we getting the first signs of a "rich man's recession?"

While one hesitates to be an alarmist about consumer trends since the great stock market tumble, one cannot help being concerned by the fact that the sale of $250,000 yachts and the movement of fresh large grain Beluga caviar at $38 a pound has slowed down, leveled off, stiffened, tightened or topped out.

To put it in its proper perspective, there are reported tremors in the buying patterns of the very rich but not the very, very rich, of the new rich but not the old rich, of the capital gains rich but not the entrenched rich.

The demand for Rolls-Royce cars may be a good barometer of this special squall. While American sales generally have not yet been affected, says Richard Yorke, vice president in charge of sales in New York, the stock market plunge undoubtedly tilted "a few borderline cases."

* * * *

BY THESE, he means people who were considering buying their first Rolls, the $16,800 to $18,000 model, which the company calls its "stock car."

"This type of prospective buyer," says Yorke, with dignified compassion, "probably decided after the Wall Street drop to wait awhile."

While these fence-straddlers manfully try to get along somehow, the regular customers are holding steadfast, especially those who prefer the $30,000 Rolls, the air-conditioned, seven passenger limousine with its hand-carved, French-polished South African walnut and English leather.

* * * *

DAVID HEILNER of John D. Aden, Inc., a Boston firm of naval architects and brokers, reports a definite slump in the sale of big yachts. Particular sluggishness has been noted in the movement of the $250,000 jobs, which run about 70 feet and come complete with radar, hi-fi, color television, air conditioning and other essentials.

In the more pedestrian brackets, a greater spread has been noted between asking price and selling price. Until a few months ago, a boat seller asking $100,000 might have had to come down to $90,000. Now, he slides all the way down to $75,000.

While no one is panicking at Tiffany's, it was noted that the man who came in one day last year and bought $240,000 worth of jewelry for his wife — a pearl necklace and two diamond pins—did not repeat his performance this year. Nor did anyone else.

* * * *

IN SOME other luxury fields there is no sign of slack. Wholesale furriers report mink and sable are moving well. Art dealers say prices of fine art pieces may be going up; are definitely not going down.

Charles & Co., which specializes in corporate gifts of fancy food, reported a definite 10 per cent drop in sales immediately after the market crash but says they are now off only 5 per cent.

The decline includes sales of caviar at $38 a pound, fresh pate de fois gras at $2 an ounce and fruit baskets which go for $150 if you insist on rounding out the fruit with nuts, candies, pates, caviar and brandied cherries.

2:05 p.m. Father identifies body found near Newport by skin diver.

Many items from here to 5 p.m. that day are unimportant to the story. In all, up to 5 p.m., more than 500 people had been pressed into the search, under the direction of Torrance Police Chief Percy Bennett.

Lt. Don Hamilton of the Torrance Police Department, the next day, had this to say:

"The sickening discovery of the body of the Brown girl ended a search that finally enlisted the help of thousands of people.

"I guess there isn't much to say to parents, except for one or two major points.

"A parent cannot police its child every minute of the day. A parent cannot so regulate a child so that it knows where the child is every second.

"A parent is a human being, so is a child.

"In Torrance we have had two tragedies within a year (Karen Lynn Tompkins, 11, disappeared in 1961)."

Sgt. Wayne Butts, of Los Angeles Police Department, who worked the Karen Lynn Tompkins case, adds:

"I have a daughter, 15. God knows, she has been trained to avoid strangers.

"The other day a man in a car followed her for blocks, trying to pick her up. She didn't get the car number."

Lt. Ralph Weyent, in charge of the Tompkins investigation, says:

"Torrance Police Department did all human beings can do. The public, itself, must supply any answer."

appeared last Tuesday evening.

"You know how it is when you have an only child," said Brown as he told of Gale's family of about 20 dolls. "She had a name for every one of them. And she named the parakeet, the canary and the cat that she had."

One of Gale's last presents from her father had been a record album from the motion picture, "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," that she had begged her father to buy and that he had finally given to her several days before she was kidnapped.

* * * *

"SHE HAD her own record player and some records, mostly Elvis Presley, and—and—what was the name of that other singer she liked, hon?" Brown asked his wife.

"Ricky Nelson," Mrs. Brown answered softly. "She liked Ricky Nelson, too."

"We want to get rid of it all, her bike, her doll house, her clothing, everything," said Brown.

The Browns don't know whether they will try to fill the aching void left by the death of their only daughter.

"We tried to adopt another child several years ago when it seemed likely we couldn't have another child," said Brown. "But the adoption costs were more than we could afford on the $5,000 a year I make."

The Browns both said they were thankful that, unlike the family of Karen Lynn Tompkins, who disappeared last year from her Torrance home without a trace, they had found out early what had happened to their daughter.

"Waiting and wondering and not knowing would be worse," said Brown.

Argentine Meat Plant Sold by Wilson

CHICAGO (AP)—Wilson & Co. has sold its livestock slaughtering and meat processing plant in Buenos Aires to a group of Argentine businessmen.

The Chicago packing firm said that it will receive about $5,200,000 for the big beef operation, which has been shut down for nearly a year. Payment is to be made over a five-year period.

Parley on Parks Opposes Camps

SEATTLE (AP)—The first world conference on national parks ended Saturday as delegates agreed to keep tourist facilities out of national parks wherever possible.

The 71-nation conference passed a resolution urging that campsites and structures such as dams and reservoirs be built outside park areas to preserve the wilderness values of the parks.

The group also endorsed a recommendation that an area be established as a natural habitat for every kind of plant or animal threatened with extinction.

TV Relay Satellite Set for Launch

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Telstar, a complex communications satellite which could point the way to world-wide television and expanded overseas telephone service, is scheduled for launching here Tuesday.

If all goes well, within a week after launching television viewers in the United States and western Europe will see the first live trans-atlantic TV programs—beamed across thousands of miles with Telstar serving as a relay station in space.

The firing will mark private industry's first venture into space. Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. built the satellite and is paying all launch costs.

Bell purchased a Thor-Delta rocket from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and will reimburse NASA for launching and tracking the satellite. Estimated cost is $3 million, which Bell will pay regardless of success or failure of the mission.

• • • •

THE THOR-DELTA, America's most reliable space booster with a string of nine straight successful satellite launchings, is to hoist Telstar into an orbit ranging from 600 to 3,500 miles above the earth. The payload weighs 170 pounds and has more than 15,000 parts, half of them electronic.

The two principal U.S. ground stations are at Andover, Me., whose huge horn antenna has sending and receiving capability, and at Holmdel, N.J., which will receive only.

Telstar is not expected to be within range of Andover until the end of the fifth orbit, about 12 hours after launching. On this pass ground trackers will verify orbital information and antenna pointing data.

On the sixth through ninth orbits, while Telstar is still within range of Andover and Holmdel, several domestic demonstrations are planned for periods running from 20 to 50 minutes.

• • • •

INCLUDED WILL be live telephone conversation via satellite, transmission of television tape and of a current news picture and sending high-speed data between the two stations.

Signals will be sent from the Andover horn. The satellite will amplify them 10 billion times and transmit them at a strength of 2¼ watts to Andover and Holmdel.

The live transatlantic TV demonstration will be attempted after satellite systems have been thoroughly checked.

The three major U.S. television networks are planning a program for transmission to Europe. It will consist of 12 minutes of news events from a number of places in this country.

• • • •

THE EUROPEAN Broadcasting Union, representing 16 countries, will handle a European program to be beamed to the United States.

New York City will be the clearing house for the American program. From New York it will travel by cable to Andover, thence by microwave signal to the satellite which will rebroadcast it to two ground stations at Goonhilly Down, England, and Pleumeur-Bodou, France. These stations instantly will relay the television pictures throughout Europe.

The European program will originate in Brussels, Belgium, and will be shot to Telstar through Goonhilly Down. The American networks will broadcast it throughout this country.

An early intercontinental voice demonstration will be a telephone hookup between persons in 20 U. S. cities and 20 cities in Europe.

CLOVIS, N. M. WAS STOP FOR TRI-MOTORS

Once-Major Transcontinental Air Terminal Ignored by Whistling Jets

By JOHN McMILLION

CLOVIS, N. M. (UPI)—Supersonic jet fighters from Cannon Air Force Base whistle over the outskirts of Clovis, with pilots too young to remember that down below, transcontinental airline service first flapped its wings 33 years ago Saturday.

Charles Lindbergh, Amelia Earheart, Will Rogers and other aviation pioneers played a part in its development on the flat, glassy field in eastern New Mexico. So did the earthbound railroads. From it grew a major airline flying jets around the world.

In 1929 and 1930, the New York - Los Angeles flight took 48 hours (if all went well) and it cost $351.94 at first. Today, jets make the flight nonstop in about four hours and its costs $200 or less.

• • • •

IN ORDER to open the first coast - to - coast passenger airline service, the long-since defunct Transcontinental Air Transport Airline utilized the facilities of both the Sante Fe Railroad and, farther east, the Pennsylvania Railroad.

On July 7, 1929, actual passenger-carrying operations began this way:

Passengers left New York aboard a Pennsylvania train; walked across the tracks to an airport at Columbus, Ohio, where they boarded a Ford tri-motor (affectionately known as the "Old Tin Goose"); flew during daylight hours only to Waynoka, Okla.; boarded a Sante Fe train there for the overnight trip to Clovis, and from there flew west to Los Angeles. Planes flew about 100 mph.

Going east, procedure was reversed.

The public was entranced and movie stars and heroic young pilots combined to kick old T.A.T. off with plenty of fanfare.

• • • •

WILL ROGERS, an early enthusiast of aviation and eventually a victim of it, made pilot trips on the proposed line prior to its formal inauguration of service.

T.A.T. was laughingly referred to as the "Take A Train" airline in this highly partisan railroad town in 1929. A sizeable chunk of money was sunk into the venture but the whole setup was altered in 1930.

Night flying, which was developed soon after the airline started, combined with effects of the depression to force drastic realignment of routes and service.

T.A.T. merged with the old Maddux Air Lines and pulled out of Clovis and Waynoka. It dropped the awkward plane - to - train shuttle, and began night flying with 18-passenger Curtiss Condor "pullman" planes.

• • • •

IN 1929, the air west of Clovis hummed with the sound of the three stalwart engines of the old tin gooses. The elite of the country passed through this town, then a tiny prairie city, en route back and forth between New York and Los Angeles.

Lindbergh and his bride flew through on their honeymoon prior to opening of service, ironing out final kinks in the Lindbergh-planned route. Amelia Earhart, later to die in mystery in the Pacific, also was an official of T.A.T. and came through Clovis on the first flight.

Discover Shift of Pacific's Rim

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A scientist said Saturday the rim of the Pacific Ocean is moving horizontally—and continuously—along several giant scars where most of the world's earthquakes take place.

Dr. Clarence Allen, a scientist at the California Institute of Technology, said it was "too early to draw conclusions about the over-all movement of land masses in and around the Pacific."

But he said "the activity does suggest great geological events in the sub-crustal material—perhaps a horizontal plastic flow of large amounts of rock material. We need more information and a better understanding of the earthquakes that accompany the displacements."

He said the drifts appeared too complex "to fit any single model."

Allen, a geologist and authority on the San Andreas fault along the west coast of the United States, said the average movement of earth on the west side of the fault is about one foot every six years. He said the land is moving northward.

"This builds up strain in the rocks near the faul that is relieved by intermittent sudden displacements along it, causing earthquakes," Allen said.

• • • •

ALLEN SAID the movement may be even greater along New Zealand's Alpine's fault.

Allen recently returned from field trips to New Zealand, the Philippines, Formosa and Chile, studying faults in those areas.

"While all of them appear at least 600 miles long," Allen said, "all presumably are much longer than they appear, because at least one end of each vanished into the sea."

He said evidence indicated other faults exist under the Pacific. He said this is brought out by earthquakes whose epicenters are under the ocean.

Allen said the Pacific's rim is often referred to as a "ring of fire" because most of the earth's active volcanos are in this area, as well as most of the earthquakes.

Property Valuation Hearing

By P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Board of Equalization hearings by the Board of Supervisors start Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the Hall of Administration's hearing room.

With the exception of Tuesday, which is the regular meeting day for the supervisors, equalization hearings will be conducted daily, starting at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Taxpayers seeking equalization of their assessments, to make them conform to like property in the county, must file petitions for equalization in order to appear before the board.

• • • •

DEADLINE for filing petitions will be Friday. Taxpayers wishing to file should bring a tax bill, or other complete property description, to Room B-93, Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Specially trained staff assistants of Gordon Nesvig, clerk of the board, will assist the taxpayer in making out his claim and will advise of the date and time of hearing.

Nesvig told taxpayers, however, that the Board of Equalization hearings are not the time or place to protest taxes.

At these hearings, Nesvig pointed out, the board only hears evidence as to the valuation of property and attempts to equalize such value with that of similar property in the county.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. exports dipped 1 per cent from April to May, the Census Bureau reported.

After allowing for normal seasonal fluctuation, civilian exports in May were valued at $1,774,700,000. This compared with an April total of $1,794,600,000.

The largest decreases were in shipments of vegetable products and miscellaneous items.

Military aid shipments totalled $80.1 million in May, down from $82.4 million in April.

F'way Hearing Site Protested

Seal Beach Mayor Dean H. Gemmill charged today that the state highway commission is depriving several hundred citizens here of the opportunity to attend a July 24 hearing on the extension of the San Gabriel Freeway.

"We know of 500 to 600 citizens who want to attend the so-called public hearing," he said, "but state officials have set the meeting in a tiny auditorium in Santa Ana with a legal limit on attendance of 100 persons including state personnel."

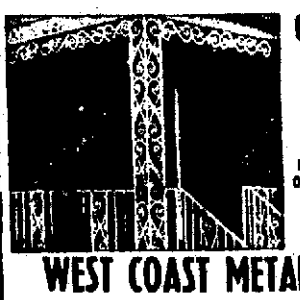

Charging that the procedure for choosing the meeting place was a "travesty of justice," Gemmill said the city had offered a 500-seat school auditorium in Seal Beach but that the commission had refused it because people in attendance would not be allowed to smoke.

Purpose of the hearing is to hear protests against the proposed southern extension of the San Gabriel Freeway into the city of Seal Beach. The City Council has voted against the extension.

India Diverts Ships to Area Hit by Flood

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) —India has diverted two ships loaded with foodstuffs to Chittagong to help flood victims in east Pakistan, an Indian high commission spokesman said. The ships, were en route from the United States to Madras. The Chittagong area has been flooded by heavy rains, hundreds are believed to have lost their homeless, and several are lives.

Complain Thousand Oaks Homes Slipping, Cracking

THOUSAND OAKS (AP) — Authorities are checking complaints that 300 houses are slipping, cracking and buckling.

Dist. Atty. Woodruff J. Deem said that the investigation involves a contractor and the county building department.

The complaints concern relatively new homes in the $15,000 to $20,000 class, he said, at Camino Graciosa, an unincorporated section of Conejo Valley about 45 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Mothers Will See British Army Life

LONDON (AP)—Three British army recruits are going into the army this week— with their mothers.

The mothers will remain at the army camp only one week. Their sons, all volunteers, will stay considerably longer.

The mothers will go on special invitations from the British army.

"We aim to show the mothers exactly what goes on in the early days of a recruit's training," explained Maj. Edward Smeeden, a Royal Engineers adjutant.

The mothers and sons are: Mrs. Olwyn Billett and her son Eric, 19; Mrs. Grace Collingworth and Barry, 19; Mrs. Joyce Bowler and Neil, 18.

Said Mrs. Billett: "When Eric told me he was joining the army, I told him he must be out of his mind. Getting into something with all that getting up early and discipline. Then they invited me to come and see for myself."

Mrs. Collingworth, who said her week with the army will be her first week away from housework for 25 years.

Lt. Col. V.H.S. Hannay, commanding officer of the Engineers regiment, explained the invitations were sent out with married army families at their Cove.

Neighbor Women's Legs Bother Men; Ask Tax Cut

STREET, England (AP)—Six men went to court here com- plaining they were seeing too much of women's legs. The men, neighbors in the same street in Street, a small town in Somerset, said that a row of new houses abutting their back fences were built so close they had no privacy didn't think their plight left. They appealed to a court for a cut in their tax rates. "All you can see in the summer are women sunbathing with their clothes up to their backsides," complained Sidney Wheeler.

The chairman of the court distressing and refused to cut their rates.

Children to Profit From Store

The Long Beach Exceptional Children's Foundation, in cooperation with the Good Shepherd Home of the West, has started a drive to collect surplus household goods, clothing and appliances to sell in their retail store, Value Village, 2420 Santa Fe Avenue.

Mrs. Millard Nichols, president of the foundation, said Value Village would be open to the public the latter part of this month and that the profits from the store would be used to help handicapped, retarded children.

The foundation conducts a training center at 4519 E. Stearns St where the children are "given an education so suited to their needs that they have the fullest life of which they are capable," Mrs. Nichols said.

Trucks will call for items if the donors will call Value Village, Mrs. Nichols said.

THE POLICE HAVE IT

Hey, Sam T.! You Lucky $500 Loser

Sam, who just arrived here from —, Tex., stopped Saturday afternoon to fill his tank at Bob Blashaw's filling station near Palo Verde Avenue and Atherton Street.

While his car was being serviced, Sam told attendants he planned to find a room somewhere in Long Beach. Didn't have an address yet, though.

He bent over to examine a tire, Blashaw and his wife told the Independent, then drove off.

Minutes later the station operator found on the drive a book containing $500 in traveler's checks — which Sam can reclaim by going to Long Beach police station and identifying himself.

Lucky guy, Sam. Some people might not have turned in the checks.

Missiles, Guns End Radioactive Ship's Career

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The destroyer Fullam sank Saturday beneath the waves she had ridden so stalwartly for the past two decades.

The radioactive ship was purposely sunk by A4D Skyhawk aircraft from the carriers Forrestal and Enterprise, using air-to-surface Bullpup missiles.

The cruiser Newport News and other 2nd Fleet ships finished the doomed ship off with guns.

The Fullam lay dead in the water some 180 miles southeast of Cape Henry. She was towed there Friday by the service-force salvage ship, Recovery.

42 Queens Vie for Title of Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Queens from 42 nations were in this resort city Saturday for Miss Universe pageantry that opens today with a parade in native costumes. Still others were en route.

Also here were Miss U.S.A. contestants from some 40 states.

The beauties registered, were fitted with bathing suits, visited beauty parlors, and otherwise prepared for activities to be climaxed by next Saturday's Miss Universe selection and a coronation ball the following night.

L. B. Police Dept. Strives for Service, Efficiency

By BOB SCHMIDT

Thousands of taxpayers' dollars and hundreds of man hours are being saved each year by the Long Beach Police Department because of increasing attention to "finding the right person for each job" and "using the department's personnel so as to give the community maximum benefit."

But, says City Manager John Mansell, that doesn't mean that we believe in a strict, inflexible definition of the function of a police department or the duties of a policeman."

The question arose after a recent column in the Independent, Press-Telegram by nationally syndicated writer Sydney J. Harris.

Harris quoted from and concurred with a book entitled "Man, Crime and Society" which maintained that police officers too often were called upon to perform "non-police" functions, acting as clerks, radio operators, traffic safety lecturers, motor vehicle inspectors, and a multitude of et ceteras.

* * * *

HARRIS AND the authors of the book maintained that these and similar duties were properly the function of society's various agencies, such as the family, the school, and the church.

"It's an old, old argument," assistant police chief William Kummer said. "And it hangs on whatever definition you accept of the proper function of a police department.

"There is one theory that a policeman should confine himself to going out and catching lawbreakers. There is another theory that a policeman's function is not only to catch a lawbreaker, but to prevent the law from being broken in the first place, to deter a potential lawbreaker, if he can."

* * * *

"THE LONG BEACH Police Department, and I think most departments throughout the country, subscribes to the second theory," Kummer concluded.

"That's why this department has officers going to schools and lecturing on traffic safety and the dangers of narcotics," added Budget Officer Lee Risner.

"A narrow definition of a police department's function is not possible if you say, as we do, that our department's function is simply to be of service to the community," Risner said.

"NEVERTHELESS," Mansell said, "we are interested in increasing our efficiency. To that end we have removed from police responsibility many jobs which other departments can do better, consequently freeing officers for work they can do better.

"The police department once had such responsibilities as rounding up stray animals, painting street lines, and maintaining a lifeguard service. We don't do any of those things any more.

"In addition, we employ full and part time crossing guards, specially trained correctional officers at the honor farm, and girls to perform stenographic and other clerical duties.

"OUR USE of meter maids —the women officers who patrol the parking areas—has released about 25 men for other police work. And the girls do their jobs as well as the men were doing it.

"As an example of our continued efforts to find better ways of doing things, we use a device in our department which gives us some 250 hours a month more time from our officers than we were getting.

"Before, when an officer was called to the scene of an accident or a holdup or some other violation, he would take down as much information as he could, then come back to the office and prepare a report. This involved leaving the field, sitting down at a typewriter and grinding out the report.

"And the way some of those fellows typed, it was a grind," Kummer added.

"NOW," Mansell continued, "they simply go to a phone and call in. A device records their call, and a girl transcribes it. The report looks better, and the officer is out in the field where he should be."

Kummer added that another innovation currently being put into use is a combination telephone-dispatch room. He estimated the yearly savings at about $10,000.

The police department employs 646 people, of which 129 are civilian.

"Long Beach ranks high among cities of its size in the ratio of sworn personnel to non-sworn personnel," Risner said.

'Magic Couch' Claims Ruled Misleading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Stauffer Laboratories of Los Angeles Saturday were under orders from the Federal Trade Commission to stop making false claims that its electric "Magic Couch" will help lose weight or firm muscle.

FTC examiner Edward Crell issued the order against the firm and its president, Bernard H. Stauffer, following hearings on an FTC complaint issued early in 1960.

Crell said the device would not tone muscles or reduce body weight. If anyone loses weight by following the "Stauffer Home Plan," it would result from a reduction in calories, he said.

The ruling was subject to a review by the commission.

Greek Medic Group Seeks Protection

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—About 1,000 doctors staged a six-hour strike Saturday protesting that the government is not giving them sufficient protection against disgruntled patients.

Military doctors stood by to handle emergencies during the strike period.

The doctors' complaint goes back to last April when a prominent physician was slain by a husband whose wife died after an operation.

Following the slaying, there were several reports of doctors being threatened by relatives of patients.

Ezra Taft Benson's Son Enters Race

Scientific Salesmanship Subject of LeBarr Talk

"Scientific Salesmanship" will be the subject of a speech by vocational counsellor Georges Henri LeBarr July 17 at the Lafayette Hotel.

LeBarr, who attempts to analyze a person's characteristics, abilities, and potentialities from a photograph of the subject, will speak in the hotel's Supper Room at 7:30 p.m. There will be no charge.

He will be introduced by Bill Ballard, a member of the Long Beach Real Estate Board.

The lecture-demonstration is primarily designed for sales and business people, but is open to the public. LeBarr's speech is sub-titled "How to Size Up Your Prospect and Expedite Transactions."

Also on the program will be a color film entitled "The Story of California from the Beginning."

6,000 Reserve Troops in Camp

"You're in the Army now" was the theme song Saturday for 6,000 Southern California Reservists beginning two weeks of field training at military reservations around the state.

A mass outbound troop movement began at midnight Friday when 3,000 men boarded two trains at Los Angeles Union Station. Others traveled in truck convoys and buses from a dozen Southland cities.

Business Fraternity Elects

Long Beach chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, a national business fraternity, is headed by a new slate of officers, it was announced Saturday.

New president is Lawrence E. Pearce, of 5956 Los Encinos Ave., Buena Park. New directors are John E. Lasswell, 2675 Easy Ave.; Bernard Reizner, 6718 E. El Salvador, and Kermit J. Sadler, 25016 Belleport St., Harbor City.

Fireman Hurt in Oil-Field Blaze

Flames erupted when an oil worker struck a gas meter with his car and broke a feed line. Released gas caught fire and engulfed the car, driven by Donald Childes, 36, who escaped uninjured.

Fireman Dave Vietzke, 21, was burned about the eyes but was released after treatment in a Whittier hospital.

Three Santa Fe Springs fire companies under command of Acting Chief Lester C. Bullock prevented flames from spreading to nearby wells.

Gardena Gets Branch Library

A new major branch of the Los Angeles County Library will be built in Gardena as part of the expanding Civic Center, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced.

The architectural firm of Marion Varner and Associates has been retained to draw plans for the facility.

The branch, to be one of the largest in the county library system, will serve much of the southwest portion of Los Angeles County in addition to Gardena, Hahn said.

L.B. Army Noncom Found Dead In Bed

The body of Army Sgt. Robert A. James, 31, stationed in Seoul, Korea with the 1st Cavalry Division, was discovered Saturday in bed. His wife, Elizabeth, lives at 1557 Parade St.

Army officials said an autopsy will be performed to determine cause of death.

Slugger Runs as Victim Screams

Waitress Jewel F. Sarringar, 40, of 1609 Atlantic Ave., Saturday was treated for head injuries at St. Mary's Hospital after being slugged by a man as she walked near her home.

She said the assailant suddenly appeared and struck her on the head several times with what may have been a wine bottle. He reportedly ran after being alarmed by her screams.

Accident Victims Arrested

Two Los Angeles youths, injured in an accident involving an allegedly stolen car, Saturday were taken into custody by Los Angeles officers on car-theft charges.

Police here said John J. Mojica, 18, suffered a broken left leg, and Robert Mata, 18, severe facial cuts, when the car in which they were riding crashed into construction work on San Diego Freeway at Atlantic Avenue near 33rd Street.

The driver and another youth, who apparently fled the scene, are being sought, officers reported.

Methodists Retain 'Total Abstinence'

BURSLEM, England (AP) — By an overwhelming majority vote, the Methodist Conference rejected Saturday night a move to discard total abstinence as a condition of membership of the church's Order of Citizenship.

The proposal had been made that the phrase "total abstinence" be replaced by "abstemiousness in the use of all alcoholic beverages" but abstinence while driving.

Bitter Contest for Top GOP Post Nears End

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Los Angeles County's 217-member Republican Central Committee will name its election year chairman Tuesday night to climax an increasingly bitter battle between aspirants J. A. (Jud) Leetham, the incumbent, and Jack Drown, often referred to as gubernatorial nominee Richard M. Nixon's "closest personal friend."

Drown, of Rolling Hills and proprietor of the Drown News Agency, 2531 E. 67th St., claims, through his backers, to have pledges of support from more than 100 committeemen.

Leetham supporters, stoutly defending him against Drown's charges of deficit operation of the committee, have appealed to committeemen to reserve their decision until, they say, revelation of an audit at the Tuesday election meeting will prove Drown's charges false.

* * * *

OBSERVERS within the committee see the Drown-Leetham contest as one to decide whether Nixon will be permitted to name his own man, Drown, for the tactical conduct of county campaigning or whether the job will go to Leetham, who claims a party loyalty approach as opposed to a "one-candidate oriented" approach.

Drown has pledged support to the whole GOP ticket and Leetham has pledged unflagging support to Nixon and the ticket whether he wins or loses the chairmanship.

Drown cites a June 14 meeting of the United Republican Finance Committee as basis for his deficit charges, saying specifically that the June 30 deficit was $10,000 and will bulge to $83,000 by Sept. 1 when the long, hot campaign is just beginning.

* * * *

LEETHAM, supported by county treasurer Charles Soderstrom and URFC chief Harold Ramser, says this report is false, adding that the Tuesday-revealed audit will more likely show a surplus of about $50,000. Ramser says the Drown-predicated deficit of September would occur only in the "preposterous" eventuality that there will be no fund-raising effort whatsoever this summer.

Claims of wide Drown support were contained in a letter over the signature of Nixon law firm associate Earl C. Adams. It contained the names of other Drown backers including two Long Beach committee members John C. Lungren, M.D., and Dr. Ryland R. Madison. It also included three assemblymen, Houston I. Flournoy, Chet Wolfrum and Howard J. Thelin.

JACK DROWN
Chairman Candidate

* * * *

COUNTY precinct chairman Jim Ritchey also has circularized committeemen to refute allegations of an inadequate job of getting out the GOP vote in the primary. Ritchey noted that personal congratulations from Nixon himself were at hand to dispute the charge.

As Nixon's favorite, Drown may have the inside track although Leetham has not conceded an inch. Leetham apparently feels that impact of the financial report Tuesday will be a significant one. Such feelings was implicit in his remark on Drown's charges: "It is hard for me to imagine that Mr. Drown could want the county chairmanship so badly that he would do what he is doing to get it."

FRONTIER DEMOS

Mrs. Zita Remley will be guest speaker for the New Frontier Democratic Club at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Terrace Room of the Breakers International Hotel.

BIGELOW WINS

M. Ross Bigelow, attorney, won a place on the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee for the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District by virtue of absentee ballots.

Bigelow edged out Deane Dana by about 15 votes after absentees were counted although Dana had a 30-vote margin before the absentee count.

82nd Airborne Invasion of Sicily in 1943 Was Monumental Snafu

(This is another in a series of articles recalling people and places, campaigns and catastrophies of World War II. Subsequent articles will appear at intervals of approximately two weeks.)

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

The 82nd Airborne Division was accustomed to snafus by the time it hit Sicily, on July 10, 1943.

"After Tunis," says one veteran, "nothing seemed to matter."

In training there, the division got its transportation system fouled up, lived on Spam and marmalade for a solid week.

But that was just a comic-opera introduction to the horrible mess that followed.

Sicily was the first big-scale mass parachute drop of World War II, fashioned in part after the successful, but comparatively small German airborne assault on Crete two years earlier. Since this was the Allies' first major descent from the air to a battlefield, some mistakes were inevitable, perhaps—but . . .?

• • • •

THE BATTLE PLAN was relatively simple. The First Division was to make a beach landing on western Sicily, the 82nd Airborne to drop in ahead and clean out the initial Italian and German resistance.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded the 82nd, said even the Germans were not original.

In 1763, Ridgway said in his memoirs, Benjamin Franklin observed a balloon ascension and wrote:

• • • •

"WHERE IS the prince who can so afford to cover his country with troops for its defense as than ten thousand men descending from the clouds might not in many places do an infinite deal of mischief before a force might be brought together to repel them."

Unfortunately, the Americans did an "infinite deal of mischief"—to themselves.

Although there were hundreds of Allied ships near the beaches to gauge the winds, nobody adjusted for a sudden shift in air currents that began at midnight.

• • • •

THE PARATROOPERS' target was a small area near the Sicilian town of Gela, to land ahead of Gen. Omar Bradley's invaders and screen them, for the moment, against enemy attack.

Mild breezes were predicted, and the paratroop drops were figured for that eventuality.

Instead gale-like winds of 35 miles velocity were raging when the troop-carriers flew over the scene. The drops were made, regardless.

• • • •

THE SOLDIERS of the 82nd were scattered for 60 miles in all directions, covering an area of hundreds of square miles.

Then came the greater tragedy.

Offshore, the invading armada had just repelled a German aerial assault. As the battered German bombers flew off, planes carrying the 504th Battalion of American paratroopers came over the horizon, directly on schedule and directly on course.

Somebody downstairs blundered.

Afterwards officers and men said they had been so furiously engaged in combat with the German planes that they didn't stop to think.

The slow American transports lumbered toward their drop zones, and were caught in a devastating anti-aircraft fire from the American armada below.

Paratroopers poured out of the planes as shore batteries took up the fire. Before the appalling mistake could be corrected, 23 American transports were shot down—by American guns. The fleet commander blamed the Air Corps, the Army blamed merchant seamen manning guns on transports.

Gen. Keerans, commander of the 504th, never got an opportunity to testify. He was one of the paratroopers shot down and killed.

While this tragedy took place on the beach, inland confusion was rampant.

The bewilderment of the American invaders was scarcely less than that of the German defenders. As fast as they committed reserves to one area, they would get invasion reports from another. One American general—James M. Gavin—later described Sicily as a "self-adjusting foulup."

By that he meant that the snafu had now spread to the German sides of the lines—if there was anything such as "lines."

On the American front, the snafu deepened before it improved. Each division committed to the Sicilian invasion had its own password, and the British had one of their own, too. Since the American drop covered such a wide area, units were days establishing contact with their own commands.

The British were unexpected benefactors. The gales blew them hundreds of reinforcements—Americans sailing through the sky far off course. The First Division found itself reinforced by paratroopers.

Inland the airborne troops found themselves in squads instead of platoons, platoons instead of companies. But they fought like tigers.

The objective of these troops—to delay German reinforcements until the First Division could mount an offensive from the beachhead—was achieved so notably that one of Germany's prize units, the Hermann Goering Armored Division, was sealed off from the beaches. In the opinion of German General Karl Student, as he expressed it two years later in a prisoner-of-war camp:

"I attribute the entire success of the Allied Sicilian operation to the delaying of German reserves until sufficient forces had been landed by sea to resist the counter-attacks of our defending forces."

The men who died by snafu at Sicily may have saved the lives of thousands of their fellow soldiers. As a result of the foulups there, paratroop commanders changed many of their procedures. In later airborne invasions, Allied guns were silenced along the pathways of the troop-carrying planes; passwords were simplified and standardized, and revised concepts of using weather information were developed.

Gen. Gavin called Sicily a "sobering experience for all the troops and staff.

"After Sicily, the troopers of the 82nd knew what it was to leap from the door of a plane into the inky black night. They knew full well whether they lived or died depended entirely on their physical and mental resources and what they carried out the door with them.

"Only God came along with you," was the feeling after Sicily."

Attorney Files Suit Over Title H'wood Lawyer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The late Jerry Giesler, counsel for many Hollywood stars, never was a "Hollywood lawyer," an attorney who was filmland's first assemblyman in 1932 charged.

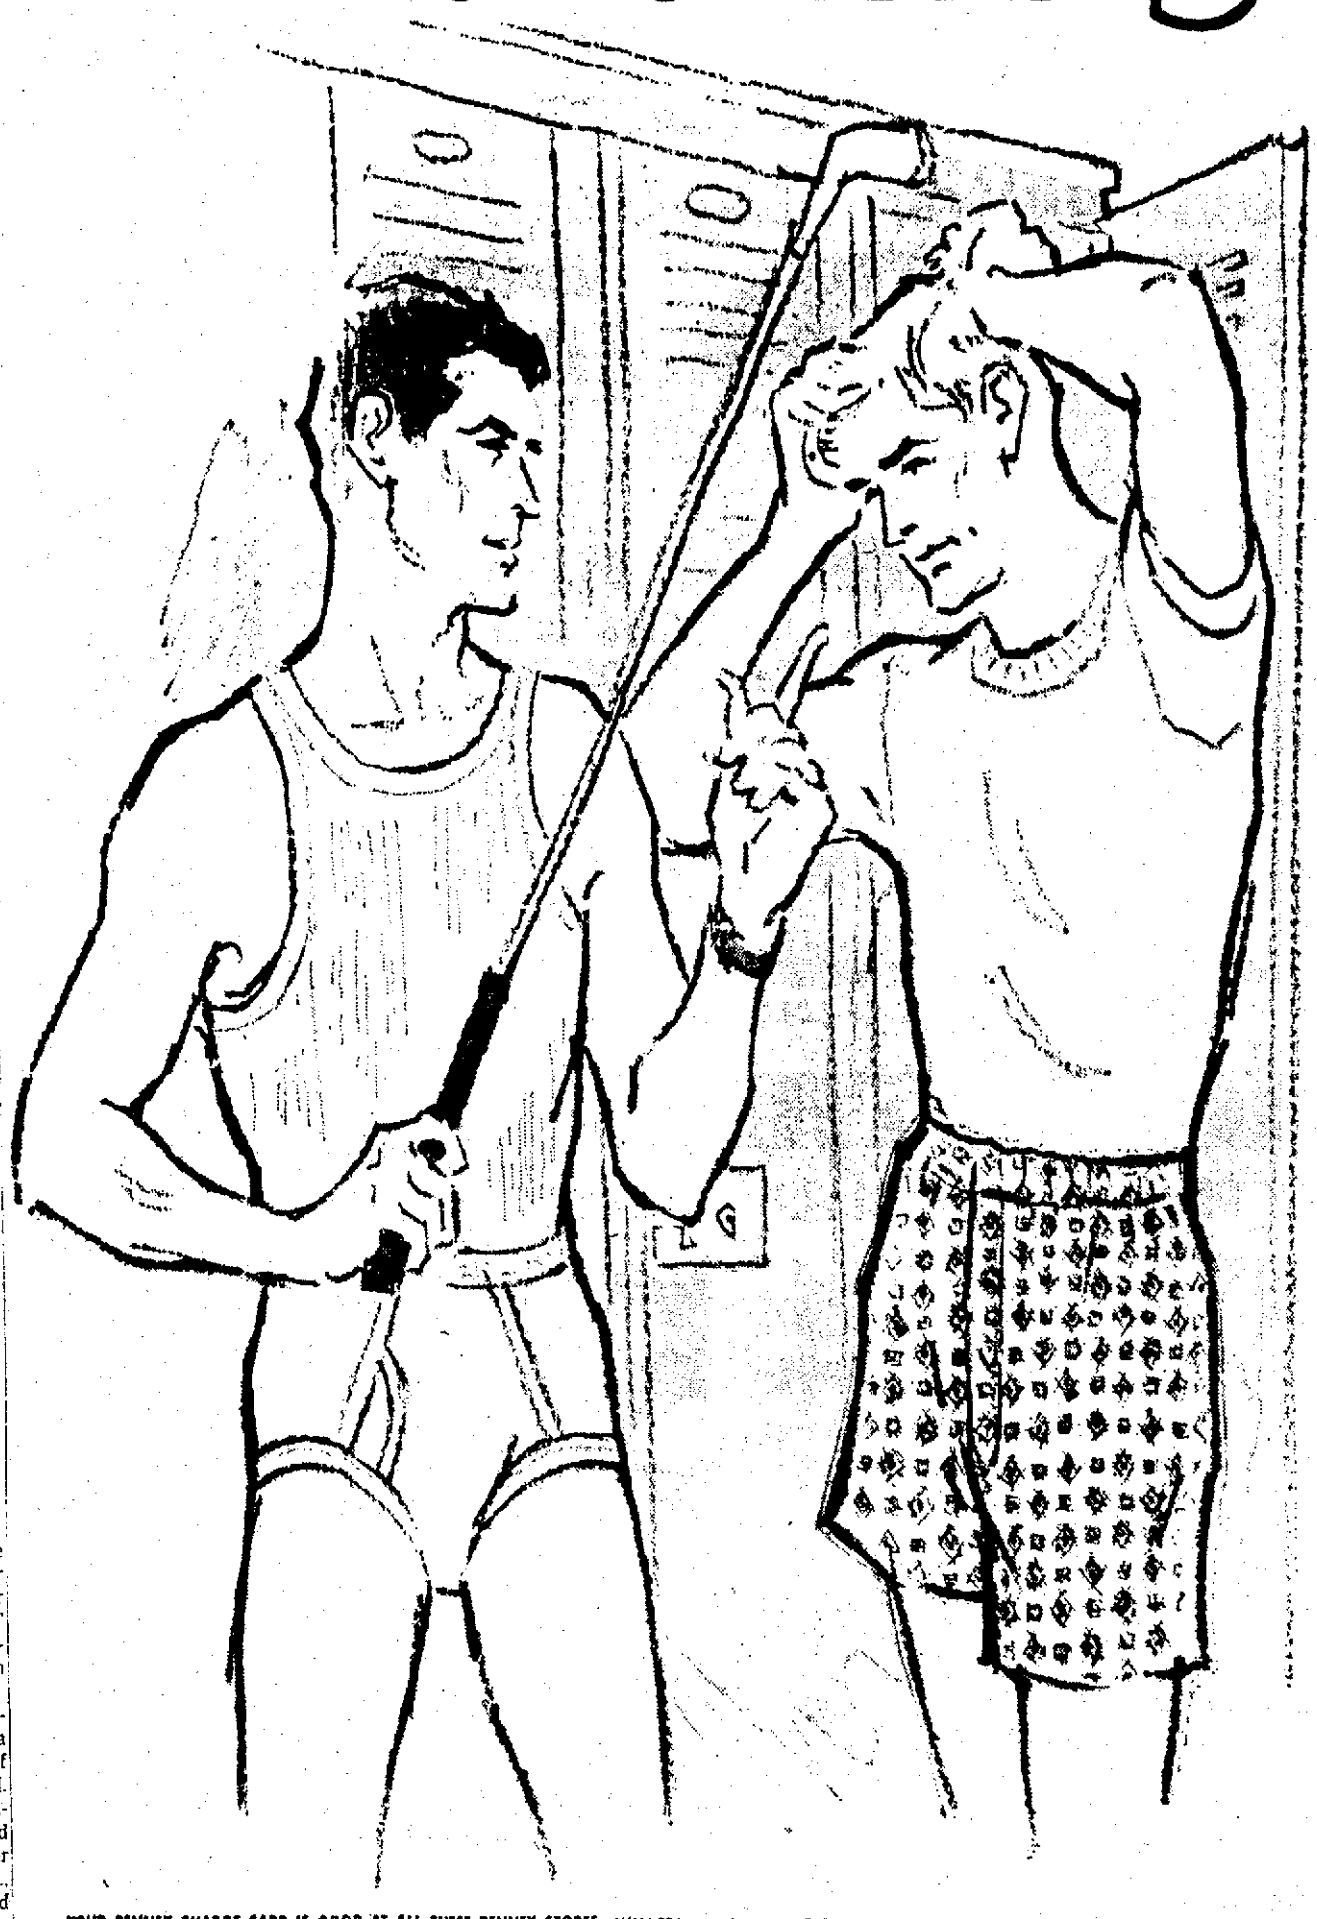

Protesting use of the "Hollywood lawyer" tag on a paperback biography of Giesler, attorney Milton M. Golden filed a $150,000 damage suit against Simon and Schuster, Inc., the Giesler estate and Pocket Books, Inc., as well as 18 booksellers and distributing organizations.

Golden said the title, added to a new paperback edition of Giesler's life, is "unfair competition" with his own story, "Milton M. Golden: Hollywood Lawyer," and is false and misleading to the general public.

DSA Seen Saving Military, Taxpayers $2 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new $3-billion Defense Supply Agency — DSA — is now nearing full operation.

That may turn out to be the best news taxpayers have had in years.

This unsung, almost ignored agency is now eight months old and has 16,500 employes. Ultimately, it will have 23,900.

Its job is to supply the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines with the items they use in common and to do it efficiently and effectively.

In the process, it is expected to lop $2 billion annually from the current procurement costs of the services—$2 billion that critics of the military say has been spent through sheer managerial inefficiency and service parochialism.

It already has reduced the jumbled inventory it took over from the services by $229 million.

* * * *

TAXPAYERS have been complaining about the inept-ness of military procurement clear back to the days of George Washington. Nobody has the foggiest notion of how many long-forgotten studies have been made on ways and means to improve military supply services.

Last year Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ordered another study. The final report, never published, apparently outraged his sense of tidiness for on Aug. 31 he announced the Defense Supply Agency would come into being Oct. 1.

For all practical purposes, the defense secretary abolished the Quartermaster Corps operations of the armed services and transferred the whole kit and kaboodle to DSA.

* * * *

IN SO DOING, McNamara not only brought a high degree of centralization to the chaotic procurement field, but by estalishing the agency outside any military service and directly under his office, he nailed down civilian control of a vital section of military spending, though his first choice for chief was a military man.

To head this new empire McNamara yanked Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara, 57, an affable fisherman and terrible golfer—100 plus, back from Korea where he was serving as quartermaster general to the 8th Army. The two McNamaras are unrelated.

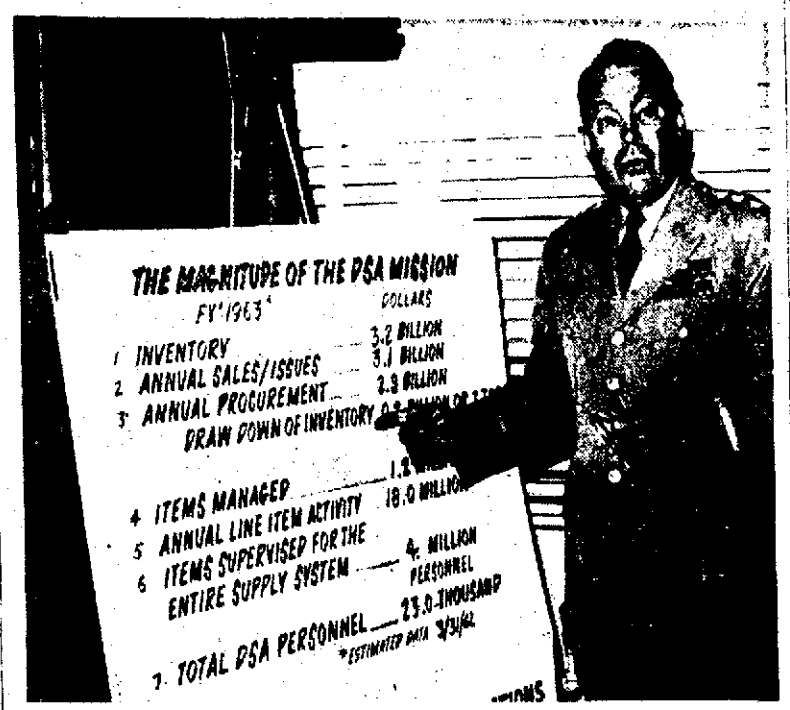

The DSA now has charge of procuring food, clothing, medical supplies, petroleum products, construction materials, industrial, electronic and automotive supplies for all the services.

* * * *

FURTHER, it is charged with providing transportation for all suplies from where they happen to be, to where the services need them. In addition, DSA is now charged with handling the sales of all goods declared surplus.

To supply the services Gen. McNamara has a revolving stock fund of $3 billion a year. He plans to sell about $3 billion worth of goods to the services and buy a like amount from producers.

In essence, DSA operates a wholesale warehouse system which delivers to the service-operated outlets. The service-man is the consumer.

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — A permanent organization to prevent installation of a public restroom at Windansea Beach in La Jolla was formed here Saturday.

"We are opposed to this thing down the line," a spokesman for the group said. "We want no compromise."

The group was formed to keep the "natural beauty" of the beach intact "for all San Diego to enjoy," the spokesman continued.

County Health Director Dr. J. N. Askew has told the La Jollans that state law requires a public restroom on the beach and one must go in.

This is the second altercation over the proposed facility. La Jolla won the first.

Doctors Donate $4.7 Million to Medical Schools

CHICAGO (AP)—American doctors gave more than $4.7 million to the nation's medical schools last year, the American Medical Association said.

The physicians gave $3,428,413 directly to the schools, and $1,303,161 to the AMA's education and research foundation. The foundation, started in 1951, has raised $11.5 million to aid the country's 86 medical schools.

Deans of the medical schools may use the grants at their discretion for special projects or expenses outside their budgets.

N. Y. Ship Company Gets $53 Million Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy will award a $53,987,001 contract to the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N. J., for construction of a nuclear powered frigate, Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N. J., said.

New York Ship was one of three firms to bid for the frigate.

This is the second major contract within a week that the Navy said it will award to the Camden firm. Last Tuesday it was selected to build one of three nuclear attack submarines. This vessel is expected to cost about $28 million.

Tax Cut Timing Clamor Grows; JFK Stands Pat

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

Clamor over the question of an immediate income tax cut to aid business grew louder this week.

President Kennedy told his news conference that his administration is seriously considering requests by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for a reduction now.

But for the time being Kennedy stood pat on his previously announced intention of asking Congress to reduce taxes, effective next January.

He said he was watching the economic indicators and that if they seem to reflect the need for a quicker cut he will recommend it.

Three governors — Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican, Michael V. Disalle of Ohio and Edmund G. Brown of California, Democrats—joined in the plea for lower taxes.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., reiterated his demand for early action on taxes.

The proposals ran into opposition from Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman, and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican member, of the Senate Finance Committee.

"While it may be politically popular at this time, the long-range inflationary results for America would be disastrous," said Williams. "I refuse to have any part of such irresponsible action as to endorse a tax cut in the face of our present deficit."

Byrd, estimating the proposal would reduce tax revenues by $9.5 billion a year, said it would lead to a deficit of more than $15 billion in the current fiscal year.

* * * *

THE FIRST National Bank of Chicago, in its semi-annual poll of mid-western leaders of commerce and industry, found expectations of improved business during the second half of this year in the rubber and automotive products, merchandising, food, farm equipment, oil and appliance industries.

The steel industry is expected to remain at its slow pace. Representatives of the construction, rail and paper industries were pessimistic.

Another survey by the University of Michigan research center indicated that the consumer will continue the high level of spending that prevailed in the spring.

However, the report said "it is evident that the consumer is not in an exuberant frame of mind. There are no indications that people are disposed to upgrade their standard of living more rapidly in the period ahead than they did during the past few years.

"Thus, the impetus to faster economic growth, sought by government and business, is not likely to come from the consumer sector in the near future unless new stimuli alter the prospects seen by consumers."

THE FEDERAL reserve board reported that consumers increased installment credit debt by $413 million in May, about $100 million less than in April. A moderate decline in the signing of new installment contracts for consumer goods was noted.

Total inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May showed the smallest increase in nine months, the Commerce Department announced. Inventories were estimated at $97.4 billion, up $170 million from April.

The department said total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May were estimated at $66.4 billion, a gain of less than one per cent from April.

It was announced in Tokyo that the Kennedy Administration has invited Japan to invest in building factories in the United States. It would be a means of helping correct a U. S. adverse balance of payments situation.

Mentioned as regions where industrialization might be expanded with Japanese funds were Wichita, Kan., Wilmington, N. C., Maine, New Jersey and areas on the West Coast.

Output of passenger cars dropped to an estimated 112,000 this week from 126,521 last week but was far ahead of the 85,962 built in the July 4 week last year.

The auto industry reported it turned out 3,620,596 passenger cars in the first six months of this year, a gain of 32.3 per cent over the 2,736,804 built in the 1961 first half.

Production of 570,000 cars was scheduled for July, up 43 per cent from a year ago and the highest for July since 1955.

Steel production was expected to fall to another 17-month low this week. Last week the mills poured 1,501,000 tons of steel, down four per cent from the previous week.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Huge Nevada Blast Was a Peaceful Venture

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The mightiest H-bomb type device ever fired in the United States ripped a huge crater in the Nevada desert last week.

But it was a peaceful rather than warlike venture—a part of Project Plowshare to convert the power of nuclear forces to digging harbors, obliterating obstructive mountains, and turning up deeply buried minerals.

* * * *

THE UNDERGROUND blast—600 feet beneath the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test center—was the prelude to the first atmospheric test in the United States in four years. It also coincided with plans to fire a high-altitude H-bomb in the Central Pacific weapons test series.

The explosion opened a crater roughly 300 feet deep and nearly a third of a mile in diameter. The hole was 600 feet deep until debris blown into the air settled back.

The AEC said a "relatively clean" thermonuclear device was used, but that in any event 95 per cent of the deadly radiation was trapped in the ground.

President Kennedy has no intention of recommending an immediate tax cut despite mounting pressure from business and labor. That doesn't apply to early 1963, however.

* * * *

HE MADE this clear in a nationally televised press conference after the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO, spokesmen respectively, for business and labor, claimed a cut now was imperative to bolster a sluggish economy.

The President said he would have to watch basic economic indicators over the next few months before deciding whether such a stimulant is needed.

He said he and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon preferred to stick to their previously announced schedule of a cut next year.

The AFL-CIO replied that Kennedy "is dead wrong." It said the economy was not responding as it should and that "everything looks bad and nothing looks good."

* * * *

THE LABOR Department reported, meantime, that unemployment, swollen by school youngsters entering the labor market, inched up in June for the first time in more than a year to 5.5 per cent.

Kennedy appealed to Congress for bi-partisan support of his $4.9 billion foreign aid bill which the House takes up this week. The Senate cut the total to $216.5 million.

The President recognized that the program places "great demands" on the American people. But he said it was vital to United States and free world security. He urged that these facts be kept in mind:

—More than half the funds go for military assistance to nations defending themselves against communism; more than 80 per cent is in loans which must be repaid in dollars; more than 80 per cent will buy U. S. goods, thereby helping industry and workers.

He warned that changes are going on throughout the world and that the program will have a bearing on whether they take place peacefully or with violence. "The stirrings of revolution can be felt in this hemisphere," he added. "It will be either peaceful or violent."

* * * *

IN A FOURTH of July address in Philadelphia where American patriots lighted the Torch of Liberty 186 years ago, Kennedy envisioned a mighty economic, political and military partnership between the United States and a United States of Europe.

Such an alliance would be so strong, he said, that it could mount a deterrent powerful enough to forewarn any aggressor and banish war and coercion from the earth. "All this will not be completed in a year," he said, "but let the world know that this is now our goal."

Kennedy has been urging closer anti-Communist political and economic ties in Free Europe. He has acclaimed the European Common Market, which Britain and other nations are expected to join, as the first step in what he called a future "declaration of interdependence"—a concrete Atlantic partnership.

* * * *

"WE DO NOT regard a strong and united Europe as a rival but as a partner," the President declared. He believed a united Europe could play a greater role in common defense, in reducing trade barriers, helping newly independent but underdeveloped countries, and developing coordinated policies in all economic, diplomatic and political areas.

He cautioned that such an alliance must not become "a rich man's club while the rest of the world gets poorer and poorer." In other words, he said, it must play a great role in aiding progress in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev repeatedly has denounced the proposed economic alliance which could cut deeply into Russian trade, and Moscow has warned Austria and other nations not to join in.

SEN. BARRY Goldwater of Arizona started a political ruckus with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower over creation of an all Republican conference and national citizens committee to serve as a GOP advisory council.

The acknowledged leader of the party's conservative wing denounced the move, charging that those named to the council were responsible for divisive tactics which led to Kennedy's election. He asserted that this ran counter to the traditional principles of the party and the counsel of party leaders.

The council was formed at a GOP meeting at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm. Goldwater, who harbors presidential ambitions, called on Republican National Chairman William E. Miller to repudiate it and keep party strategy in the national committee.

Miller did not respond immediately but Eisenhower did. He wrote Miller, as did liberal Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., that the council would promote "progressive programs which are the core of Republicanism;" that it was "crucial to the party's resurgence;" and that it was strictly a leadership move which will bring together "the truest possible group action of our national leaders."

Short-Shorts, Capris, Levis Blossom at LBSC

—Staff Photos by Roger Coar

L. B. Receives $401,102 in Motor Vehicle Fees

The City of Long Beach has received a lump-sum payment of $401,102 in the final disbursement of motor vehicle fees for the fiscal year ended July 1, Finance Director Warren Heistand announced Saturday.

Payments to nearby Los Angeles County cities, as announced by Alan Cranston, state controller, included:

Swim Pool Manager Is Honored

Scholastic and aquatic performance, leadership qualities, and personality were the basis of the votes cast by Bender's 50 fellow students and the school's teaching staff.

A graduate of Jordan High School and Long Beach City College, Bender is attending Long Beach State College while employed by the city's recreation department. He was nominated to attend the aquatic school by the Long Beach Red Cross Chapter.

At Tulequoia he renewed his certification as a Red Cross water safety instructor and qualified as a first aid instructor and an instructor in basic boating and advanced survival swimming.

LBSC Summer Dress Informal

The Long Beach State College handbook is explicit:

"Bermudas, slacks, shorts, sweatshirts, levis and the like are not appropriate for general campus wear."

But when the winter's chill is off the air, anything—or almost anything—goes.

Blossoming in the lazy summer sun are gaily colored short-shorts, capris, Bermudas and tightly tailored slacks.

Some professors have shed ties and are lecturing in passionate-plaid sport shirts.

It's all perfectly legal and proper. The handbook's advice covers only the regular school year.

Practical observers believe the current summer session is setting a record for "casual" learning. A college spokesman says the trend appears to be growing.

PRETTY SUE Chapman, an aspiring elementary school teacher from Harbor City, alternates between fetching white shorts and capris. "I think it's one of the best things about going to school in the summer," she says.

As a general rule, the LBSC handbook advises: "Simplicity is the keynote on the campus." Summer 1962 appears to be drawing a thinner line than usual between the simple and the elemental.

Beach Combing

With Malcolm Epley

SOUTH of Long Beach lies the ocean—a geographical fact that still evades a lot of people.

Some one had it a little mixed up on the first reports of the finding of the dress and hairband in the tragic case of the missing Torrance girl.

The authorities at first wouldn't tell us exactly where the find was made. "South of Long Beach" was all they would say, and that's what early edition headlines had to say.

Later, it developed, the spot was at Bolsa Chica Beach, which is as much east as south. Directly south would be something else, a fact evidently not clear to the official who gave the first report. A small point, perhaps, but interesting to geographical hair-splitters.

JIM BENTSON, the lawyer, who lives east of Long Beach at Seal Beach, has had an interesting experience with Seattle.

Bentson cancelled a mid-May trip to the fair up there when his travel agent was not able to guarantee reservations made earlier in the year. The lawyer wrote a hot letter to several newspapers, and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer printed it. That really touched things off.

The president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, the director of the fair, and the head of the fair housing bureau, telephoned him the day of publication of the letter. He was even more impressed and moved when a cab driver and a housewife telephoned from Seattle volunteering to get his family a place to stay.

Before the day was over, Bentson had eight phone calls and three telegrams, including an offer from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hekker offering him free use of a duplex at Kent, Wash.

In the week that followed, he received no less than 39 letters from Washington, including five more offers of free accommodations. Others sent clippings about people who had attended the fair at little cost and soon.

Bentson, of course, has changed his mind. He's going to Seattle. "Promoters and profiteers can't last long in that atmosphere," he says. "We're looking forward to our trip, not only because we'll see the fair, but because we'll meet the warm-hearted people up there."

ALL of this is worth particular note because Long Beach, a few years hence, will probably be hosting a world's fair.

It's a big responsibility for a community, and a few hot-shot profit-takers can do a lot of harm.

Seattle's good people are laboring to overcome such handicaps. Knowing they're likely to develop, we are forewarned and have the chance to head them off before the fair opens.

TOMORROW, Monday, is a big day for this dept. Scheduled is the announcement of the results of the "Predict the June Headlines" contest that attracted so much interest among B-C readers.

It has been a job, sorting and scoring the hundreds of entries. But it has been fascinating, too.

It turned out to be a tough contest, for June was a rather unpredictable month. But you'll be surprised, for instance, at the number of entrants who actually picked the Dodgers in second place and the Angels in third on June 29, the key day for two of the contest questions.

Watch for the results tomorrow.

Lt. Cmdr. Tiernan Takes Over at Santa Ana Training Center

Lt. Cmdr. Bernard F. Tiernan, USN, formerly with the staff of the Naval Air Reserve Training Command at Glenview, Ill., is now commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Training Center at Santa Ana.

Capt. A. D. Christopher, USNR, who had taken over temporarily pending arrival of Cmdr. Tiernan, returned to his primary duty as commanding officer of Long Beach Naval Reserve Training Center at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station.

Cmdr. Tiernan, who was a bomber pilot during World War II, later served as a jet fighter pilot from the decks of the USS Essex. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three stars, the Presidential Unit citation and Navy Unit commendation medals.

Deadly Dope Dosage Is Related by Witness

A 21-year-old Long Beach woman, booked for investigation of murder in the narcotics-overdose death of a Lakewood man, admitted Saturday that the victim took the overdose in her home.

During a police lie detector test, Mrs. Marjorie E. Goodin said she admitted Robert Gary Badstubner, 22, to her home at 1049 E. Plymouth St. Tuesday night and that he took an injection of heroin in her presence.

Badstubner, of 4723 Levelside Ave., was found later dead in his parked car on E. 63rd Street at De Forrest Avenue. Mrs. Goodin said he was alive when she last saw him.

Mrs. Brenda Joyce Drewien, 21, of 17908 Woodruff Ave., Bellflower, and Kenneth J. Bennett, of 15813 Washington St., Compton, arrested earlier for questioning in the case, were released Saturday. Police said they were apparently not implicated in the death.

MISSIONARY RETURNS

Whites Held Chief Cause of Africa Jungle Violence

By VERA WILLIAMS

"Whites in large measure are responsible for the violence in Africa's jungles.

"They imposed their culture too much and too fast on the native culture of Africa, giving the people things they never had possessed, did not need, and had no way to reproduce for themselves.

"Thus the natives developed the 'Gimme' habit."

It's one of the famed "White Fathers of Africa" speaking — white-robed Rev. Aime LaCasse, who for 20 years served as a missionary in Africa, living in mud huts without a floor, eating native food, speaking Swahili, Banyamezi and Arabic.

"A Westerner gives an African native a bed, for instance—" reflects Father La Casse. "He never has seen a bed before, he has no use for it. But his neighbors see it, and they want one, too. They can't get one; they have no means to make one . . . Trouble."

The order of "White Fathers," technically the "Missionaries of Africa" was founded in 1868 by Archbishop Charles Martial Allemand Lavigerie shortly after Henry M. Stanley found the explorer David Livingstone. ("Dr. Livingstone, I presume?")

* * * *

BY ORDERS of the founder, the "White Fathers" wear the costume of the Moslems of North Africa, a white cassock known as a "gandurah," a white hooded cape or "burnous" and a soft red fez called a "chechia." In warm countries, cassock and cape are of cotton; in the mountains they are made of wool.

Because Moslem holy men carry strings of black and white beads as they chant "There is no god but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet," the White Fathers wear Rosaries of black and white beads.

A native of New Hampshire, Father LaCasse was a theological student in Montreal when he heard a White Father speak and was fired with the desire to serve in Africa. He went to Algiers and Tunis in 1934, and was ordained in 1938 in the old Punic city of Carthage.

* * * *

Later he was dispatched to the mission at Tabora, the old slave market.

"In the market place, the stakes still stood where the slaves were tied," he says. "We could follow the slave trails by the bones from Tabora east to Dar-Es-Salaam and Mombasa, and west to Lagos and what now is Accra."

REV. AIME LACASSE
Speaking Swahili, Banyamezi

"Slavery still is practiced," he says, after a pause. "Arabs take African natives as slaves to Arabia. The United Nations knows this."

* * * *

FATHER LaCASSE served an area 90 miles wide, with some 60,000 inhabitants, most of them pagans.

"At that time," he says, "in Africa were 52 of us priests and brothers, with orders to live as closely to the natives as possible, to teach them about God and right and wrong, but not to unduly impose our culture on theirs.

"We ate the native fruits, we raised the native vegetables. On safaris, we ate the same food they did—bugali, which is corn flour boiled in water, scooped out from a central container by hand and dipped into a sauce made from digitalis leaves and ground peanuts. The milk was hard to take, because the natives clean the milk gourds with cow urine."

Africa needs no orphanages, he says, because homeless children are assimilated into the families of their relatives. In the main, the natives practice monogamy, but if a woman's husband dies she automatically becomes the "extra wife" of her husband's brother.

Failure to bear children is almost the only reason for divorce in Africa.

Father LaCasse says he has known natives to carry an ill or wounded neighbor 65 miles on a litter on their shoulders to a hospital.

"That's brotherly love," he adds.

"Africans are surprised at our motels, hotels and restaurants. In Africa, you may eat and sleep in any home where you stop."

THE "WHITE FATHER" believes that American doctors could learn much from African witchdoctors who concoct medicines from native herbs, roots, leaves, barks and grasses. He has seen sensational cures of black mamba and swira snakebites. A mamba kills in 20 minutes and a swira in 5 minutes.

The witchdoctors, he says, have potions that seem to cure sterility in men and women.

"Sometimes," he says ruefully, "they give an overdose, and the patient, even if cured, dies.

* * * *

NATIVES MAKE a toothbrush by chewing a twig of the mswaki bush. Father LaCasse never has seen an African native who used this "toothbrush" with bad teeth, regardless of good or bad diet.

"If an American manufacturer could make toothbrushes or a dentrifice from the mswaki, he'd have a fortune."

Father LaCasse now teaches classes in theology, African culture and laws of spiritual life, training Lay Mission Helpers at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Los Angeles.

CTA Should Use Its Power With More Restraint

A SPOKESMAN FOR the California Teachers Assn. got a standing ovation this week at the National Education Assn. convention in Denver when he told how the CTA blackballs school districts of which it disapproves.

After the cheers faded, however, the cold fact remained that the CTA was (and it still is) under a court order restraining it from applying that policy.

FOR TWO YEARS the Little Lake City School District, northeast of Long Beach, has been embroiled in conflict over the issue of fundamental versus progressive education. The CTA, a large, unofficial organization of professional educators, stepped into the conflict recently after voting itself the power to impose boycotts. It decided that the school district's personnel policies were not satisfactory.

Sanctions were applied. Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the CTA, explained in Denver this week what the application of sanctions means: "We refuse the district the use of our teacher replacement service, and we notify every teacher placement office in the United States of our stand."

LITTLE LAKE, believing that the school district's policies were the district's own affairs, hit back. The district's administration sought a restraining order, which Judge Charles Loring of the Superior Court granted.

Judge Loring issued five orders to the CTA, preventing it from: continuing its sanctions, disseminating false and misleading information about the district, withholding teacher placement services, interfering with personnel seeking employment at Little Lake, and encouraging teachers to resign from their contracts.

The fireworks will resume in Superior Court on July 19.

WE DON'T KNOW THE fine points of law involved here, but we do understand certain principles at stake. One of these is self-determination. If the residents of Little Lake don't like the way their district is run, they have the power to change its operation through their elected school board, without the aid or interference of the educators' lobby.

In developing and applying a "sanctions" system, the CTA, an unofficial body, has set itself up as the arbiter of the conduct of individual school districts. The legality of the CTA's assumption of this role has yet to be decided, but in any event, we feel it is improper.

The CTA charges the Little Lake district with the harassment of teachers; the CTA's remedy is to harass the district. In our opinion, the district, an official body, is on surer ground when it sets up rules for its teachers than the CTA when it sets up rules for districts.

If the CTA wants to prove that its chief interest is the promotion of education rather than the conquest of the state's school system, it will use the power of its huge membership and its large treasury with more restraint.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Should State Pay for Pools, Gyms, Housing for Students?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—A survey of the projects planned with the $270 million bond issue proposed to the people for acceptance or rejection at the November general election brings out a good many questions as to what is necessary and what can be done without in the state's educational system.

There is no doubt that all the projects planned by the educators are highly desirable for the educators, and would contribute much to the country club college life which has been developed in California over a period of years.

However, the taxpayers, who are the people putting up the money for this enriched program, revolted in June, and a good many keen political observers who personally favor the bond issue, feel the taxpayers may cinch that revolt in November by again defeating the proposed issue.

MacARTHUR

Three gymnasiums, one at Orange State College for $3,752,000; another at Alameda county state college for $4,660,000 and the third at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo county, for $2,783,000, are on the list for construction out of the bond money.

In Los Angeles state college, the educators want an administration building for $1,500,000. At Long Beach a gymnasium-classroom addition for $3,310,000 is proposed. At least this one has some provision for carrying out the original intent of education, which is classroom instruction.

Then there is also the question of why the taxpayers of the state should go into debt to construct swimming pools for the state colleges. One is listed at Cal Poly for $248,000, desirable of course, but hardly a project which should tax the paying capacity of future generations.

A good portion of the proposed indebtedness is slated for administration buildings, such as $2,085,700 for an administration building addition in Los Angeles; residence halls and cafeterias.

Admittedly, administration is an important part of the university and colleges systems. But the systems are being administered at the present time, so the question arises as to why the state should go in debt for better facilities. No such expansions are possible in private business when the private concern is forced to borrow money for quarters it can do without.

Residence halls are desirable, up to a point, but if a student can't find private housing on his own, and learn about some of the necessary procedures for taking care of himself, he is losing some of the important features of his education. Then, too, he has to eat, so cafeterias are desirable. But there are few students who would miss meals if the cafeterias did not exist.

* * * *

IN THE LONG RUN, the student who really wants an education, is going to get it, whether he has gymnasiums, residence halls or cafeterias. And he will get his education without coddling on the part of his parents or the state. And after all the education without coddling is all the more valuable to the student, and appreciated by him in a higher degree than if it were handed to him on a silver platter.

'Reversal' of 1956 Primary Cheers Richards Dopesters

STATE SEN. RICHARD RICHARDS' busy office elves went to work after the primary and when their boss walked in the other day he found his office redecorated in late fall colors and—to his delight—Senator Thomas H. Kuchel painted into a corner.

It was a job in figurative decor and the paint could chip and peel before Nov. 6, but statistically Richards' crew thinks the one-coat primary coverage over Kuchel for the U. S. Senate seat will need only a touch-up in November.

RICHARDS
So Goes November?

Main theme of the Richards statistics is that he got more votes than Kuchel in the primary and that the whole statistical picture is almost the reverse of the 1956 Kuchel-Richards contest when Kuchel won.

Richards' statewide margin over Kuchel on June 5 was about 319,000 votes. His HQ points out this was done despite the fact that only about 53 per cent of registered Democrats voted as against about 70 per cent of Republicans.

Here are highlights of the statistical report by Richards partisans:

Richards ran ahead of Kuchel in 41 of the state's 58 counties and the 41 have 78 per cent of total state voter registration. Richards got 83 per cent of Democratic votes cast in the Senate race while Kuchel got 75 per cent of GOP votes.

Los Angeles County gave Richards a 180,000-vote margin over Kuchel and, traditionally, the county primary winner repeats in the general. Richards got 86 per cent of the county Democrats while Kuchel got 69 per cent of Republicans voting in the Senate race.

Voting drop-off (those who vote the top of the ticket but fail to vote for contests farther down the ballot) was only 3 per cent from the gubernatorial vote to the eighth-place Senate position of Richards, but 13 per cent for Kuchel. Also, in the county, Richards ran second only to Governor Brown despite not being an incumbent.

In 1956, when Richards had been in office two years and when Kuchel "capitalized" on Eisenhower's strength, Kuchel beat Richards in the primary by 327,738 votes. The margin was reversed in 1962.

HERE'S HOW Richards' HQ presents the comparison of 1956 and 1962 primaries. Of the total vote in 1956, it was Kuchel over Richards 54 to 30 per cent with Richards' Demo opposition getting 14 per cent and Kuchel's GOP opposition getting only 2 per cent.

In 1962, it was Richards over Kuchel 43 to 35 per cent, with Richards Demo opposition getting 10 per cent and Kuchel's GOP opposition scoring 12 per cent.

Richards carried only seven counties in 1956, representing 4.4 per cent of the total registered vote.

Richards' 1956 vote was 1,004,336. His 1962 total (semiofficial) was 1,653,249 for a gain of 648,913. Demo registration rose 937,000 in the six-year period.

Kuchel's 1956 vote was 1,332,074. His 1962 total (semiofficial) was 1,333,713 for a gain of only 1,639 votes while Republican registration in the six-year period increased by 556,000.

STILL RUBBING it in, Richards' HQ notes that Kuchel's dropoff occurred despite the fact of his incumbency, first spot on the ballot and the fact that he is minority whip of the Senate whereas Richards was a non-incumbent whose name was rotated into first position on the ballot only in every third Assembly district.

For Kuchel to win, say Richards partisans, he would have to make up some 15 per cent of the Republican vote he failed to get in the primary plus 20 per cent of the Democratic vote.

He's Irked by Ad Distortions

EDITOR:

This is an open letter to Mr. John Consumer, the B.B.B., several mercantile managers, and a couple of advertising representatives: if the shoe pinches, take it off!

For several years I have been irked by misrepresentation in display ads' cuts (illustrations). Here are some cases in point:

Family backyard portable pools: a 15-inch wall pool shows what appears to be a man standing up to his thighs in water about 12 inches deep.

A CAMERA store ad says light meters are less than eight dollars, illustrated by a master meter that retails for more than thirty dollars. The ad says, "Get that perfect exposure every time," but there is nothing in the meter guarantee protecting a camera-user from his own nitwit mistakes.

Television advertisers are accused of thinking the public is largely mental midgets. Advertising layout people and art directors evidently go along.

What's the motive? Anything for a buck? Please the boss who demands "results"? Anything is good enough if it's art? Too much to do in too little time?

Ruling Held a 'Triple Wrong'

EDITOR:

The recent "prayer ban" by our Supreme Court is wrong—legally, morally and spiritually. The "laws of the land" must be for the good of all peoples—not for the satisfaction of a few.

How can we teach our children respect for teachers and our educational system in the public schools when these same forbid them to practice all the acts of life and living which they do in our homes and churches?

I feel sorry for the teachers who must carry out this infamous order.

Supreme Court Ruling 'Absurd'

EDITOR:

There is nothing more inspirational than the sight of a group of youngsters in their formative years, engaging in simple prayer, whether in school, church or elsewhere, be they Catholic, Jew or Protestant.

The fundamental principles which gave us our freedom of choice of religion, and the right of worship and pray as we please, antedates the Supreme Court. Our forefathers fought, bled and died to gain these freedoms which we now cherish.

* * * *

NOW, AFTER 186 years, this group of men, supposedly endowed with superior wisdom, take away a segment of these freedoms with a mere snap of their fingers. The ridiculous reason given, is, that prayer in public schools, howsoever neutrally denominational, is a form of coercion. What could be more absurd?

If this be true, then by the same token, the teaching of cleanliness and good manners would be in the same category, not to mention reading, writing, arithmetic and geography.

With the present trend, this group of tottering old men might yet stick their ever-lengthening noses into the sanctum of our private home lives.

Oh boy! That will be the day!

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Boyer and Robert Thompson-Davis

When we are in a fix we sometimes say we are "between the devil and the deep blue sea."

Other languages also have picturesque ways of expressing this dilemma. In some languages they say one is "between the hammer and the anvil," such as Russian—Myejdu molotom i nakovalney, and German—Zwishen Hammer und Amboss; while others turn it around and say "between the anvil and the hammer," as in French—Entre l'eclume et le marteau and Italian—Fra l'incudine e il martello. Arabic has it as Bein narein ("between two fires,") while Spanish says Entre la espada y la pared ("between the sword and the wall,") an interesting survival from the days of sword fighting. One of the most interesting of all is the Greek—Metaxi skyllas ke Harivdos ("between Scylla and Charybdis,") which refers to two legendary female monsters, who crouched on the two sides of the Straits of Messina.

A copy of the Berlitz "Diner's Dictionary" will be mailed to anyone submitting a question used in "Languages in the News."

WASHINGTON—The Massachusetts senatorial contest embracing as it does a Kennedy, a McCormack and a Lodge continues to fascinate the politicians in this highly political town. The race was being discussed recently and the role or non-role of President Kennedy in the struggle was being talked about. Said one wag: "The Massachusetts race reminds of a brochure put out by Father Flangan's Boys' Town in Omaha. It had a picture of one kid giving another boy a piggy-back ride. Underneath was the caption, 'No, he's not heavy. He's my brother.'"

GEORGE LODGE, the Republican candidate for the Massachusetts Senate seat was in town recently. He had worked here during the Eisenhower administration and has therefore a lot of friends in Washington. He was given a cocktail party which was to be a fund-raising affair. Several of his old friends who were expected to show up didn't. The reason? It was said the White House indicated it would strike from its list, social and political, those who attended the Lodge shindig. After all, Lodge might be running against brother Teddy in the fall.

ONE OF THE KENNEDY girls recently approached a well-known newspaperman and asked him what he thought of Bobby for vice-president in 1964. When the newsman first looked incredulous and then stammered that he didn't think much of the idea, the lady walked away in somewhat of a huff. Apparently the Kennedys like it here and are wondering how to lengthen their Washington sojourn.

Dewey Gave Up Chance to Win

WASHINGTON. — This writer, having sometimes been critical of Thomas E. Dewey, would like to even up the score by recounting how he patriotically gave up a sure-fire campaign issue which might have made him President.

The story is revealed in a fascinating book by Dan T. Moore and Martha Waller, "Cloak and Cipher," which deals with secret codes and wartime espionage. Specifically, it tells how the United States had broken the secret Japanese code for transmitting messages just before Pearl Harbor and how a message warning of the attack was received in advance but not acted upon because "everything at the top level in Washington seemed to be closed for the week end." As a result of this nonchalance, the U.S. Navy suffered its greatest defeat in history.

Three years later, when Franklin Roosevelt came up for re-election to a fourth term in 1944, the young GOP candidate against him, Tom Dewey, was preparing to make the Pearl Harbor catastrophe an important issue. Enough had leaked out to know that it resulted from bungling at the top. But Republican leaders did not know that the breaking of the Japanese secret code was involved.

However, authors Moore and Waller tell how Gen. George C. Marshall, then Chief of Staff, sent a top secret letter to Dewey, without the knowledge of President Roosevelt, revealing the consequences — if the breaking of the Japanese code was disclosed.

"The most vital evidence in the Pearl Harbor matter consists of our intercepts of the Japanese diplomatic communications," the Chief of Staff wrote the GOP candidate for President.

"We have gone ahead with this business of deciphering their codes until we possess other codes, German as well as Japanese . . . the battle of the Coral Sea was based on deciphered messages and therefore our few ships were in the right place at the right time. Further, we were able to concentrate our limited forces to meet their advances on Midway when otherwise we almost certainly would have been some 3,000 miles out of the place.

"The heavy losses reported from time to time which they sustain by reason of our submarine action largely result from the fact that we know the sailing dates and the routes of their convoys and can notify our submarines to lie in wait at the proper point," Gen. Marshall wrote Dewey.

He revealed much more about U.S. victories based on breaking the Japanese codes, then concluded: "You will understand from the foregoing the utter tragic consequences if the present political debates regarding Pearl Harbor reveal to the enemy any suspicion of the vital sources of information we now possess.

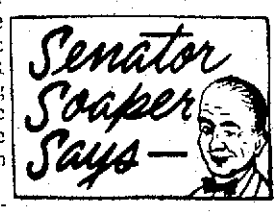

"I am presenting this matter to you for your secret information in the hope that you will see your way clear to avoid the tragic results with which we are now threatened in the present political campaign."

* * * *

DEWEY decided to put the interests of the United States above his own political ambition. Authors Moore and Waller point out that the 1944 election was close and that "if only one voter in 26 had changed his vote from Roosevelt to Dewey, because he knew the full facts regarding Pearl Harbor, Gov. Dewey would have been elected President of the United States."

NOTE—Secret codes govern not only war, diplomacy, and history, according to "Cloak and Cipher," but secret codes exist in the underworld, in prisons, among French tramps and among London cockneys. The codes which have never been deciphered are those of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Rosetta stone, and Bacon and Shakespeare.

MIRROR OF BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

Looking Far Ahead, L.B. Gas Dept. Keeps Abreast of City's Fast Growth

Though the primary purpose of this article is to present the history of the Long Beach Gas Dept. of the City of Long Beach, as an operating organization, it seems desirable to first discuss briefly the commodity and its production and delivery in both the manufactured and natural forms, since both have played a part in the life of the department.

Once the gas, whether manufactured or natural reaches the utility company's system it becomes a matter of dispatching and regulation to continually and uniformly deliver the quantities necessary to meet the demands of the various consumers. Depending upon the existing pressures in the feeder mains the gas upon first entering the system is either dispatched to the holders for storage until peak demand periods occur or it is sent directly throughout the feeder system for supply to the distribution system. Entrance to the distribution system from the feeder mains is effected through various pressure regulators that maintain a substantially lower but uniform pressure within the distribution system and it is from this system that service to the consumers is maintained.

INTRODUCED IN 1900

Domestic gas service was first introduced to the people of Long Beach in 1900 by the United Electric Gas and Power Co., predecessors of the Southern California Edison Co. of today. They delivered manufactured gas from a small 20,000 cubic foot per day gas works located in the present-day vicinity of Ocean Blvd. and Pico Ave. Their mains extended along Ocean Blvd. to approximately Pine Ave., and northerly on Chestnut Ave. The City at the time had a population of 2,250 and by the end of the first year of operation this company had 160 active consumers for gas then selling for $1.90 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The Long Beach Gas Co. was organized in 1900 and by January of 1901 they too were delivering manufactured gas to the people of Long Beach. Their product was a gas generated from crude oils in a plant located in the vicinity of Alamitos Ave. and Broadway and their distribution system covered much the same territory as did that of the United Electric Gas and Power Co.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total population of Long Beach was not in excess of 15,000 and the available consumers were less than 4,000, a third gas company was chartered in 1905 to be known as the Inner Harbor Gas and Electric Co. Their manufacturing plant was built on the present location of the Long Beach Gas Department's Plant No. 1, then some two miles west of the city limits, and their distribution system entered the city via Seventh St. and served the same area as the other two companies.

MUCH COMPETITION

Quite naturally there was strenuous competition between the three companies for both the new business and the old and it soon became quite obvious that the cost of obtaining, connecting and holding the consumers to one individual system was more than was justified by the gross revenue received. Also the growth of the city was not measuring up to the expectations of the real estate developers of that day and numerous system extensions to subdivisions never were put to any worthwhile service during the life of their company. Consequently, through various mergers, sales and consolidations the three companies eventually ended up as one, the Long Beach Consolidated Gas Co., which was incorporated in July 1910. The manufacturing of gas was then centered in the original plant of the Inner Harbor Gas Co.

Through this entire early period the consumers of gas in Long Beach had used only manufactured gases, but in 1912 outside gas was contracted for with the Southern Counties Gas Co. of Los Angeles and the product was a mixture of one-half manufactured gas and one-half natural gas. This gas mixed with the gas then being manufactured by the local company raised the heat value of the gas delivered to the consumers from approximately 550 B.t.u. to around 800 B.t.u. It was subsequently raised to over 1100 B.t.u. in 1915, when straight natural gas was introduced to the area with the construction of transmission lines from the Fullerton oil and gas fields. Long Beach has enjoyed straight natural gas since that time and it is safe to assume that with the present-day advancements in long distance gas transmission it will continue to have natural gas for many years to come.

On May 22, 1916, the Southern Counties Gas Co. purchased the properties of the Long Beach Consolidated Gas Co. and continued to operate them until the time of public ownership in 1924.

SIGNAL HILL HITS GAS

The Signal Hill oil and gas field, at one time the leading source of natural gas supply in California, came into being in 1921, and soon there were enormous quantities of natural gas and oil being produced in this field. Considerable public attention was directed to the field because of its proximity to Long Beach and because of the heavy gas production which, during the early part of 1923, amounted to over 125,000,000 cubic feet per day, and with the discovery of additional oil and gas zones, increased to a maximum of about 415,000,000 cubic feet per day in 1924.

At the beginning of the oil excitement in Signal Hill the City of Long Beach, owning several large tracts of land in the heart of the proven areas, leased certain properties for oil and gas development, retaining, however, the right to all gas produced over that required for field purposes should the City at any time desire to go into the gas business on its own. Gas production from these leases was soon reaching upwards toward 25,000,000 cubic feet per day and the plan for municipally owned and operated gas utility grew out of the belief of certain public-spirited citizens that this gas could and should be delivered to the inhabitants of the city at a cost much less than that being charged for this same gas by a private company.

BOND ISSUES

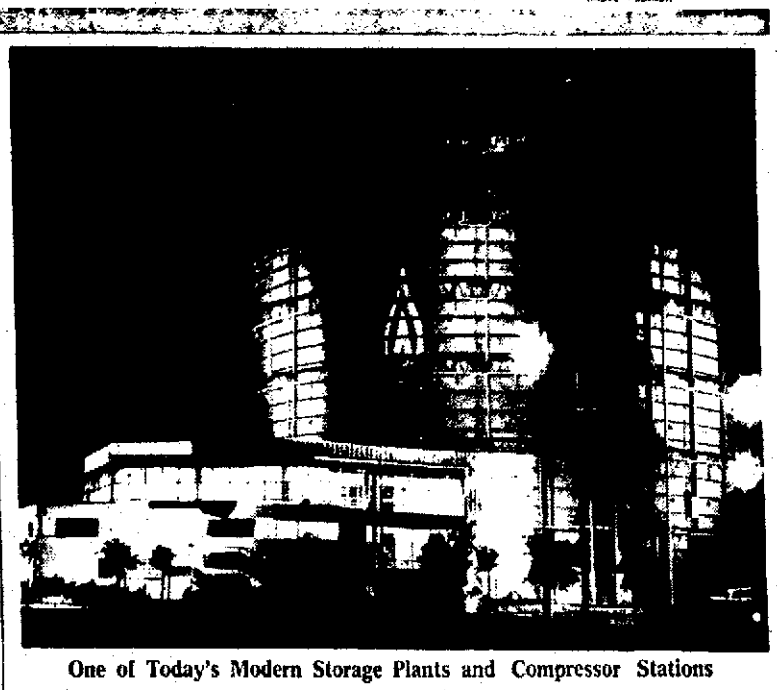

At a special election in 1923 Long Beach citizens voted $3,000,000 in bonds for the acquisition of the local gas properties. Purchase negotiations were completed in April 1924, and on May 24, 1924 the city took over complete operation of the system.

In 1927, $950,000 in additional bonds were voted for a new gas storage facility and distribution expansion. All extensions and improvements except those made under the bond issues of 1924 and 1927, have been paid for out of earnings. Included are the North Long Beach system, composed of about 60 miles of mains and 4,000 consumers, which was purchased in 1932 from the Southern California Gas Company for $337,000; the Utilities Building, built in 1932 at a cost of $98,000 and further enlarged in 1939, at a cost of $38,500 to the Gas Department; a General Stores Warehouse at Plant No. 1 in 1940, at a cost of $94,000; a Liquid Petroleum Gas Standby Plant at Plant No. 4 in 1941, at a cost of $250,500; a 5,000,000 cubic foot holder and compressor station in North Long Beach in 1946 at a cost of $880,000; four 500,000 cubic foot high pressure holders at Plant No. 4 in 1946 at a cost of $318,000; a new compressor station at Plant No. 1 in 1946 at a cost of $280,000; a high pressure transmission line from Huntington Beach to the Long Beach harbor area in 1952 at a cost of $414,000; 12,183 gas accounts and service facilities which had been served by others prior to annexation to the city, at a cost of $2,201,617; a new compressor station at Plant No. 4 in 1956 at a cost of $850,000; a 5,000,000 cubic foot gas holder and compressor station facility at Plant No. 6 in 1959 at a cost of $2,800,000; and numerous other small additions and improvements which, with the constant improvements to the gas distribution system, gives the department an investment in gas properties of $25,583,027, as of the Annual Report of 1960-61. Added to this is the sum of $47,475,915 which has been transferred to the City General Funds as of the same date.

GROSS REVENUE

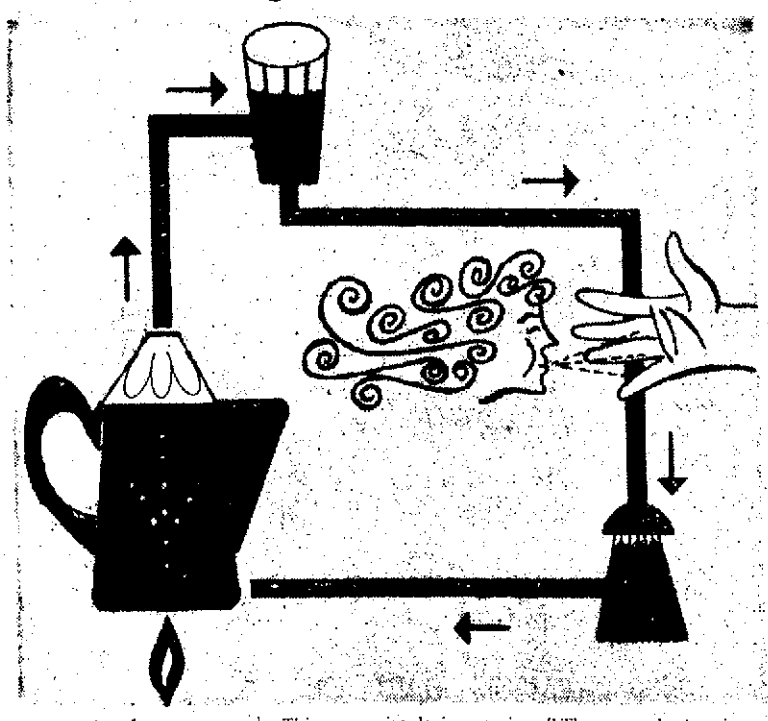

Other vital statistics taken from the 1960-61 Report and indicative of the growth of the department are as follows: gross revenue for the year was $16,157,468; metered gas sales for the year were 26,596,673,000 cubic feet; charges for services rendered other City Departments were $470,256; total amount of main in the system was 759 miles; total number of services in the system was 77,207, and the total number of active meters in service was 114,073.

The furnishing of adequate supplies of natural gas over peak demand days is the dominating problem of the natural gas business. As previously mentioned, the department had ample supplies of gas available from city-owned lands at the time of taking over the operation. However, due to the phenomenal growth of the city and the ever increasing peak demands, the city has continually required additional gas from other sources.

Amazing Flame That Cools

Thousands of years ago a bolt of lightning struck among some bare rocks and lighted a fire that burned continuously with no visible fuel. A wandering tribesman saw the miracle and brought his people to worship the godlike blaze.

Thus, natural gas was first known to man.

Today, the residents of Southern California may witness another miracle involving this long-time, low-cost favorite fuel.

This new miracle is gas air conditioning. It's a mechanical marvel that heats in winter, cools in summer, wrings excess humidity from the air, sifts out dirt, maintains any tempature you dial.

Getting cold air from a gas flame combines four basic laws of nature.

1. The boiling action you see in your percolator serves as the engine of gas air conditioning—moving a refrigerant liquid and vapor to the top of the unit.

2. The second step is condensation. This converts the vapor back to liquid.

3. Evaporation then provides the cooling effect.

4. The final step is absorption of the vapor by a salt solution. The liquid then returns to start the cycle over again.

No other air conditioning system ever invented works as simply as this—with no moving parts in the cooling-heating cycle.

There's a better way to keep cool!

Now you can forget about cooling off with ice cubes, snow cones, hand fans, window coolers, and quick trips to the mountains. Now you can own a gas air conditioner—the finest, whole-house air conditioning system you can buy.

Gas air conditioning systems run on low cost fuel, stay quiet permanently. Its heating-cooling unit has no moving parts. Nothing to break down, wear out, or make noise. You get trouble-free performance. You get the best there is to get—whole-house, year 'round, central gas air conditioning that automatically cools or heats every room in your home while it ventilates, dehumidifies, and cleans the air. You'll sleep better, feel better, live better with new, modern air conditioning installed in your home.

Joining in as clarinetist Jack Browne prepares for International Dixieland Festival under way at Reef Restaurant is Jean Price, Miss Dixieland for month-long event. Browne, who has appeared with several of the all-time great Dixieland bands, and other musicians began competition last Wednesday, and will resume this afternoon at 3 on the Reef's luau grounds at Pier A, Long Beach Harbor.

EVERY SUNDAY AT REEF

Pier A Jumps as Jazzmen Join in Dixieland Festival

The first Sunday session of the month-long International Dixieland Festival opens at 3 p. m. today in the Reef Restaurant luau grounds on Pier A, Long Beach Harbor.

The competition, which started July 4 and will continue Sundays through July, features more than a dozen of Southern California jazz bands.

Individual musicians in the groups number some of the most experienced two-beat sidemen in the country, according to the sponsors, the Southern California Hot Jazz Society.

Clarinetist Jack Browne, one contestant, has played with such all-time jazz greats as Django Reinhardt, Jack and Charlie Teagarden, and Matty Matlock.

Other members of the group playing with Browne are Boogee Centobie, who has recorded with Muggsy Spanier, and Bill DeWees, who played drums with Tommy Dorsey in the 30s.

Also on hand for the festivities will be Jean Price, the official Miss Dixieland of the event.

The bands will be competing for various prizes, including a week's engagement at a Las Vegas hotel.

San Marino Couple Give USC $250,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Norris of San Marino have given $250,000 to the University of Southern California School of Medicine building fund.

Receipt of the gift was announced by Dr. Norman Topping, USC president.

Norris is chairman of the school of medicine's board of councilors and is chairman of the board of Norris-Thermador Corp.

Vogue Expands Beauty Facilities

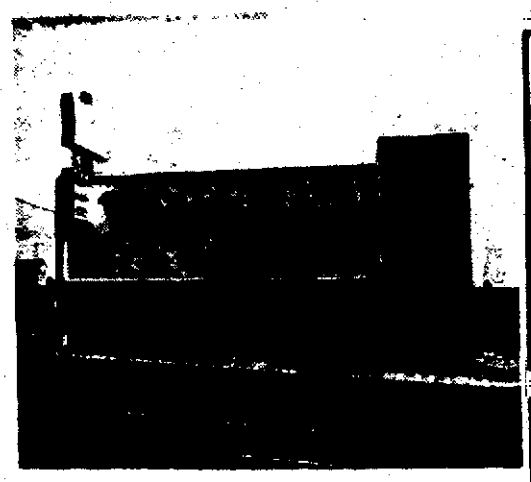

New and larger facilities are now helping the Vogue Beauty Supply Co. serve the needs of the professional hairdresser in southern California, President Bob Altman has announced.

In business in Long Beach for six years, the firm recently moved into larger quarters at 2680 E. Pacific Coast Hwy.

The company is the exclusive distributor of Revlon, Helene Curtis, and L'Oreal of Paris, the French hair-coloring line.

Vogue presently serves beauty salons in Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. Altman himself is recognized as a leading designer of salon installations. During 1962 he has designed installations in Italian Provincial motif, plus Parisian and Colonial Early American themes.

The second story of the new building will be used to present new techniques in hair coloring and permanent waving through special cost-free classes for professional hairdressers.

Newspaper Guild Opens Convention

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild opens a five-day annual convention here Monday with indications that the meeting may be the largest in the history of the 28,000-member union.

More than 500 delegates are expected for the 29th annual convention, along with members and their families.

Carl T. Rowan, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs and a former reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, will speak at the guild banquet Tuesday night.

An issue before the union is a proposal to increase per capita payments from locals to the guild from $1.80 a month to $1.90. The proposal has the backing of the guild's international executive board, which meets Friday before the convention.

Eureka Reactor Hearing Delayed Until July 19

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission hearing concerning initial operation of a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. nuclear power reactor near Eureka, Calif., was postponed until July 19.

The hearing was put off because of the illness of AEC Examiner J. D. Bond.

Construction of the company's Humboldt Bay power plant, to produce about 50,000 kilowatts of energy, is nearing completion. The hearing concerns a provisional operating license sought by the company so it can load nuclear fuel into the reactor and start operation.

Senate Group Asks Study of Aid to Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has directed the Welfare Department to make a thorough check of the Aid to Dependent Children relief program over the nation.

The committee said that, if a District of Columbia sample should hold true for the nation as a whole, waste in the program might run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

The directive was in the committee's report on a $3.5 billion money bill carrying funds for the Welfare and Labor departments for the fiscal year which began last Sunday.

Hungary Weather Hurts Grain Harvest

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's grain harvest will be cut by bad weather for the second year in a row, Agriculture Minister Pal Losonczi has told parliament.

Radio Budapest said the minister reported the 1962 harvest will be even less than last year's. No figures were given.

Engineer to Address Microwave Society

New engineering techniques associated with Gonset products will be explained Wednesday at 8 p.m. to members of the Microwave Society of Long Beach at the Bayshore Public Library, 2nd Street and Bayshore Avenue.

Bert Ramsey, Gonset's chief engineer, will be the guest speaker. He will show the firm's new single side band transceiver GC 102.

In addition to being Gonset's chief engineer, Ramsey is a radio amateur with a special interest in the VHF and UHF frequencies. He is a member of I.R.E. and other technical organizations.

Radio amateurs interested are invited to attend the meeting.

Lincoln Boyhood Farm Will Be U.S. Memorial

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (UPI)—Indiana's first national memorial—the farm where Abraham Lincoln grew into manhood—will be dedicated Tuesday.

Serving as honorary chairman at the ceremonies on the old Thomas Lincoln farm in Spencer County will be Lincoln biographer Carl Sandburg. Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., will be master of ceremonies.

Gov. Matthew Welsh will present the memorial to Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. Conrad Wirth, national parks director, will speak. E.

Add Arctic Specimens of Wildlife

The animals include two polar bears, a pair of Arctic foxes and five walruses. One of the walruses will be given to the National Museum in Washington.

The other specimens are being prepared by George Adams, senior taxidermist, for exhibition in future habitat groups at the museum.

The animals were collected by a party composed of Melville N. Lincoln, senior curator of habitat groups at the museum; Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Logan of Glendale, sponsors of the expedition.

Logan shot the two polar bears on the frozen surface of the Arctic Ocean, west of the village of Barrow. This part of the expedition had the cooperation of the Navy's Arctic Research Laboratory at Barrow.

Syria, France May Resume Relations

DAMASCUS, (UPI)—Syria will consider reestablishing diplomatic relations with France soon, according to reliable sources here.

UNSEEN BY MOTHER

Eddie Jones of Abilene, Tex., celebrates his first birthday without ever having been seen by his mother. He was delivered by Cesarean operation after she was injured in auto crash and she has been unconscious ever since the accident in December 1960. He is cared for by his father, who also has the burden of watching over his wife.

Flight Engineer Peace Talk Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Airlines and their flight engineers will meet at the Labor Department Monday with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to negotiate both wages and the composition of crews on jet airliners.

The Labor Department, announcing plans Saturday for the afternoon session, said the talks would give "appropriate consideration to the Trans World Airlines settlement."

The phraseology was not explained but indicated the formula reached last month as a basis for settling the long-standing dispute between TWA and its flight engineers would be discussed as a possible basis for settlement at American, where only the wage issue was up for negotiation this year.

* * * *

A LABOR Department spokesman said that, in effect, the meeting Monday was, by mutual consent, an agreement to open the talks to the crew issue also.

The TWA formula attempts to unsnarl this central issue involved between the Flight Engineers International Association (AFL-CIO) and most of the major airlines — the makeup of jet airliner crews.

Jets now have four-man crews — three pilots and a flight engineer. The airlines plan to reduce crews to three men by combining the job of the flight engineer and the third pilot. The problem has been whether a member of the flight engineers' union or the Airline Pilots Association would get the third job.

The TWA plan, which must still be ratified by the flight engineers, provides that the airline will give pilot training to any engineers who seek it and that engineers get preference over pilots for the third job in jet crews.

When an engineer cannot obtain certification as a pilot he will be entitled to severance pay in amounts still to be spelled out.

The Labor Department announcement of Monday's meeting said that Goldberg had discussed the TWA settlement with representatives of American's flight engineers Saturday.

MEANWHILE Eastern Air Lines is shut down as a result of a strike begun June 23 by the flight engineers' union over the cockpit-crew issue.

The union had threatened to begin a strike against Pan American World Airways the same day but Pan American obtained a temporary restraining order from a federal judge in New York. The judge, George Rosling, extended the order on July 5 until Aug. 1 despite protests of a flight engineers' lawyer that "I don't think we can survive this."

Last Stand for Benny in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—The audience whistled at Benny Goodman Saturday as he played a long, soft version of "It's Just One of Those Things."

Some of them later complained the rendering was monotonous, others said they could not hear pianist Teddy Wilson.

Goodman, whose band finishes a six-week concert tour today, said afterwards: "I guess I was too far away from the mike and a bit tired."

However, the capacity audience of 11,000 asked for and got 30 minutes of encores, vocalist Joya Sherrill sang, for the second night her versions of the song "Katyusha," which was attacked as indecent in a letter to the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. Again, the audience cheered, and clapped.

The band is scheduled to leave Monday.

Boy, 14, Booked in 'Accidental' Fatal Shooting

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy was booked at Juvenile Hall Saturday on suspicion of fatally shooting a man whom he was only trying to scare.

Michael C. Surber, Los Angeles, was quoted by police as saying he and a friend decided to frighten the victim after he became boisterous and insulting at a party.

Clyde White, 61, died instantly Friday night when he was shot in the throat at a party given for his daughter Rosemary, 15.

Police said the youths picked up a rifle in a bedroom at the White home. Surber was quoted as saying he pointed it at White and it discharged.

102 Million Visits to National Forests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service reports that visits in 1961 to national forests totaled 102 million, exceeding the 100-million mark for the first time.

The 1961 visits represented a 10 per cent rise over the number in 1960 and nearly four times the annual visits 10 years ago.

For the past three years about 2 billion young trees have been planted annually throughout the United States. This amounts to about 11 little trees for every man, woman and child in the country, an enormous increase over a few years ago.

AT BOTTOM OF OCEAN

Gadget May Detect Secret A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experiments with detection gadgets sunk thousands of feet deep on the ocean bottom or in abandoned oil wells eventually may help develop a system for detecting secret underground nuclear tests, a statement by Pentagon scientists hinted Saturday.

An announcement by the Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA) said the current amount of new information which still is being assessed.

* * * *

THE STUDIES are called "vela uniform," which is a part of the overall program for perfecting detection of underground and atmospheric explosions. Continued research in earthquake effects and development of new techniques for detection now have begun to bear fruit, the announcement said.

The scientists, in talking to newsmen, cautioned against saying that any breakthrough in the over-all problem has been achieved. Research progress has been primarily in the technique of identification of seismic signals, to determine whether they come from earthquakes or nuclear explosions.

However, the announcement also discussed possibilities of extending several times the range at which seismic signals can be used for deciding whether a shockwave originated from explosion or earthquake.

* * * *

AGENCY scientists have monitored the more than 40 underground shots set off in Nevada in the current series and compared them with recordings of hundreds of earthquakes. A test shot in which a three-kiloton explosion was set off in hard rock was detected at 450 miles. But a much larger shot in alluvium —a soft material—was recorded at only 250 miles with required identification features. Then the statement added:

"With the improved sensitivities now forthcoming from the vela uniform program, it may become possible to extend this particular criterion (of identification) with some degree of reliability to distances between 1,500 and 3,000 miles from buried nuclear explosions in the low kiloton range." The new techniques mentioned which could be planted in the conceivably could mean that oceans bordering the Russian underwater detection devices mainland.

'MARRIAGE-GO-ROUND'

Ozzie, Harriet to Tackle Stage

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ozzie Nelson, patriarch of one of show business' most successful families, makes his legitimate stage debut this week.

In a career of more than 30 years, from bandleading to durable television star, he never before has appeared as an actor on the stage.

It will be old hat to wife, Harriet, born into a stock repertory company. She knew what a proscenium arch was before she tasted solid baby food.

The famed husband and wife team will tour for four weeks in the Broadway hit "Marriage-Go-Round," a bit saltier than TV's "Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

* * * *

"I'M REWRITING the play somewhat," says Ozzie. "I hope the author doesn't mind.

"We have our image on TV and while the play is robust humor, I find that I can say things a little cleaner and still retain the play's vigor."

The story line concerns a young, beautiful hunk of Swedish womanhood who moves into the house of a university professor and his wife. The glamazon envisions the perfect baby as coming from the brainy professor and herself.

OZZIE PLAYS the professor and Harriet the wife. Sally Kellerman, who did the role in a Pasadena Playhouse production, plays the student, a role done both on Broadway and in the movies by Julie Newmark.

Lyle Talbot, who plays Ozzie's next door neighbor on television, will complete the cast for the summer stock tour which opens this Tuesday in Warren, Ohio, for a week. Week stands follow at Columbus, Ohio, Southfield, Mich., and Highland Park, Ill.

Cardinal Dies

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Giovanni Cardinal Panico, formerly papal nuncio to Portugal, died Saturday of a heart attack, Vatican sources reported. The sources said the cardinal died at his native town of Tricase.

Joan Calls Marilyn, Liz 'Children'

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

Miss Monroe recently was fired from the movie "Something's Got to Give" after repeatedly failing to report for work. The picture later was shelved when Dean Martin refused to appear in it without Miss Monroe.

The beautiful Miss Taylor has been criticized for her actions on the set of "Cleopatra" in Rome. She separated from her husband Eddie Fisher and has been keeping company with "Cleopatra" costar Richard Burton.

* * * *

"MARILYN AND LIZ are of an age to be women, but unfortunately for them and the people around them, they're children," Joan said.

"I was proud to be part of this industry when Marilyn was fired. I don't think she has a friend. She hasn't taken time to make a friend in this industry. And many people have tried to befriend her.

"And the same with Liz, she's a taker, not a giver. I was raised at the same studio, Metro Goldwyn Mayer, and pampered as much as she was. But I didn't take it for granted, ever."

Miss Crawford, who is costarring with Robert Stack in "The Caretakers," said she didn't believe either Marilyn or Liz had enough boxoffice drawing power to warrant their temperamental conduct.

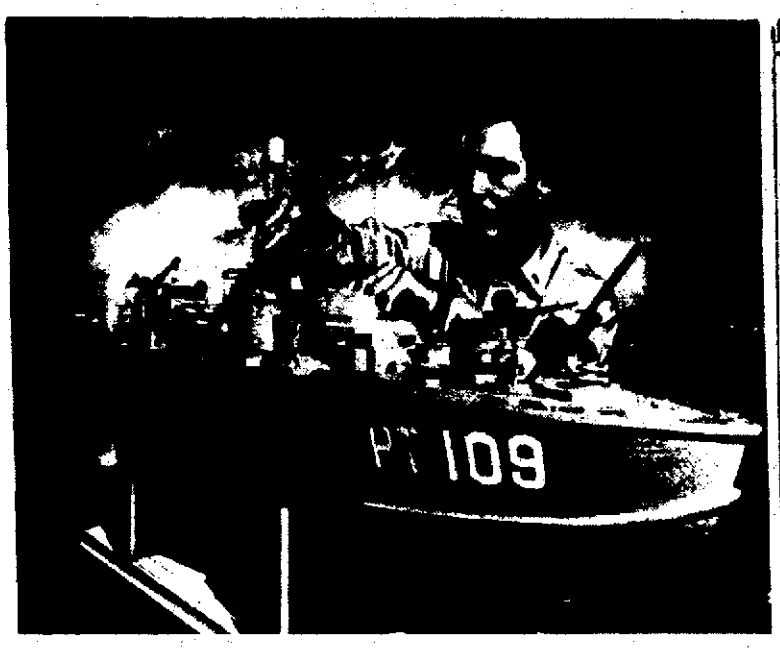

* * * *

"I THINK Miss Monroe deserved what she got," Miss Crawford said. "And Miss Taylor deserves the same but nobody has guts enough to fire her. But she'll get it. Liz can get what Liz wants only so long."

Besides "Caretakers," Miss Crawford has two more pictures scheduled, "The Lady in a Cage" and "Whatever happened to Baby Jane," the latter costarring Bette Davis.

She plans to complete work on all the pictures within the next three months, a feat which would be impossible for some of filmland's pampered stars.

"People say the stars have taken over," scoffed Miss Crawford, referring to Hollywood's troublemakers. "They're not stars, they're not even pros. They're personalities pretending to be stars."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

I sat on the stairs in the back of the Alvin Theater a few nights ago watching Zero Mostel clown through "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" — and saw something I shouldn't have.

ZERO

Zero and the others had added little speeches or gestures—and Abbott was about to "delete the improvements," as George S. Kaufman once called it.

"Yes," Zero told me later, smiling about it, "Abbott heard I had added something and asked me to take it out. It got a huge laugh but maybe it didn't belong . . ."

Zero shrugged. "How could I object? Abbott's there at least once a week checking up, keeping the show right. I hate those directors who abandon a show opening night and you never see them again!"

Zero appears to be an unhammy ham. After a recent matinee, he picked up the cane he's been carrying since a bus hit him a couple of years ago, injuring his leg and led me to the Fornos restaurant, which is Spanish and much favored by South Americans.

All along 52nd Street he got a grand hello. He crossed his eyes, made gestures, grinned, did the things his fans expect, and then said when he sat down:

"Give me some soda—I'm going on a bat."

Like many other stars, Zero won't take a real drink when there's another show to be done. He wants no trouble with anybody, he just wants to do his work and get home and paint.

"It keeps me off the streets," he says.

It also dominates his life. You'll never hear of him having a country place, for example.

* * * *

"I HATE TO GO to the country," he said. "I hate sand, turf, trees, landscapes and water. When I travel, I don't get out of the museums. I never socialize.

"Poor Katie, my wife, went to Paris with me last summer," he said. "I had her up going to museums with me early in the morning.

"I can sit in front of a painting for hours. About the fourth day she broke out screaming, 'Get me out of here! I've got paint poisoning! Get me out of here!'"

Zero's own distinguished paintings will not be seen in his dressing room. But he has several by his friend Romano Farragio.

"If I go in an artist's home and he has only his own paintings, I think he must be egotistical," Zero said. He has painted since childhood. When he was a couple of years old, his mother said: "He's a child but he doesn't draw like a child."

* * * *

"BUT NOW I'M an adult and I don't draw like an adult —now I draw like a child," he insists.

They're always telling Zero to scream—be temperamental—raise hell about something to attract attention.

"It's silly," he says. "You should save your temperamentment to use when you're facing your audience."

Zero has a son, Josh, 15½, who's a good violinist, and another, Tobias, 13½, who, he says, "plays Chopin's 'Sonatas' in the daytime."

"They have a tough time, the kids today. Last summer they went to Europe . . ."

Zero's closer friends may call him just "Z" for short. His real name is Sam. "In school they used to call me Zero—because of my marks. The first time anybody called me that professionally, I was furious. I thought it was undignified."

Zero's done eight Broadway shows now; his first was "Keep Them Laughing." Zero says with typical modesty, "Though some people said it should have been called 'Keep Them From Laughing'."

William Holden, filming "Paris While It Sizzles," has started a fashion fad in Europe — leopard-skin bowties with evening clothes. . . . Tammy Grimes may make her solo cafe debut in Las Vegas. . . . Singer-pianist Bobby Short, closing a long stand at the Blue Angel, got a gift from a customer he'd never met—a 3-carat diamond ring. . . . Federal penal authorities decided against showing "Birdman of Alcatraz" in prisons.

Ex-Gov. Noe of Louisiana bought six dozen of the expensive Four Seasons glasses, sent 'em out as gifts. . . . James Stewart bought a 36-foot sailing sloop, named it "Mr. Hobbs II." . . . One of the El Morocco crowd, who races his auto in sports car rallies, says: "I might as well —there's no place to park in Manhattan, anyway."

Dore Schary's memoirs will be titled "For Special Occasions." . . . Author Rod Serling said at Cavanagh's he'll teach TV writing at Antioch College in Ohio for a year, hopes to find enough talent to start three new television shows. . . . The director of the "Dr. NO" film, being shot in Jamaica, asked a trainer how he got his lizard to obey commands. "Easy," said the trainer. "Before each scene I whisper to him, 'Do you want to be an actor or a pair of shoes'?"

20th C-Fox expects that the real hot authentic love scenes between Liz Tayor and Dick Burton will sell "Cleo" to the kooks—and there are millions of kooks! . . . Red Buttons bought 10 new suits; that's how he buys 'em now.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Newest status symbol in Hollywood is the home steam bath. And in some homes —a steamless steam bath.

The vogue caught on because of Peter Lawford.

Lawford bought a home on the Santa Monica beachfront that once belonged to Louis B. Mayer. It had a steam bath. Lawford took steam baths for years.

Then a relative got elected president of the United States. Once on a visit President Kennedy took a home steam bath at the Lawfords.

Soon the steam rooms at the country clubs noted a drop in attendance.

No One to See Steve's Funniest Cinema Sketch

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Allen didn't get the publicity that Marilyn Monroe and Dean Martin did but he's out of a job too with the shutdown of "Something's Got to Give."

"One of the funniest things I think I've ever done is a scene with Cyd Charisse but now no one will see it but the people who saw the rushes," he said.

HAVE YOUR OWN HOME right away! You will find the home of your dreams in "Homes for Sale" in Classified, the town's marketplace of available property.

WOMAN MOTOR RIDER'S FUNERAL

150 Cyclists in Procession

By RALPH HINMAN JR.

In death as in life, Mrs. Pat Russell was surrounded by motorcycles.

Nearly 150 fellow cyclists, riding two abreast Saturday afternoon, escorted the 48-year-old Paramount housewife and motorcycle devotee the last three miles from a mortuary to Downey Cemetery.

Ironically, Mrs. Russell, of 8130 E. Rosecrans Ave., died astride the motorcycle she loved so well. With her husband, Clinton, she was riding through Tucson, Ariz., June 25, when a tire on her machine blew out, throwing her to the pavement.

Only four automobiles beside the Miller-Sanger Mortuary cars, joined in her funeral cortage. The many mourners, representing Norwalk, Golden Gate, Joshua Tree and Lucky Wheels Cycle clubs, and her own Centaurs, formed the two-wheeler procession.

Baby Electrocuted Climbing on Stove

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — An autopsy is pending to determine the cause of death of Daniel Lee Jansen, 21 months, who apparently electrocuted himself accidentally.

Authorities said the infant was killed Friday when his head touched a toaster while his feet were grounded on the kitchen stove as he climbed to get something to eat.

Tenant Moves, So Do Fixtures

Wayne F. Lambert, of 2214 Roswell Ave., told police Saturday that tenants at his property at 1211 Smith Place moved out suddenly and took with them:

'SKIPPERETTE CONTESTANTS'

Among first candidates in Fishermen's Fiesta Skipperette contest are these four young ladies. Winner and two "mates" in contest will reign over festivities Aug. 31-Sept. 2 in San Pedro. Winner will be chosen July 29. From left, are: Rosemary Korelich, 17, and Julie Picinich, 17, both of San Pedro; Josie Gutierrez, 16, of Wilmington; and Marie Calise, 16, of San Pedro.

Officer in New Post

Clinton H. Wright, who lost his police chief's post in Huntington Beach at the April 10 municipal election by only 23 votes, takes over Monday as chief of police of the new city of Fremont, in the San Francisco Bay area.

In his new post, Wright will be paid $1,027 per month, according to City Manager Howard W. Reese of Fremont, who said that Wright ranked highest in a field of 65 candidates for the post.

WANTS HER CHILDREN

Wife Here Seeking Job

The young wife of a man who committed suicide in Seattle because of financial difficulties was located Saturday in Long Beach.

Mrs. Mary Oliveros Baxter, 20, who has been living at 814 W. 3rd St., read a story in Saturday's Independent, Press-Telegram, telling of a police search for her, and contacted detectives.

She said she and her husband had been living in Seattle with their two children but her husband was unable to find work and the family was in serious financial difficulty, according to Det. Insp. Leonard Hermansen. Mrs. Baxter came to Long Beach seeking work as a waitress.

Seattle police notified the Long Beach officers that her husband had committed suicide. The couple's two daughters, ages 3 and 2, were taken into custody by Seattle authorities.

Mrs. Baxter told police she still is seeking work and wants to bring the children to Long Beach.

Kennick Speech Set

Picket School Prayer Foe

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP)—Nine pickets paraded Saturday outside the silent home of Lawrence Roth, the man who led the successful court fight against a prayer in public schools.

Four policemen watched over the demonstration, which attracted virtually no spectators and little attention from the Roths' neighbors in this Long Island community.

Roth, his wife and two teenage children were said to be away for the day.

"FBI Please Investigate Mr. Roth," said one of the pickets' signs. Another read, "Impeach the Pro-Red Supreme Court."

Hail Karen, Billie Jean-- Net Queens

WIMBLEDON, England (Special)—The 10-day talk at Wimbledon has been of America's tennis tragedy. But today it doesn't seem so tragic, thanks to a couple of comely Californians.

Pert Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista became a double "world's champion" and vivacious Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach teamed with Karen for a repeat victory in doubles Saturday as tennis' premiere tournament drew to a thrilling, surprising conclusion. Today they are being hailed by all the tennis world.

BILLIE JEAN MOFFITT
'It Wasn't Easy'

Mrs. Susman, 19-year-old star, fought from behind in both sets to beat brawny Czech housewife Vera Sukova, 6-4, 6-4, in the women's singles.
6-4, in the women's singles.

Then she teamed with 19-year-old Miss Moffitt to successfully defend the doubles crown they won in a shocker here last year. They drubbed Sandra Reynolds Price and Renee Schuurman of South Africa, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Moffitt, who had a cold and had difficulty breathing, said, "We were unable to get our teamwork clicking at first. It was close and could have gone either way."

* * * *

"IT'S ALL DUE to married life," said Mrs. Susman of her new-found success.

"It's wonderful having Rodney here with me," added the teen-age bride.

"This is my third Wimbledon tournament. In previous years I've felt lonely and a long way from home. But when you've got someone you love beside you, it makes a world of difference.

"I'm sure it has done a lot for my tennis, anyway. I've played better at Wimbledon this time than ever before."

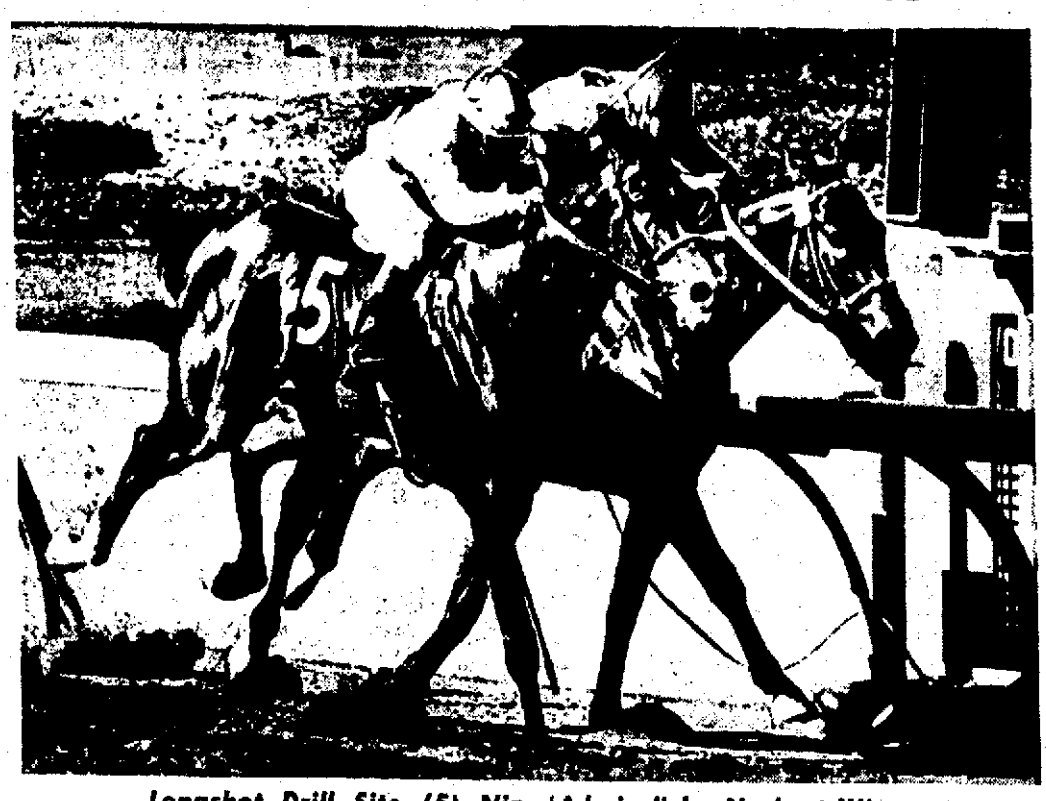

Mrs. Susman stormed to the singles title without losing a set in the two-week tourney. She set out to avenge a defeat in the Wightman Cup matches last month and played with determination all the way.

BUT FOR a time Saturday, the outcome was in doubt. Mrs. Sukova's deceptive slow-balling tactics gave the amiable Czech matron a 3-0 lead

FINE 'SITE' FOR PLUNGERS

Drill Site, 43-1 Shot, Wins Derby

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Drill Site—the longest shot in the field and a gelding with the poorest of credentials — stunned 48,435 patrons and thousands of television viewers by capturing the rich $113,900 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park Saturday.

The triumph of Drill Site was the biggest upset in 22 runnings of the Derby, a classic ballyhooed as the race to decide the very best three-year-old in the West.

A 43-1 shot, the son of famed Imbros returned $88 straight as he bested seven other sophomores and collected a purse of $68,900—which was some $41,800 MORE than he had earned in his entire two years of running.

Ridden expertly by Ralph Neves, a Portuguese veteran whose back was aching so badly that he hardly could boost himself into the saddle, Drill Site scored a neck decision over the highly-regarded traveler, Admiral's Voyage. The Voyager, who has raced at so many tracks that he's known as the "Marco Polo of the turf world," had a decisive three-length margin over Doc Jocoy, who in turn was another panel in front of the fourth-place Indian Blood.

VICTORY WAS ASTONISHING

Drill Site's victory was astonishing not only to the witnesses and wagerers, but also to trainer Johnny Adams, who—by the quirk of coincidences—rode the first winner of this race (Specify) in 1938.

"I thought he was a pretty good horse," bubbled Adams after the chase, "but I thought he was too little to battle these horses on even terms. Even though he won today, I don't think he could beat these same horses with equal weights. He'll grow and I think get better in the months to come, but I never dreamed he'd whip this field today."

Adams was honest—and right. The weight won for his horse this day. Drill Site had a 110-pound package, Admiral's Voyage a 126-pound load.

In that gruelling, shoulder-to-shoulder stretch drive between the two thoroughbreds, Drill Site's 16-pound advantage was the difference.

Even Neves expressed surprise at his mount's victory.

"I liked the colt, that's for sure, but he hadn't backed me up," commented the Portuguese pepperpot. "When I finished fourth at Santa Anita in the San Felipe Stakes last February, I told Adams I thought he'd be a top colt. But he didn't justify my prediction until today.

"I figured I had a chance today, but I didn't think he'd beat Admiral's Voyage unless he went back to that Santa Anita form. I guess you'd say he did, wouldn't you?"

ADMIRAL'S VOYAGE HAD EXCUSES

Admiral's Voyage, the colt dripping with class, had some obvious excuses, which his jockey, Braulio Baeza, flown in from the East especially for this test, was quick to point out.

"He hadn't raced at this track during this meeting," explained the Panamanian, "and he had too much weight.

"He was as good today as in the East and he ran his race, but that 16 pounds was just too much. He was just breezing during the early part and when I hit him at the top of the stretch he pinned his ears so I just kept hand-riding him most of the way. You can't beat weight."

Admiral's Voyage shot from the gate like an astronaut. He called his own shots past one pole after another, with Doc Jocoy, Calgary Brook and Drill Site inhaling his dust. The others were too far back to catch anything but the view.

Drill Site made his move around the defying stretch curve, but nobody paid much attention since Admiral's Voyage was cruising so easily. When the two locked horns, the chalk players began to tremble.

Drill Site collared the Voyager 30 yards from the wire, muscled against him for an instant, then lunged that valuable neck in front just when the photo finish cameras were whirling.

Owner Ralph Lowe, who stayed in Texas because of illness, purchased Drill Site one year ago at auction for $12,500.

SHOEMAKER GAVE UP ON WINNER

"The cold had knee and leg troubles and everybody thought Mr. Lowe paid too much for him," said Adams. "I guess I did, too."

Even Willie Shoemaker, who piloted the sad second choice (5-1) Black Sheep Saturday, must have harbored the same sentiment.

Willie bred Drill Site on his Shoemaker Stock Farm and gave up on him when he placed the gelding on the auction block. But that Shoemaker always wins—even when he loses a race.

Shoe's only comment after the chase was: "If I had to lose, a better horse couldn't have won it."

Especially when you get a $6,890 kickback, eh?

KOUFAX TRIES TODAY IN SERIES WINDUP

Dodgers Fall Off Top Roost

By GEORGE LEDERER
I. P-T Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — Leave it to the Dodgers to solve the question: which came first, the chicken or the egg?

Well, the Dodgers laid an egg Saturday for the second day in a row and trailed the Giants, 9-2, long before a chicken camped on the field in the seventh inning.

Before 40,186 rooters and one rooster, the Dodgers made a yolk of the game and were scrambled by the Giants, 10-3. Needless to say, manager Walter Alston had nothing to crow about since the Dodgers no longer rule the National League roost.

Going into this afternoon's TV series finale, the Dodgers trail the Giants by one-half game and are only two games ahead of third place Pittsburgh in the essential loss column. The assignment of gaining a split in the series and regaining the lead goes to Sandy Koufax (12-4). He will be opposed by lefthander Bill O'Dell (10-6).

After nine errorless games, the Dodgers have been guilty of 10 bobbles in the last two days. Five errors Friday night and five Saturday have handed the Giants 10 unearned runs.

Saturday's butterfingers act featured Johnny Podres, who made an encore, Tommy Davis, Larry Burright and John Roseboro. Had it not been for Podres' first throwing miscue, it would have been a decent contest, despite the no-hit bid of winner Jack Sanford.

DODGER OF DAY

JIM GILLIAM doubled to break up Jack Sanford's no-hit bid as Dodgers lost to Giants, 10-3.

Willie Mays' 25th homer, his first hit of the series, was the only legitimate run scored against Podres, who absorbed his seventh loss.

A throwing error by Podres led to two gift runs in the second inning and Burright's third error in two days gave the Giants a 4-0 margin in the fifth.

Podres threw away an easy chance after Jose Pagan bounced to the mound in the second round. "It was my own fault," said Podres. "I made a flat throw and didn't put anything behind it. If it weren't for that, it would have been a 1-0 game and I'd have been pitching a lot longer."

Podres left for a hitter in the sixth and Larry Sherry, his successor, failed to get anyone out. Sherry faced five batters and each scored, albeit two runs were unearned.

HANEY CALLS BELINSKY ON CARPET

Bosox Squeeze Past Angels, 5-4

By ROSS NEWHAN

Home runs by Lou Clinton and Jim Pagliaroni wiped out a tape measure clout by Leon Wagner and paced Boston to a 5-4 victory over the Cherubs before 16,725 fans Saturday night.

Victors only once in nine previous meetings with the Angels, the Red Sox have now won two in a row in the concrete castle, knocking the American League crown from the Seraphs' head and dumping them into third place, two games from the summit.

* * * *

WAGNER ripped his tape-measure in the fifth inning after Albie Pearson had reached first safely on Frank Malzone's error. The clout, which landed in the Boston bullpen and was estimated at 475-feet off Don Schwall, tied the game and came at a time when the last year's rookie of the year was picking up steam for one of the few times this season.

Schwall, saddled with a 4.98 ERA and 2-10 record coming into the game, had yielded a run in the second on a walk to Lee Thomas, a stolen base, and single by Jim Fregosi.

He then, however, allowed only one hit until Wagner stepped into a fast ball for homer No. 25, which didn't come last year until Sept. 28. It was "Long Gone's" fourth off Boston pitching and was considered, along with tremendous shots by Harmon Killebrew and Elston Howard, one of the three longest at the Ravine.

* * * *

IT PUT Lee on even footing again. Following fourth-inning singles by Pete Runnels and Pagliaroni, Lee had served up a round-trip special to Clinton, putting the Angels in the 3-1 hole.

An inning and a half after the Wagnerian aria, however, the fates which have worked against Lee ever since he came to the Angels struck again. Loser of two games on the recent road trip because of unearned runs, Lee watched Thomas drop Fregosi's routine throw on Malzone's two-out grounder, allowing Billy Gardner to score with the tie-breaking run.

Lee gave way for a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the seventh and thus absorbed his sixth defeat against the same number of wins. He watched from the dugout as Pagliaroni hammered what proved to be the key nail into the Angels' coffin with his second homer of the series.

ANGEL OF DAY

LEON WAGNER powered his 25th homer of the season, a 475-foot shot, but Angels lost to Red Sox, 5-4.

SCHWALL stymied the Angels following Wagner's homer, but when he walked Bobby Rodgers to open the eighth, giant Dick Radatz was called in. Thomas singled, sending Rodgers to third from where he scored as Felix Torres tapped into a double play, but Radatz then retired and seventh of the season off Art Fowler in the eighth.

How to Succeed Without Players

A New York writer authored a clever piece a few days ago on the astonishing Los Angeles Angels. The yarn was headlined: "How to Succeed in Baseball Without Players."

The article was printed before Friday night's Boston massacre in Chavez Ravine. After that Boston tea party the tune might have been changed to "How Do You Succeed in Baseball Without Players?"

ROCKY BRIDGES
Manager for a Night

But this thesis is not to cast barbs at the Angels, who have produced the most insane, incongruous sports story in decades. No matter how they fare the second half of this season, they deserve to be chronicled forever in athletic annals as the most astonishing conglomeration of Frank Merriwells ever put together.

How, possibly could a club slapped together in a few months take over in its second season the leadership of a circuit formed more than six decades ago?

How, indeed?

For the answer — or at least for a partial explanation—we interrogated a charter member of the Angels. The man, a Cinderella personality himself—a person whose sheer determination rather than outstanding ability kept him in the majors a dozen years—reached the heights Saturday night when he managed the Angels in the absence of boss Bill Rigney, out of circulation because of his father's death.

Angel manager Rocky Bridges, why was your collection of castoffs and apple-cheeked boys leading the American League?

"WHY DON'T YOU ASK ME why the Yankees aren't 10 games in front?" spat out the man who keeps chewing tobacco steady on the stock market.

"Anyway, there's lots of reasons why this ball club went into first place," continued the squire of Los Altos.

"First of all, everybody's having a good year. Right now, we're just like the Cincinnati Reds or Pittsburgh Pirates the last two years in the National League. Everybody got hot and they won pennants. The same with us.

"Second, this is the loosest club I've ever seen in baseball. Nobody's tight and irritable. Everybody's playing the game as it was supposed to be played—for fun. If we lose, well, we just lose. Nobody gets sore at anybody else.

"Third, we got off to a pretty good start this year. We were a better team last year than our eighth place showed. Remember how we won only a couple games out of our first 20 last season?

"Anyway, if we stay loose and all our guys keep having their good years, we'll stay in the first division the rest of the season."

DURING THIS CONVERSATION, Chairman-of-the-Board Gene Autry sauntered over to congratulate Bridges. A perspiring Ted Bowsfield also ducked into the dugout at the same time.

"You're doing great, Ted," enthused Autry. "Keep it up, kid."

"Thanks, Gene," replied the pitcher. "Just keep on watching us the rest of the season, man."

"See what I mean?" chuckled Bridges. "We're real loose. Do you think any of the Dodgers call their owner 'Walter'?"

ROCKY TOOK OFFENSE when I casually mentioned that certain National League people pointed to the Angels' rise as proof that the American League was far inferior to the N.L.

"I'll give you an answer to that one," snapped the manager pro tem. "Look at the New York Mets, the worst team in baseball. The National League had plenty of time to stock its new club and give it some players to make it fairly representative the first year. It's not.

"The Angels had just a few months to get organized and look at us now. I've played in both leagues and never saw a difference in caliber of talent. Some years one league's stronger than the other, but I don't think the American League's weaker this year. Anyway, who won the World Series last year?"

WAS MANAGING THE ANGELS Rocky's biggest thrill?

"I've had two big thrills in baseball," responded Bridges, "and they both were different kinds. My first was when I was named to the All-Star team a few years ago and the other was when Fred Haney told me I'd be the boss Saturday night.

"I think I appreciate the second one more because it's a big milestone—at least for one evening."

Bridges then excused himself and made a beeline for a group of Angels.

"Got to check signals with my players," cracked baseball's fondest imp.

HOW TO DE-GLOVE A THIRD BASEMAN

T. Davis made his error as a third baseman. He was brought in from left field after Burright left for a hitter in the sixth.

Sanford (9-6) retired the first 13 Dodgers before he walked Ron Fairly. Jim Gilliam finally spoiled the no-hitter with a leadoff double in the seventh, the Dodgers' first hit since the fourth inning of Friday's 12-3 massacre.

* * * *

ONCE SANFORD wilted, he did so faster than an ice plant in a hot house. Willie Davis followed with a triple to break up the shutout and T. Davis singled to signal Stu Miller's entry from the bullpen.

While Sanford blamed Kuenn for being out of position on Gilliam's hit, the truth of the matter was that Sanford ran out of gas as he scored from first on Kuenn's double an inning earlier.

Miller served Roseboro's fourth homer and a triple to T. Davis while checking the Dodgers in the last three innings. Davis ran his hitting streak to 12 games and boosted his league-leading average another notch to .348.

* * * *

ALSTON chased a photographer out of the Dodger clubhouse, but otherwise was philosophical about the loss. "I'd say the scorekeeper was very lenient," he said. "He could have given us a dozen errors the last two days.

"We've looked bad before, but never two days in a row. Podres wasn't that bad, but Sherry was wild. I suppose he had too much rest."

And what became of the rooster? Naturally, he observed all the action from foul territory. He was all chicken.

AS PHILLIPS SLAPS 2-RUN HOMER . . .

Indians Run Streak to Six

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bubba Phillips smashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning Saturday to power the league-leading Cleveland Indians to their sixth successive triumph, a 5-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians and ace pitcher Dick Donovan had blown a 3-1 lead in the top of the eighth frame when a walk, Joe Cunningham's triple and a single by Floyd Robinson tied the score.

Donovan failed to win his 13th triumph when he was chased to the showers in the eighth inning.

Bill Dailey (2-0), who pitched the final 1⅔ innings was the winner. Dom Zanni (5-4), who served up the homer to Phillips after Luis Aparicio opened the door with his second error, was the loser.

The White Sox scored first in the third on a two-out double by Bob Sadowski and Cunningham's single.

Cleveland moved in front 2-1 in the fourth on a walk and three straight singles—by Woodie Held, Phillips and Jerry Kindall—produced two runs.

Don Dillard homered in the seventh frame for Cleveland, his third round-tripper in his last four games.

The Indians had lost five straight before they started their current winning streak. By beating Chicago, Cleveland cut the margin to 5-3 against the only team in the league it trails in the season series.

Donovan, who has lost only three decisions this season, was breezing along until the eighth. The all-star hurler was aiming for his 10th complete game in 18 starts. He had permitted only five hits until the eighth.

Yank Homers Quiet Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST PAUL—(AP)—Reliever Marshall Bridges checked his own wildness in time to subdue an eighth-inning Minnesota rally as the New York Yankees flexed their home run muscles for the second straight game to down the Twins, 6-3, Saturday.

Yankee starter Bill Stafford was cruising along with a one-hitter and a 6-0 lead when the Twins finally broke his spell in the eighth.

Two singles and a walk loaded the bases before Bridges replaced Stafford. Bridges then walked in two runs and another scored on a force-out before he struck out Bob Allison and Bernie Allen lined to Jack Reed who made a diving catch in right field.

SKOWRON

The triumph enabled New York to stay just a half game behind American League leading Cleveland.

Hector Lopez and Bill Skowron each swatted a two-run homer to provide the Yankee victory margin.

CHICAGO (AP)—Catcher Dick Bertell singled with the bases full and two out in the 10th inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

It was the second time in two days the two teams played a 10-inning game, and the loss ruined the Braves' chances of climbing past the .500 mark in National League standings for the first time this season.

It was Milwaukee's 42nd loss in 83 games as Bob Shaw, who went the distance on a yield of 10 hits, suffered his sixth loss. He has won nine.

Pirates Bombard Cousin Phils, 6-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates put on a late bombardment with help by enemy misplays to resume their dominance over the Philadelphia Phils Saturday with a 6-4 triumph.

Manager Danny Murtaugh used four hurlers with ElRoy Face picking up his fifth victory. The loss was charged to Chris Short, the third Philly hurler who saw action.

The Phils chased starter Harvey Haddix in the sixth in padding their lead to 3-0. Mel Roach doubled off the scoreboard and tallied on Jack Callison's single.

Hamilton met the same fate in the sixth inning when the Pirate attack erupted for four runs aided by two errors by third baseman Don Demeter.

Dolphins Dominate Rough Water Swim

Four members of the Dolphin swim club of Lakewood shattered three long-standing records in sweeping the 12th Huntington Beach half-mile rough water swim Saturday.

Man to Man

WYNN HOLSCHER

By JERRY WYNN

Man to man, in the language of golf, means match play.

And in the largest and richest match play tournament in the world here this week, the man to beat is Bud Holscher.

The popular young Lakeside pro will tee off Thursday as defending champion in the $10,000 Southern California PGA Championship at Recreation Park.

For the uninitiated, match play is scored on the amount of holes a player wins regardless of how many strokes it takes to win the hole. In medal play, each stroke is added for an 18-hole score.

Do you enjoy match play, Bud?

"Yes, for two reasons. First, I was brought up with match play tournaments as a junior in Southern California. Secondly, I like the idea of competitiveness. In match play, you know exactly what you have to do, and how your opponent is doing."

Why are some players more proficient at match play than medal play?

"Personality and temperament are more apparent in match play. For instance, one player is mad. His opponent senses he is upset, and subconsciously will play harder. Oppositely, if a player fails to upset an opponent, he may ease up subconsciously."

Do you feel the National PGA made a mistake in abandoning its match play championship in favor of medal play?

"No. With them, it's strictly a matter of economics. The public wants to see all the top players in the final two rounds, and in match play only a few remain. However, it might be a more exciting tournament at match play."

Who do you consider your top challengers in the So-Cal PGA event?

"Could be anybody. I can't recall one easy match I played here in the last two years. And I guess every one may shoot for me a little harder."

Will the record $2,000 first prize purse add more stimulus to a player?

"Yes and no. Every one wants to win more money, but in match play, you are playing a constant opponent rather than a prize. You can't think of anything but the match in progress."

How do the galleries in Long Beach compare with others?

"They have been fabulous. I may be prejudiced because I have a soft spot for the place. I played so much junior golf there, and I guess the people may know me better than some of the other players. I appreciate it."

You played the tour for four years. Do you ever yearn to return?

"Not at all. I have no desire to return. I am very satisfied with the present challenges of business and being a club pro."

What was the most important thing you learned from the tour?

"More than anything was an attitude toward the game . . . taking the good with the bad and trying to be the same person, keeping everything in proper balance. You have ups and downs on the tour, and there are more downs. You have to overcome your emotions and take things in stride. I guess the word experience sums it up."

Would you recommend the tour for a young golfer?

"Yes. It's best for him to try the tour and see what it is like. He will learn first hand how tough the competition is."

You played Pinky Stevenson in the semi-finals here last year. What do you think of his chances if he goes on the tour?

"Pinky is a very fine player, but he needs more strength. I was slender like him when I first joined the tour, and it is a disadvantage. You'll find the really good players that are winning are big, strong and even overweight."

What has Arnold Palmer going for him that other golfers do not?

"A double set of adrenalin glands. He gets himself up faster and to a higher peak than any other golfer in history. If a player with as fine a game as Littler could have the same capacity for getting up, he would be equally as great."

What has been your greatest thrill in golf?

"As a player, it was winning my first PGA tournament, the LaBatt Open in Canada. I won $5,000 and it was like a million dollars to me at that time. A close second would be winning my championship match with Mike Austin in Long Beach two years ago after coming back from so far behind.

"Equally as satisfying to me was the opportunity to become a club pro . . . first at Los Posas and now at Lakeside. I have been very fortunate."

SUITCASE OVERFLOWS WITH ROAD QUOTES:

They're Not the Yanks Without Mantle

By ROSS NEWHAN

A suitcase full of quotes, souvenirs of 20 days on the road:

Fred Haney — "It was easier for me to manage when I was playing. It seemed my mind was preoccupied with playing my position. When I was on the bench, I had to worry about nine positions."

Haney (story-telling): "I named Bobo Newsom to pitch an important game for me one year. Bobo loved to have fun, but the night before this game he locked himself in his room and remained there all night. The next day it rained, but that night Bobo again stayed in his room.

"It rained again the next day and again Bobo stayed in his room. This went on for two more days. Finally, about the fourth rainout, Bobo came to me: 'To hell with you,' he said. 'I'm not spending the season in that room. You pitch tomorrow. I'm going out tonight.'"

Eddie Short (general manager of the Chicago White Sox): "Frank Lane taught me more about baseball than anybody else, but to Bill Veeck, I owe a tremendous debt for teaching me consideration of the fans. Bill honestly had the fans' welfare in mind and he taught me a lot of things about keeping happy the people who pay their way into a ball park."

Yankee Tex Clevenger: "See you at the Ravine in October." "You mean you'll be there to see the Angels play in the World Series?" he was asked. "No," said Tex, "we'll be there to play the Dodgers. We think they'll win. We hope so, anyway."

Clevenger Again: "We tried to kid ourselves that we were the same club and could do the same things without Mantle, but it wasn't true. With Mantle, there are so many intangibles. His mere presence in the lineup means more to us than knowing his bat and glove are around."

Jimmy Piersall: "My wife was quite upset when she read about the trouble Belinsky got himself into. She even called. 'If you're traded to the Angels you're not going to go,' she said. 'Do you think I want you driving around with that screwball all summer.'"

Harmon Killebrew: "I've heard it said for years that the reason ball parks have different measurements is because they were built long ago and the cities grew up around them, creating a real estate problem. But what was to prevent these new stadiums from having the same distances when they were built? I'm talking about Chavez Ravine and the new D. C. Stadium, which are about as dissimilar as they can be. Why can't there be some uniformity?"

FRED HANEY
Tells Story on Bobo

Vic Power (Minnesota first baseman having great year at plate and in feild): "I'm a consistent hitter — at certain times. I'm not a real power hitter. The most homers I've ever had in one year is 19. I consider Rocky Colavito, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris real power hitters. They hit over 25 each year. I think I can do it, but you can't always go for the home run.

"It seems I lose my timing when we have a day off. Most of the time when I go without a hit, it's the day after an open date. Then I come back."

Calvin Griffith: "I've already submitted the Twins' bid for the 1963 All-Star Game to president Joe Cronin. It's not certain, though whether we'll get it, depending on whether there is only one or two games next year. If there is only one game, it's the National League's turn. If there are two games again, we could be in the picture."

Frank Crosetti (Yankee coach): "Sign - stealing stories are hooey. To begin with, the same circumstances dictate the strategy in the majority of cases, so that there is little secret about the play. Even if a team only suspects the other fellows may be wise to the signs, or the catcher, it is a simple matter to put on a switch."

Anonymous Angel (to Leon Wagner as the Seraphs' lone Negro boarded the bus in Washington after making a game-saving catch): "Hey Leon," came the voice from the back of the bus, "you can sit in the front tonight."

That empties the suitcase and the notebook.

Marzich Barrels Back Into Lead in Pro Kegling Play

By DAVE TAYLOR

Long Beach's Andy Marzich came barrelling back out of a sixth position hole to reclaim the lead over 126 of the world's top bowlers Saturday as the $18,000 PBA Western Open became a private duel between Marzich and Minneapolis sharpshooter Bob Strampe.

Taking alley-mate Strampe's challenge, the 29-year-old Marzich blasted a fantastic 1,150 total for five games of the tournament's third qualifying round Saturday and led the pack into its last qualifyer heat with 304 pins over a 200 average tallying 3,304 for 15 games.

"Handy Andy," 1960 Southern California bowler of the year, had been knocked out of his early tournament lead Friday when Strampe hit a string of 10 consecutive strikes for a 278 game to take the reins with 216 over at the second round.

Marzich came charging back Saturday with a 278 of his own and made it stick with additional singles of 216-236-214, and 206.

Strampe held on through the five-game Marzich barrage, racking up 1,044, and easing himself into second position with 3,260, forty four pins under Andy.

As one observer in the gallery of fans jamming the concourse at Ocean Lanes put it—"Andy shows 'em where the track is and Strampe puts his ball in it."

* * * *

MARZICH, a late starter in the current season Professional Bowlers' Assn. tournament tour, has already cashed in for $5,000 in six of the nine contests he has entered.

Crowding Strampe from third place going into the fourth qualifyer Saturday was St. Louis pin pelter Al Savas, hitting 3,255 for the 15-game stint, just five pins under Strampe. Los Angels all-star Jack Henry was fourth with 3,239 and Roy Lown fifth on 3,237.

Early tournament favorite, top PBA money winner Don Carter, was lagging with only 87 pins over a 200 average for 3,087. But, by the fourth qualifyer, his perennial rival, Fay Bluth, had climbed from nowhere to eighth place among the top 16 shooters. Bluth wasn't even rated at the end of the second round Friday.

* * * *

WITH AN impressive show of machine-like consistency, Ray had been "sneaking up" on the leaders, starting with 71 over in the first session, dropping to 12 under in the second, picking up to 59 over in the third round and rising again to 184 over in the fourth for 3,184.

The leading 32 bowlers were scheduled to start a five game semifinal round at 10:30 a.m. today. With the field then chopped to 16, the first final round is scheduled at 1 p.m. with the last final session slated at 7:30 p.m.

Top 16 leaders after four qualifying rounds:

1. Andy Marzich, Long Beach—3,304.
2. Bob Strampe, Minneapolis—3,206.
3. Al Savas, St. Louis—3,255.
4. Jack Henry, Los Angeles—3,239.
5. Roy Lown, El Paso—3,237.
6. Dick Agee, San Jose—3,224.
7. Ray Ort, St. Louis—3,193.
8. Ray Bluth, St. Louis—3,184.
9. Bill Tucker, St. Louis—3,182.
10. Joe Donato, Schnectady, N.Y.—3,172.
11. Frank Stevenson, Los Angeles—3,171.
12. Glen Allison, St. Louis—3,161.
13. Jim St. John, Minneapolis—3,160.
14. Bill Landowski, Fortuna, Calif.—3,159.
15. Duncan MacLeod, Santa Ana—3,154.
16. Jim Stevenson, Tacoma, Wash.—3,148.

Karen 'Doubles' at Wimbledon

in the second set before she began limping. By the end of the match Mrs. Susman was playing a foe who was almost stationary.

The young American received the huge trophy from the Duchess of Kent and brought a roar from the 14,000 spectators when she replied to a question from Queen Elizabeth's aunt by pointing to a box adjoining the historic center court. She was pointing to the spot from where her husband had watched her greatest triumph.

* * * *

THE PHOTOGENIC American said afterwards she had seen Mrs. Sukova play only on television but "other girls had warned me to watch out for her disguised passing shots. In the first three or four games I found out that this was true and I had no idea where she was hitting the ball.

"When I realized I had won, I looked up into the sky and said 'Thank you, God.' I wanted to sit down on the court and stay there."

Both finalists were nervous at the start although Mrs. Susman pulled herself together in a hurry and won the first game by breaking Mrs. Sukova's service.

The American piled up a 5-3 lead and streaked to a 40-0 lead in the ninth game when she dropped three set points in her eagerness to send across the clincher. Eventually, Mrs. Sukova won it to make it 5-4.

* * * *

IN THE next game, Mrs. Susman again frittered away three set points but this time she won with a kill after a long volley. During the ninth game of the second set she dropped match point once when she lobbed too weakly and Mrs. Sukova won the point.

Then the Czech banged in a first service that Karen hit out. Mrs. Susman's winning point was a kill at the net, at which the limping Mrs. Sukova didn't have a chance.

Saturday's results:

Women's singles—Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, defeated Mrs. Vera Sukova, Czechoslovakia, 6-4, 6-4.

Men's doubles—Bob Hewitt and Fred Stolle, Australia, defeated Bora Jovanovic and Nicola Pilic, Yugoslavia, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Women's doubles—Mrs. Susman, and Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., defeated Sandra Price and Renee Schuurman, South Africa, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

Mixed doubles—Neale Fraser, Australia, and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Du Pont, Wilmington, Del., defeated Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., and Ann Haydon, Britain, 2-6, 6-3, 13-11.

Gentlemen's plate, (for players eliminated in first and second rounds)—Jon Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Abe Segal, South Africa, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Ladies' plate, (for players eliminated in first and second rounds)—Marlene Gerson, South Africa, defeated Margaret Hellyer, Australia, 6-2, 6-1.

Barber, Holscher to Shoot for Record $10,000 Purse

By JERRY WYNN

When host professional George Lake brought the Southern California PGA Championship to Recreation Park in 1941, he had to underwrite a paltry purse of $500.

This week, the tournament returns for its 38th renewal and 21st anniversary in Long Beach offering a record purse of $10,000.

Action begins Thursday and continues through Sunday. A field of 120 will tee off in the first round with the survivors battling through a schedule of two rounds a day leading into 36-hole finals on Sunday. The winner will receive $2,000; the runnerup $1,200.

Although the two veterans —Bud Oakley and Olin Dutra — who played in the 1941 finals, are back this year along with a host of familiar faces, the two young men—Bob Adamson and Pinky Stevenson — who created a sensation in 1961, are missing.

The tourney was unofficial last year because of a hassle over a since-nullified National PGA discriminatory bylaw and non-PGA members were allowed to play. Adamson won the title by dumping Jerry Barber and Bud Holscher in successive rounds. Stevenson captured the medal in his first round as a pro.

* * * *

NEITHER QUALIFY this year as PGA members because of a five-year apprenticeship rule.

Entered in the tournament is the first Negro member of the PGA, Jimmy DeVoe of Fox Hills, a sprightly 73 years old.

Barber and Holscher rate as solid co-favorites. . . . Barber the National PGA champion, Holscher the defending champion because of his memorable comeback victory over Mike Austin in the 1960 finals. They are strictly the class of a field comprised largely of inactive home club pros.

* * * *

BUT ANYTHING can happen in 18-hole match play, and such seasoned shotmakers as Dale Andreason, Jimmy Clark, Zell Eaton, Don Collett, Smiley Quick, Jimmy Thompson, Red Wiley, Babe Lazane and Austin will not concede a single hole to the favorites.

A newcomer to the event and fresh from the tour is young Ronnie Reif, and another longshot title threat is Jack Doss, Virginia Country Club's new pro and another SC-PGA rookie. Other top Long Beach hopes include jaunty Johnny Jurus, who carried Barber through a sensational 25-hole match last year; Monty Blodgett and Frank Newell.

Season tickets, costing $2 for all four days, are on sale at all golf shops. Daily tickets cost $1 the first three days and $2 on Sunday.

L.B. Water Polo Team Splits Pair

LOS ALTOS HILLS (UPI) —The Long Beach Nu-Pike water polo team won one match and dropped another in the National AAU water polo championships Saturday.

Long Beach defeated the Foothill "A" squad, 5-1, but lost to the Inland Swim Assn. of Norwalk, 2-1.

The Illinois AC and the Commerce, Calif. "A" team will meet today for the title in the triple elimination competition. Illinois downed Foothill, 12-2, and Norwalk, 2-1, while Commerce tripped El Segundo, 5-2, and the S. F. Olympic Club, 7-4.

Collett Wins Top Eliminator

Gordon Collett of Portsmouth, Ohio, No. 1 dragster pilot in the country, showed a strong field of Southland drivers why he holds that title as he ran away with gas eliminator honors before 6,032 fans Saturday night at Lion's Drag Strip.

Hank Clark of Norwalk won the fuel eliminator title when Tom McEwen of Long Beach blew an engine halfway down the quarter mile strip.

Top Speed went to Frank Cannon of Compton at 184.80 m.p.h., with fastest time going to McEwen at 8.70 seconds.

Donovan Captures Ascot Park Main

Dan Donovan, in an Olds, won the early model stock car feature at Ascot Park Saturday night, taking over on the third lap and easily drawing away from Joe Drew, who was piloting a Chevrolet.

All races took place on the "Figure 8" course at Ascot. Results:

Heat races, 6 laps each — Willy Kimbrough, Chevrolet, 3:02.40; Irish Clarke, Ford, 3:10.66; Rocky Loren, Hudson, 3:01.96.

Semi-Main, 6 laps — Marty Quay, Mercury, 3:02.40.

Main event, 10 laps — Dan Donovan, Olds, Joe Drew, Chevrolet, Irish Clarke, Chevrolet, 5:07.26. Irish Clarke also won the destruction.

L.B. Lawn Bowlers Gain World Finals

T. H. Morgan and Eugene Tincher of Long Beach won a rain-delayed semifinal doubles match in the world lawn bowling tournament at Seattle Saturday.

Morgan and Tincher defeated Pat Madden and George Guest of Australia, 16-12. John Henderson of Montreal edged Alex Houston of Vancouver, 21-17, to win the singles title.

Three Tied for Flint Open Lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Pete Cooper, Tony Lema and Bill Collins made it a three-way tie in the third round of the Flint Open golf championship Saturday with four under par totals of 212, but little Jerry Barber closed to within two shots of the lead with a hole-in-one which also won a $5,200 automobile.

The 47-year-old Cooper, who was tied with Lema at the end of the second round, matched the 28-year-old Californian even-par 72 to cling to the front end, but the balding Collins fired a 71 which moved him even with them.

That moved this trio one shot ahead of Dave Ragan, who closed a big gap with a 33-34—67, and Jim Ferree, the little Carolinian whose 70 also put him at 213.

* * * *

BARBER MOVED into a four-man group at 214 when he holed out a two-iron tee shot on the 222-yard 17th to win a new automobile—as Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex., did in the first round.

That pushed Barber into a deadlock with Joe Campbell, Dow Finsterwald and Doug Sanders. Campbell and Finsterwald fashioned 69s while Sanders had a par 72 over the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills golf club.

At 215, only three shots off the lead in a day of 90-degree heat, came former U. S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff, Bob Goalby and Gardner Dickinson. Goalby had a 71 with 72s for the others.

Bill Collins	70-73-71—212

Once Over Lightly

Yanks, Dodgers Still Series Choices

One of the most fantastic success stories in recent baseball history is being written by the Los Angeles Angels, but it doesn't alter the fact that the Yankees and Dodgers are still the best bets at this stage to meet in the World Series.

In fact, the Angels most likely will slide to a position anywhere from fifth to seventh.

DAVE LEWIS
Likes Yanks, Dodgers

Only more crippling injuries to key men seemingly can stop the Yankees. Meanwhile, the Dodgers have a tough row to hoe in the National League although they hold a slight edge over the Giants on our "trend chart" at the halfway point.

The American League picture appears to be more clear-cut at the present time than the National, which could change sharply in the next month.

Some American Leaguers believe that 95 victories will be enough to win the pennant this season. However, at the present time the Yankees have a potential of 100 or more, which appears to give them a safe margin. Last year they won 109 games to finish eight in front of the Detroit Tigers with 101.

The Yanks are running five games behind their pace of '61 due mainly to their mid-June slump during which they lost 9 of 10, including four straight to the dangerous Cleveland Indians.

Their "hospital" list and their second-line pitching may account for a few more setbacks than usual during the second half of the race, but they are now working on the advantage of having the most favorable schedule from here on out.

For instance, the Yankees still have 36 games with the bottom three clubs—Kansas City, Boston, and Washington, while Cleveland and Detroit have only 24 with the same teams. That alone should produce a decisive winning margin over their two most dangerous rivals. The Yanks should play at least .667 ball in those 36 contests despite their injuries.

OUR CHART SHOWS the Yanks should pull out to at least a three-game lead by August 1 after a crucial three-game series with Cleveland in Yankee Stadium July 27-28-29. If the margin is greater than that on the 1st . . . it's all over but the celebrating.

After the Yankees' potential of 100 comes Cleveland with a "shaky" 96; Detroit, 91, and Baltimore with 90.

While Cleveland shows up at this point as the Yanks' most serious challenger, many baseball men feel that Detroit may reel off the most vigorous run down the stretch, especially when they get Al Kaline back and their other injured men recover.

Despite a strong start, Cleveland only is a game ahead of its opening pace of last season when the Indians faded in the last half by winning only 35 while losing 50, and some feel that they may again slow down to a walk when the "dog days" roll around.

At the present time, Minnesota, Chicago and the Angels appear to have about the same potentials in bidding for fifth—anywhere from 80 to 84. The Angels could finish fifth, but the "trend chart" tabs them for sixth or seventh. Other potentials: Boston, 75; Kansas City, 63, and Washington, 50.

The Angels are a rousing 14 games ahead of their '61 pace, but they are expected to slow down to about a .500 pace this month, and then travel at about a .400 to .450 pace during August and September.

WHILE OUR CHART STILL favors the Dodgers in the senior circuit, the race actually is still wide open with San Francisco just a notch behind and Cincinnati looming tougher as the season progresses.

The Dodgers currently have a potential of 106 wins with San Francisco next with 105 followed by Cincinnati with 99; Pittsburgh, 95; St. Louis, 85; Milwaukee, 83; Philadelphia, 65; Chicago, 62; Houston, 59, and New York, around 40.

Cincinnati's chances of being closer at this stage were wrecked by being unable to handle the Giants and the Phillies thus far. They stand only 9-17 against those two clubs.

Pittsburgh is hanging in and if everything jelled as it did two years ago, the Pirates could make a big run for it.

ST. LOUIS HAS A good schedule for the second half, but still hasn't shown signs of making a sustained drive.

In the end, the race should settle down to a two-way fight between the Dodgers and Giants. Unless, of course, one goes into an unexpected tailspin.

The Giants have a bit more favorable slate from here on out than the Dodgers and the O'Malley's will have to clinch the pennant in head-on meetings with S. F. After today, the two clubs play 10 more times and the Dodgers probably will have to win around seven of them to safely hold off the Giants . . . unless, of course, San Francisco fades in the late going as it has done in recent seasons. Then it will be a breeze for Los Angeles! Meanwhile, today's game at Candlestick Park is a crucial one. The Dodgers need this one badly!

First to Cry "Foul"

FAIRLY WISHES HE'D BROUGHT GOLF CLUBS

Dodgers Rap S.F. Quicksand Pit

By GEORGE LEDERER
L.A. Times Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO—While Dodger players continued to cry "foul" Saturday, manager Walter Alston decided to take Friday night's 12-3 licking with a grain of sand.

"I consider it a compliment to our club if they (the Giants) have to resort to those things," said Alston. "It should make (Maury) Wills feel pretty good."

You may recall that the topography around first base resembled a Louisiana quicksand pit before umpire Jocko Conlan called in the ground crew for emergency repairs after the third inning. By mere coincidence, Giants manager Alvin Dark is a native of the Bayou country.

Dark, who preaches good sportsmanship, naturally took the role of the innocent bystander. "I didn't put it (the sand) there," he said. "As soon as it was removed, we scored eight runs. It's my guess that some extra dirt was put on the infield to compensate for that blown away by the wind Thursday."

Chub Feeney, the Giants' general manager, managed to laugh off the incident. "The best infields are made up of one-third clay, one-third loam and one-third sand. It just happened that our sand was concentrated around first base."

Alston didn't think it was funny, but he wasn't bitter, either. "The worst thing that could happen is that someone can break a leg. It could happen to Mays as well as to Wills. That's all I'd complain about."

Ron Fairly, the first to discover that the terra was not too firma, said, "I don't know what the Giants had in mind. But I know that the dirt was watered down Thursday and it wasn't Friday. When I asked the groundskeeper about it, he told me that a hose broke Thursday."

Fairly inspected the field before Saturday's game and still was not satisfied. "It's every bit as bad as it was last night. I wish I had my golf clubs with me. I'd practice a few sand shots around first base."

"I know why they put the sand there," said Dodger captain Duke Snider. "(Orlando) Cepeda has bad feet and they gotta make it soft for him."

The Dodgers hope to have the last laugh today. When the Giants are at bat, it'll be Sandy on the mound.

Tyus Steals Spotlight in National AAU Spikefest

She won three races, tied two dash records and came within one-tenth of a second of equalling another.

She had record-equalling times of :05.8 and :08.3 in the 50 and 75-yard dashes, respectively, and her :11.0 clocking in the 100 was one tenth of a second off the AAU and American marks in the 14 to 17-age group.

Meanwhile Tamara Davis of Frederick, Md., broke the 50-yard hurdles mark with a time of :06.9. The previous record of :07.0 was set in 1955 by Jeannette Contrell of Ponca City, Okla., and tied in 1960 by Kay Miller, Corpus Christi, Tex.

Including preliminary dashes in morning heats, Miss Tyus, originally from Griffin, Ga., won nine races during the meet.

Coach Temple, of Tennessee A&I, who twice piloted American teams against the Russians, said Miss Tyus has a bright track future and compared her favorably to Mrs. Ward at the same age. Miss Tyus, a high school junior, is a two-time 50 and 100-yard dash winner in the Georgia State girls' championships.

"Wyoma has been running for me for two years," said Temple, "and has improved tremendously."

A sparse crowd of 1,500 watched the girls in the Coliseum, which will be the site of the women's National AAU championships today. The first two places in each event today will qualify for berths against the Russian women's team July 2122 at Palo Alto.

Columbus, Ohio Track Club set a record in the 440-yard relay in its class at :49 seconds flat with a team consisting of Melissa Long, Karen Williams, Wanda Fuller, and Sandra Fears.

Final team standings in the girl's competition found Los Pocos Diablos of Pleasant Hill scoring a narrow victory over Tennessee State, 45-44. Frederick Track Club was third with 40 points, followed by Ohio Track Club of Columbus, with 39; the Oakland Oakettes with 24 and Southern California Spikers of Los Angeles with 20.

the final four Angels in order to preserve Schwall's third win.

It will be Eli Grba (4-4) and Bill Monbouquette (7-8) in the final game of the series.

This afternoon, Rocky Bridges will be replaced by Rice as the Angel coaches continue to take turns in the managerial chair.

* * * *

THE GAME, however, took second billing to Fred Haney's fiery, pre-game, clubhouse lecture directed at Bo Belinsky, who has been on the carpet more times than an infant learning to walk.

Belinsky, who walked four of the first five Boston batters Friday evening, was censored in front of the whole squad for: (1) leaving the mound before his replacement had arrived, and (2) saluting the crowd with an ugly gesture on his way to the dugout.

"He has no right to embarrass the manager that way, for the manager will never embarrass a pitcher," said Haney. "Bo is in the major league's now and it is the custom here to wait until the relief pitcher arrives at the mound. As far as the gesture to the crowd, that has no place in baseball. I thought Bo was a higher-type individual."

* * * *

ALTHOUGH a similar gesture cost the Dodgers' Roger Craig a $250 fine and five-day suspension two years ago, Haney said there would be no fine.

The Angels dynamic general manager also defended the use of Belinsky after manager Bill Rigney had told this writer Wednesday he planned to give Bo's injured leg another day of rest by starting Lee Friday night.

"Any suggestion that we used Belinsky to boost the gate when he wasn't ready to pitch is ridiculous," said Haney. "Winning the game means much more to this club than any one night gate. I am sorry to see that Bo sees fit to use his sore leg as an alibi. I thought he was a different-type pitcher."

ANGEL ANGLES: Belinsky's troubles began Saturday long before Haney got to him. . . . Bo was elected from the Turf Club at Hollywood Park for (1) not wearing a tie and (2) the ugly gesture he gave to Chavez Ravine fans Friday night. . . . The electing officer was none other than Mervin LeRoy, Hollypark president.

14th Victory for Purkey

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Purkey pitched his 14th victory of the season here Saturday as against only two defeats as he limited Houston to six hits in a 10-1 romp by the Cincinnati Reds over the Colts.

Purkey, who now has beaten every club in the league, aided his own cause with his second home run of the season.

ON WHITE'S 3-RUN HOMER

Nitehawks Winners in 13

Stan White, batting left-handed, blasted a homer with Red Meairs and Larry Sylvas aboard in the bottom of the 13th inning to give the L. B. Nitehawks a 4-1 victory over the Vista Dolphins in a Western Softball Congress game Saturday at Park Avenue.

The loss was a bitter one for Rudy Fincher, who had homered earlier and had held the Hawks to but one run after the first.

L. B. rests atop the WSC.

YANK CREW LOSES OUT AT HENLEY

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (UPI) — The National Provincial Bank crew won the Thames Cup for eight-oared shells in the Royal Henley Regatta Saturday—beating Washington and Lee High School of Arlington, Va., in the semi-final and the Thames Rowing Club in the final.

The Bankers, averaging 24 years to the American high schoolers, 17, won the semifinal by 2½ lengths in six minutes, 54 seconds over the one mile and 550-yard course, and then came back to whip the Thames Club crew by three lengths in 6:46.

A's Owner Welcomes Senate Pry

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, said Saturday night he welcomed a threatened congressional investigation of his operation of the Athletics.

Finley promised his "full cooperation" to Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Kan., who announced he was making a detailed study of Finley's operation of the club.

"I am making this study," Long said, "because of numerous complaints from Kansas City about Mr. Finley's operation of the baseball club.

"If my study substantiates these charges, it is my intention to ask Sen. (Estes) Kefauver to investigate the operation of the Kansas City Athletics," said Long, who is a member of the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee.

It's a Long-Finned Weekend . . .

Unless the albacore pull a remarkable disappearing act, there should be several hundred longfins back-packed across Long Beach, San Pedro and Newport Beach landings this Sunday. And, of course, San Diego will get into the act, just as it has been doing since July 3.

The schools of longfins, however, are remaining practically stationary—about 20 miles off the east end of San Clemente Island. The party boats, the 65- and 85-footers from Pierpoint and Pacific Landings, will have plenty of company this weekend.

Numbers of the faster private boats from Long Beach and Newport will be out there trolling everything except the tackle box itself.

Such trolling may reduce the totals of the regular sportfishing fleet, which will be using live bait.

Meanwhile, there is news of more interest for those who like to fish just offshore. The barracuda, bonita and bass are wild at Huntington Flats and other banks. Just in case you like a short trip, try one of the local boats for a lot of fun. You get to fish longer and ride less.

ANOTHER RECORD BLACK SEA BASS—a 557-pound monster and the largest of its species ever recorded—was caught last Sunday by Richard M. Lane, 41 Blaboa Cove, Newport Beach, aboard his boat Sylinda just off Silver Canyon, Catalina Island.

The word about Lane's fish was a bit slow in reaching the mainland, but the fish is going into the record books just the same. Not only is the fish the largest California black sea bass ever caught, but it also sets a record for 45-pound-test line on medium tackle.

Two anglers held the former record of 514 pounds. J. Patterson got his 514-pound fish off San Clemente Aug. 29, 1955, and Joe M. Arve tied that with a fish of similar weight—right to the ounce—on Nov. 15, 1961, at Box Canyon. Both Patterson and Arve were using 130-pound-test line on heavy tackle.

Lane fought his fish for 65 minutes after the bass took a big squid that he was using for bait. He had to tow the fish to the Avalon Pleasure Pier, where Stan Kimball weighed it. Ray Caswell, of the Tuna Club (Avalon) certified it.

It was in the same area where Dr. J. Gordon Bateman, Long Beach, recently caught a 337-pounder on light tackle. He, too, was using squid for bait. A ruling still is pending as to whether it will be a record.

A NEW TYPE OF CLUB, the Executive and Professional Men's Hunt-Fish-of-the-Month Club, has just been announced in Los Angeles by Rick Williams, travel agency owner and narrator of TV's show, "Wide World Hunting and Fishing."

Purpose of the club is to charge membership and annual dues which will enable the directors to research personally every fishing and hunting resort so that there can be no mistakes when the patron leaves on a trip.

Literature will be provided each month for a trip four months in advance, with all information about fees, accommodations and what to expect in fish and game.

Details about the EPMHFMC—how's that for abbreviating—may be had by sending a postcard to 1116 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Zebco Division of Brunswick Corporation assumed even greater importance in the fishing-tackle trade last week when it announced the purchase of Langley Corporation of San Diego.

Zebco, famed manufacturer of closed-face spinning reels, thus put itself in a position to manufacture and sell—along with its own product—open-face spinning reels, conventional type reels for ocean fishing and level-wind reels for every type of casting.

Zebco plans to introduce a broad line of reel products under its name at the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers' Association trade show in Chicago Aug. 5-8.

While no official announcement reached this writer, the rumor that Browning Arms had bought Sila-Flex of Costa Mesa was substantiated by Herb Jenks, general manager of Sila-Flex.

Such an acquisition puts Browning in the market with fiber-glass vaulting poles, high-quality fishing rods and archery equipment, along with its guns. The archery section is expected to be a very important part of the Browning operation.

South Prep Grids Begin Work July 21

Two-a-day drills will begin Sunday, July 21, and will continue until two days before the game. Teams report July 20 and picture day will be July 22.

The Northerners go to Bovard Field on the Southern California campus for their workouts. They'll follow the same schedule. All drills for both teams are open to the public.

* * * *

LONG BEACH will be represented by two players, Wilson High tackle Bill Robinson and Poly fullback Joe Pearson. Both made the all-CIF first team.

Veteran coach Jim Blewett of Manual Arts will handle the South team along with Frank Serrao of Redlands. Blewett coached South wins in 1953 (20-0) and 1955 (17-0).

Tickets, priced at $1.50, $3 and $5, may be obtained by writing the Shrine Football Office, 655 W. Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles 7. Presently, there is no ticket outlet in Long Beach.

Ray, Davey Headliners at Arena

On the same program, Herman Duncan and Don Johnson clash for the California State featherweight title in a 12-rounder. The Duncan-Johnson fight is also a featherweight clash.

* * * *

Robinson, the ex-welterweight and middleweight champion, was reported in top shape but has been boxing daily to sharpen his punching for the aggressive Moyer, one of the Oregon family of boxers.

The bout marks Robinson's first return here since December, 1960, when he was narrowly defeated by Gene Fullmer, the NBA middleweight champ.

Monday's card is another arranged by ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis, who is matchmaker for United World Enterprises.

Joe Louis Guest at Maritime Luncheon

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis will be special guest of the July Maritime Industries luncheon at Mary Star of the Sea Hall, San Pedro, on Wednesday.

Louis' guest will be former welterweight - middleweight champ Ray Robinson.

Social hour will begin at 11:45 a.m. Admission is free. Pat Ahern is master of ceremonies.

Low Net to Craig in Sweepstakes

Jim Craig Jr. took low net honors in the Saturday Sweepstakes at Virginia Country Club with 69-7—62. Results:

Blind Bogey (79)—Fred Richards, Herb Welgren, Max Becker, Dick Browning, Eld Narthrup, Dr. Milo Ellick, Reg Dubuy, Bill Murrell.

SHORT-TERM MAT CHAMP DUE BACK

Japanese wrestler Rikidozan, who won the heavyweight championship recently only to have it taken away and restored to Freddie Blassie on a technicality, this week begins a drive for another shot at the title.

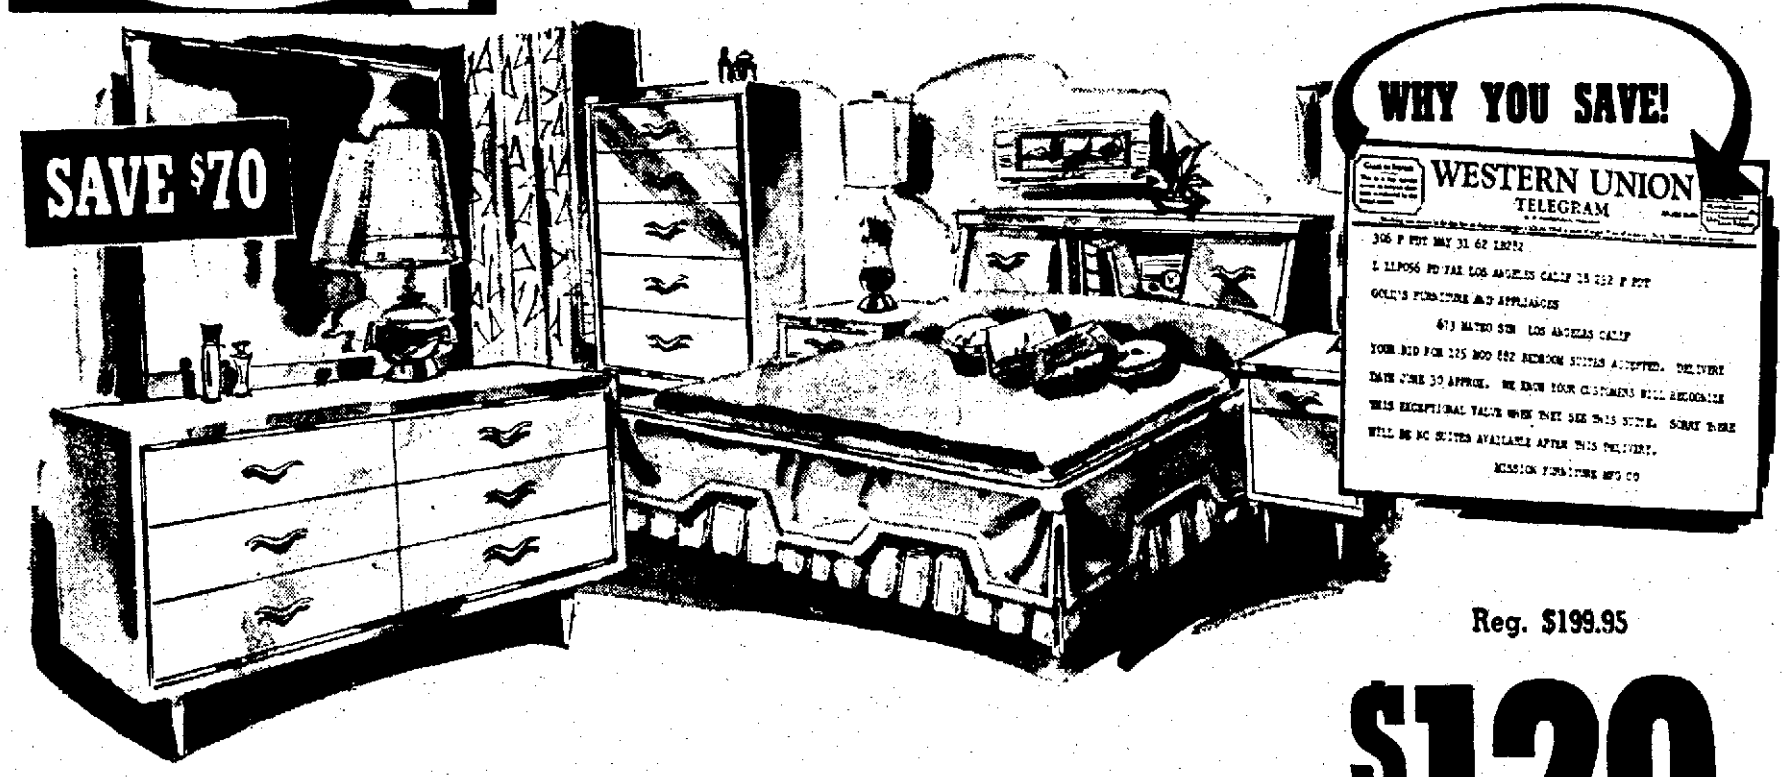

He opposes La Pentera on Tuesday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT YOU COULD SELL "AUTOMOBILES"?
IF YOU HAVE, READ THIS
We know from the number of older cars now on the road and the rise in new car sales, the remainder of this year, and 1959 will be a bumper sales period in the business. Now is the time to break in.

We need ten men who are aggressive, neat, and ambitious and are mechanically inclined. 25 to 35 years old. Preferably with some selling experience.

Our training program runs from 4 to 6 weeks depending on the individual.

All personnel hired will be paid a salary plus commission on all sales.

You will be directed and taught all phases of selling new and used cars.

LOOKING FOR A HOME?

Here is a choice selection of 12 homes from 450 of our exclusive listings.

The One to See Is From Walker & Lee

Six Conveniently Located Offices to Serve You

LOS ALTOS

"NEAR STATE COLLEGE"—Very attractive in modern motif — you'll fall in love with it. Three bedrooms, 2 baths, excellent decor thruout. Professionally landscaped with large park-like rear yard ideal for outdoor enjoyment. Priced at $15,950. Just $1950 down. Key at 2265 Palo Verde. GE 9-2134.

STATE COLLEGE ONE-HALF MILE. Beautiful landscaping just outside either front or back door. Inside is the smartest modern you've seen. A 3-bedroom 2-bath home we challenge you to match for just $15,950. To see call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

HUGE-HUGE FAMILY ROOM with wet bar and acres of storage and closets. Second bath off family room, 3 bedrooms and large screened dog kennels. Immaculate in and out. Just listed, so be first to call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

LAKEWOOD

SEPARATE DINING ROOM is only one of the many nice features in this 3-bedroom home. New nylon carpet, lots of used brick and right near all schools. You could move in before school starts. $1000 down and $111.71 per mo. includes taxes and insurance. Key at Hwy. 101 and Anaheim. GE 4-7426.

"$500 DOWN NON-VET!" and $95 per month including taxes buys this large 2-bedroom home on quiet tree-lined street. Completely developed inside and out — double garage — fenced yard — 15x18 covered patio. You can own this house cheaper than you can rent it, but you'd better hurry! Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd. HA 5-1214. Open eves.

LONG BEACH

GI LOAN BENEFITS BEGIN EXPIRING JULY 25. Don't gamble with yours. Check on this large 3-bedroom home with separate dining room and screened patio that can be yours for nothing down and payment no more than rent. Call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

SEAL BEACH

PAINT & SAVE! 3 AND FAMILY ROOM plus 2 baths, built-in kitchen with smart ash cabinets, oak floors, sliding glass door to yard. Top location near beach and marina but dirty in and out. For a real saving call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

STATE COLLEGE AREA

"4-BEDROOMS PLUS FAMILY ROOM." Ideal for that large family. Built-ins plus refrigerator in large kitch., sprinklers, professional landscaping. Walk to all schools. Quiet dead-end street, best area. $6000 will handle. Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134.

PLAZA

"TAKE 4 FINE BEDROOMS" plus kitchen — family room home with 2 baths. Then add solid mahogany kitchen cabinets — knotty cedar paneling in the family room — contoured polished slate floor and a beautiful Loma stone fireplace in the large living room. Set this outstanding home on a quiet street near schools— you'll have a wonderful home for a large, happy family. Just $21,500 on easy FHA terms. Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd. HA 5-1214. Open eves.

CITY COLLEGE

UNUSUAL!! To find a home with a 3-ton Amana heat pump already installed. Cool in summer and warm in winter. 3 Bedrooms, 1¾ baths, in deluxe location for only $2000 down. Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd. GE 3-7493.

ROSSMOOR

BEAUTIFUL EL DORADO—This beautiful 3-bedroom home has been customized and has added den. Built-in range, oven and dishwasher, huge living room. All for only $29,500 and owner says sell. Your terms — FHA, conventional, or owner will help finance. Key at Hwy. 101 and Anaheim. GE 4-7426.

DUPLEXES

LOVELY DUPLEX — Spacious 1-bedroom each, pullman baths, 30-gal. water heaters, 3 garages, beautifully landscaped, near 2 super markets and 3 doors to bus. Income $160 mo. Try $3000 down. Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd. GE 3-7493.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:
. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

The used cars we have at our huge plant are the cleanest and best in the world. We say this without fear of contradiction. Here is the procedure for our cars at:

MARSHALL DUFFIELD COMET-MERCURY

1. Wash Motor and Chassis.
2. Inspection by foreman.
3. Motor compression test for rings and valves.
4. Transmission and rear end tested and checked.
5. New lings, bearings, piston pins, clutches, replaced as needed.
6. Carburetor, distributor checked and tested.
7. The car is road-tested.
8. Oil changed and lubed.
9. All parts properly lubricated to factory specifications.
10. Wheels pulled to check the brake lining.
11. Front end examined and necessary corrections made.
12. Necessary bumping done in metal dept.
13. Polish and clean up.
14. Upholstery completely renovated.
15. Tires checked, made to meet our specifications, which should be good for approximately 20,000 miles. Front end aligned and (4) wheels balanced.
16. 10-Day Trial Exchange.

NORTHWARD VIEW TELLS STORY OF HOW WESTMINSTER AREA LOOKED IN 1954

Westminster Triples Population in 5 Years

More than tripled in population in the last five years, Westminster, in southwestern Orange County, goes by the slogan that the city is "a wonderful place to live, work and play."

Only 12 years ago, 3,131 persons lived in that part of the county.

At time of incorporation, March 27, 1957, the population was 10,755.

Latest count was more than 35,000—and rapid growth continues.

Postal receipts have zoomed from $18,242 in 1950 to $190,644 in '61.

Bank deposits were $9,171,276 in '61, jumping from $3,303,284 in four years.

THE CITY COVERS 9.78 square miles and lies 50 feet above sea level. Only a few miles from the beach, Westminster has a climate advantage of daily sea breezes, which maintain cooler temperatures than even nearby areas further inland.

The city's elementary school district includes 13 schools. Three more are abuilding. The large high school plant is part of the Huntington Beach Union District, and another is planned.

Home building permit valuations, $2,441,150 in 1957, totalled $18,233,303 in 1961. There were 1,515 houses built in 1959.

Westminster has its own police and fire departments and has a City Council-administrator form of government. The councilmen, from five districts, elect one of their body as mayor.

RECENT EFFORTS have been made by city officials to push industrial expansion. The area has 914 acres zoned for light industry, with an additional 640 acres adjoining.

Completion of the San Diego and Garden Grove freeways will give Westminster quick access to the Southland freeway system.

The city has a fulltime parks and recreational program, besides being located only short distances from such attractions as Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Newport Harbor and a variety of ocean sports.

Business Upturns Reported by Savings and Loan Associations

Savings and loan associations in the area have announced increases at mid-year in assets, savings, mortgage loans and interest payments to savers.

Deane Sanders, manager of the Lakewood office of Great Western Savings and Loan Association, said total assets on June 30 amounted to $483,158,000 compared with $411,497,000 on that date a year ago. This was an increase of $71,661,000, or 17.4%.

Savings amounted to $372,924,000, against $318,897,000 a year ago, a gain of $54,027,000 or 16.9%. Mortgage loans outstanding were $419,657,000, an increase of 13.6% over the $369,452,000 reported on June 30, 1961.

Interest payments to savers during the first half of 1962 totaled $7,704,000. This was at the rate of 4¼% during the second quarter of the year. This same rate has been announced for the third quarter.

Broker Institute President Offers Hints on Selling

By VERN ANTHONY
Real Estate Editor

One of the brighter aspects of being in the real estate business is the years in which you can work at it, believes Gordon Williamson, who visited the Long Beach area recently as president of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

He cited instances of men over 70 having great success at an age where persons in other businesses would have had to retire at 65.

Williamson, who received his apprenticeship in salesmanship in the auto business at Detroit, is now a nationally recognized authority in realty operations. He had some pithy commentary during his discussions here.

• • • •

THERE'S ALWAYS a triangle in selling, he said: the buyer, who wants to get all he can for the least price; the seller, who wants all he can get; and the broker, trying to get the best deal for all concerned.

• • • •

IT'S IMPORTANT to have written instructions, rules and regulations for sales staffs in offices.

• • • •

"LISTINGS are the life blood of our sales."

• • • •

• • • •

IT'S IMPORTANT to know prospect sources, Williamson said. He revealed surveys of his own realty business showed 20 per cent of sales came from classified ads in newspapers; 20% from signs; 10% from drop-ins at the offices; 10% from customer visitations at houses; and the balance from referrals. He stressed importance of 'seeing people.'

• • • •

"YOU CAN'T be bashful and be in the real estate business."

• • • •

"DISCOUNT STORES are here to stay," he said urging attention to site sales for such businesses.

• • • •

MOBILE RETAIL stores may appear on the scene . . . Air freight will change demand.

• • • •

LEASES are being written now with cost of living clauses.

• • • •

STUDY your community as if you didn't live there, and get a new slant on things you're selling.

• • • •

GAS STATIONS of the future will have 4 to 6 or more stalls instead of two.

• • • •

CHECK with new industries as to where their employes will want to be living.

• • • •

FINALLY, punning in reference to the upcoming November convention at Detroit at which special stress will be placed on entertainment for wives of realty delegates: "Once, going to a convention with your wife was like going hunting with a game warden!"

But it won't be that way at Detroit.

Record New Membership Taken in by Realty Board

WILLIAM J. TEAGUE
Speaker Tuesday

New Record at Mesa

COSTA MESA. — An all-time high of $31,489,000 in construction has been reported here for the past fiscal year. This was an increase of $2,600,000 over the previous year.

Realtors to Hear Vice President of Pepperdine

July program chairman for the Long Beach District Board of Realtors Elmer Roswurm has announced that William J. Teague, vice president of Pepperdine College, will be the guest speaker at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday at the realtors breakfast in the Crown Cafeteria.

With a background in college administration and a reputation for success, Teague has been described as quietly dynamic. He is known for getting the job done, a quality which he has exhibited at Pepperdine as proficiently as he did in similar capacities at Abilene Christian College in Texas and Harding College in Arkansas.

Teague is a member of the Los Angeles Breakfasta Club, American College Public Relations Association and other professional and civic groups.

Association to Install Tuesday

L. G. Toner will be installed as new chairman of the Lakewood-Los Altos Real Estate Association at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Lakewood Country Club.

Installing officer will be James O. (Pete) Banes.

Also to be seated as new officers will be Gene Nebeker, vice chairman, and Betty Bell, secretary-treasurer.

The association just has wrapped up a record year of business, according to reports for the fiscal year ending June 30. More than 7,000 homes were sold and volume hit the $32 million mark.

Forty-nine realty offices are represented in the 400-member association. Regular meetings are held at noon on the second Tuesday of each month, at the country club dining room.

B of A Shows Gains in Deposits and Loans

Loans and deposits, barometers of Bank of America's earning potential, showed major gains during the first six months of 1962.

In the bank's statement of condition for June 30, 1962, President S. Clark Beise reported total loans outstanding of $7,193,994,949, an increase of $683,407,303 during the past 12 months, and a gain of $366,385,870 since the end of the year.

"This six-month increase alone is greater than that recorded for all of 1960 and 1961," Beise said.

• • • •

Beise reported net operating earnings reflecting the added cost of higher savings interest rates, were $38,653,656 for the first six months of 1962 or $1.36 per share on the 28,480,000 shares outstanding. This compares with $41,969,181, or $1.47 per share for the first half of 1961.

Total resources of $12,787,175,208 set a new high, and compare with $11,796,997,240 a year ago.

The bank's investments in securities totaled $3,188,744,264 against $2,924,772,429 a year ago.

Beise reported that 23 new branches of the bank were opened during the first six months of this year for a current total of 761.

• • • •

SUMMING UP his report on earnings the president reported that transactions in securities yielded a net profit of $1,077,212 compared with $1,255,055 for the first six months of 1961. Transfers to reserves, after resulting tax benefits, amounted to $2,634,000 leaving net earnings and profits of $37,096,869 available for dividends and addition to capital funds, compared with $40,590,236 in the first half of 1961.

Dividends totaling $28,480,000 were paid during the first half of 1962 to more than 200,000 shareholders at the annual rate of $2.00 per share.

Total capital funds together with reserve for possible loan losses of $136,189,539 now amount to $929,919,877, representing an increase of $123,033,148 over mid-1961.

Sales Increase

Consolidated retail sales of Jewel Tea Co., Inc., for the four weeks ended June 16, 1962, totaled $46,656,609, a gain of $4,764,076 or 11.4% over comparable sales of $41,891,933 for the comparable weeks a year ago.

CARL E. WYNN
Back From Trip

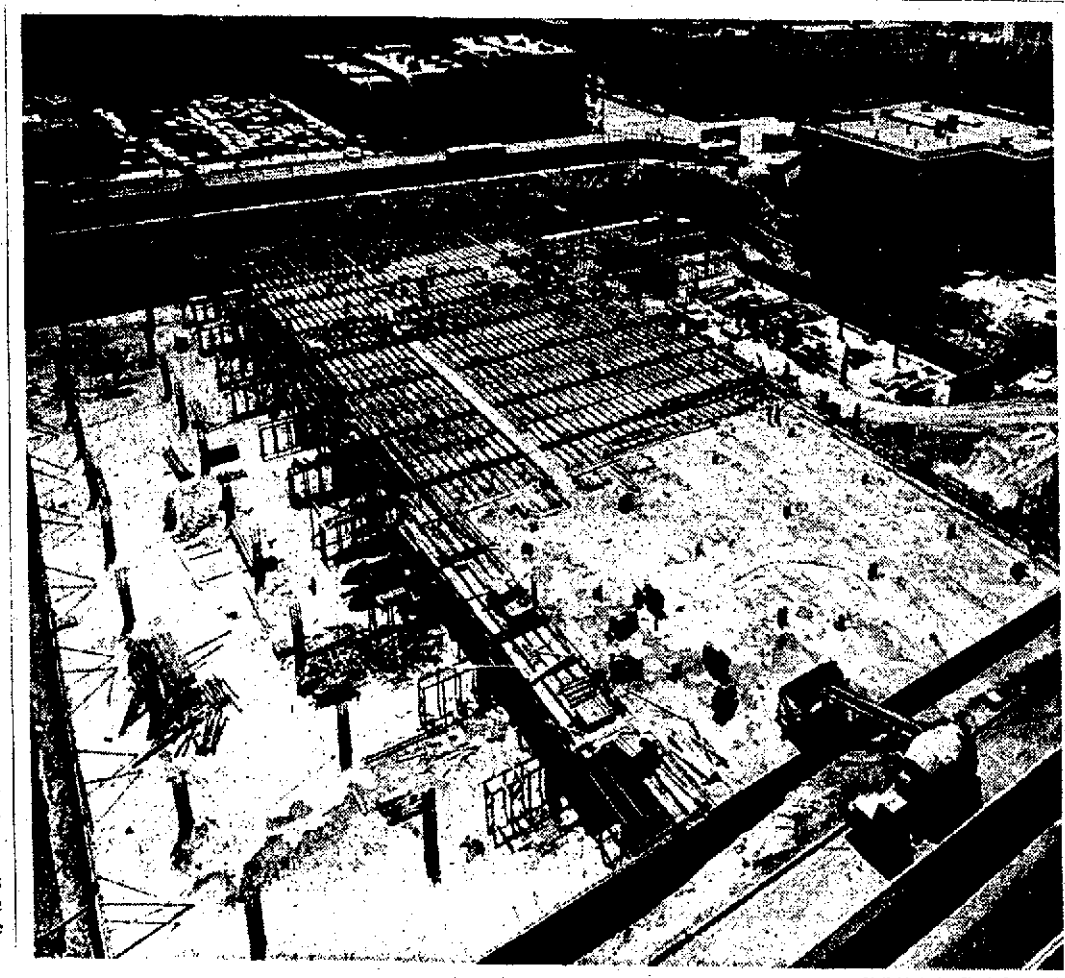

Sees Business Chances Good 'Down Under'

"There's a profitable business to be had for American industry in the Far East and in the 'down under' countries, but there is nothing common about the markets," said Carl E. Wynn, president, Wynn's Friction Proofing of Azusa at a recent press conference in Los Angeles.

Wynn just had returned from a three-month business trip to Australia, New Zealand, the Far East and the Philippines, exploring economic and business conditions and expansion opportunities in those countries.

"The variations in marketing problems are caused by a number of factors," he continued.

"In some areas it may be economic — in others it may be political—or geographical —or a language barrier; but the complexities of each area must be carefully studied and analyzed before setting up shop."

Westmont Bonus Room Home Again Available

A WESTMONT INTERIOR
Rich paneling, fireplace, built-in kitchen, and family room are combined with the big 440-square-foot Bonus Room at George M. Holstein & Sons' new Westmont Community on Highway 39 three miles south of the Garden Grove Freeway intersection.

The Southland's most popular new home concept, the big extra Bonus Room is meeting with continuing popularity at the newest unit of Westmont where all plans and exteriors are available once again following a record-setting sell-out, the developers reveal.

The big room is ideal for extra bedrooms, rumpus room, play or game area, and includes over 400 extra square feet, the Westmont builders pointed out.

Available in many exteriors in both three and four-bedroom plans with family rooms, the new Westmont unit features a score of other luxuries along with the big room, the pioneer building organization stressed.

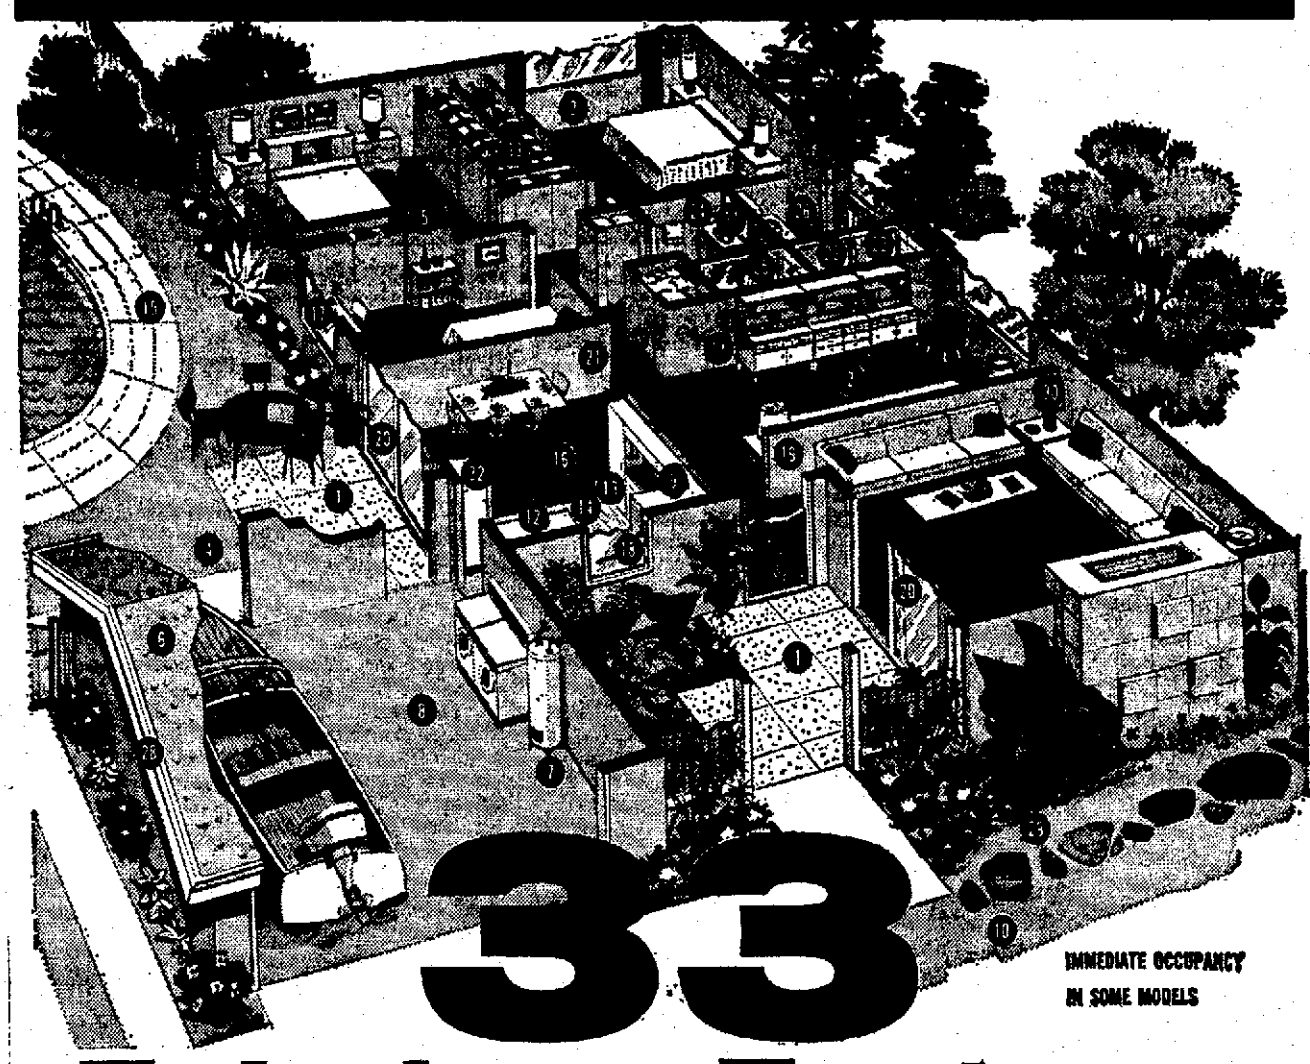

* * * *

EVERY WESTMONT home will have concrete driveway, oversize pool lot, built-in tile kitchen, and most plans also offer wood-shake roof, fireplace, paneling and other custom-like advantages.

Early purchasers in the new unit will be offered a selection of colors, tile and other details with occupancy set for late this summer.

The Westmont Bonus Room home also offers choice financing with FHA terms as low as $800 down and no down payments to qualified veterans.

From Long Beach drive east on either Seventh St. or Westminster Blvd. to Hwy. 39. Turn right about three miles, just past Heil, to the big Westmont arrow. The models are on the left of Hwy. 39 about five miles from the beach.

Recreation Director Launches Many Pacific Sands Activities

Over three hundred persons were on hand as Bob Lent, club director of Pacific Sands Cabana Club, began his official duties at the first community meeting held in the spacious clubhouse recently, according to Pat Yeiser, community coordinator.

Jim Deane, speaking for Deane Brothers and M. J. Brock and Sons, Inc., developers of Pacific Sands, a community located near the ocean in Huntington Beach, revealed that much time was spent seeking a club director. "Quite by chance," said Deane, "we discovered Bob Lent living right here in Pacific Sands. Bob, who holds a Masters Degree in recreation from Michigan University, is an elementary school teacher in Huntington Beach."

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Lent outlined an array of activities that encompassed every age group. "We will have a complete recreation program," Lent declared, "one that will be year 'round in scope and with activities that will appeal to every interest."

* * * *

ACTIVITIES PLANNED for the children include swimming, baton and dancing lessons, scouting, league teams, day camps, side trips, arts, crafts and hobbies. Teen Clubs, drill teams, sports and dances are on the agenda for the teenagers. Adults will enjoy fashion shows, fishing and boating clubs, bridge, swimming, skin diving lessons, Golden Age Clubs and barbecues and party nights.

"Pacific Sands residents will have an opportunity to become excellent swimmers," said Lent, as he introduced the Cabana Club swimming instructor, Norman Holiday, who will also act as full time life guard at the club's official swim-meet size pool.

The Cabana Club will also have a tennis pro available for lessons.

In addition to the swimming pool, tennis court and spacious club house for parties and dances, Pacific Sands Cabana Club will feature shuffleboard, volleyball courts, chidren's playground and cook-out facilities.

Pacific Sands Homes are located on Beach Blvd., one-half mile north of Pacific Coast Hwy. The homes are available in 26 models, ranging from $14,450 up to $20,950 for the deluxe two-story model. Membership fee is being waived for first buyers for a limited time.

Salvation Army Band to Play at Dedication

Dedication services will be held at 1:30 p.m. today for the new recreation and chapel room at Crestwood Convalescent Hospital, 1775 Chestnut Ave.

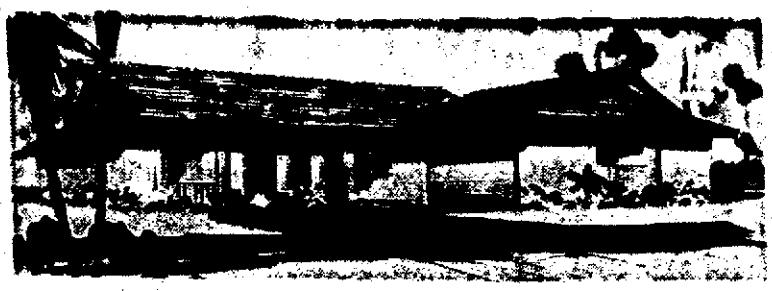

Tom Greholver, Salvation Army corps assistant here, will give the dedicatory address, and music will be by the Salvation Army band and singers.

The service will replace the usual worship service today and is open to the public.

In addition to the completed chapel and recreational unit for patients, construction is under way on a 28-bed hospital expansion program. More than $100,000 is being spent on the project.

ONLY $95 DOWN

For $95 down, a family may start home ownership in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes, Unit 2. Builders are S. V. Hunsaker & Sons.

Finest of Features in Sunshine Homes

Southern California families find all the most wanted features in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes, Unit 2, according to Richard C. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons builders and developers.

Moderately priced, requiring only $95 down, Huntington Beach Sunshine homes offer three and four bedrooms, two full baths, two-car garage, family room, and large kitchen.

• • • •

LOCATED CLOSE to the finest beaches and near both Orange County and Long Beach industrial centers, these attractive homes feature forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, all-copper plumbing, and plenty of built-ins. Other popular features are wall-to-wall carpet, floor-to-ceiling folding wardrobe doors, and a large number of roomy closets.

The ultra-modern kitchens are convenient and have natural finish cabinets, Formica counter tops, vinyl tile, disposal, and built-in range and oven equipped with hood and exhaust fan over range.

Academically, residents are served by grammar schools, high school, and junior college. Shopping centers and churches are close by.

The homes are open daily for inspection from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and may be seen at Golden West and Smeltzer in Huntington Beach.

Calls for Minimum Lot Sizes

A near-record homebuilding year for Southern California in 1962 may hinge on continuation of a recent trend by cities to reduce their minimum lot size requirements, according to Joe H. McCormick, president of the Building Contractors Association of California.

He predicted Southland builders would construct more than 170,000 dwelling units this year "if our cities quickly adopt a more realistic attitude toward the housing needs and purchasing power of middle and lower income families."

SMALLER LOTS are the only means by which builders can effect substantial reductions in housing costs, McCormick asserted. He said only moderate savings could be gained from changes in building methods and materials without undermining structural soundness.

"Essentially, the cost of land dictates the price level of the house built on it," McCormick said.

He warned that the Los Angeles metropolitan area has reached a point in its development where it "can no longer enjoy the luxury of wasted land."

He called on Southland cities to examine the necessity for maintaining their minimum lot size requirements at present levels and to reduce them wherever possible.

McCormick emphasized that smaller lots do not necessarily result in a poorer grade of housing, noting that some of the finest homes in Southern California are on lots with 25 foot frontage on Balboa Island.

LET'S TALK "PRIDE"

We are proud indeed of Orange County's most recommended Homes...the beautiful Sol-Vista Luxury Series. We are also justly proud of each Sol-Vista community. Communities made up of discriminating buyers like yourselves. People who have purchased a Sol-Vista home because they have found it to be their best home value. It fits their family needs (and purse) and it's a wise investment. All these people take a great deal of pride in the appearance of their community they are helping to build. This wonderful pride of ownership is part of what you buy when choosing a Sol-Vista home. A fine community, friendly neighbors, excellent schools for your children, established convenient shopping for you...if these factors are important in your selection of a home, we cordially invite your inspection of Sol-Vista Luxury Series. We know you will like them.

Fashion Homes Offered in Two Sites

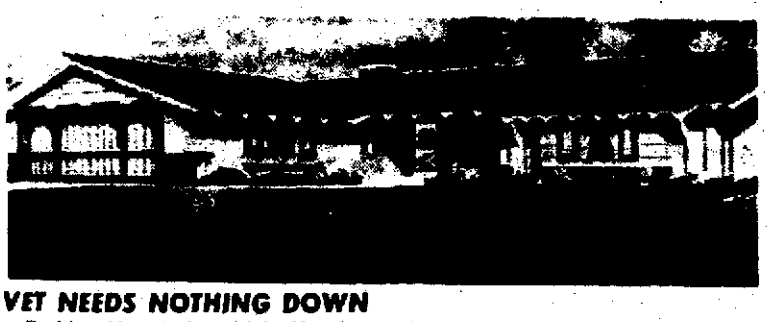

Fashion Homes are now available at two choice locations in Orange County, Garden Grove and Huntington Beach, according to builder-developer, Marvin Johnson.

Many different types of homes are available at the Garden Grove and Huntington Beach locations. There are 20 floor plans and five exteriors from which to choose, including Hawaiian, modern, ranch, Cape Cod and Early American.

* * * *

NO - DOWN - PAYMENT terms are available for veterans and liberal FHA terms also are available. FHA monthly payments are from $94.86 and prices are from $17,950 at Garden Grove. In Huntington Beach prices start at $18,600 with FHA monthly payments from $98.64.

Fashion Homes Huntington Beach is located on Sugar Ave. west of Hwy. 39. Garden Grove Homes are on Bolsa east of Hwy. 39.

VET NEEDS NOTHING DOWN

Fashion Homes, located in Huntington Beach and also in Garden Grove, offer many attractive models such as this. A veteran needs nothing down.

Captive Listeners to His Speech

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP)—Kenneth L. Fleming likes to talk to his cows, and he has made it pay off. Fleming recently won his third prize in three years in a Future Farmers of America speaking contest. Asked the secret of his success, Fleming said, "I practice my speeches while milking."

Bakery Firm to Occupy Plant at Buena Park

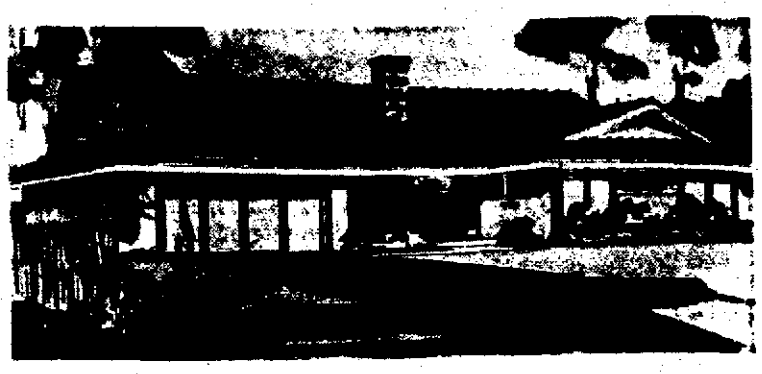

Cal-Ray Bakeries, Inc., Glendale has purchased the Venus Foods cookie plant in Buena Park and will move its operations to the new plant later this year, it has been announced.

Richard S. Sheehy, Cal-Ray general manager, said the transaction involves only the property and equipment of Venus Foods, a subsidiary of Nalley's, Inc., of Tacoma, Wash.

At Glendale, where the company has been operating in leased facilities, about 300 people are employed.

"Space will be available at Buena Park for special equipment needed for several new products," Sheehy said.

A SOL VISTA HOME

Priced from $19,100, Sol Vista Luxury Series of homes are in a locale which has great appeal. Here is one of the many attractive models offered.

"Sol Vista Luxury Series homes, are located in one of the fastest growing areas in Southern California where the population surge is being matched with growth in industry. These communities are located at the heart of the Southern Playground area. They are within a relatively few minutes' drive of some of the finest beaches in the world. Mountain resorts or the desert areas are an hour or two away," says Irving Solomon, executive vice president of Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc., the builder.

In addition to location, Sol Vista offers the buyer quality construction and originality in design. One may choose from 23 exterior elevations and five floor plans. These have three and four bedrooms with two baths and are priced from $19,100 with minimum FHA down payment, VA terms—no down payment (except costs and impounds) Cal-Vet and conventional financing is also available.

A MASSIVE brick or stone fireplace is included in every Sol Vista Home. Kitchens have all electric Frigidaire built-ins, natural grained ash cabinets. A Frigidaire dishwasher is also included.

Sol Vista Homes have hardwood floors throughout and have forced air heat.

Sol Vista is located on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) 3 miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. (Seventh St.) Model homes are also conveniently located in Santa Ana, on Sugar St., just west of Verano.

PRICING BEGINS AT $13,950

Offered by Seahaven Homes is this model, the Sea Sprite, with two bedrooms, bath, living room, separate dining area, all-electric Westinghouse kitchen, two-car garage and many quality features unusual in a home in its price range. It is priced from $13,950.

The third Unit of Seahaven Homes has been opened 30 days early due to the demand for the homes, according to Jim Deane, of Deane Brothers, developers of the community in Huntington Beach.

"One hundred and forty-eight Seahaven Homes were sold in the first 30 days after the preview showing," Deane reported.

"Another interesting point is that many of the home buyers were not searching for a home but are beach lovers who stopped to view the models on impulse. After seeing the quality of the homes and finding out that veterans can move in for $89 with total monthly payments including taxes, as low as $89 or low FHA financing, these viewers, who had always wanted to live near the ocean, decided to purchase daily.

SEAHAVEN OFFERS two, three, and four-bedroom models, each with a choice of three exterior designs, according to Deane. Each of the models offers its own unique features. However, all are equipped with Westinghouse All-Electric kitchens, double sinks, ceramic tile, hood and vent over ranges, two-car garages, and as the firm describes it, "a wonderful beach location that is air conditioned by nature."

Seahaven Homes are located just off Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39), two miles north of Pacific Coast Hwy (101) at the corner of Adams Blvd. and Buschard St. Directional signs will guide interested viewers to the furnished models which may be seen daily.

1st Western Has Growth

First Western Bank and Trust Company earned $1,607,000, or $1.36 per share in the first six months of 1962, according to Chairman of the Board Mont E. McMillen. No comparable figures are available for 1961.

The total assets of the bank were $607,078,000 as of June 30, 1962, a growth of $29,361,000 or 5% from a year ago.

Deposits increased from $518,062,341 to $550,470,000. Loans experienced a strong gain of $44,326,000, or 17%, reaching $302,445,000 as of June 30.

Huntington Village 10th Unit Is Open

SELLING FROM $17,150

Spacious living areas are one of many features of the three and four-bedroom, two-bath Huntington Village homes. They are selling from $17,150 with $395 down, plus costs.

Huntington Village, one of the most successful home developments in Orange County, enjoyed another week of crowds of home buyers attending the opening of unit 10 in the community of 1000 homes.

A Doyle and Shields development, with almost 1000 homes already occupied, it is one of the largest home communities in Orange County and is located in what the State Dept. of Finance has termed "the fastest growing community in all of California,"—the city of Huntington Beach.

The seaside village has expanded its borders from a tiny 4½ sq. miles to its present size of nearly 24 sq. miles. In 1960, the official population totaled about 11,500. By June 1 of this year, the population was estimated to be more than 27,000.

* * * *

DAN MYTINGER, sales manager for Doyle and Shields said: "We are pleased that we have contributed toward the growth of the city of Huntington Beach. Our relations with city officials have been more than cordial. Our building program for Huntington Village is by no means finished."

The three and four bedroom homes in unit 10 contain many new "wife-saving" features: RCA Whirlpool built-in range and oven, RCA dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hall and master bedroom, central forced-air heat, slate entry, spacious family room, two baths and fireplace.

* * * *

PRICED FROM $17,150, and with down payments starting from $395 down, plus costs, Huntington Village homes are within the financial reach of practically anyone with a steady job, a spokesman said.

Several custom homes, priced from $23,950, are now available for public sale. The homes are located directly opposite Meadowlark Country Club, and offer "country-club" living at reasonable cost.

Huntington Village's newly redecorated model homes are open daily and are easily reached from the eastern Orange County area by driving south on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) to Edinger, left on Edinger to Springdale, then south on Springdale a short distance to the model homes and ample parking lot. From the Long Beach area, drive east on Seventh St. to Golden West St., south to Edinger, west to Springdale, then south to the models.

Golden West Sales Group Is Rewarded

In recognition of their sales record the Pageant Realty sales staff of Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach was treated to dinner recently at the Stuft Shirt in Newport Beach.

"We wanted to do something special to show our appreciation for their really fine efforts," said Jim McCarthy, vice-president of the McCarthy Co., builder-developers.

Sales at Golden West have now passed the 5000 mark and are proceeding into the eighth and final unit.

* * * *

LEADING all sales at the development is an unusual plan with two separate patios, one serving as an enclosed front entranceway while the other offers outdoor seclusion at the side. The garage in this plan may be converted into a poolside cabana simply by lifting the "boat door" in the rear wall.

Inside, the double patio home features a separate formal living room and a separate family room which is distinct from the dining area. A number of these homes, in varied exterior stylings, are ready for occupancy.

Priced from $17,800, the homes are offered with 5¼% 35-year FHA terms featuring down payments from $875. Also available are GI no-down-payment terms and conventional financing with down payments from $695. Trade-ins are accepted.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via Seventh Street east to Golden West Street, then right to the models.

LAW IN THE NEWS

Courts Try to Heed Intent

The other day Smith made a lucky buy of Antibiotics, Inc., and he already was now becoming a rich man. His first 100 shares had grown to 20,000 shares.

His will left most of his estate to certain relatives, but he had a dear friend Suzie to whom he willed 200 shares of his stock. Soon afterward, Smith became ill and no longer could change his will. Just before he died, his stock split three for one.

Suzie claimed that she should get the additional shares of stock as the substance of her shares. The court agreed with Suzie, saying Smith meant to leave her the stock before it split. Since it did split, she should get the additional shares.

* * * *

AS A RULE, no will takes effect until the testator dies. He can change his will any time before he dies. Some terms of a will have no meaning because it has no effect until the person dies.

A person may say in his will that whatever he has in his safe deposit box will go to a nephew. When he signs his will he may have had much in the box. But at death he may have taken most of it out. The nephew would get only what is in the box.

Likewise one could say that he leaves all his real property in the city to his son. When he dies without any, the gift is meaningless.

* * * *

IN ONE CASE, Jones willed the family home on Elm Street to his daughter. But Jones had sold the home and bought another home on Maple Street before he died. The court nevertheless awarded the daughter the Maple Street home since this was what the testator meant to do.

Our courts try to carry out the wishes of the will maker without violating the express written terms.

Now and then someone may make a settlement with his family or his heirs before death to take the place of the will provisions.

* * * *

A WILL expresses the testator's wishes. Things often change after he makes the will.

So review your will from time to time and see if it still expresses your desires for those who live on. And while you're at it, get a lawyer to scan it to see whether any changes in the tax laws may have affected the way you should pass the property on to your heirs.

Dividend Declared

The board of directors of Hoover Ball and Bearing Co., Ann Arbor, Mich., has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 15c per share, an extra cash dividend of 5c per share and a 2% stock dividend all payable July 31, 1962, to stockholders of record July 6, 1962.

MORE LAKEWOOD HOMES

The third unit of homes is under construction at Lakewood Manor, the walled community in the city of Lakewood. The three and four-bedroom homes have two baths and sell from $18,750 to $19,250, according to Ray K. Cherry, president of Hadley-Cherry, Inc., builders.

Astronics Division President Named

Appointment of Andrew F. Haiduck as president of the Santa Monica based Astronics Division of Lear Siegler, Inc., has been announced by John G. Brooks, chairman of the board.

Associated with the aviation industry since 1929, Haiduck joined Lear in 1948 as vice president and general manager of the Lear Romec Division at Elyria, Ohio. Since May 1961, he has been general manager of the Astronics Division.

Upswing Noted in Real Estate Field

Real estate activity both nationally and locally is on the upswing, according to James A. Edmonds Jr., president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors.

He cited membership gains of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the local board during the first five months of the year as one of the factors indicating increased real estate activity.

"Through the end of May," he reported, "NAREB gained 1,352 new members for 1962 and now has a record membership total of 72,042 realtors. During the same period, the association gained 14 boards for another record total of 1,424."

The Long Beach Board of Realtors also is enjoying continuous membership gains, he noted. The board has an increased membership of 226 more than the first of the year.

* * * *

"MEMBERSHIP figures provide a good yardstick for activity in real estate, as well as in other fields," he asserted. "When conditions are good, membership usually rises, and when conditions are not good, membership frequently falls. This is particularly true on the national level."

Edmonds added that a recent survey of the real estate market by NAREB's Department of Research also shows increasing activity with more prospective home buyers looking for existing homes in well - established neighborhoods than was the case a year ago.

This survey found that more families are entering the real estate market with personal income and levels of employment on the rise.

Another factor which should contribute to increasing real estate activity is the ample supply of funds available for residential mortgages, Edmonds pointed out.

Big Orange Valley New Unit Opened

Big Orange Valley Ranch Homes, located in North Orange, are again available with the opening of unit two, Sales Co., Inc., the sales agency announced.

Priced from $24,200, the homes may be purchased on FHA terms for as low as $2,505 down or on VA terms of nothing down.

In three or four-bedroom styling, the homes have great appeal. Included in features are hardwood floors, cedar closets, three large baths, mirror wardrobe doors, shake roofs and formal dining rooms.

* * * *

THE RANCH EXTERIORS have much stone and there are slate entries on the interior. The homes have double fireplaces, service porches, raised-panel cabinets, custom light fixtures, family rooms luminous ceilings and step-down living rooms.

Each home is built on a lot with at least 8,000 square feet. All-electric Medallion kitchen will be found in each with the new deluxe Frigidaire "Flair" range, oven and dishwasher.

To view the homes, from Long Beach drive east on Katella Ave., from Los Alamitos, to Glassell, turn left and continue to the junction with Orange and Olive Road, continuing north on the latter to Shaffer, then turn right on Shaffer to Meats Ave. and the homes.

Named Director and Vice President

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, president of Cosmopolitan Underwriters, Inc., has announced appointment of Marvin D. Uritz as director and vice president of Cosmopolitan Underwriters, Inc.

Uritz continues in his position as general manager and a member of the board of governors of Cosmopolitan Insurance Exchange in Beverly Hills.

Resource Total Tops $4 Billion

For the first time in history, Security First National Bank's total resources at June 30, 1962, topped $4 billion, Lloyd L. Austin, chairman of the board, has disclosed.

Resources totaled $4,088,034,377, compared with $3,699,216,965 for the comparable period a year ago.

Also reaching record highs at the same date were loans and deposits.

Net operating earnings were $12,672,430 for the first six months of 1962, compared with $13,912,850 for the same 1961 period. This amounted to $1.77 per share, compared with $1.94 a year ago. The decline was 8.9%, but the comparable decline in the quarter ended March 31, 1962 was 12.4%.

OTHER FIGURES from the bank's six months report include:

Loans, less reserves, $1,767,879,311 for June 1962, compared with $1,649,322,122 for June 30, 1961.

Time deposits for June 30, 1962 were $1,721,733,364, compared with $1,474,332,352 for June 30, 1961.

Demand deposits were $2,026,095,349, against $1,903,918,516 for June 30, 1961.

Total securities June 30, 1962, were $1,598,762,418, with $1,387,525,603 at the end of the same period a year ago.

Integrated Housing Venture Launched

By JOHN F. McDONOUGH

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI) —A New England supermarket chain and 62 Rhode Island citizens and organizations are betting $7.5 million that integrated housing can be successful.

Even as Negroes shuttle through the city on their "Reverse Freedom Rides" to the north, plans are moving ahead to build an integrated apartment house complex in Providence.

The project will be located in what is known as the Lippitt Hill Redevelopment Area, abutting the fashionable and historic East Side . . . the home of Brown University.

* * * *

AND IT IS NOT too far from the city's Fox Point section where police dogs were used last fall to quell a disturbance in a non-white neighborhood.

The $7.5 million venture is being undertaken by the development firm of University Heights, Inc., which is made up of the chain store and the other parties. The store is a 50 per cent stockholder.

The corporation is affiliated with Modern Community Developers, Inc., of Princeton, N. J., which is guiding it on housing problems. The New Jersey firm was organizd specifically to assist in development of integrated housing throughout the country.

* * * *

IRVING JAY FAIN, a director of Modern Community Developers and head of the Rhode Island corporation, said: "We propose to show that mixed housing is associated with the best of housing, the most imaginative. It is important to raise the public image of what racially integrated housing is."

The quest for an economic cross-section of tenants is obvious. The monthly rents for the garden apartments will run from $60 a month for efficiency units to $175 for three bedrooms.

Included in the project is a shopping center, a neighborhood public park, a school, a playground and about 480 apartments in two- and three-story structures arranged in clusters.

Fenced-in Boat Lot in Bolsa Park Home

Special fenced-in boat lots with a gate at the rear are offered to buyers of Bolsa Park homes in Huntington Beach, said sales director Ernie Merrill. Boats have access to the extra-wide lots by way of the gate and a 20-foot paved alley behind the homes. Besides room for boat storage, the lots include ample space for a swimming pool.

The homes are situated near the new Huntington Harbor facilities for small-boat enthusiasts.

Available is a popular 5-bedroom plan offering direct access from rear yard and pool area to the central shower bath. Designed as a single-story model with no stairs to climb, the plan includes a large living room, separate family room, ample dining room, and built-in efficiency kitchen.

* * * *

Bolsa Park also offers four-bedroom homes priced from $19,800, and three-bedroom models from $19,250.

From Long Beach, the homes may be visited via Seventh St. (which becomes Garden Grove Blvd.) east to Bolsa Chica Road, turning right and continuing south 2 miles to models.

Bolsa Park offers 35-year, 5¼% FHA terms, VA no-down-payment terms, and 6% conventional terms.

'Rank' Deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County auditor's office recorded a land transfer it said wasn't "major." In a "private" transaction, the record shows, one "Admiral Ross" transferred a lot to one "General L. Jones."

D. S. CONNELLY
Named Hunsaker Treasurer

Treasurer of Building Firm

After a recent board of director meeting of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, developers and builders of Sunshine homes, Richard C. Hunsaker, president, announced appointment of Daniel S. Connelly as treasurer.

Connelly is a graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree of Bachelor of Business Administration and is a Certified Public Accountant.

As treasurer he will be responsible for the fiscal operations of the many subdivisions, apartment projects, and industrial developments ranging from Sacramento to and including Orange County.

Connelly resides in Claremont.

Registration Set for Realty Course

Registration for the five-week course will open at 7 p.m. Monday. Classes will be Mondays and Wednesdays, with guest privileges on registration night to hear a talk on "Your Future in Real Estate — Just What Is the License Law."

The California Real Estate Association, of which Miss Moss is a director, has been working toward legislation that would require more preparation toward state exams. She instructs at all classes.

Cheak Gets Bank Post at Torrance

TORRANCE — Alfred J. Cheak has been appointed assistant manager of the United California Bank office here, according to Frank L. King, chairman of the board.

A long time resident of Long Beach, Cheak has been in banking for his entire business career.

Mr. and Mrs. Cheak and their two children live at 4127 Walnut Ave., Long Beach.

All-New Unit Attracts in Garden Park Estates

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE
Garden Park Estates all-new unit, which is the "talk of the town" and the area, presents exciting new one and two-story luxury homes. Handsome living room pictured is in the two-story furnished model.

Quite literally, Garden Park Estates' all-new unit has become the "talk of the town" and the entire area, for with its opening, this walled "city-within a city" at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, presented a most comprehensive selection of floor plans.

Garden Park Estates' architects created a diverse selection of one and two-story contemporary and conventional exteriors, and a range of plans geared to the needs of families both small and large.

Buyers will find two-bath plans with two bedrooms and den (ideal for the family without children or for those whose families are grown), three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining areas and two-story residences with five bedrooms and a family room.

* * * *

THESE TWO-STORY five-bedroom plans are designed for the really large family. Planned for the maximum of privacy and pleasant communal living, there are three bedroms and a bath on the second floor where the master bedroom has its own fireplace.

The first floor entry hall serves to completely separate the other two bedrooms from the zones of noise and activity so that they form a "sleep wing" at one side of the house. At the other side of the entry hall is the appliance equipped kitchen which commands a view of the entry and front walk, and the dining room. Overlooking the rear garden, are the living room and adjoining family room. Both share the pleasure of the living room's fireplace.

* * * *

ALL OF THESE homes have decor-keyed fireplaces, and the two-story dwellings boast two. There are sliding glass doors to the patio area, and the homes have the all-year comfort of forced-air heating with summer cooling switch. Baths are attractively appointed with pullman lavatories, imported Italian tile and colored plumbing fixtures.

Kitchens are equipped with built-in color-matched range and gas wall oven, semi-automatic dishwasher, matching hood with fan and light and superamic tile countertops.

These homes are available on popular "four-way" financing with veterans terms of nothing down, except impounds and closing costs; or Cal-Vet loans; good conventional terms and choice of 30 and 35-year FHA financing. Full prices are from $17,800.

Furnished models are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. to Knott Ave.

Wins Contracts on Hospital Fixtures

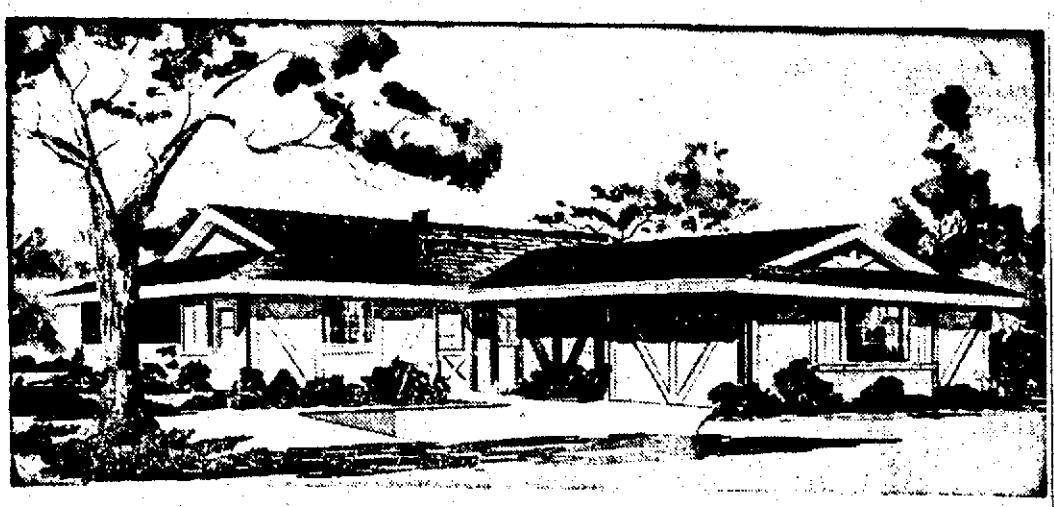

COMPTON — Vendaversal Manufacturing Corp., producer of automatic merchandising equipment, announced that its recently formed Hospital Equipment Division has been awarded $175,000 in new contracts.

With a new line of hospital room furnishings, and several advanced automatic merchandising products, the business outlook for the first half of 1962 is excellent, it was stated by J. T. Willoughby, president. Corporate sales volume in this period is expected to exceed $1,000,000, he indicated, and since much of the product development work has been completed, the earnings picture should be favorable.

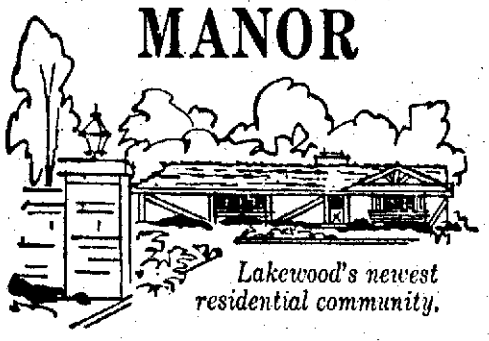

The Hospital Equipment Division's contract awards consisted of an order for 577 motorized hospital beds and 489 overbed tables for County of Los Angeles Hospitals, and an order for 235 overbed tables for Orange County hospitals.

Vendaversal also manufactures canned soft drink vending machines, a hit record vendor, insurance policy vendors, and a machine for rapid chemical cleaning of automobile and aircraft engines. Research, development and manufacturing activities are centered in the firm's modern 74,000-square-foot facility in Compton.

BATTALION HOMES LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Income Survey Puts Orange County at Top

Orange County leads 14 Southern counties in median family income with an average of $7,219, according to the monthly business summary released by the research department of Security First National Bank.

Median income is the level exceeded by exactly one-half of the families.

Orange County also led in percentage improvement during the 10-year period since 1949. Los Angeles County maintained its second place position, with $7,046.

• • • •

HALF OF THE state's nearly four million families reported annual incomes topping $6,700 in 1959, according to information the Bureau of Census obtained in the 1960 census.

Alaska	$7,365
Connecticut	6,887
New Jersey	6,786
Nevada	6,734
California	6,726

Statistics disclosed that counties with large urban areas tend to have higher incomes than the predominantly agricultural counties. The survey theorized that this was caused by two factors: 1. Lower participation in the labor force by women living in rural areas; 2. Farm income generally is lower than income from non-agricultural occupations.

• • • •

STATEWIDE, median income of urban families was $6,880, compared to $5,161 for farm families.

However, it was emphasized that the survey did not take into account the fact many farm families receive an important part of their incomes in the form of free housing and of goods produced and consumed on the farms.

If non-money items were added to the median income figure, California's farm families no doubt would show more comparable incomes, it was noted.

• • • •

California farmers generally are much more prosperous than the typical U.S. farmer.

• • • •

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA had 48,370 families whose 1959 incomes were at least $25,000 a year.

Of these, 35,001 lived in Los Angeles County and 3,085 in Orange County.

The following table of counties shows percentage of distribution of families by size of annual income in 1959:

	$5,000 to $9,999	$10,000 to $14,999	$15,000 & over
Fresno	43%	10%	2%
Imperial	41	10	5
Inyo	33	8	2
Kern	46	13	4
Kings	38	8	4
Los Angeles	38	17	8
Orange	51	17	7
Riverside	43	11	4
San Bernardino	46	12	4
San Diego	47	15	6
San Luis Obispo	44	9	4
Santa Barbara	37	14	7
Tulare	36	8	4
Ventura	49	14	5

Percentages not listed were of families below $5,000 income.

A factor which has played an important role in America's rising middle class is the increase of women (particularly married women) in the labor force.

• • • •

THE CENSUS REPORT revealed that, in 1940, 26 per cent of California's feminine population over 14 years of age was in the labor force. By 1960, this figure had jumped to 36 per cent.

The report credited the Southland area with 733,510 working wives in 1960, meaning that one out of every three wives here contributes to family income. Ten years ago, one out of four made a similar contribution.

By 1970, Security estimated, more than half of the nation's families will depend on at least two paychecks for their standard of living.

Distributor in Expansion

Increased sales volume brought about by Southern California's population growth has led Bohemian Distributing Co. to greatly expand its services to dealers, according to Frank Vitale, president.

Frank Vitale

With a sales goal of 1 million cases of liquor and 2 million cases of wine set for the coming year, a wholly new and independent wine distributing company has been established . . . "United Distributors."

Located at 2140 Davie Ave., City of Commerce, the new $500,000 modern steel and concrete facility has a 60,000 ft. floor area.

New Norwalk Building to Be Ready July 15

The first phase of Norwalk's new ultra modern professional building is nearing completion at 12340 Firestone Blvd.

Jack Gorham, owner, announced that nine air conditioned, sound proofed offices will be ready for occupancy before July 15. The office spaces range in size upwards from 312 square feet.

All offices are on the ground floor and open onto a tropical patio. There is a 10,500 square feet paved, floodlighted and fenced parking area.

Plans call for the construction of another building with nine more offices following occupancy of this present facility.

Two Natural Gas Wells Flowing OK

Santa Fe Drilling Company, as operator, has announced completion of two natural gas wells in the Sutter-Buttes west field, in a joint venture with Buttes Gas & Oil Company and G. Randolph Scott.

Well No. 32, in the western area, flowed at a rate of 1,800,000 cubic feet per day, and well No. 33, on Community No. 1 lease, was flowing at a rate of 9,500,000 cubic feet per day. Well No. 35, drilled to a total depth of 7,261 feet, was plugged and abandoned as a dry hole.

'Displaced' Families Seen as Housing Market Stimulant

Families displaced by urban renewal, highway construction, and a wide range of public works will be a growing force in the housing market over the next decade, predicts James A. Edmonds, Jr., president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors.

"With some 1,000 renewal projects planned or under way in more than 500 cities along with expanding highway and public works programs, there will be a major increase in residential displacement over the next decade," he said. "This presents the real estate industry both a responsibility and an opportunity to improve the housing of an important segment of the population. The largest single source of relocation housing must be the existing inventory of sound residential structures, a large portion of which need modernization to provide desirable living accommodations."

He asserted that the real estate industry can meet this need with improved financing aids now available under the Federal Housing Administration if brokers, builders, modernizers and lending institutions will be alert to the new market and cooperate with renewal agencies in planning private relocation housing.

Trend Mixed in GI Loans

There was mixed GI loan activity during May, Mort Webster, manager of VA's Southern California regional office, has reported.

The May total showed 902 VA starts as compared to 1,075 for April. Applications for home loan guaranty totaled 1,722 while the April figure was 1,442.

Appraisal requests for new units were down with the May total at 1,829. The April total was 2,122. Requests for appraisals of existing units jumped in May to 1,307 as against 1,079 for April. All categories were up sizeably over the May figures one year ago.

Competition Keen, But Fun Parks Still Big Business

As schools shut down for the summer, says Business Week magazine, some 700 permanent amusement parks and kiddielands launch their annual struggle to capture the pennies, nickels and dimes of the nation's small and not-so-small fry.

Though the gross annual income for the amusement park business as a whole has remained fairly constant at about $300 million, intramural competition gets more aggressive every year.

Toughest competition has arisen in the feud between many experts in the trade predicted total eclipse for the new historical "theme" parks," such as Disneyland and Freedomland, the old-style amusement centers such as Palisades Park and Coney Island.

In fact, the battle for customers became so hot that many of the longer established amusement parks, such as Coney Island's Steeplechase Park, are successfully weathering the storm.

Despite these predictions, observes Business Week, many of the longer established amusement parks, such as Coney Island's Steeplechase Park, are successfully weathering the storm.

A New Boom Seen in Housing Restoration

ANAHEIM—The new FHA home improvement loans will increase the nation's construction business by four or five billion dollars within the next five years, according to Dr. Robert C. Weaver, housing administrator.

"But more important," said Guy Boschke, administrator of the American Home Modernizing Institute, "the money spent for rehabilitation and conservation will restore $20 billion of blighted dwellings to livability."

Boschke said 30 per cent of the dwellings in California —despite the rapid suburban growth — are more than 30 years old.

* * * *

"THERE ARE ONLY two choices," Boschke said: "Restore them through pride and private enterprise or hand them over to the local government through urban renewal."

"An investment of pride and private enterprise can restore most of these blighted areas at a fraction of urban renewal cost," he said.

The American Home Modernizing Institute, located at 300 E. Kateila Ave., Anaheim, is a research center and training school for remodeling and modernizing contractors.

Buy-Lines from New York Skylines

What's Out-- and IN for Fall

. . . I, P-T to Cover Fashion Showings

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Fashion designers are throwing a few curves for fall.

QUITE a few, in fact. After tossing a number of fouls (i.e. chemises, cocoons, trapezes), they're back on good fashion basis with lines and curves that promise to make a hit.

The anatomy of the woman, it seems, rules the fashion designers' thinking for fall.

At least, that's the prediction here in the hustle and bustle of New York's Seventh Avenue as 250 fashion editors from hither and yonsville get set for a busy week of notetaking.

It's the 39th semi-annual fashion Press Week sponsored by the New York Group. Illustrated stories will appear in the I, P-T daily, beginning Tuesday, as the week-long fashion extravaganza unfolds.

* * * *

A BIT of pre-show snooping indicates that almost any fashion "mood" will fit the new season. Three seem apparent:

One, a precisely skinned-down mood with every hair in place;

Another, muffled, bloused, wrapped and dashing;

And the third, a natural outline with bias cut, wide sleeves and full skirt as soft and ample as a classic Greek costume or a friar's habit.

Most important, whatever the mood: the natural lines and curves of the body have become the focus.

"The figure is no longer encased in a cocoon, a capsule or a free form shape," say members of the New York Couture Group.

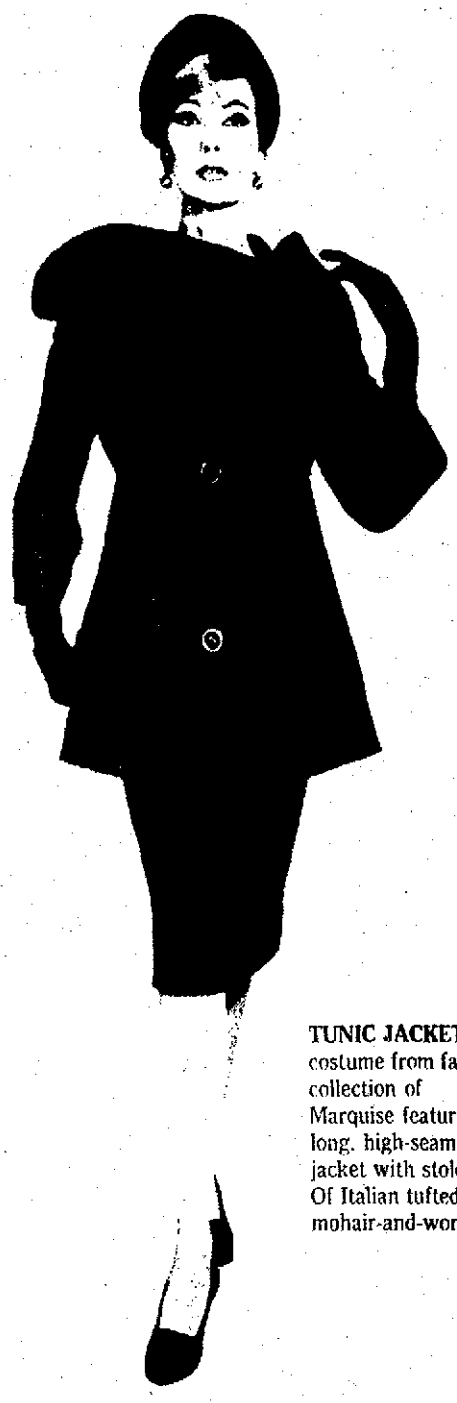

All of which should bring hoorays and hooplas from the female cheering section.

Male, too!

A Romance Bloomed in Monsoon Climate

By MARY NETH

It's easy to snag a tall, dark, handsome husband.

Just take up quarters in a quonset hut on a humid tropic isle, live through a couple years of typhoons and monsoons plus water shortages, electrical blackouts and work, Work, WORK.

That's the sure-fire formula.

At least, it was for Mrs. Leo Goodman-Malamuth, assistant to the dean at Long Beach City College.

She met her husband (now chairman of the Speech Department, Long Beach State College) eight years ago on Okinawa.

Come September both will take a second look at that then-bleak island. The occassion? First stop on a long yearned-for, year-long globe circling Sabbatical.

* * * *

THE TEACHER twosome will spend the fall in the Orient, visiting — besides Okinawa — India, Hong Kong, Japan and Thailand. Then, they'll head for Europe where they'll holiday with his son.

With the 12-year-old offspring back in Swiss school, they'll be off again, this time for by-auto look at the Occident.

"It'll be a marvelous trip," says Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth. "Most of all, I'm eager to see Okinawa. I've heard it has gone modern—new buildings, new business."

That wasn't the case in 1954 when the Goodman-Malamuths met. At that time the war-torn island still was limping along on a broken economy.

Then, Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth was Miss Margaret Pagelow, one of 390 civilian women stationed at the U.S. Air Base at Naha, Okinawa's capital.

Her job: education director. Her pupils: high-flying airmen taking down-to-earth courses (USC extension classes, USAFI correspondent work, etc.).

* * * *

GOODMAN - Malamuth, also a government teacher, had been stationed in Japan and Korea for three years before being assigned to Okinawa.

He didn't stay long—just long enough to set the wedding date. And, it was his slim, brunette bride-to-be who took care of publicity announcing his arrival.

"When I pinned up those "Meet the Prof" posters, I had no idea they were pictures of the man I was to marry," she says.

The courtship went in a typical island typhoon fashion. The couple went together for eight weeks, then following his reassignment to Korea, continued by ham radio until their marriage four months later in Tokyo.

A separation of six months followed while both completed teaching assignments, he in Korea, she on Okinawa.

* * * *

HER ISLAND life? "Living conditions were primitive," she says.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Goodman-Malamuth

There was a housing shortage (home was a quonset hut), a shortage of off-duty recreation (golf was about the only thing offered) and a shortage of water (great after a day on the links).

The climate? Highly humid. Result: one stayed uncomfortably warm and sticky around the clock.

And typhoon mess kits were a must. When those tropical cyclones hit (winds up to 150 miles an hour), it paid to be prepared.

"Sometimes, there was no elecrticity for two or three days and telephones for two or three months afterwards."

But, all wasn't bad on Okinawa. There were some nice things, too.

"The sunsets were the most beautiful in the world, the natives were friendly and I had a full-time personal maid for only $12.50 a month," she says.

And, of course, had Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth not been, for a time, a non-native Okinawan, she might never have been island wooed and wed by husband Leo.

Dildays Are on Seattle Trip

A friendship which began in second grade and flowered into romance during Poly High School days culminated in the marriage July 1 of Lenell Marie Bainum and Robert Burr Dilday.

First Baptist Church was setting for the afternoon marriage ceremony witnessed by 500 guests. A reception followed at Long Beach Yacht Club.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bainum, 3645 Weston Place, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with sculptured neckline of Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls and sequins. The empire waistline was accented by a single satin rose defining a bouffant skirt.

Adding contrast to the bride's white attire were the lavender gowns with purple accents worn by her attendants: Terry Bell, maid of honor; Joyce Airth, Pam Dilday, Velma Bainum and Francine Caldwell, bridesmaids; Cindy Dilday, junior bridesmaid. Lori Doyle was flower girl and candles were lighted by Dan and Jimmy Dilday.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dilday, 3845 Pacific Ave., asked Joe Calwell to attend as best man. Guests were shown to their places by Jim Decker, Jack Dilday Jr., Toby Jarvis, and the bridegroom's brother, Decatur Dilday. Randy Dilday was junior usher.

The newlyweds will be at home in Long Beach after a honeymoon visit to the Seattle Worlds Fair.

Mrs. Dilday is a student at Long Beach State College where her sorority affiliation is Alpha Phi. She was recipient of the Gold L while a student at Poly.

Mrs. Robert Burr Dilday

The bridegroom is an alumnus of California College of Mortuary Science. He now is studying at LBSC where he is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledge. He is a member of Queen Beach Lodge, Masons.

Pair Sets September Nuptials

Sept. 3 has been chosen for the wedding of Charlotte G. Sanger to Bernard G. Bryson, son of William H. Bryson, 917 Bennett Ave. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanger of Frazier Park.

The couple's bethrothal was revealed with the traditional offering of chocolates at Chilcott Hall, Miss Sanger's dormitory at Occidental College. The bride-elect has attended Oxy for two years

Bryson, an alumnus of Wilson High, was graduated last month from Long Beach State College, receiving his bachelor of science degree in engineering. While at LBSC, he received the Outstanding Engineer Service Award, was president of the California Society of Professional Engineers, and member of the Engineering Student Body Council and Civil Engineering Club.

Establish a Curfew and Make It Stick

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm the poor mother in a dilemma with a daughter. It's that usual quandary: When should a date terminate?

When my daughter says "everybody does," I don't want to be the stick-in-the-mud, but do you actually think coming home at midnight and then into the house to chat is proper?

My husband and I have to get our sleep, but that's a mere matter in comparison to her getting her sleep.

We feel that midnight is plenty late for a girl of 15 to date. We set the curfew definitely but a word from you would help tremendously.—SLEEPY MOM

DEAR SLEEPY MOM:

I have talked with parents of 15-year-olds and they think midnight is a generous hour. In fact, some think 11 p.m. is late enough for a girl her age to date. Later you can lengthen the time, but for now stick with your curfew. So few have the sense to.—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Our baby-sitter steals. We've had her as a regular sitter for almost a year. She seems especially reliable and careful with her young charges. But it looks like she's a petty thief.

During the summer she has been working in a discount house and so one day out shopping I decided to give her some business. She gave me the business!

For there on her arm was a bracelet just like mine. I would have thought nothing of it except that she seemed so flushed, so embarrassed and fussed.

When I returned home I looked in my jewelry box and, sure enough, no bracelet. I decided not to ask her about it but give her time to return it. It has not returned.

Now, suspicious like, I have been watching her carefully and found last time she was here that money was missing from a coin purse I left purposefully. Perhaps I really should speak to her.—DISTRESSED

DEAR DISTRESSED:

By all means, speak to her. Unless she is discouraged now with her stealing she may go on to higher brackets than bracelets and small change. And you're the one to make the change in her.

Check her now or you'll be party to short-changing her life.—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Parents are the biggest problems we juveniles have. I don't approve of them—any of them.

I'm 15 and I know the difference between good parents and bad parents and I don't know any good parents.

Mine play cards for a front, but when I peeked in at them there was Mother sitting with another woman's husband. They weren't just talking. They were petting and drinking.

Parents like mine make me sick. Do you suppose it would help if I discussed this with their parents?—JULIE

DEAR JULIE:

Parents can be difficult. If the picture you paint is true, go to your grandparents. They may have the influence that is desperately needed now. If you ever run into a social worker, tell him. There are laws for unfit parents.—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Once and for all, is it proper in this day for a young man to sit outside his girl's home and HONK? Oh, I know he's fond of that horn. But I'm not. In fact, I shall refuse to allow my daughter out until he comes to the door if you say so. —MRS. B.H.

DEAR MRS. B.H.:

I say so. As loud as I can. And I'd tell the boy how rude he is.—M.M.

Judith Kathleen Flynn

Sue Ellen Dikeman

Sue Ann Hidlebaugh

Wedding Plans Are Revealed by Misses Flynn, Dikeman, Hidlebaugh

Dr. and Mrs. George T. Flynn, Santa Barbara, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Kathleen, to James Roger Senske, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Senske, Long Beach.

The bride is working toward her B.S. degree in bacteriology at Mount St. Mary's College in Los Angeles. Her fiance, a graduate of St. Anthony's High School, received his B.A. in history at Loyola University, Los Angeles, and currently is stationed with the National Guard at Fort Ord. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epilon.

The wedding will take place in June, 1963.

Dikeman-Nolleman

At a luncheon for the faculty of Hilltop High School, Chula Vista, Sue Ellen Dikeman revealed her forthcoming marriage to Lt. (j.g.) Jerald Avery Holleman.

Miss Dikeman is the daughter of Mrs. Geneva Safford Dikeman, Long Beach, and the late Mr. Clifford Stephen Dikeman. She is a graduate of Wilson High School and Long Beach State College and qualified for her secondary teaching credential at UCLA. She is now a teacher at Hilltop High School.

Her fiance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Avery Bryant Holleman of Raleigh, N. C. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem, N. C. and now is stationed with the Air Force at North Island Naval Air Station, Coronado. His affiliations include Pi Kappa Alpha.

After their marriage on Aug. 25 the couple will reside on Coronado Island.

Hidlebaugh-Perry

Aug. 4 has been chosen as their wedding date by William Oliver Perry, both of Long Beach.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Hidlebaugh, Cucamonga. She was graduated from Woodbury College, Los Angeles, where she majored in interior decorating.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. William Albert Perry of Miami, Fla., and the late Mrs. Dorothea Perry, is a graduate of Columbia Military Academy in Columbia, Tenn., and of Long Beach City College. He received his B. A. in psychology at UCLA and served four years in the U.S. Navy. He now is a member of the Long Beach Police Department, assigned to the Juvenile Division.

Mrs. Jack E. Hall

Mrs. William C. Jaques

Names Linked in Nuptial Services

Janice Marie Choura and Jack E. Hall exchanged wedding vows in Lakewood Village Community Church before the Rev. Walter Benson. The couple is at home in Long Beach after honeymooning in Carmel and San Francisco.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. John Choura Jr. and the Clifford Halls, all of this city.

The new Mrs. Hall was graduated from Lakewood High School. She attended UC, Berkeley, and LBCC and plans to continue her studies at Long Beach State College.

Her bridegroom is an alumnus of Millikan and LBCC. He will attend USC in the fall.

The bridal entourage included Susan Choura, maid of honor for her sister; Sharrie Sanden of Santa Ana, Ginger McCauly of Fullerton, Penny Poulton of Salinas, Carol Russell of Berkeley, and Debbi Choura sister of the bride, who was flower girl.

The bridegroom chose Roger Erickson as his best man. Ushers were Keith Wandrey, Erle Kelly, Larry Kline, and Glenn Lowes, all of this city.

Jaques-Eagle

Monterey and Carmel were honeymoon destinations of newly married Mr. and Mrs. William C. Jaques (Janice E. Eagle). The couple was wed in evening services in St. Luke Lutheran Church before 270 guests.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Eagle, 6040 California Ave., wore a formal sheath of silk peau de sole and lace. She was attended by Chery Eagle, maid of honor; Ann Miller and Mmes. Ronald Yanover, Michael Murphy, and William Omo. Flower girls were Diane Eagle and Margie Nickerson.

Richard Wurth stood as best man, while guests were seated by Gordon Pearson, Ronald Yanover, Bill Blakely, and Jerry Thompson.

Both newlyweds are graduates of Jordan High School. The bridegroom, who attended both LBCC and LBSC, will enter the USC School of Dentistry in September. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jaques, 470 E. Louise St.

Hallinan-Baker Say Vows

In late afternoon ceremony at Atlantic Avenue Methodist Church the marriage of Lois Helen Baker and Robert Neville Hallinan was solemnized recently before 275 guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Baker, 3900 Lemon Ave.

She chose a gown of organza with Chantilly lace panels, its neckline embroidered with pearls, and its bouffant skirt falling into a chapel train. Her illusion veil was held with a crown of lace and pearls, and the cascade bouquet was of orchids.

Gold hued chiffon was worn by Carolyn McCulloch, maid of honor, and Mmes. Ralph Irwin, Phil Clock and Melvin Rowan, attendants. Miss McCulloch was the bride's Stanford roommate and they toured Europe together.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Thomas Hallinan of Long Beach and the late Mr. Hallinan, had David Keen as best man. Ushering guests were Robert E. Baker, brother of the bride, Don K. Wells, Charles Sherman III and Robert Swenson.

A GARDEN reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Following a honeymoon in San Diego and Las Vegas the newlyweds will be at home July 14 at 3642 Weston Place.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hallinan were graduated from Polytechnic High School. He attended Long Beach City College and U of Arizona, and served three years in the U. S. Air Force. The bride attended Stanford University where she was chosen the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, and is an alumna of Long Beach State College. She teaches at Bret Harte Elementary School.

Mrs. Robert Neville Hallinan

Karen Kagy Joins Brides

Mrs. John Barbe

Karen Marie Kagy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Kagy, 5541 La Pasada St., became the bride of Lt. (j.g.) John Alfred Barbe, USN, in an afternoon ceremony at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with short sleeves and rounded neckline appliqued with sequins and pearls. A crown of crystals held her fingertip length veil and she completed her costume with a single strand of pears, gift of the bridegroom.

Linda C. Kagy was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Ann Roberson, Diana Miller and the bridegroom's sister, Kathleen Barbe.

A RECEPTION followed at the home of the bride's parents from which the newlyweds departed on a Las Vegas honeymoon. They will reside in San Diego where the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Barbe, Wellington, Ohio, is stationed aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard. He is a graduate of Purdue University where he affiliated with Triangle.

Mrs. Barbe was graduated from Polytechnic High School and Long Beach State College as a home economics major. She relinquishes membership in Bachelorettes with her marraige.

July Date for Wedding

July 21 wedding plans shared by their daughter, Jeanice Ellen, and Gary Dwayne Davis were revealed by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Elbert Clinton at a recent gathering in their Seal Beach home.

The wedding will take place in St. Ann's Church, Seal Beach.

The betrothed pair met while both were students at Orange Coast College, Costa Mesa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd L. Davis, Huntington Beach.

Play, Hope for the Best

It is not easy to decide when to violate the second hand low rule and play a high card from dummy, but you should consider doing this any time dummy holds a doubleton or tripleton honor will be of no value if honor will be or no value if you don't play it right away, you should play it and hope for the best.

Usually that honor will be the king, queen or jack, but on occasion you should rise with a ten spot.

With 13 high card points and two apparent stoppers in the unbid suit, South had a sound jump to two no-trump and, needless to say, North's raise to game was correct.

* * * *

WEST opened the seven of spades and South noted that if West had led from the ace his two spade stoppers might be reduced to one stopper only.

He also noted that dummy's ten spot might prove of great value to him if used right away and he played second hand high.

When the ten spot held the trick, South was back to two stoppers. He came to his hand with a diamond and tried the club finesse. It lost but the loss did not hurt South. He was sure of 10 tricks.

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I. P-T Women's Editor

They are "visiting" us on the world trip which will exentually return them to their current home in Manila, P.I. Before arrival here they visited Hong Kong, Tokyo, Alaska, stopped off at the fair in Seattle, took a swing through Denver to visit daughter and son-in-law, Charmaine and Tom Trimble, and grandson Allan.

Al, widely known in the oil business here, has been in Manila for over three years serving as a geologist. He was severely injured in an automobile accident a while back but he's well recovered now, looks great. So does Jimmie. One reason may be that at home in Manila she has a girl to do the washing and ironing; a girl to do the cleaning; a girl to do the shopping and cooking; AND a houseboy who also serves as chauffeur.

Greatest opportunity for the visitors to meet the whole old gang was when Auxiliary to Children's Memorial Hospital had a just-for-fun party cruise aboard the Princess. Jimmie was one of the co-founders of the auxiliary so this occasion truly was a memorable for her.

* * * *

A NUMBER of fortunate witnesses have mentioned that Norma and John Craig's summer cocktail and buffet party was basis for a big, grand and beautiful evening.

* * * *

UP THERE where the sun and the horizon have a cozy thing going for each other each midnight . . . Alaska, by name . . . are Marilyn and Doug Graham. This snowfari is strictly a pleasure trip with part of the time to be spent taking the inland cruise up the coast from Seattle.

* * * *

ALL WORK and no play, y'know . . . so they played, those diligent provisionals of Junior League, at a cocktail buffet dinner at Betty and Dr. Bob Buffum's ocean-front home. A couples party, it gave husbands of the new "pledge class" an opportunity to become better acquainted, too. Martha and John Tylicki planned the affair, were given aid and committee type comfort by Dorothy and Paul Wheeler and Patti and Walt Landis.

* * * *

A PLEASE-join-us date for cocktails and dinner has been set by Ellen and Ted Krec for next Saturday night. A few of those who said we'd love to are Ruth and Don Driscoll, Joy and Dr. John Cantelon, Betty and Carrol Gewin, Wilma Hastings, Elaine and Jack Kirschke, Pat and Jimmy Allen and Ardyce and Hansel Nowling. Ah, yes . . . a good group.

* * * *

HAWAII IS practically a commuting run anymore for Loyse and Bob White. He jetted over last Sunday as major domo in charge of the first surfing safari originating here. He'll return today to get everything set for another such jaunt in August.

Loyse and the boys were to meet him at their home on Kauai. Last month when they were over Bob was telling me that they found a wallet packed with green stuff one night at the Hawaiian Village, which they turned over, true Boy Scout style, to the desk and which was claimed minutes later by grateful tourists from Ohio. That same night they went to visit friends at the Royal Hawaiian and, as if touched by some kind of Fort Knox magic, darned if they didn't find another chunk of money, this time just seven dollars, in bills in the middle of the street. True blue again. This time they turned the loot over to a newspaper reporting type friend. Heavens only knows what happened to it after that!

* * * *

THE HOST AND hostess have their work cut out for them, believe me they do, when they entertain members of Passe Partout, a gourmet eating, wine tasting bunch. Last week it was Liz and Sandy Lucas' turn to be working hosts.

Now, this crowd doesn't just come for dinner. It's an all day affair beginning before lunch and going on through the evening, with carefully prepared food and snacks the order of the hour, on the hour almost.

Among those who sipped and tasted, rolled their eyes heavenward and pronounced it excellent, were Reba and Walt Masters, Marie and Fred Sander, Murial and Max Briney, John Celano and Lois Roher.

* * * *

BOBBING around on their boats at Catalina last weekend was the only way to go for a sizable number of our town's mariners. Taking the sun at Avalon were Mary Jane and Bob Parke, Betty Lou and "Dutch" Krutzfeldt, Earl Sullivan and Ed Abercrombie aboard Sully's boat, Marion and Don Locke, Frances and Henry Clock, Dr. Julian Knutson and Mel Marsh on Mel's boat and Ruth and Dr. Fred Jensen.

Meanwhile, down at the Isthmus a few of those floating peacefully were Eleanor and Jim Foasberg, Dolly and Luke Corzine, Peg and Steve Martin and Mary Alice and Les Dahl.

* * * *

HOUSEGUESTING with Marilyn and Jim Crooker have been vacation-bound Vi and Wayne Compton, who arrived Tuesday from Phoenix. They're now continuing their travels up the coast with stopovers in Carmel, San Francisco, Seattle and then on into Canada, on the agenda.

The hosts haven't exactly been staying put so far this summer, either. They flew over to Las Vegas, before that Carmel, with all manner of prior and between little sidetrips. One good thing about their Las Vegas trip: on their return it gave them a ready made tip on a horse to put their money on at Hollywood Park. It just came naturally to bet on "Bandit" and this time they won!

'WHO'S IS THIS?'

Delectable duty of sampling homemade gourmet desserts to be served at Gamma Phi Beta bridge benefit on Wednesday is pleasant lot of Mrs. Walter Drew (right), alumnae adviser to Gamma Eta Chapter, and to members (from left) Mmes. Lewis N. Hindley Jr., Richard M. Schag and F. Grady Barnett. Proceeds will go toward a Long Beach State College scholarship.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hoppe

Golden Year Party Fetes Hoppes Today

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hoppe, 1707 Pacific Ave., will observe their 50th wedding anniversary today at a reception and buffet dinner to take place at the home of their son, William C. Hoppe, 6520 Driscoll St., from 4 to 7 p.m.

The Hoppes were married in San Francisco on July 10, 1912. Mr. Hoppe was a locomotive engineer for the Southern Pacific for 44 years. They came to Long Beach in 1956, and he has been chief engineer at Long Beach Hospital, 1725 Pacific Ave., since then.

Mr. Hoppe is a 32nd degree Mason and Mrs. Hoppe is a Rebekah. They have six grandchildren.

U of Oregon Pair to Wed

Oregon State University education majors Judith Swenson and Robert E. Bill have announced plans to marry this August.

Announcement was made by her parents, Clarence G. Swenson and Ruth A. Swenson of Salem, Ore. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Elsie Bill, 2124 Fidler Ave. He was graduated from Millikan High School.

September Plans Set

September wedding plans are being made by Dorothy Anna Schmidt and Ramon Boesch, both of this city.

The bride-elect, a former president of Spinsters, is the daughter of Mrs. Charles G. Schmidt of New York City and the late Mr. Schmidt. A graduate of Wagner College in New York, she now resides at 21 59th Place.

Boesch, who lives at 6200 E. Ocean Blvd., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thilo Boesch of Valparaiso, Ind. He was graduated from Purdue University in West Lafayette, Ind.

DEAR ABBY

Feels Need for Confession

DEAR ABBY: If a husband and wife tried for years to have a child and they failed, and they went to several doctors who all agreed there was nothing wrong with either of them, and if the wife stepped out and got in a family way and had a strong, healthy boy who the husband thought was his, should the husband and son be told? The boy is now a senior in high school and we love him more than anything on this earth. This has been on my conscience for 17 years. They say that confession is good for the soul.—MOTHER

ABBY

DEAR MOTHER: If you feel the need to confess, confess to your clergyman. Telling your husband and son would serve no purpose.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother-in-law. She refuses to be called "Grandma." She wants to be called "Mamma"—which is what my children call ME!

My own mother doesn't mind being called "Grandma." How can you explain this to small children that they are both grandmothers, but one should be called "Mamma"? I don't want to stir up trouble but don't know how to avoid it. The grandmother who thinks she is too young to be called "Grandma" is in her fifties. My own mother is in her late forties.—IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: No grandmother should insist on being called "Mamma" Tell your children to call her "Grandma Mary" (or whatever her name is) if she feels that being called "Grandma" ages her.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have an extremely sensitive 12-year-old daughter. She is very big for her age, and from the number of times she has heard it from adults who should know better, she certainly knows it by now. Her father is big (6 ft. 4) and I am big (5 ft. 11), so where would we get a small child? This child has been hurt badly when grown-ups see her for the first time and say, "My, she's big for her age!" Please print this for people who need to be told. There are so many of them.—JUST A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for calling this to my attention. I probably have been an offender without realizing it. And while we're on the subject—the same goes for thoughtless adults who say, "My isn't he SMALL for his age?"

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO RUBE: You are certainly "broad-minded." (No pun intended). Settle out of court, if possible.

Reps at Mexico City Meet

Six local members of the American Association of University Women are in Mexico City for the 14th conference of International Federation of University Women. Thirty-nine countries will be represented by the 750 delegates expected at the conference Monday through July 20.

Mmes. Holmes and Barr will represent the South Pacific Region as public relations assistants at the IFUW caucus.

"Tradition and Modern Life: Latin America's Contribution" is the theme of the 12-day session and special interest groups. The formal opening reception will be given by the Mexican Assn.

• • • •

ONE OF the convention highlights for local representatives will be a reception-meeting with the U. S. ambassador to Mexico, Thomas C. Mann. Speakers will include Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, secretary for public education in Mexico; Senora Amelia de Castello Ledon, under-secretary for education and cultural affairs, and Dr. Ignacio Chavez, rector of the University of Mexico.

Special interest sessions will deal with arts, social work, philosophy, education, medicine, industry, and government as related to the conference theme.

Mrs. Ronald Snelgrove

Couples Exchange Vows in Mid-Summer Ceremonies

Formal military services in Long Beach Naval Station chapel united in marriage Nancy Ellen Hetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hetts of 3845 Studebaker Road, and Lt. (j.g.) Wayne N. Rauch.

The bride is an alumna of Polytechnic High School and Long Beach State College. A member of Delta Zeta at LBSC, she has been a kindergarten teacher at Patrick Henry School for several years.

Gowned in silk organza and lace, she was preceded to the altar by Mrs. Robert Vasey and flower girl, Sally Ann Howard.

• • • •

LT. RAUCH is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norbert Rauch of Dubuque, Iowa. A graduate of Loras College in Dubuque, he was attended by Lts. (j.g.) James R. Darwin, best man; Kelvin M. Mulkern, and Robert F. Cairo; and Ensigns Robert I. Vickers, Robert J. Wilson, and Stewart S. Dye.

The newlyweds will live in San Diego, where the bridegroom is stationed aboard the USS Wedderburn.

Botzbach-McFarlin

The bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace and white satin with bouffant tiered skirt of lace and tulle.

• • • •

ATTENDING her were her matron of honor, Mrs. Lona Mahan; her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. E. McFarlin, Jr. and Mrs. Ronie Mabery. Sherry and Jennifer Botzbach, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

The new Mrs. Botzbach is an alumna of Polytechnic and Long Beach City College, where she was active in Entre Nous.

Her bridegroom, son of Mrs. H. A. Botzbach of Pittsburgh, Calif., was graduated from the University of California College of Pharmacy, San Francisco, and is a member of Phi Delta Chi.

Snelgrove-Clark

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Snelgrove (Patricia Clark) are at home at 4732 Lakewood Blvd. following their marriage in Los Altos Congregational Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Clark, 1911 Senasac Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Snelgrove of Downey.

• • • •

Ernest Kartinen Jr. was the best man. Ushers were Floyd Sanderson, Randall Hill, and Clarence Dickey.

An alumna of Millikan, the bride was graduated from LBCC. Her bridegroom was graduated from Mt. San Antonio Junior College, where he was a member of Alpha Eta Rho.

Dessert, Cards

Ways and means committee of Ladies Oriental Shrine will entertain with a dessert card party, 7:30 p.m. Monday, in Palos Verdes Masonic Temple, 5155 E. Pacific Coast Highway. Reservations may be made with Evelyn Hinkley.

David Rose to Play in Irvine Bowl

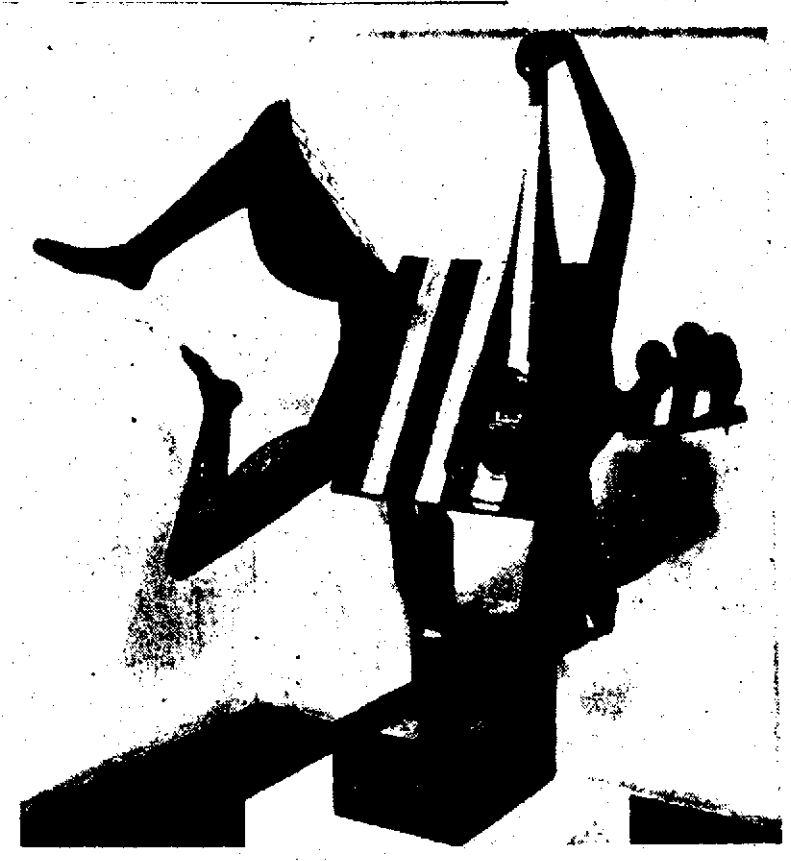

Mrs. Robert J. Marshall of Lido Isle has been named patroness chairman for Orange Coast YMCA's "Building Year" benefit concerts by David Rose and his orchestra in Irvine Bowl on Aug. 17 and 18.

A Newport Beach City councilwoman and prominent clubwoman, Mrs. Marshall will have as aides Mmes. Donald Anderson, John Broughton, Oletta Schleiter, Don Wells, Elizabeth Swan and Miss Betsy Beman. Mrs. Susan Martin is coordinating women's activities for the event.

Patronesses will be introduced at a tea July 20. Mrs. Rose and Miss Lucille Norman, who will be soloist with the orchestra, will be guests of honor.

* * * *

PLANS include out-of-doors dinners in the Irvine Bowl gardens preceding the performances with patrons occupying special boxes. These will be the only performances of the orchestra during the summer. A program of popular and light classical music will be presented.

MNEMOSYNE

Mnemosyne, goddess of memory in Greek mythology, is interpreted as figure of bold contrasts in wood mortise by Robert Cremean. The work is in show at Esther Robles Gallery, Los Angeles.

Neutra Designs at LBMA

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Many structures in the Los Angeles area are depicted in the photographic review of architecture by Richard Neutra now on view at Long Beach Museum of Art.

The 96 photographic panels illustrate Neutra's residences, schools, universities, medical buildings, auditoriums and a planetarium.

The traveling exhibit, which also shows structures built in foreign countries, was organized by the University of California at Los Angeles. It ends its tour at LBMA, offering viewers a final chance to see high lights of a career that commands international attention.

A limited supply of illustrated catalogues is available for the exhibit which will be at the museum through July 29. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays; 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

FIVE LEADING museums have contributed to the exhibition of works by Jean Dubuffet which opens Wednesday in Los Angeles County Museum. The museums: Baltimore Museum of Art, Art Institute of Chicago, Guggenheim Museum in New York, Museum of Modern Art in New York and Kunstmuseum in Silkeborg, Denmark. Nine other galleries and 55 collectors have loaned examples for the display which is made up of more than 200 works. It is the first retrospective of paintings, assemblages, drawings and sculpture by the widely-discussed French artist.

Edmondson, now teaching at Pasadena City College, has a national reputation as one of the most original non-objective artists in this country.

Serisawa, born in Yokohama, is a naturalized citizen of the United States. He formerly taught at Scripps College and at the Institute of Art in West Los Angeles and now teaches privately at his West Los Angeles studio. He was educated at Otis Art Institute.

New Records in Library Collection

Recordings of important speeches, writings, poems and stories have been added to the phonograph record collection at the Main Library.

"Sounds of the Third Reich" is a narrated history with a background of parades, meetings and music from this frantic period in Germany.

"Speeches and Letters of Abraham Lincoln" are read by Roy Basler and Carl Sandburg. "The Great Debates of the 1960 Presidential Campaign" has the main candidates in the leading roles. "America the Beautiful" is an anthology of verse and prose read by Vincent Price.

"Running Errands for Ideas" is a speech given by Charles F. Kettering to the Edison Foundation. Frank Lloyd Wright discusses architecture, life and its many facets on the recording "Frank Lloyd Wright on Record."

A new disc of Will Rogers' humor brings the homespun philosopher back. "The Fanciful World of Ogden Nash" has the author reading some of his clever poems.

Phonograph records may be borrowed for a two week period from the Main Library. A rental fee is charged.

New Cremean Bronzes Dynamic, Individual

By VIRGINIA H. LADDEY

Recent sculpture, mostly bronze, by Robert Cremean will be shown at the Esther Robles Gallery, 665 N. La Cienega, Los Angeles, until July 28. The opening Monday was jammed, for this young sculptor is widely known, and is already represented in many public and private collections.

Cremean worked in Florence, Italy, from last November until April, and it was there that the bronzes were cast. Until now, he has been known for his unique development of wood mortise and laminated wood combined with fiberglass and fabrics. The same qualities of dynamic and astonishing tension and suspension continue in the bronze works.

* * * *

CREMEAN'S work recaptures the flavor of great historical periods of sculpture: he is master of classic proportion; the sculptures have the brooding, spiritual quality of the Middle Ages; the movements of his volumes, planes, and draperies and the color contrasts have the richness of baroque; surprising abstraction comes from the contemporary period. Cremean uses all these factors at will, and rather than eclectic, the style which emerges is excitingly his own.

THE FIGURE, "Portrait of Christopher Whitbey," is of laminted wood, doweled, fitted, and polished. One leg is of turned wood, the other leg and the arms below the shoulders are steel rod. The figure appears to turn back while running; the head is an elliptical egg shape.

There are seven bronze low reliefs from which the human figure emerges in vivid contour. Bronzes in the round include five studies for a self portrait, nine small sketches of figures in movement, five disrobing figures, and seven reclining ones. Of the latter, "Figure in Hammock" lies in its full weight; the viewer feels the pull of the suspended sling.

* * * *

AMONG the wood mortises "The Seasons" is the most enthralling. "Mnemosyne" is more shocking with an active figure resting on one pivot at the waist and too much emphasis on color contrasts and Cremean's other personal conventions.

It is a fascinating show. There is no doubt that Cremean is a giant and may take his place among the great sculptors of all times.

Steinberg to Conduct Bowl Bills

William Steinberg will conduct and pianist Guiomar Novaes will be guest artist for Tuesday night's "Symphony Under the Stars" in Hollywood Bowl. The program will include overture to "Beatrice and Benedict" by Berlioz; "Piano Concerto No. 2 in F Minor" by Chopin; "Six Pieces for Orchestra" by Webern; and "Symphony No. 7" by Beethoven.

Steinberg will conduct again Thursday with violinist Sidney Harth as soloist. On the bill will be "Eagles" by Rorem; "Symphony No. 3" by Brahms; Violin Concerto No. 2 in D Minor" by Wieniawski; and "Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2" by Ravel.

Featured on a Rodgers and Hammerstein program Saturday night will be Marilyn Horne, soprano; Peggy Coburn, contralto; Carl Olsen, tenor; and James Hurst, baritone. Roger Wagner will conduct.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK BECKONS VACATIONERS

By RACHEL MORTON
L.P.T. Music Critic

There is, in northwestern Montana, a wonderland of nature's masterpieces, comparable to the European Alps. It is called Glacier National Park and comprises over a million acres of glacier and snow-spotted mountains, sparkling lakes, milky-green with glacial water, and vast expanses of coniferous forests.

In this park there are actually 60 live glaciers which move at approximately 36 feet a year. The wild flowers are abundant and many hued. Spectacularly attractive is the creamy-lacy blossom of the plant called bear grass. Fish abound—black spotted cutthroat, silver salmon, grayling and rainbow trout, and no license is required for fishing. The 1,100 miles of trails afford glimpses of the wild animal life which includes big horn sheep, mountain goat, grizzly and black bear, western white tail, mule deer, moose and elk.

* * * *

THIS FABULOUS playground for vacationists was established in 1910 by Congress and is the fourth largest national park in the United States. It is bounded on the north by Canada, and in 1932 Waterton Glacier International Peace Park was dedicated, a permanent commemoration of "the relationship of peace and good will, long existing between the peoples and governments of Canada and the United States."

There are excellent hotels in the park: Glacier Park Lodge, Prince of Wales Hotel on the Canadian border, Lake McDonald Hotel, and Many Glacier Hotel, not to mention the many cabins and campsites. Sight seeing buses, boats and horses make all points of interest easily accessible.

* * * *

I AM JUST back from vacationing at Many Glacier Hotel, a Swiss chalet type of hostelry with 240 rooms and baths. The lounge is cozily attractive and when the nights are really cold (as they have been!) a great log fire burns under the copper brazier in the middle of the large room.

It is so restful to sit by the fire and listen to the music played by the excellent trio of piano, violin and cello. One night all evening activities were suspended as the guests crowded the lounge and filled the two balconies to hear a beautiful song recital given by our own Long Beach contralto, Anne Barrows, accompanied by the trio. She was warmly received.

* * * *

ON MY LITTLE balcony I looked out over an emerald lake, Swiftcurrent Lake. Across the water, so near I could almost touch them, are giant mountains, all snow and glacier-bedecked. The sun lights up their glistening sides as the fleecy clouds cast purple shadows. It is beautiful beyond description.

Just in front, a monster pyramid of rock sharply cuts the sky. Its base is green with pine, but as it rises, it becomes stark with jagged peaks of rock. Here the snow is thick and a great glacier lies deeply imbedded. Although it actually is Grinnell mountain, I call it "Le Magnifique" (The Magnificent).

* * * *

WHAT PEACE is here! What inspiration! What exhilaration! After a day of intake of wine-like air and brisk activity, how relaxing it is to bathe and dress for dinner. The huge dining room looks out on all this beauty which, alas, is soon forgotten, as the diners keenly concentrate on the delicious food.

There is dancing every evening at 9:30. At 8:30 interesting and instructive colored films of the park are shown by the ranger.

Although I have vacationed in the Swiss and Bavarian Alps, at Chateau Lake Louise, Jasper Park Lodge and the Grand Tetons, I must admit that, for me, there is nothing in the world like Glacier National Park!

'Irma La Douce'

Direct from triumphs in Paris, London and New York, "Irma La Douce," starring Taina Elg, Denis Quilley and Joseph Bova, will play at the Biltmore Theatre in Los Angeles beginning Monday, July 16, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Mail orders are now being received at the Biltmore.

"A Majority of One," Broadway comedy hit by Leonard Spigelgass, will open at the Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave., at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The story revolves about a Jewish widow and a wealthy Japanese gentleman who met on board ship en route to Tokyo. As the two become warm friends, the widow becomes enchanted with the customs, traditions and culture of the Japanese. She learns that bean-jam buns taste like halavah, that Zen Buddhism is as fascinating as Hebrew teachings, that sake gives the same pleasant glow as kosher wine. She even contemplates the possibilities of sukiyaki with kosher meat.

ZELDA STATLAND and Clay Foster will be seen in the roles created by Gertrude Berg and Cedric Hardwick on Broadway. Others in the cast include Jac Morimoto, Erica Thotos, Lou Lyda, Helen Christian and Gonzalo Moya. George Fairchild directs.

The comedy will play Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays after the opening, with group rates available for the Sunday performances.

Annual Bach Festival Set

A program of Bach and baroque music will be presented during the 25th annual Carmel Bach Festival to be held July 20 through 29 in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Highlight of the silver anniversary concert series will be the performance of the six Brandenburg concertos featuring artists from throughout the United States.

In addition, the complete "Passion According to St. Matthew" is scheduled for both Sunday concerts on July 22 and 29.

* * * *

THE 70-PIECE orchestra will be conducted by Sandor Salgo, professor of music at Stanford, and conductor for the San Jose and Marin Symphony orchestras.

Tickets to the festival, which is a nonprofit organization dedicated to charitable and educational activities in connection with baroque music, are available by writing P.O. Box 503, Carmel, Calif.

At Padua Hills

"Carnaval de Veracruz," three-act comedy at Padua Hills Theater, is a miniature version of "the gayest fiesta in tropical Mexico." Evening performances are given on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays; matinees are scheduled each Wednesday and Saturday. After performances, an outdoor festival under the olive trees brings the Mexican Players and patrons together for music and games.

'Patio Pop' at Burnett Branch

Burnett Branch Library, 560 E. Hill St., will begin its regular summer series of Patio "Pop" Concerts on film at dusk Tuesday with a showing of "Venice Concert."

Leonard Bernstein plays and directs Mozart's "Piano Concerto in G Minor" in this work which was filmed at the Venice International Music Festival. Between reels, Bernstein recordings will feature his ballet music, "On The Town."

The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lucas

Open House to Fete Goldenweds Today

Fifty years of marriage will be marked at an open house celebration this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lucas, 2524 Monroe St. Well-wishers will gather in the couple's home from 2 to 4.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Lucas' sister, Mobrey Thomas of Taft; Ella Mae Zellar, also of Taft; Marilyn Landon, Northridge, and Aileen Charlton and Jerry Weir, Long Beach.

Mr. Lucas, a retired oil driller, has been a member of Local Union, Engineers 12. He and his wife have lived at their present address 23 years. Their late son, Guy Jr., was a star athlete at Polytechnic High School.

Seek Top Careerist in Contest

An opportunity for business firms to pay tribute and honor the outstanding career woman of their organzation is being provided again this year by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs' sixth annual merit award contest.

The contestant may be sponsored by a business firm, service club, professional or trade group, but need not be a member of a BPW club. She will be named Miss or Mrs. Business or Professional Woman of the Year. Invitations have been issued to these groups to enter their choices.

The week of Sept. 30 to Oct. 6 has been proclaimed by President Kennedy as National Business Women's Week. Nominee entries must be dated not later than Sept. 7.

• • • •

A PANEL of prominent men and women will serve as judges in the contest and will be from the greater Long Beach area. They will decide on the basis of most outstanding achievement made by the winner in her field of endeavor.

A banquet honoring the winning contestant will take place at the Petroleum Club on Oct. 1 at 7 p.m.

60th Year for Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Brown, 1115 Loma Ave., will mark their 60th wedding anniversary today at a quiet celebration.

The couple was wed July 9, 1902 in Wellsville, Ohio, moving later to Cleveland where Mr. Brown was employed by the East Ohio Gas Co. until his retirement in 1945.

The Browns who moved to Long Beach in 1951, have one son living in Cleveland.

Police Event

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts, 332 Harding St., will host members of Police-wives Auxiliary and their husbands at a steak fry, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Swimming and games complete the evening's plans.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

At Sea Level-or Sky High

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

He's a fair cook at sea level, but improves with elevation. Get him up to 10,000 feet, and he's terrific! In fact, whether in a plane or afoot, today's Chef of the Week, Court Prowell Jr., prefers high altitude.

When "grounded" at sea level, however, wife Merretta, and daughters, Kathryn, 13, and Ellen, 10, join him in year-round water skiing. "Mom," a former Rick Racker, now is active in Assistance League, the Girl Scouts, and is leader of Brownie Troop 621, of which Ellen is a member. Kathy belongs to the Assisteens, the Junior Auxiliary to the Assistance League.

Prowell is a Long Beach native in every sense of the word, for his mother and father are both graduates of old Long Beach High School. His Dad is one of the oldest active used car dealers in Long Beach, having started in 1923.

Following graduation from Poly High, Court worked as a Life Guard for a short time before enlisting in the Army Air Corps. A graduate pilot, he flew B24 Liberators during World War II.

* * * *

RETURNING to Long Beach, he received his Associate of Arts degree from Long Beach City College, then went into business, establishing the first Vocal Air Advertising Company at the Long Beach Airport. It was outlawed because of the danger factor.

In 1949 he entered Long Beach State College from which he took his B.S. degree in 1951. He then went into the automobile business with his Dad.

Court Prowell, Jr.

Court maintained his flying status in the Air Force Reserves for the past 15 years, and has several thousand hours in many types of military and civilian aircraft. At present he is a captain in the Air Force Reserves and a Reserve Information Officer for the 2478th Sector Headquarters at the Long Beach Airport. He is also past commodore of the Long Beach Sportsmans Boat and Ski Club.

* * * *

HE HAS a long list of civic achievements to his credit, too! A past commander of the Air Force Association, he's also chalked-up the following "pasts"—director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, coordinator with the International Beauty Pageant, director of the Miss Welcome to Long Beach Contest, and is vice president of the Long Beach State College Alumni Association.

A member of Masonic Lodge 594, he also belongs to Elks Lodge 888 and to the Chamber of Commerce.

Prowell likes both fishing and hunting and is an avid amateur photographer; but as a family, they most enjoy their pack-in trips to the High Sierras. Once there, the culinary inspiration sets in, Mrs. Prowell relaxes and Court becomes the "chef." He can whip up anything from hotcakes, to Mulligan stew to eggs supreme. Trout, too, for he's taught his daughters how to haul them in.

But to get to his down-to-earth cooking, his pet recipe is for Sukiyaki. He's mastered that, even to the chop sticks, as you can see.

SUKIYAKI
(Serves 4)

Chill (almost freeze) 1½ pounds of thick round steak and cut into very thin bite size slices. Arrange in center of large platter, saving trimmings for suet.

Slice into small thin pieces the following vegetables: 4 small onions, 2 bunches green onions (tops and bottoms cut separately), 2 green peppers, 1 small head celery, 1 small box fresh mushrooms, 1 lb. spinach (frozen okay), 2 medium potatoes, 1 can water chestnuts and 1 can bean sprouts. Arrange the vegetables around meat on platter.

Prepare cooking sauce: ½ cup Soy sauce, Japanese style . . . ¼ cup if American style . . . 1 bouillon cube, ¼ teaspoon Ac'cent, 2 tablespoons sugar. Salt and pepper to taste.

To cook: Render suet trimming in hot pan, remove cracklings. Add one-half of meat and brown. Next add one-half onions, green pepper, bean sprouts, celery and potatoes.

Stir lightly and add one-half soy mixture and cook rapidly for five minutes. Add mushrooms, water chestnuts and spinach and cook for one minute, then serve.

Because Sukiyaki cooks rapidly start second batch halfway through. Serve the second batch with rice. Saki is excellent before dinner—tea with meal. The secret of good Sukiyaki is not to overcook.

how is your home decorating IQ?

CAN YOU NAME . . . 7 DIFFERENT "TOPPINGS" FOR DRAPERIES? If you said pinch pleats, box pleats, accordion pleats, cartridge pleats, diamond pleats, and shirred smocking — you're right! You can choose the "topping" that best suits your room decor when you have your draperies custom-made in Buffums' workrooms.

CAN YOU DESCRIBE . . . FESTOONS, SWAGS, ROMAN SHADES, Austrian curtains, cornices, shutters, laminated window shades, canopies, room dividers and their uses? If not, let our Interior Consultant describe them to you . . . tell you how and where they could beautify and improve your home.

DO YOU KNOW . . . WHEN RE-UPHOLSTERY CAN MAKE YOUR furniture good as new? When Buffums' experienced upholsterers do the job! Wood is re-finished, springs re-tied, webbing replaced with new, and the fabric covering of your choice custom-fitted.

DID YOU REALIZE that custom-carpet can be installed with no fuss, no muss . . . that you may choose from 100% DuPont 501 nylon or 100% wool. Be sure and see the new plush-cut all-wool pile from Italy!

WOULD YOU LIKE to see swatches of drapery and upholstery fabrics, and carpet samples in your own home (the only completely satisfactory way to choose) and, at the same time, have estimates of any work in which you might be interested—with no obligation?

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

Dorothy Brown claims she's a "traffic cop."

The American Broadcasting Co., by whom she is employed, has a much more formal title for Miss Brown.

To the company, she is the continuity acceptance director for the Western Division.

Her job, and that of the 18 editors who work with Miss Brown, is to handle the clearance of all programming on channel 7 except that in the news category.

Her job is to eliminate or modify from programs and commercials all material that offends the proprieties and moral values of the American public.

Some people call her a censor.

"I'd rather be called a 'traffic cop,'" said Miss Brown.

"I don't think traffic cops are more popular than censors, but they are more readily understood."

Some of the public likes to "get way with things" by driving 85 miles-per-hour in a 65-mile zone.

"This kind of driver gets pleasureful glee from evading the policeman," she said.

"But what he's doing is endangering his life, and that of his passengers and the lives of other motorists."

The producer who gets a "thrill" by attempting to sneak by excessive violence or cleavage is endangering the television industry, according to Miss Brown.

Sometimes, in the matter of cleavage, it's a television actress, rather than the producer, that tries to get too speedy.

Although she may be wearing an approved dress, such an actress sometimes manages to shift the gown so that her physical attributes are more imposingly displayed.

In that case, the situation is usually handled by Miss Brown directing that the actress in such scenes be shown on the TV screen only from the neck up.

IN OTHER WORDS, the directive to "blow up" the shot deflates the overly enthusiastic actress.

The "blow up" is also used for men actors who wear too tight pants. When the "blow up" can't be practically used, the scenes must be re-shot—with looser pants.

Excessive violence, in Miss Brown's book, is a big guy knocking down a little guy, then stomping on him.

Excessive violence is "buckets of blood."

"On television, we can't use dripping blood, the gory wound, the soiled red spot in the shirt," said Miss Brown.

"Television is a friend sitting across from you in the livingroom and buckets of blood are much too shocking.

"In a movie theater, the screen is miles away from you in a darkened room and even 'buckets of blood' are much more impersonal."

MISS BROWN FROWNS upon the use of familiar household objects, such as a pair of scissors, being used to commit an act of violence. Scissors are too readily available and their use as a weapon on television conceivably could influence more easily impressionable viewers.

A gun, on the other hand, has been considered a lethal weapons from "time immemorial."

Guns generally are not readily available even in those homes where they are kept.

Many fathers who have guns instruct their families in care and handling of the weapons, emphasizing the "respect" one must have for the lethal capabilities.

The past season's hue and cry for de-emphasis on violence has created many more problems for Miss Brown.

She believes in the de-emphasis of the physical violence, but one result has been to create "hidden violence."

SHE FEELS THAT "hidden violence is much more violent."

For example, if off-camera or in the shadows a man strikes a woman and she screams, Miss Brown thinks this is unacceptable.

"What's left to the imagination is worse than actually seeing the woman slapped and realizing that she's not badly hurt."

Robert Taylor 'Very Relieved'

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Robert Taylor has a direct answer when asked how he felt about "The Detectives" (NBC-TV) not being renewed for the coming season.

"Frankly, I'm very relieved."

He is equally direct when asked why he thinks it—and several other cops-and-robber shows—went off television:

"I haven't really thought about it. I'm just relieved."

Taylor, who has the lead role of Capt. Matt Holbrook, said the hour-long show calls for a six-day schedule per segment. This means one day off per week for a man who used to spend two-week periods four or five times a year at his cabin in Wyoming.

"The hour show is terribly confining," he said. "I would have liked a half-hour show because it has a shorter shooting schedule and would have permitted me to do other things. I should say, however, that I honestly think the hour-long show is better for developing character and story."

TAYLOR IS LEAVING for Europe to make his first motion picture in three years. He and his wife, Ursula Theiss, will be in Vienna for three months of location shooting on a Disney picture, "The Miracle of the White Stallions." It's based on a World War II story in which a Spanish riding school was saved.

Anything to do with horses is pleasant to rancher Taylor, who has horses at his Mandeville Canyon spread in West Los Angeles and also in Wyoming. He figured he would enjoy making the picture.

"I'M CERTAINLY not knocking television," he said. "But this is a change. I like the story and it'll give us a little more free time. I've always been an early riser—usually at 6:30 a. m. When we were shooting the series, I had to get up at 5:30 a. m.

"I wasn't overworked, but I just didn't have enough time to myself. I'd like to say I have something coming up in television, but I do not. However, I am relieved that the show was not picked up for another year as an hour-long one. The contract had another year to run.

"I don't know why the show went off, and I did like it. But it sure did interfere with my hunting and fishing."

ROBERT TAYLOR AS CAPT. MATT HOLBROOK

BERT'S EYE VIEW

'Hidden Violence' Too Violent

A second type of "hidden violence" is dialogue descriptions at a high-pitched moment.

Example:

"Jim never had a chance. Joe stuck it in his gut and blasted."

A third type is emotional.

"Picture a mother and daughter sitting across from each other. They rip at each other with words, each attempting to destroy the other.

"To my way of thinking, that's considerably more violent than if they had an old-fashioned hair-pulling."

MISS BROWN'S "way of thinking" has not brought her the label of censor—or even traffic cop—from most of those with whom she has worked.

Stan Freberg, who probably has had more censorship trouble than the rest of Hollywood put together, said Miss Brown was the most courageous continuity acceptance director with whom he worked.

It was she who approved his last season's spectacular in which he spoofed people, places, products and programs.

"I'll go right along to the edge of catastrophe for a fresh viewpoint, particularly one that is funny," said Miss Brown in explaining how she got along so well with Freberg.

"I think television is getting too serious.

"Laughter at our own faults and at each other is important in America."

It is obvious that "traffic cop" Dorothy Brown includes laughing at herself in the overall category.

Mounted on the wall behind her desk is a sign which she personally had posted. It reads:

"Headquarters of the Security Police."

All in Non-Tiring Day's Work for Kaye Ballard

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Kaye Ballard, the funny lady, has just finished up her first season as a regular on a television show. And as a trouper who has played every important club in America as a single, done everything from blowing a trick tuba and playing a flute for Spike Jones to giving a command performance at Windsor Castle, what does she think of the video medium?

"This has been the happiest time I've ever had in show business—working with Perry Como," said Miss Ballard. "He's the nicest, most thoughtful man. If you ask me what I'd like to do on TV, the answer is: Stay with Como.

• • • •

"I'D HOPE to establish myself on TV to such an extent that I could pick and choose what I'd like to do on Broadway."

Miss Ballard is nicely occupied on Broadway as the comedy lead in "Carnival," which won the New York Drama Critics Award as top musical and which is now going into its second year.

"I've noticed the difference in audience reaction in 'Carnival' just since I started with Como," she said. "There's a bigger recognition-hand from the audience when you come on. And they're ready to laugh. They know you."

Miss Ballard says there is absolutely no jealousy among the five comics who grace the Como show.

"We all do comedy, and that's it," she said. "There's no rivalry."

In general, in show business, she thinks female comics are discriminated against.

What to do about it?

"Grin and bear it," said Miss Ballard, grinning as if she isn't suffering too much.

• • • •

THE WORK of maintaining a starring role on Broadway and a regular weekly stint on television is no trouble for Miss Ballard. She's never tired at the end of the day—not even days that add TV rehearsals to two stage showings. She's got a vacation from "Carnival" coming up the first two weeks in August. What's she going to do? Work. She's doing "Gypsy" in Dallas for two weeks.

"I'm doing 'Gypsy' because the Ethel Merman part is the one part I'd like to do better than any — even though I know no one could do it as well as Merman. I'll never forgive the Tony Awards for not giving Merman the award last year for that performance.

KAYE BALLARD . . . Toots Flute

And I won't forgive television for not giving Judy Garland the award this year for the best female performer in a variety show."

• • • •

MISS BALLARD lives in a Greenwich Village apartment next door to a subway entrance which she never enters.

"The first time I was ever in a subway, I was halfway in and halfway out of the car and the thing took off. It terrified me. I've never gone in one since."

Her apartment pet is a poodle named Carmella — "because she's part caramel and part vanilla looking and because that's a good Italian name."

Both sides of the comedienne's family are Italian. The name of her mother's side is Ballardo, so she just dropped an "o" and got her stage name.

There was never any doubt in her mind as a child as to what she wanted to do. In her native Cleveland she got a job as a movie theater usherette when she was 13 — and got fired for entertaining in the aisles. While still in junior high school she began working as a waitress at the Cleveland Stage-Door Canteen and soon moved right onto the stage.

• • • •

A CLEVELAND agent got her a job as a straight woman in a burlesque show that traveled by bus through the South. She was with them one season and found that "the offstage morality in a burlesque company is higher than any place else."

Then she went into night clubs. And in 1946 she did a benefit with Spike Jones in Cleveland. Jones said:

"If you ever get to California, I'll give you a job."

She took $75 in cash and a one-way ticket and was in California forthwith, and you may remember her playing that water-laden tuba in the Jones band and knitting between numbers.

Jones, she says, "was greatly responsible for developing me as a comedienne."

But, now developed, she must be bugged somewhat by that feeling of discrimination against lady comics. On her mirror she has pasted Robert Frost's lines:

"Lord, forgive the little jokes I played on thee, and I'll forgive the great big one You played on me."

Free Documentaries

Opposes 'Tampering'

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., wants no tampering with American television programs that may be exported.

The broadcasting executive strongly disagrees with those who advocate that the effect on the U. S. image abroad be a factor in the production of television programs.

In a recent address before executives of CBS, Dr. Stanton made the following points:

1. WE CAN'T HAVE a double standard of reporting that directs us to hide our imperfections from the rest of the world.

"It is far more important to show people everywhere that the free press, in every form, has value because it is free to criticize as well as to praise, free to show shortcomings as well as strengths, free to document great needs as well as great achievements."

2. OUR ENTERTAINMENT programs should be concerned with an honest, undoctored revelation of our character.

"CBS cannot agree that we ought to conceal the fact we are diverted by mystery dramas or westerns or situation comedies any more than the fact that we are diverted by reading mysteries or reading westerns or going to musicals.

"Far more damage would accrue from attempts to represent ourselves abroad as something that we are not than by opening up our whole national life, its light moments, its fads and its follies, as well as its serious concerns, to the view of the whole world."

3. CBS STANDS for free, unrepressed communications with the rest of the world, excepting matters relating to national security.

'REHASH, REMAKE, REVERSE TWIST'

Television Sows 'Wasteland' Imitation Seeds

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The sincerest form of television continues to be imitation.

What was a hit this season can be a hit next season, the spring "idea" planters on Hollywood's TV rows are saying. Once again, they are sowing the "wasteland" with seeds packaged under the labels of "Rehash," "Remake" and "Reverse Twist."

Success of "Ben Casey" and "Dr. Kildare" has put 11 medical shows in the race for time spots next fall. Everyone seems to be calling for Dr. Kildare—with another name. Success of "Hazel," the maid, has inspired "Higgins," the butler.

This, of course, may lead to "Jacques," the chauffeur," "Myrtle," the cook and "FiFi," the upstairs maid. All will be employed, of course, by American families of middle-class means who can afford the sponsor's product.

More hour shows is a trend—50 at the last count compared to this season's 43 in prime time.

THE MOST creative idea for a possible new TV series was conceived in jest by Pat Buttram: "My idea," he said, "is based on the secret files of the TV networks to be produced by the FCC."

The best new "situation comedy," can't be filmed either. It's Hank Mancini's story about the FCC being all set to crack down on a show as "too violent" until they discovered it was a newscast!

WELL, AT LEAST we still have some of those good old movies—and one of Hollywood's best, all-time one-line quips is back with us in late, late reelings of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Unable to believe the naivete of boyish Senator Jimmy Stewart, newsman Thomas Mitchell tells Jean Arthur:

"I gotta go out and DRINK this over."

It's an idea for the TV planners.

Pan and Fan Mail

This is a note to protest against the dropping of "New Breed," "Robert Taylor's Detectives" and "87th Precinct."

Personally, among eight of us discussing it, I preferred Robert Taylor's show. But all of us liked all of them enough that at least one should have been renewed.

Mrs. H. B. Thomas, Long Beach

I agree with you that all of these series were quality written and quality acted. I think they fell victims to a trend away from police shows.

To miss a "Soupy Sales Show" used to be torture.

But now that it's been on so long, I (and my friends) think it's real corn. Once in a while I chance to turn it on and watch it.

It's always the same stuff.

One can take just so much of a sick sounding dog (White Fang) and pies flying here and there.

It used to be a blast to see Soupy receive a pie in the face.

Now he gets it so often that it's just unthrilling routine.

Bruce Singer, Rossmoor

If you feel that strongly about it, why chance to turn it on?

Hats off to KABC's Baxter Ward!

Just about every 'teen I know agrees with me that Mr. Ward's news' programs are the best in the Southland.

Many tell me that, if it wasn't for his newscasting, they wouldn't watch TV for news at all.

So for myself and others I say, "Thank you, Mr. Ward, for your wonderful program."

Karen Huffman, Long Beach

Is Baxter your uncle, Karen?

What can one do to get more variety programs on television?

We used to have them and most of them were wonderful. Instead of variety show now, we're getting nothing but psychopathic drama.

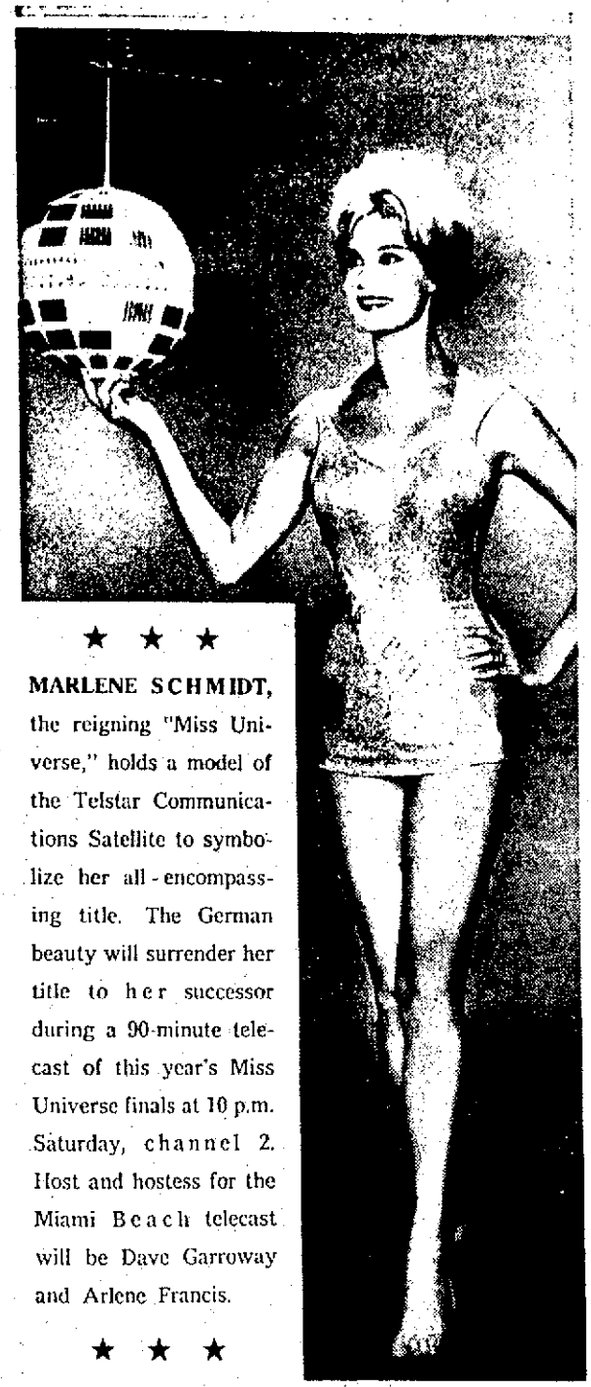

I'm tired of doctors, lawyers and detectives.

Isn't there anything I can do to try and get the Donald O'Connor's, Jackie Gleason's and Sid Caesar's back?

Jack Linston, Long Beach

You can try manufacturing money and sending it to the sponsors and networks. A variety show, including high-priced name stars, is about five times as expensive to produce as a dramatic hour.

But don't give up all hope just yet. I don't know about the O'Connor's, but Sid Caesar and Jackie Gleason are coming back next fall.

MARLENE SCHMIDT, the reigning "Miss Universe," holds a model of the Telstar Communications Satellite to symbolize her all-encompassing title. The German beauty will surrender her title to her successor during a 90-minute telecast of this year's Miss Universe finals at 10 p.m. Saturday, channel 2. Host and hostess for the Miami Beach telecast will be Dave Garroway and Arlene Francis.

LORNE GREENE . . . Sagebrush "Daddy Warbucks"

'TWIST AWAY TALENTS'

'Bonanza's Lorne Greene Criticizes Young Actors

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lorne Greene, one of television's most successful fathers, says many young actors today are twisting away their talents.

"My big beef is with the youngsters who dissipate their opportunities," said Greene, who stars on NBC-TV's "Bonanza" as the father of three sons, a sort of sagebrush "Daddy Warbucks."

"You read about them doing the twist at three o'clock in the morning," he said. "A lot of kids come out here to Hollywood and expect it to be easier than it is.

"I'm for everybody having fun but not at the expense of themselves. These young actors are their own commodity. A piano player can break up his piano and get another. But an actor can only destroy himself. He is his own instrument."

Greene said some of the misconceptions about Hollywood are fostered by fan magazines which glorify young stars and their romances, real or fancied.

"These young people are being built up to tremendous proportions," he said. "Here are kids who've had little experience and their talent has been shown only by the thimbleful.

"I've been trying to figure out this prediction for youth. It's a national disease. I think we're all afraid of getting old. By reading about the activities of the young, perhaps some people get a vicarious feeling of youth."

MUCH OF THE FAN magazine buildup contributes to a young actor's downfall, he said.

"There are kids today in this business who have the world by the tail," he said. "But they'll see to it that in three years nobody will hear of them."

Hollywood's young stars include Michael Landon, one of Lorne's sons in "Bonanza." Greene's criticism isn't aimed at him.

"Mike is a hard worker," Lorne said. "He can become a very big star. He has great potential."

There are untalented performers in Hollywood who waste their time trying to become stars when they should enter another phase of show business, Lorne said, citing an example.

"I know a girl who came to this town as an actress," he said. "She didn't have any great talent as a performer but she had to find a place in this business.

"She even worked in a supermarket waiting for an opportunity. And she had such tremendous energy that she recently signed with a major studio to produce five pictures."

Channel 13 Buys Three Series

KCOP (channel 13) has acquired three series originally aired by ABC-TV (channel 7). All are scheduled for fall debuts.

The hour-long programs are "SurfSide 6," "Bronco" and "Bourbon Street Beat."

Surgery Restores Hearing of Television Actress, Honking Truck Sounds 'Beautiful'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joanna Moore has been deaf in nearly all her television appearances this past season—so deaf that she couldn't hear a phone ring and a radio turned up full blast sounded like a distant, blurred noise.

She finally had an operation several months ago when she felt she could put it off no longer. Those who saw her in a recent "Route 66" (CBS-TV) show made on Catalina Island saw her with her hearing restored.

"The condition is something that runs in my family," she said. "I can't recall the exact name, but it became progressively worse. It became really bad about six or seven months ago and I had to depend on lip-reading to converse."

(Miss Moore's doctor said the condition is known as otosclerosis and was relieved by a stapedectomy. He said it was caused basically by a calcium deposit in the middle ear).

• • • •

"NO ONE would believe that I was going deaf," she said. "The sound men were the first to wonder. I was very, very low. They used to turn me up, but I was still low. I was speaking without hearing myself."

The pretty actress said deafness taught her a number of things besides lip-reading and she reacted in several ways.

"For example, I noticed at first that things were getting quiet everywhere. I began watching TV without using the volume. I smiled a lot—like a pleasant foreigner who doesn't understand completely. This made people nervous, I found.

"People's attitudes come out. You know who your friends are, and this becomes more important toward final deafness. These people take the trouble to make sure you've heard them.

• • • •

"A CAR RADIO is no good any more. I became sensitive to vibration. I put the phone on the bed and could feel but not hear it ring. I heard footsteps throughout the building. I became perfect at lip-synch—the tricky business of matching sound to lip movement on film."

After the operation, Miss Moore in effect discovered a new world.

"The miracle of hearing is beautiful," she said. "I left the doctor, went outside, and a truck honked at me. I was thrilled. Refrigerators purred. People sighed. I couldn't believe how wonderful it was to hear."

She's happy again, but she'll have to unlearn lip-reading. She sometimes tunes in on conversations across a room without realizing what she's doing before it's too late.

"I see a lot of jokes that way," she said.

Catholic Council Wins Award for TV Study

A dramatic TV study of prejudice, produced by NBC in cooperation with the National Council of Catholic Men, has been honored by the American Jewish Committee.

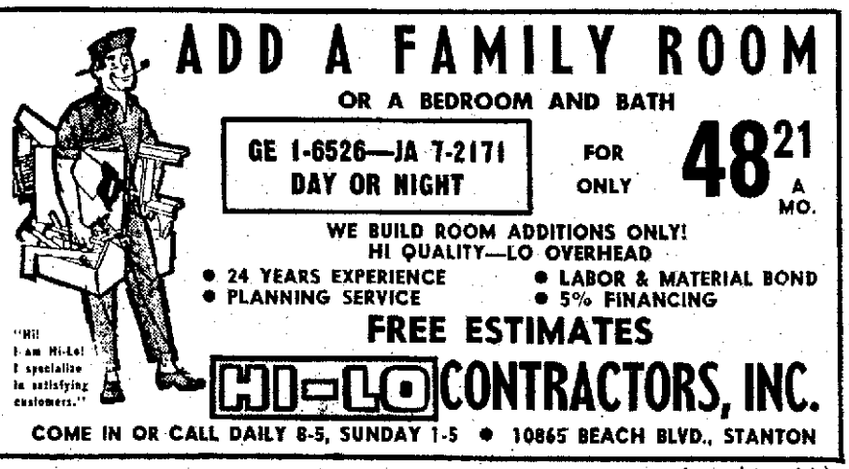

The AJC presented its Human Relations Award to the Council of Catholic men for: "Outstanding leadership in promoting man's understanding of his fellow man through television, and for the notable production of the 'Prejudice—U.S.A.' series on the 'Catholic Hour.'"

Debate Invites

Four Southland television stations, channels 2, 4, 7 and 11, have offered the use of their facilities for a debate between Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and former Vice President Richard Nixon.

Television Movie Tips

CRY OF THE CITY—Sunday, 6:30 p.m., channel 11. Victor Mature, Richard Conte, Shelley Winters (1948). Rough brutal melodrama about a killer and a cop who came from the same neighborhood.

HIS MAJESTY O'KEEFE—Sunday, 7:30 and 10:30 p.m., color, channel 9. Burt Lancaster, Joan Rice, Andre Morell (1954). Pirate story, with Yankee sea captain finding romance and riches on South Pacific island. First run.

JOHNNY CONCHO — Sunday, 8:30 p.m., channel 7. Frank Sinatra, Keenan Wynn, William Conrad, Phyllis Kirk (1956). Cowboy uses his brother's reputation as a gunslinger to ride herd on a town. First run.

WHITE HEAT — Sunday, 11:15 p.m., channel 2. James Cagney, Virginia Mayo, Edmond O'Brien (1949). Brutal gangster melodrama with Cagney as a heartless killer.

THE LAST BRIDGE—Sunday, 11:30 p.m., channel 4. Maria Schell (German-1954). Wartime nurse finds that her love and her duty are on opposing sides. Filmed in Yugoslavia.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK—Monday through Friday, 9 p.m., color, channel 9. John Payne, Dennis O'Keefe, Rhonda Fleming (1950). Plot to oust Juarez so Napoleon's Maximillian can become Emperor of Mexico and attack Texas.

VALLEY OF DECISION—Tuesday, 12:30 a.m. (Wed.), channel 11. Greer Garson, Gregory Peck, Lionel Barrymore (1944). Millhand's daughter takes job as maid in industrialist's home, marries the son.

MIRACLE ON 34TH ST.—Wednesday, 3 p.m., channel 11. Maureen O'Hara, John Payne, Edmund Gwenn (1947). Kris Kringle is hired to play Santa Claus at Macy's — and Macy's tells Gimble's.

LANA TURNER stars in the 1952 Oscar-winning movie "The Bad and the Beautiful" at 8 p. m. Friday on channel 11. The film is about a movie producer, portrayed by Kirk Douglas, who injures those around him in his climb to success.

TOP HAT—Thursday, 7:30 p.m., channel 9. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edward Everett Horton, Helen Broderick (1935). Dancer pursues girl from London to the Riviera in first of weekly series of Astaire films.

MARK OF ZORRO—Thursday, 11:15 p. m., channel 2. Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Basil Rathbone (1940). Swashbuckling swordsman seeks to avenge evil in California of the 1820's.

THE PRISONER — Saturday, 11:15 p. m., channel 4. Alec Guinness, Jack Hawkins (1956-Brit.). Superb performances as police of Communist state find Cardinal's one psychological weakness during questioning.

TOBACCO ROAD — Saturday, 11:30 p. m., channel 2. Charlie Grapewin, Marjorie Rambeau, Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, Ward Bond (1941). Erskine Caldwell's celebrated novel is cleaned up for the screen with a story of moral depravity in the impoverished Georgia farmland. First run.

OUR COVER

Devoted to keeping alive in true and exact detail the traditions of the western frontier in the days of the Indian Wars, a group of men rally regularly in Buena Park under a 36-star banner. They are the members of Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., and their activities are reminiscent of the times of Gen. George Custer and his contemporaries. Three of the Ghost Patrol stand beneath their outmoded but still glorious flag on today's cover. They are 1st Sgt. Jerry Laws, Capt. Al Fraumeni, commanding officer of the patrol, and Trooper Richard Sparks. For more about the Ghost Patrol, see Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

The show that began with artists hanging paintings on a fence is today in its 27th annual presentation—Laguna Beach's Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters. Begun in depression days, the festival has prospered until its modern version is a spectacular thing of great interest—one of Southern California's major events. Southland will tell you more about this delightful celebration next Sunday.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy on GRIFFIN and GRIFFING.—Mrs. G., Norwalk; J. G., L. B., Long Beach.

J. G., L. B., G.: GRIFFIN and GRIFFING are Welsh names. The family ancestor was Gruffudd-Ap-Cynan, a king of north Wales from A. D. 1081 to 1137. Griffin is from the old Welsh word "Gruffyn" meaning "Ruddy complexion." The Griffin coat-of-arms has a mythical silver griffin, a combination of dragon and eagle, with outspread wings on a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: What do you have on ECHEVARRIA.—C.E., Lakewood.

C.E.: ECHEVARRIA is a Spanish Basque surname. This family are descendants of the ancient Basque race whose language is completely different from any other in Europe. Echevarria was a manorial home descriptive phrase deciphered as "Owners of the new manor house." The Echevarria coat-of-arms has a golden, turreted castle tower centered on a red shield. At each side of the castle door is a silver greyhound, chained to the frame.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on DE LOZIER. —J.D., Buena Park.

J.D.: DE LOZIER, from the surname De L'Ozier, meant "Willow trees." This name is traced to western France and was an estate-descriptive phrase used by friends and acquaintances to point the way to the "family who lived on a small stream whose banks were fringed by beautiful willow trees." This name is very old and the family were granted a coat-of-arms portraying three crossbows on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of JOLLY and JOLLEY. — C.H., Compton; M.J., Lakewood; M.J., J.L., Torrance; H.J., Long Beach.

JOLLY is from the early English descriptive word "Joli" which was endowed on a "gay, jolly person" as a nickname. Henry Joly was a primary family ancestor in Yorkshire during the late 1300s. The Lancashire Jolly coat-of-arms shows three hands on a green wedge entered on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze COFFMAN and give the shield.—R.C., Long Beach.

R.C.: COFFMAN is an American spelling of the German surname Kaufman. The source, Kauf-mann, meant "Shop keeper and merchant." This family was granted a coat-of-arms in the Grand Duchy of Baden in southwest Germany many centuries ago. Their shield is green, with a silver half-lion issuing from the center.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on COTA. —R.C., Long Beach.

R.C.: COTA is an old, honored Spanish surname which was handed down from a skilled ancestor whose unique trade was indicated by his name. Cota meant "Coat-of-mail," designating a dexterous medieval coat-of-mail or armor maker.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on ZIEGLER.—Mrs. M.Z., Long Beach.

M.Z.: ZIEGLER was shortened eight centuries ago from the German occupation of "Ziegel-bacher," meaning "Roofing-tile baker and maker." An important tile maker of bygone centuries, achieved prominence in his specialized work and used the abbreviated spelling of his trade-title for his name. The family coat-of-arms has two silver stripes, each with three red roses on it, across the center of a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please publish data on PEARSON.—Mrs. J.P., Lakewood; Mrs. S.W., Long Beach.

J.P., S.W.: PEARSON originated from the given-name Pierre (Peter in English), and old French cognomen of Biblican origin, meaning "The "The Rock." Pear-son was an English distortion of the 11th century Anglo-French phrase "Pierre-son." The Pearsons of Northumberland, England are traced to Thomas Pearson, living in 1484. Their coat-of-arms has three gold coins and three red bands across an ermine coated shield. American descendants include John Pearson in Lynn, Mass., born in England in 1617, and George Pearson, born in 1631.

Newest thing in beds is a special bathtub called by inventor: "Aquarest." It's said to cut sleeping time.

It's News

Go to Bed in a Tub!

By Fred Coleman

Associated Press Writer

He set the mark in developing an invention he thinks could revolutionize sleep, Aquarest, the salt-water bed.

Cameron, 39, who calls himself a fairly direct descendent of telegraph inventor Samuel F. B. Morse, was not content simply to tolerate the age-old problem of sleep. Five years of experiments led to Aquarest, which he says can normally cut in half the amount of sleep needed by any individual. It also may prove a boon to medical science and certainly ends the hazards of smoking in bed.

AQUAREST resembles an overstuffed bathtub. It is made of molded fiber glass and filled with a salt-water solution buoyant enough to float the body and strong enough to prevent the skin from withering.

A heating unit keeps the water a trifle below body

Costumed girls pose in Banning House with a Gold Rush period piano that once was part of a Long Beach home.

By Maymie R. Krythe

WHETHER you are a tourist or a local resident, you'll enjoy visiting the stately colonial mansion in Banning Park, Wilmington. It was built in 1864 by Phineas Banning who had founded the town six years before, naming it for his birthplace in Delaware.

Several decades ago, the home and grounds were acquired by Los Angeles Park Department. Each spring, begining with the unique Wisteria Festival, when the great vine is in full bloom, and extending into the fall, Banning House is open on Sundays. Young college girls, in the costumes of the period when the mansion was the social center of Southern California, act as guides through the house, with its priceless furniture and other mementoes of bygone days.

One of the most intriguing antiques can be seen in the library; it is a decidely rare and quaint old musical instrument—a piano, that has much history connected with it. It was made in England by Collard and Collard, and brought from that country around the Horn, in a square-rigger sailing vessel, first landing at San Francisco and, in 1884, being brought to Long Beach. For many years the piano stood in the comfortable home of Capt. and Mrs. Charles T. Healey, on Ocean Boulevard between Locust Avenue and Long Beach Boulevard (then American Avenue).

Ghost Patrol

By Kenneth C. Hanson

ANYONE traveling the highways in the vicinity of Tucson, Ariz., on Sunday, April 15, 1962, would have been amazed to hear the blast of an Army bugle signaling the charge for scores of horsemen in frontier cavalry uniforms dashing across the crest of the hill.

This was a re enactment of the Battle of Picacho Pass, fought April 15, 1862, as the western most battle of the Civil War. The Union troops of that early period had been the California Column, First California Cavalry, federalized into the armed forces, who had ridden from San Bernardino by way of Indian Wells to engage in this skirmish. As a part of the emphasis on Civil War history, the state of Arizona had planned the reenactment of the battle as Arizona's only involvement in the war.

These modern troops participating in the 1962 drama were the members of Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., who have headquarters at Buena Park, Calif. The commanding officer, 2nd Lt. Al Fraumeni of Whittier, had received an invitation from the Civil War Centennial chairman in Arizona to participate in the drama and represent the original Union forces from San Bernardino. The drama had been written by Prof. John Burke, director of drama at University of Arizona in Tucson, took three days of rehearsal, and involved about 100 persons. Nearly 5,000 spectators crowded the side of Picacho Peak to witness the reenactment of this bit of history.

THIS DRAMA was nothing new to the Ghost Patrol because, on two Sundays each month of the year, they meet to carry out military operations of another era. The members of E Troop are dedicated to the re-creation of the U. S. Army cavalry of the Indian War period about 1875 which is best known in people's minds for the famous last stand of Gen. George Custer, destroyed on June 25, 1876, when Gen. Custer and 263 cavalrymen of his and several other units were massacred by about 4,000 Indians led by Chiefs Gall and Crazy Horse on the Little Big Horn River in Montana.

The U. S. Army did not reactivate this unit as a part of the regular services until 1941 when it was formed for service in World War II and is still on active duty in Japan.

The idea for the Ghost Patrol was originated by John Lee, marshal of Knott's Berry Farm Ghost Town, while he was patrolling his beat in 1954 and dressed in the uniform of a U. S. Army cavalryman of Gen. Custer's period (1865-80). John Wittemore, Long Beach, and Harold Webb, Sunland, stopped Lee and talked to him about their mutual interest in cavalry tradition and decided to get together to form a historical unit. This led to their choosing the name Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., and by 1958 they were designated by the State of California as a nonprofit, historical and educational group. Through the interest and goodwill of Walter Knott of the famous Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town, the group was granted as headquarters use of a building that was reconstructed from about this period of American history.

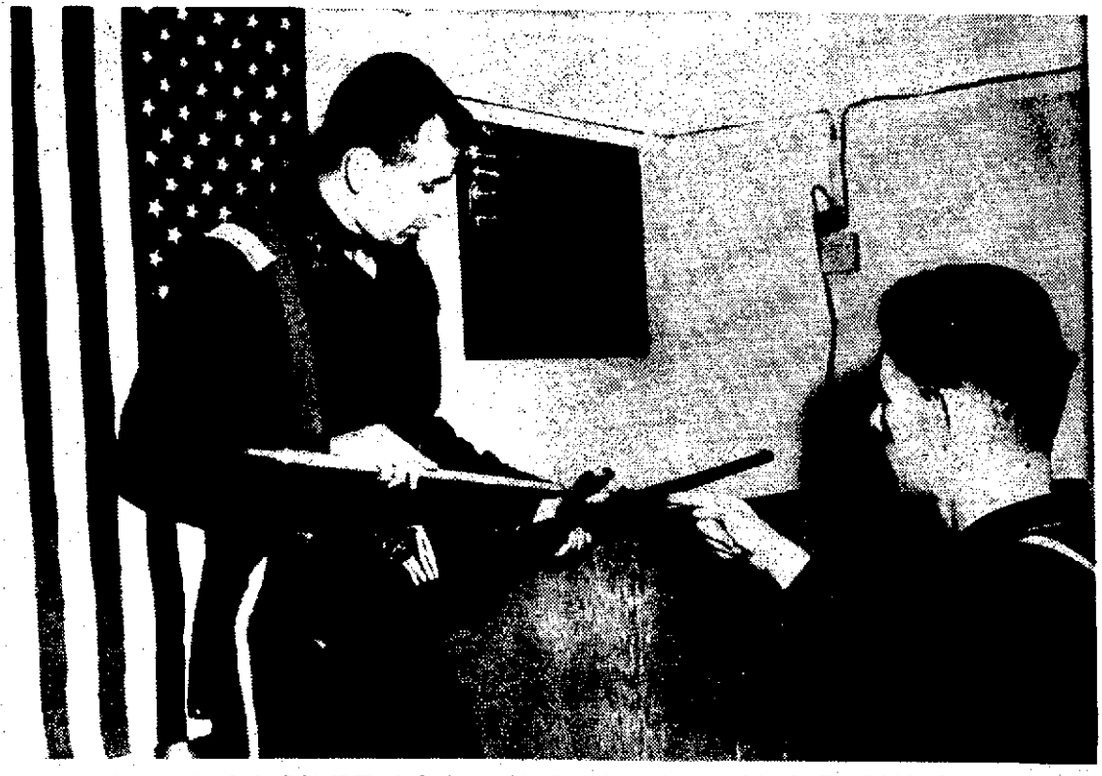

At Ghost Patrol headquarters, 1st Sgt. Donald Haley of Sierra Madre, reports to then Lt. Col. John M. Lee, the patrol's former commanding officer.

EVERYTHING THAT the Ghost Patrol uses in the way of equipment or practices in the way of conduct, is authentic to the frontier period. The uniforms are of the original pattern, and many are actually handed down from the period. When uniforms need to be made, the original patterns are used by skilled tailors to work over the sky-blue trousers from Marine Corps officer's dress uniforms and by adding the traditional yellow stripe.

Mechanism of a Springfield 45-70, single-shot carbine is explained by Sgt. Haley for Tom Welch of Van Nuys in a Ghost Patrol classroom session. Accuracy in reproduction of equipment and uniforms is a patrol fetish.

FOOTBALL'S QUICK CHANGE . . .

Businessmen to Behemoths

It may seem like summer has hardly started, but football season is not far away.

While the collegiate gridders still are cavorting beside swimming pools and at the beach on their summer vacations, the pros are preparing to unlimber. Next week the Los Angeles Rams players head for their new training camp at Chapman College in Orange, where they'll do a quick change from businessmen to behemoths.

Ram players in off season hold positions ranging from stock broker to engineering cost estimator to executive director of an internationally famous sports enterprise—the auto racing track at Riverside.

But on July 18 they'll all begin a month-long training grind in preparation for five months of hand-to-hand combat that is professional football.

True, professional football has its glamorous side, but, ahh, those college days.—JEROME HALL.

While the pros are getting serious about football, UCLA fullback Mitch Dimkich (above) still is unconcerned about coming season. At poolside, he's shown with Bruin coed Sherry Carmel.

Ram linebacker Marlin McKeever will put aside sales pitches until next January. He is shown (right) with Dr. George Brown, Burbank.

Les Richter (right), Ram linebacker, has among other careers a boys' camp partnership with Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale. Boy is Tim Ross. Richter also has raceway and real estate interests.

Roy Hord (right) is a cost estimator in a large construction firm when he's not a guard on the Ram offense. He and company executive, Bill Miller, go over Hollywood building plans.

Halfback Jon Arnett, a click at the Rams' box office, also has clicked off some "mileage" in ticker tape in business circles. In the gridiron off season he's a broker in Los Angeles firm.

From New York's Peppermint Lounge to Hollywood's Le Crazy Horse, young and old dancers are still

Twist Crazy

By Aubrey B. Haines

Mary Mitchel and Jeff Parker do the Twist, which is just what they do in "Twist Around the Clock," Sam Katzman Four Leaf film, a Columbia release.

WHEN recently President Kennedy called upon Americans to make themselves physically fit, the response seemed typical: people began dancing the twist, and are still at it.

This was not what the President meant, but from New York's Peppermint Lounge to Le Crazy Horse in Hollywood dancers are "twisting" off tons of flabby weight. If the current dance craze continues, Americans may become the best-conditioned people on earth.

Actually, the twist is not new. "It's about six dances behind," teen-agers say. Fred Astaire recalls doing the basic twist step some 20 years ago with his sister Adele. "We used it as an exit routine in several dances," he says. "It isn't a dance that I especially like, but if it's what people want, we should teach it in modified form with finesse."

RECENTLY, the twist took over several Hollywood film studios when four pictures were dreamed up, filmed, and completed. This proves that Hollywood producers move as fast as television film producers. The pictures were "Don't Knock the Twist," Columbia's "Twist Around the Clock," Louis Prima's "The Continental Twist," and Paramount's "Hey, Let's Twist." The Louis Prima picture was completely filmed in just a week!

Principal requirements for performing the twist seem to be skin-tight clothes and total lack of inhibition. Partners never touch each other—a result of its New York beginnings in cafes where the proprietors ordered no holding hands of partners, to avoid paying the city dance tax.

The dancer stands about eight inches from his partner, twisting his hips in circular motion—to the right, then to the left. He keeps his hips twisting as he superimposes various steps with his feet. He keeps his weight on his left foot and pretends to put out a lighted cigarette with his right foot. Then he shifts to his right foot and puts out another imaginary cigarette with his left foot. He wiggles simultaneously as though drying himself with a towel.

In the Los Angeles - Long Beach area not only night clubs and ballrooms but even burlesque clubs are featuring the twist. Any band leader who can wave a fiddle and shake his body is practically considered to be an authentic exponent of twist music. With few exceptions night clubs have stripped their marquees of famous names of entertainers in favor of selling twist music and other deviations.

Chubby Checker is a top Twist entertainer. He's also in the lineup for Katzman's "Twist Around the Clock."

THE TWIST craze has posed a problem for managers who book cafe entertainers. Most of them are familiar with standard night club attractions, but when it comes to twist idols, they are at a loss.

Last New Year's Eve, a twist contest was held at Freedom Hall in Louisville. The scene was described as "a huge room filled with cloth bags, each of which contained an angry wildcat." On that occasion William H. King sponsored the first national twist contest with several hundred squirming contestants and thousands of spectators. Prizes in merchandise, totaled about $5,000, and entry was free.

The twist is not for everyone. A 79-year-old real estate broker dropped dead, apparently of a heart attack, just before Christmas as he danced the twist with 500 other dancers in a Los Angeles ballroom.

Someone has called the twist "the only dance in which you can wear out your clothes from the inside."

Another calls it "akin to a rain dance performed by a barefooted religious fanatic on a ground covered with nails."

It did not take long for the twist to make its way across the nation after New York's society set took the dance to heart in Manhattan's Peppermint Lounge. Dances such as the cha cha and the mambo achieved interest gradually, but acceptance of the twist has come with the impact of the weather phenomenon from which its name is partly derived.

OLDER PEOPLE seem to like it because it reminds them of the frantic Charleston and sinuous shimmy of their younger days. Matrons like it because it is guaranteed to take pounds off the hips. And teen-agers go for it because they are probably the instigators of the dance.

"It's like getting on a vibrator," a supermarket assistant manager observes.

A school teacher says: "My students talk of nothing else, and I was beginning to feel quite dated. Now I can teach them a thing or two about current dance history."

And a nurse from Massachusetts remarks, "Frankly, it goes against my New England upbringing."

Louis Prima does the Twist with June Wilkinson. Prima has a movie Twist assignment in "The Continental Twist." He recalls dance as the "Snazz."

MOVIES

She Packs a 50-Megaton Wallop

THE FRAGILE 96 pounds which is Sarah Miles packs a 50-megaton punch that is being heard all over Ireland, and right into Trafalgar Square.

Miss Miles is the wispy English girl who is a star in her first motion picture, playing opposite Laurence Olivier in "Term of Trial", the James Woolf production for Warner Bros.

It is not, to be sure, her physical strength which has drawn attention to Sarah—although the reports that she once shattered the ankle of a schoolgirl opponent during a lacrosse game. The Miles wallop comes from her personality and talent. She has a ready tongue, an uninhibited approach to acting and to life in general, and she is an appealing combination of sophistication and immaturity.

Although she comes from a prosperous Essex family ("My father builds steel plants all over the world"), Sarah has been more or less on her own since she was 16. At that time, with parental consent, she took an apartment in London so that she could study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. "They trust me. Mostly, I guess, because Mother thinks I'm sexless".

Sarah strikes a whimsical pose in "Term of Trial," in which she makes one giant stride to stardom. She has had two London stage roles and repertory experience.

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

This "instant" boat was built in one weekend for less than $35. It's roomy, safe, and easy to handle.

By Bill Meyerriecks

NOW IT'S an "instant" dinghy!

Starting from scratch, we built the pilot model pram from this plan in one weekend. That doesn't include painting, of course, because you have to let the paint dry between coats. But you can be in the water one week after you go to the lumber yard.

The only power tools we used were a portable saw and a rotary sander. You could do the same job with hand tools at a slower pace.

What's more, the boat materials can be purchased for between $30 and $35, depending mainly on what the charge is in your area for the two sheets of exterior plywood which form the sides and bottom.

The two plywood sheets are the main item on the lumber bill. Only other substantial items in the boat shopping list are a pint of waterproof glue and a large quantity of brass screws.

With this outlay and a weekend's carpentry, you get a broad-beamed, snub-nosed pram with an over-all length of 7 feet 10 inches and a beam amidships of 46 inches. It will accommodate up to three adults or more children. If you don't like to row, you can put a small kicker (up to 1½ horse) on the stern.

It doesn't look like an America's Cup contender, but it takes a backseat to none in easy handling on water or land. It weighs only 60 pounds; one man can pick it up. It slides easily into the rear of a station wagon or rides lightly on the roof of a sedan.

The secret of its simplicity and speed of construction is the foolproof jig on which it's built. The Sketchbook plan, a real bargain on this project, tells you exactly how to prepare it and takes you through the boat assembly step by step in language everyone can understand.

If you want a boat for fishing or just for fun, here's your chance to get afloat at a remarkable low price in money and in time.

TO ORDER, specify Dinghy Plan S-60 and send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Restful Togetherness

RESTFUL togetherness is the feature of this handsome, easily made chaise-for-two for lawn or patio. It's just the right size for two, has an adjustable back that may be raised for reading, relaxing, sunbathing or watching television. The back may be lowered for a standard size bed for a nap in the lazy hours. Wheels make it easy to move.

Two regular outdoor furniture pads serve as a mattress. Parts are made of stock lumber and cost is slight when made at home, using full-sized pattern that has all details, materials list and illustrations.

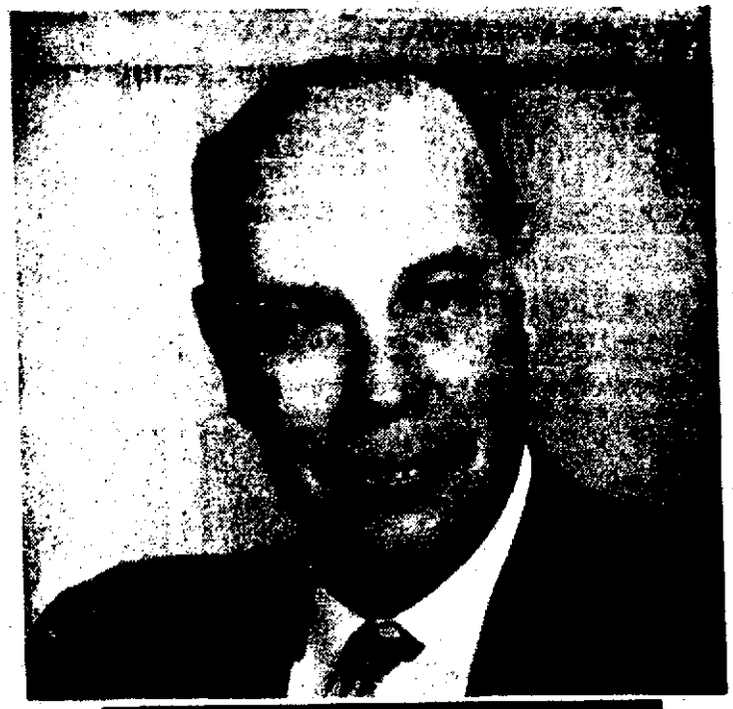

To obtain pattern, send name and address and $1 in currency, money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine, Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. Specify Double Chaise Pattern No. 182.

Steve Terrell and Sibyle Collier of NBC-TV enjoy a rest, a bit of sun and a chat in chaise-for-two.

Address That Turned the Corner

By Stella George

WHERE they once wrote their address as 2316 San Vicente Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Speraw now give their residence as 5936 Los Arcos St., Long Beach—but they still live in the same house!

The situation came about when they completely remodeled their corner home and moved the front door to another side. The home, which was once quite small, consisted of a living room, tiny dinette and kitchen, three small bedrooms and a single bath. It now has a large entry hall, a family room off the enlarged kitchen, and a master bedroom suite the size of a double garage—in addition to all the former space.

Formerly the home contained 1,086 square feet of floor space plus 400 square feet in the garage. The house now has 1,865 square feet, the new garage 550, a covered patio 250, and a garden hut 75. To make the story about changes even more interesting, Speraw did the work and all the designing himself. He also designed the new landscaping that surrounds the home, having help only in such areas as the brick and stone work.

THE NEW front door leads to a large, square entry hall which was once the dinette. To the right is the living room, to the left a family room. The entry is very attractive in its smooth simplicity. The floor is white-and-gold vinyl; there is a low, white table along the far wall; a ball lamp hangs from the ceiling; and a facing mirror adds depth to the wall. A single colorful flower arrangement decorates the low table. Beside the front door is another smalled screen door (as tall but not as wide) that opens onto a full length glass. This adds light as well as ventilation, maintaining the privacy in the home.

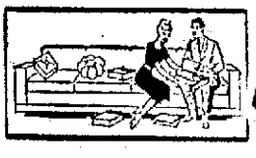

Two changes were made in the original living room: the former porch area was inclosed to become part of the room and the fireplace area was redecorated with paneling above and mosaic tile around the fireplace.

Furnishings are contemporary with a long couch and coffee table facing a spinet piano on the opposite wall. An heirloom chair, Queen Anne type, is near the fireplace. Other pieces are contemporary and shown to advantage on carved, champagne-colored carpeting.

DOWN THE HALL from the living room, the three original bedrooms and bath provide a private wing in the home for the Speraws' three sons.

The new family room is just what such a room should be. One wall is entirely of glass, overlooking the patio. A round formica table and chairs are handy for dining and games. Two built-in couches, large enough to serve as beds when needed, meet in one corner at a built-in end table.

A bar which separates the kitchen from the family room is extra wide, which gives the kitchen an unusual amount of work area. When the bar was built, doors on the family room side below the bar at one end open to reveal the washer and dryer, ever handy for daily use, yet out of sight at all times.

The new master bedroom is in the area which was formerly a double garage. To add a luxury and functional aspect to the room, a bath and separate dressing room with walk-in closet adjoin.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Luxury Features And Economy, Too

By Jules Loh

WHAT constitutes economy in a home?

Architect Rudolph A. Matern provided an answer when he designed an imposing ranch with sleek, low lines and luxury features that impart an air of prestige.

"Nine rooms in less than 1,500 square feet is economy," said Matern, "and that's what House-of-the Week design B-66 has. Economy means a lot for the money — not necessarily an inexpensive home."

Matern provides more for the money, for instance, by putting back-to-back plumbing in the main bathroom and the bathroom off the master bedroom. Another half-bath (convenient for kids playing outdoors) was added off the mud room at a minimum of expense because it adjoins the plumbing facilities in the laundry, which in turn are in the same general location as the kitchen.

FURTHER economy resulted in the open plan of the kitchen family room and the living and dining rooms. Vertical separaters retain the formality of the latter. A simplified roof design is another money saver.

Matern sacrifices nothing to luxury or livability in any B-66 economy features, however. For example, the home has two fireplaces — a real touch of elegance—but both are served by an all-in-one chimney which also provides for a heater flue.

The 1,495-square-foot house has four bedrooms, though one could serve equally well, because of its location, as a music room or den. At 14 feet 4 inches by 10 feet, bedroom No. 2 can accommodate twin beds adequately, and is equipped with three closets. The master bedroom, 11 feet by 11 feet 10 inches and with four closets, has its own personal bath with shower stall. The main bath room, which has twin lavoratories, has a combination tub and shower.

The house is 27 feet 7 inches deep and 69 feet 4 inches wide, requiring a minimum lot width of 100 feet.

"AN IMPORTANT item in the economy consideration," said Matern, "is resale value. Subject to neighborhood, this home has top resale potential because of its livability and attractive exterior."

Much of the livability results from the excellent design of the kitchen-family room area.

From the well planned 11-2 x 12-8 kitchen, mom has full view of the large 14x10-8 family room and the rear trelllssed terrace which opens off the family room through sliding glass doors. The kitchen also has ready access to the garage, convenient for grocery shopping, and to the basement stairs and laundry.

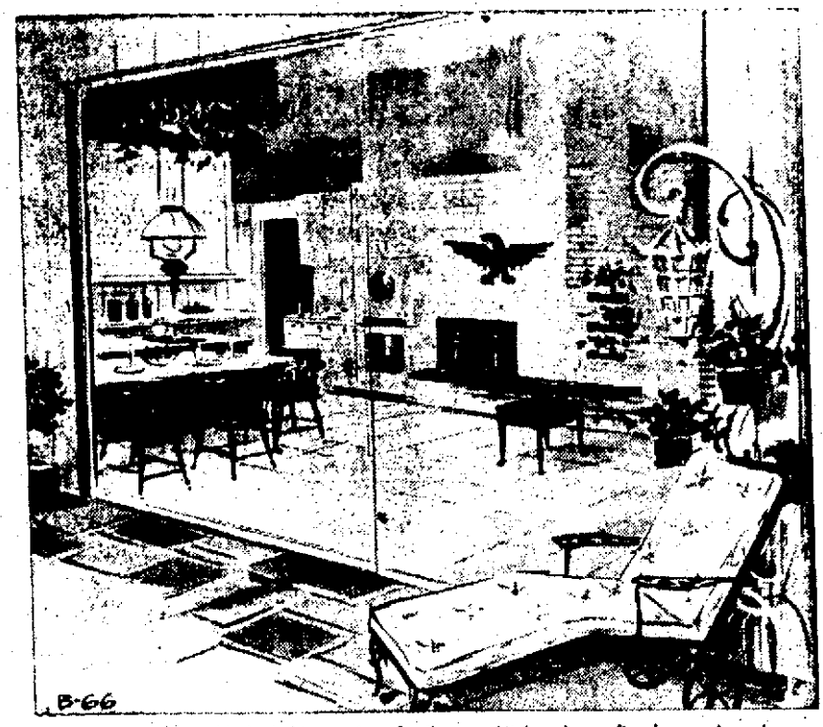

The house is clearly zoned for a quiet bedroom area, including a soundproof wall between bedroom No. 4 (or den) and the family room.

THE SPACIOUS living-dining-room area also has elegant features.

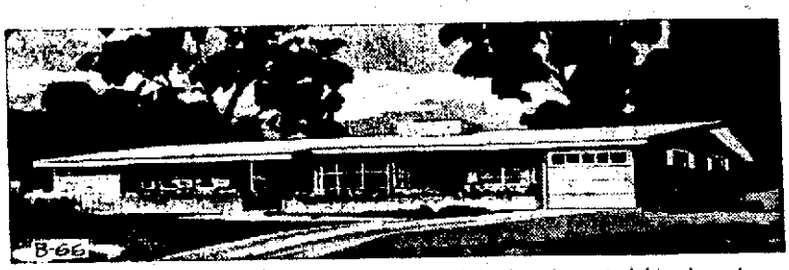

Highlighting the exterior is a brick veneer wall on the bedroom side which flows down into a long planter. Another planter, running the full 28 feet of the living and dining rooms, further accentuates the long, low lines of the house.

The end view of the attached garage is made attractive with two shuttered windows with flower boxes.

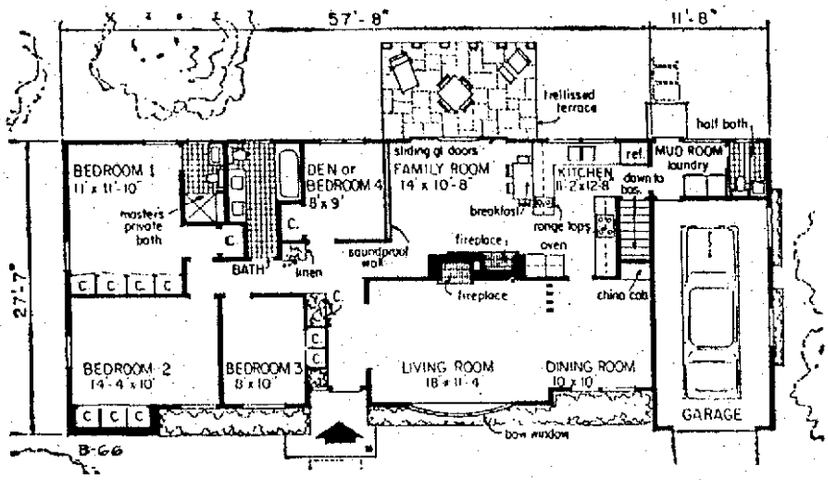

To obtain plans, address Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., enclose 50 cents and request House of the Week Study Plan, Design B-66.

Cozy touch is added to this spacious family-room-kitchen by a fireplace. Area is viewed through glass doors from a trellised terrace. Convenience is evident.

Sleek elegance is found in this combination of brick with vertical boards and planters, giving this four-bedroom ranch home a luxury look but with economy.

Excellent zoning may be noted in this floor layout. The imposing formal living and dining rooms are by the entrance, and family activity center toward rear.

GRADE CARD

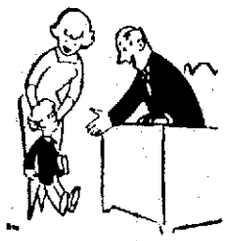

Choosing a School

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

QUESTION: "We are moving to a new area this summer. There are several school systems we can live in and still be near my husband's new job. How can I make sure I'm picking a good system?"

ANSWER: You won't know for sure until you have made your choice, lived in the system for a time, followed educational affairs closely, and visited school often.

But here are some factors to consider when making your choice:

1. Has the community been meeting its school needs? A system which has been defeating school bonds with regularity, neglecting its buildings, and underpaying its teachers probably is a second-rate system and one which you should avoid.

2. How do the students of the system rank with other students in the nation? If the system ranks consistently low, something is wrong with its academic program.

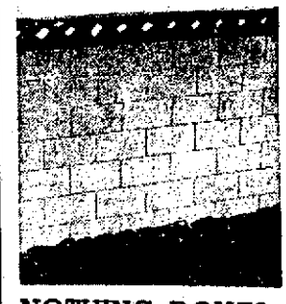

3. Is the system in a state of harmony—or in turmoil? Frequent changes of superintendents and other administrative personnel suggest instability. Is the system undergoing one of those upheavals that find advocates of one philosophical theory pitted against those of another? In such battles, the school child is the loser while the parents and schoolmen argue.

4. Does the system have a reputation for balance, or is it known for extremes? The system that follows the fad of the moment or consistently concentrates on one field at the expense of others turns out confused students, poorly prepared for college and life.

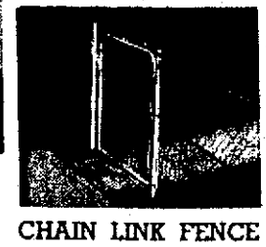

5. Does the system have serious discipline problems, or is the school administration firmly in control? A school's failure to maintain discipline can rob your child of valuable hours of learning every day. Avoid a system run by the students instead of the teachers.

WHERE DO YOU obtain such information about school systems? Write the state superintendent of education, the county superintendent of schools. Talk with the education director of the nearest newspaper and with the education department of the nearest college. But as I said to begin with, you'll never know about a system for sure until you live with it.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

Redwood in modernized form features this new home addition: Lifecoat redwood siding on the outside, paneling inside for warm, rich color. The door is constructed of new Sonata Symphonic by Walter Dorwin Teague Associates.

Redwood Is Friendly

By John A. Senning

Wood and wood products from the giant redwood forests of California now are more popular than ever among homeowners, architects and builders, not only across the United States, but throughout the world. However, today redwood forests are scientifically managed to conserve the timber while assuring a continuing, dependable source of redwood for years to come.

Redwood's warm, natural color makes it a logical choice for both interior and exterior applications. Its resistance to weathering and insects give it a special plus as a building material. Its natural properties include durability and high strength in relation to light weight. It is easy to work and holds nails better than most woods.

AS A PAINTABLE surface, redwood is outstanding and has no peer among woods in a paint retention qualities. Its open cellular structure and low shrinkage factor help to maintain a strong bond between wood and finish films. Also, there are no oils or resin in redwood to weaken the paint film.

According to laboratory tests conducted by the California Redwood Association, one inch of redwood siding is equal to insulation value to 6¼ inches of brick, 15 inches of concrete block, 16½ inches of stucco and 1,863 inches of aluminum.

Recent scientific developments have improved even these characteristics of redwood. Lifecoat factory priming, developed and introduced by Simpson Timber Co., provides cost savings up to 40 per cent on finishing and eliminates weather worries during construction. This new product, shown in the color illustration, can be installed under almost any weather conditions. Only one finish coat is necessary and that can be applied whenever weather conditions are just right. This is a particular advantage to homeowners who wish to start projects in the late fall in localities plagued with inclement weather. A project started this summer or fall can have the finish coat applied even in the spring. The factory prime retains its handsome appearance during this entire period.

LIFECOAT REDWOOD is available in three stain primes: natural redwood red, as shown on this page; dark brown, and a driftwood gray. It also is available with a neutral paint prime for homeowners who prefer a painted surface.

This is a practical product for new construction and remodeling. Using furring strips, it can be applied directly to stucco, concrete block, or other materials, to reside an older home.

Redwood is available in either vertical or horizontal siding in a variety of patterns and surface textures. It also is available for interior paneling in a variety of patterns and finishes.

'Atomic Knife' Aids Surgery

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

AN "ATOMIC KNIFE"—an invisible proton ray—has been used in Sweden to destroy cancer.

The procedure has been used so far to treat about 15 cases of uterine cancer at the Gustaf Werner Institute at Uppsala University.

The atomic knife is a synchrocyclotron or atom smasher that produces protons.

This ray acts as a surgeon's scalpel. It is invisible and painless.

Housed in the basement, 45 feet below the ground, the giant atom smasher directs the proton ray through a 70-foot horizontal tube into the operating room, where the patient is alone.

A SEMI-AUTOMATIC stapler that can join the cut ends of tiny blood vessels is being tested.

Canadian surgeons say the device will be especially valuable when organ transplantations become feasible.

Meanwhile, in Texas, a quick-setting plastic adhesive has been used to join the severed ends of major blood vessels in experimental animals.

As for transplantation of organs, the "immune reaction" still prevents it. The immune mechanism, which defends the body against invasion of foreign substances such as microbes, also rejects transplanted tissues. But a new finding by Dr. Robert A. Good of Minnesota may help scientists to hurdle this barrier.

Dr. Good reports new evidence that the thymus gland, long a puzzle, is the master organ in the development of immunity. The thymus, located just below the neck and behind the breastbone, appears to be responsible for producing antibody-making cells which establish the body's immunity system.

OF ALL DINNERWARE, the spoon is the cleanest from the standpoint of bacterial contamination, a study of restaurant hygiene in Connecticut reveals.

The problem is bar glasses, the study shows. High bacteria count on bar glasses was found to be almost commonplace, reports Modern Drugs.

A count of 100 bacteria per utensil is considered to be a safe level. But on bar glasses investigators found bacterial counts approaching 3,000.

WHEN IT FINALLY becomes possible to transplant human hearts, how long will doctors have to remove a heart from a dead human body?

Not very long, two Cornell University professors believe.

Up to now they have been able to revive the heart of a guinea pig that has been dead for 15 minutes. The heart was restored to full functioning, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The researchers put it this way: "The results suggest there is a definite, probably short, period of time after death that a heart can be removed and still function."

A NEW ANTI-ULCER drug called Robanul has produced excellent results in 57 of 62 patients, according to two Boston doctors reporting in the American Journal of Gastroenterology.

Three other patients experienced good results. Only two failed to respond.

In almost all cases relief of discomfort occurred in two or three days, the researchers report.

The doctors call Robanul "extremely effective."

CAPSULES: Height of an 18-year-old dwarf was increased by nine inches in only 38 months by treatment with human growth hormone, Scripps Clinic researchers report. . . . Heavy cigarette smokers are true addicts, claim Boston University scientists. Sudden cessation of smoking by these persons is often followed by restlessness, irritability and sometimes a slowing of the heart.

The stresses against an artificial heart valve are tremendous, observes the AMA Journal. Reason: A prosthetic heart valve must open and close about 100,000 times a day. That's 37 million times a year.

The tempo of medical communication increases. The world's 4,000 medical journals now publish more than 250,000 articles in 30,000 issues a year. Endeavoring in vain to keep up with this flood are 188 indexing and abstracting services.

Bygone Era

The piano was part of a consignment of fine furniture purchased from a merchant in San Francisco, given to Mrs. Healey when she married Capt. Healey and transhipped to Long Beach when the Healeys finally established their home here. It arrived in San Francisco by ship from around the Horn and may have been the first instrument of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

Miss Dorothy Kenyon, a grandaughter of Mrs. Healey presented the piano to Banning House when the house was being refurnished in the style of the period when it was an important social center.

A NEW ACHIEVEMENT IN SANITARY PROTECTION!

5 reasons why new Confidets make other leading sanitary napkins out-of-date, ill-fitting and inadequate...

1. Only true anatomical shape. Confidets® are the only sanitary napkin fully tapered and shaped to fit body contours. Wide in front for more protection—narrow in back for greater comfort—don't bunch or bulge. Confidets can be worn with any standard belt . . . fasten easily, fit securely.

2. Only one with proportioned depth for more protection. No other napkin has extra thickness in middle where greatest absorbency is needed. Protects like a super pad with less bulkiness than a junior size.

3. Only accident-proof inner shield that's full size and securely held in position. Moisture simply cannot penetrate this feather-light shield, so under part of this new napkin stays dry, soft.

4. Only multi-layer filler with this unique arrangement. It holds 8 times its weight in moisture as proved by laboratory tests. The pure, fine quality materials absorb at maximum speed. You're blissfully secure with Confidets!

5. Exclusive ultra soft-strength cover. Only Confidets has a cover so comfortably soft against the skin yet has so much flexible strength in use. Try Confidets—developed and patented by Scott Paper Company.

temperature. A powerful pumping system tucked under the vessel insures a soothing circulation through 10 jets in the sides of the tub.

As the result of relaxing neutral buoyancy, constant body temperature and a built-in hydromassage, Cameron says the sleeper awakens completely refreshed after only three or four hours of slumber instead of the usual seven or eight.

"We already know that the brain needs only about an hour's sleep — most sleeping time is spent becoming comfortable enough to give the brain this brief rest," he explains.

CAMERON INSISTS there is no danger of drowning in his bed. Normally, unequal pressures against the body produce tired muscles and force the sleeper to roll over. But Aquarest eliminates the unequal pressures, Cameron says, thereby removing the urge to toss and turn.

Several bugs must be ironed out before the device has a chance for mass appeal. For example, milady is hardly ready to risk an $8 hairdo in the soothing waters.

At this point Aquarest seems ideal only for the single man with no psychological prejudice against sleeping in a bathtub and $945 to spare.

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

Q. How much did old-time country doctors charge their patients for a call? N. A.

A. Fees were not standardized. An average country doctor might charge 25 to 50 cents for a local visit, or $1 for an all-night vigil with a patient. Small-town doctors sometimes set a scale such as $1 for a daytime visit, $2 for a visit not over four miles, and 50 cents for each additional mile. Even when fees were set, payment was uncertain or long delayed, and was often in the form of produce. Few doctors expected to be paid in full or in cash.

Q. What was the biggest cheese ever made? R. M.

A. There are records of a number of outsize cheeses dating well back into the past, but it is difficult to identify the largest of all time. In 1937, a monstrous Cheddar weighing 6 tons was exhibited in the New York State Fair at Syracuse, N. Y., and about 75 years ago the Toronto Fair boasted a 4-ton cheese. The gift of a mammoth cheese to President Jefferson on New Year's Day 1802 started a tradition which extended to the Van Buren and Jackson administrations. Jefferson's gift cheese weighed 1,600 pounds and Jackson's 1,400.

Q. Where in the Bible is the passage about the "voice of the turtle"?—L. P.

A. In the Song of Solomon 2:11, 12. In the King James Version the passage reads: "For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land." In the Revised Standard Version it is: "The time of singing has come, and the voice of the turtle dove is heard in our land."

Q. How long were the Philippines a U. S. possession? N. C.

A. From 1898, when they were ceded to the U. S. by Spain and became a territorial possession, until they became an independent republic on July 4, 1946.

Q. What is the maximum age at which a midshipman may enter the U. S. Naval Academy? T. M.

A. Twenty-two. A candidate must be not less than 17 nor more than 22 years of age on July 1 of the calendar year in which he enters the Academy at Annapolis.

Patio Buffet That's Different

For a happy start on the patio season, serve Rock Cornish hens. See article right for the full menu.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

TO GIVE a buffet served in the patio a "different" turn, serve Rock Cornish hens with corn flake-pecan stuffing and currant sauce.

The corn flake-nut dressing is a good texture and flavor contrast for the succulent Rock Cornish hens. It is a combination of crushed corn flakes, fresh mushrooms, celery, onion, light raisins, and pecans. This dressing is especially easy to make because the corn flakes require so little preparation; merely crushing.

Breakfast cereals, when used as a recipe ingredient, can add variety and interest to your creative cookery—plus making nutritional contributions by the addition of protein, B vitamins, and minerals.

Rock Cornish Hens

- ¾ cup chopped fresh mushrooms
- ¾ cup chopped celery
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup light raisins
- ½ cup chopped pecans
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 4½ cups corn flakes, crushed to make 1½ cup crumbs
- ¼ cup hot water
- 4 Rock Cornish hens, about 1 pound each

Saute mushrooms, celery, and onion in ⅓ cup butter or margarine until onion is soft. Add raisins, pecans, ½ teaspoon salt, and poultry seasoning; mix well. Stir in cereal crumbs. Add water and toss. Spoon into covered baking dish. Bake in oven with Rock Cornish hens during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Clean hens; salt cavities with remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Truss. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Roast in moderate oven (375 degrees F) until tender, about 1 hour. Melt remaining butter or margarine. Brush hens several times during cooking time with remaining melted butter or margarine. Serve with Currant Sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Currant Sauce:

- 1 jar (10 ounce) currant jelly
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon or ground cloves.

Combine ingredients. Place over low heat; simmer until jelly melts and flavors blend, about 5 minutes. Yield: 1¼ cups.

$5 for Your Recipe

TASTY SALAD is the recipe chosen for the $5 prize this week. The winner: Mrs. Robert E. Shaw, 11712 Glen Cove Dr., Garden Grove. The recipe:

Pineapple-Cream Cheese Delight Salad

- 1 pkg. orange Jello
- ½ lb. marshmallows (about 36)
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
- ½ lb. cream cheese
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup cream, whipped, folded in last
- 1 pkg. lime Jello

Dissolve the Jello in the boiling water and mix in the marshmallows and chill until slightly thick. Then mix in the pineapple, cream cheese mayonnaise and the cup of cream whipped as last ingredient. Return to refrigerator until firm. Prepare the package of lime Jello and pour on top of above mixture when it has cooled but before it sets. Serves 12 to 16.

Lt. Lee points to original recruiting poster placed on patrol headquarters building at Knott's Berry Farm.

Custer's Ghost Patrol

The uniforms and other equipment are eagerly sought by the members who scour antique stores, attics of friends and relatives, and appeals to the general public. The Quartermaster Corps of the U.S. Army has much brand-new equipment stored, but it is difficult to get them to release it.

A fine supply room is maintained in the headquarters building and when a new man is recruited he can be issued clothing and equipment to start him on his training period. As the man continues with the unit, he has the responsibility of supplying his own uniform and turns in the original issue as soon as possible.

SOME SUPPLY items are corporation equipment, but a man may have guns, leather equipment such as belts, boots, gloves, and McClellan saddles, blankets, canteen, bayonet, mess kit, brass fittings, and other items to use as necessary. This policy meant a lot of hard work for the men, but it was John Lee, a skilled gunsmith and now advisor to the group, who was able to gather together a number of regular issue Springfield 45-70 carbines, a single-shot rifle. By trading parts he was able to supply serviceable weapons for issue to each trooper.

THE UNIT'S dedication to these purposes is one reason its total enlistment is only 22 men and officers. The problem in recruiting men was well stated by Trooper Dennis Hoggarth of Long Beach: "Men are often interested in joining up with us until they find out that we are not a social unit. We lose them fast when they see that we are serious about reproducing the soldier's life and training of the Indian War period."

The patrol's dedication is further emphasized by the fact that the group meets two Sundays each month to train, for which they receive no remuneration. The spirit of the group was stated by Cpl. William Olsen of Corona del Mar: "Instead of paying us for service, members of E Troop contribute their time, effort, uniforms and equipment, and $25 per year dues to belong. I feel it is a matter of patriotism to keep alive the accurate historical image of the frontier cavalryman."

Recruiting is helped a great deal by the public relations program E Troop is carrying out. 1st Sgt. Jerry Laws of Redondo Beach explained these activities: "Any group can have the services of two of our soldiers who will bring items of interest for display and put on a 35-40 minute program by making arrangements at least one month in advance. We can also show a silent movie on the cavalryman that will be narrated by the attendant."

For the past two years, the unit also joined the U.S. Army in presenting an unusual historical display of uniforms and weapons at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona.

Besides this recruiting and obtaining of physical equipment, it is necessary for a cavalry unit to be mounted on occasion. Many of the men own their own mounts, but those who do not rent them from a ranch at Glendora where 1,000 acres of diversified land is available for riding and for overnight bivouacs that give the men the real feel of the frontier.

Ages of the men are from 19 to 60, and the patrol draws from all walks of life. The men have combined their efforts to win prizes in every parade they have entered, and have made numerous appearances on TV. However, they have refused many offers to appear in Hollywood films because they would have had to sacrifice the "trueness" of dress and manner of the cavalry man, as well as accuracy in equipment used. Keeping accurately alive the tradition, dress, training, and discipline of the cavalryman of 1876 are the important factors in keeping together this group to perpetuate a colorful chapter in American history.

BOOK REVIEWS

The Time of Adam

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

PERHAPS the most ambitious work of fiction this year is Hiram Haydn's "THE HANDS OF ESAU" (Harper, $7.50). This exceedingly complicated and introspective novel is the first of a projected trilogy entitled "The Generations of Adam." In preparation are "Jacob at the Well" and "The Banks of Jabbok."

The central character in "Esau" is foundation executive Walton Herrick who, at the beginning of the summer of 1953, has recently acquitted himself brilliantly before a congressional investigating committee dominated by the influence of McCarthyism.

Three life-changing situations confront him: a struggle at the foundation is indirectly related to Herrick's appearance before the committee; he is being considered as a possible candidate for governor of Connecticut; and his wife is leaving him.

Herrick, an eminently successful man at 45, spends most of the summer reassessing his life and trying to find himself. A third of this long, 784-page novel is divided into flashbacks dealing with several generations of both his paternal and maternal forebears.

Author Haydn makes Herrick walk the dark and bright corridors of the soul. The shadows of Herrick's strong — and opposite — minded grandfathers wrestle for supremacy in that soul.

Unquestionably, this book is largely autobiographical. In many ways it is a great novel. The action flags occasionally, expecially in the exhaustive flashbacks, but the torment is so honestly and beautifully presented, the reader finds he also is involved in this ambivalent mental war.

The novel's central truth is contained in one sentence spoken by Herrick's essential self (neither conscious nor subconscious) to the reader, "Walton Herrick's no nuttier than you."

This striped, slant-eyed fellow adorns the cover of "WHOLLY CATS," by Faith McNulty and Elisabeth Keiffer, new book on cats and cat lore (Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50.)

SURE, AN' SHE ISN'T afther bein' sassy Irish, like Shaw, or wild Irish, like Behan, nor smitin' Irish, like O'Casey, but the lady, bless her, is Irish nevertheless, even though she's Anglo-Irish, and Elizabeth Bowen's "SEVEN WINTERS AND AFTERTHOUGHTS" (Knopf, $5) is Irish through and through, which, in literature means thoroughly charming.

The fine novelist turns her hand to reminiscences of her day at dancing school she says: ". . . as we trickled into our places across the floor, we little girls, as white as the ballerinas of Swan Lake, but with the action of clumsy cygnets . . . we all felt that something psychic inside each child or the day had already determined whether that child, today, should be a duffer or able to dance."

In the "Afterthoughts" section of the book there are discussions of Trollope, Katherine Mansfield, Virginia Woolf and other writers, well worth staying for.

STUART CHASE, in "AMERICAN CREDOS" (Harper, $3.95) uses Elmo Roper, Gallup and other pollsters to fix the American character. He does this by way of revealing the basic attitudes and beliefs of Americans on such matters as foreign policy, defense, science, education, big business and religion.

Tahoe Takes the Dice

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Southland Magazine Travel Editor

LAKE TAHOE

IT USED to be that folks motored up here over somewhat primitive roads to get away from it all.

Many still do, but a great many more swish into the area from the south on Hwy. 50—now a freeway most of the way from Sacramento—and keep right on going through the South Shore district until they reach Stateline, Nev.

Stateline, Nev., is just across a narrow street from a place called Stateline, Calif., apparently has become the third largest gambling city in Nevada, and is growing like Jack's beanstalk.

Cuddling right up to the imaginary line on both sides of the street of the Nevada side is Tahoe Harrah's, which would be big-league among the casinos in either Reno or Las Vegas.

WHETHER THEY play a nickel, a C-note, or nothing, visitors find Harrah's quite a sight. It's not only claimed to have the largest casino anywhere, but has other amenities. For instance, the South Shore Room, which has a mammoth, electronified stage, can seat 800 or more for dinner (with champagne, if desired) and entertainment by such talent as Dinah Shore, Art Linkletter and Danny Kaye.

Next door on the left is Harvey's Wagon Wheel, now undergoing a multi-million dollar expansion which in no way interferes with the dice, roulette, black jack and slot machines on the lower levels.

THE WAGON WHEEL will be an 11-story resort casino and convention center with eye-popping innovations. As an example, an entertainment pavilion has just been opened over the parking area. When this, the Tahoe area's first skyscraper, is completed in the Fall it will have 204 rooms, a convention hall seating 750, and a 550-seat restaurant on the top floor.

Oddly enough, there will be no gaming in the new restaurant.

What do parents do with their kids when they roll the dice?

That's a good question now, but it is being solved by one casino. In addition to moving its children's theater to a new building, a complete children's recreation center is being built. It will include such sports as basketball and table tennis for teeners who can't crash the gaming rooms, even with parents.

BUT EVEN WITH the completion of the Wagon Wheel's hotel facilities, the California side of South Shore will remain the community's "bedroom" for the most part.

Grace Carriker of the Lake Tahoe South Shore Chamber of Commerce estimates that there are more than 300 motels all around the lake, 225 of them right in the South Shore area. The South Shore establishments, alone, will bed down more than 4,000 visitors a night. Accommodations run from $5 to $25 and more for two people, depending upon the type of unit desired and its proximity to the casinos. Some of these are ultra swank, and with two pools each.

But to get back to those who drive up here to forget their troubles AND the casinos: the view is still here, and it's magnificent. The weather is sparkling. The Forest Service is constantly adding facilities in the parks and on the beaches.

FOR THOSE who like sports, swimming, boating and sun-lazing remain popular. The first of future annual speed boat regattas is slated Sept. 29-30. And, advertised for completion in November is a new aerial tramway with enclosed cable cars for sightseers.

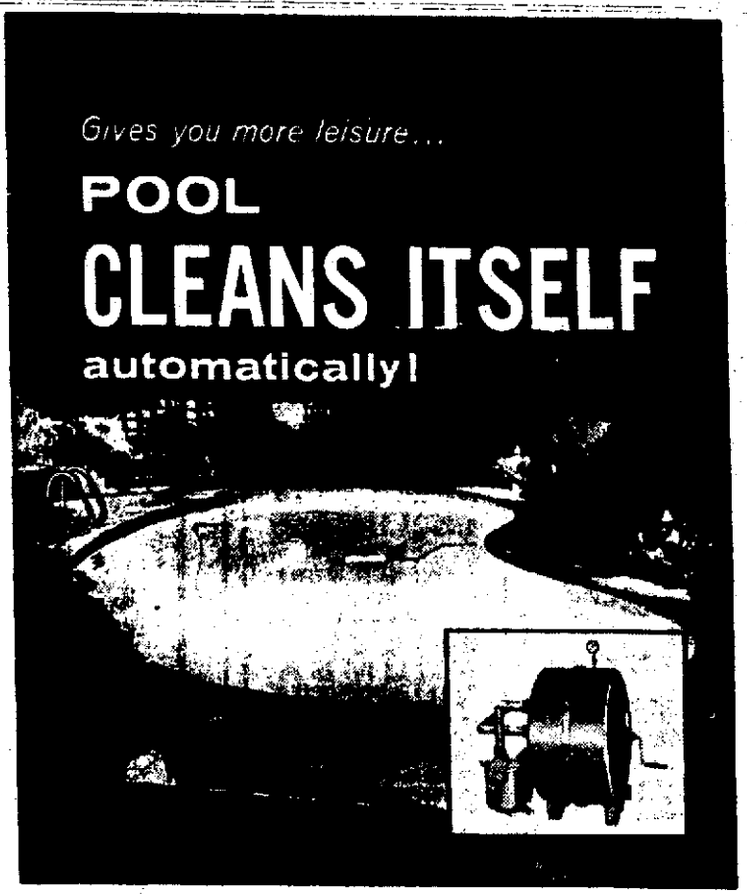

But, after all, the greatest number of visitors bring with them a gambling spirit. Demonstrating this fact is the story told by one visitor, who approached an elderly woman playing three slot machines at once.

"May I take over one of these bandits?" he asked.

"No you can't," she replied without taking her eyes from her work, "I'm playing them all and I've never had so much fun in all my life!"

"My greatest worry is how many cigarettes can I take into France. . . ."

Customs says five cartons and you could probably stretch it to six. American cigarettes are available in all tourist centers at 60 cents a package.

"Would you suggest going to Hawaii by tour or independently?"

Independently. This is the U.S. You don't need the language, tipping and other help of tours—though a tour does give you companions and assured hotel reservations.

Once in the islands, tours to the outer islands might be better for easy organization. Also I'd make the Gray Line tour around the island, the visit to Iolani Palace and the Pearl Harbor tour. Cheaper than doing it by taxi on your own.

$2 Million Yosemite Improvements

CONSTRUCTION will start soon on a new 100-room guest facility at Yosemite Lodge, in Yosemite National Park.

Decision to proceed with the long-planned $2 million project was reached by Yosemite Park and Curry Co. following approval of a 30-year contract with the National Park Service.

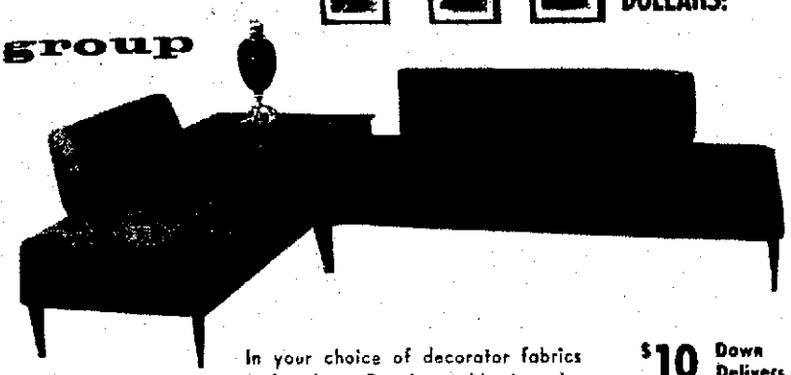

Two types of buildings (shown in the sketch) are planned. The building at the left will provide 30 rooms, half of which will face the north, half south; each ground floor room will have a small private terrace; each second-floor room, a balcony. There will be 20 rooms in building sketched at right. Exterior construction will be of redwood, finished in natural tones to blend with the wooded surroundings. To accomplish the 100 rooms, two buildings of each type will be constructed.

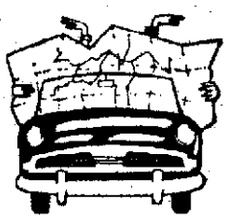

In addition to improvements at Yosemite Lodge, 100 units at Housekeeping Camp also will be built.

The new construction will represent replacement of existing accommodations to improve public service and will not mean an increase in capacity, it was pointed out.

"I'm a restauranteur, with places running full tilt all over the map. And it keeps me hopping to keep them all running smoothly.

"Fine. So long as it's business. But when it comes to personal leisure, I draw the line. In my book, there's only one kind of holiday worth taking. The kind that gives you a complete change from your normal routine. In this class, Matson Resort Liners to Hawaii win in a walk.

"These ships are full-fledged, vacation resorts, staffed by the finest personnel to come down the pike. You can't touch them for competence.

"And when it comes to food, facilities, comfort, Matson does it in spades. As well or better than any first class spa you'll find on land – anywhere in the world. And I've sampled more than a few.

"Take Matson to Hawaii and discover what real vacation pleasure can be" says Trader Vic

"If you get the idea that I'm a Matson fan, you're right. Take Matson and you will be, too."

Little Sun-Bather

By Eleanor Avery Price

Favorite of all the interesting and helpful lizards is the "horned toad." With good care, he's a good pet.

IF you have a little "dragon" like the one pictured with this article, give him good care and he may live for some time as a clean, curious, amusing, shly friendly pet.

The horned lizard, popularly called horned toad, is not easily seen in his native habitat for he blends with his environment. He is an expert at freezing, and at other times will rapidly disappear into a rocky crevice or under a bush. He may go into a series of contortions and quickly bury himself in soft sand. Nature also helped by giving him horns on his head. They prevent snakes from swallowing him. And some species can squirt a tiny stream of blood from their eyes, a phenomenon seldom seen as it usually occurs only if the lizard puffs up angrily when roughly handled after shedding his skin following winter hibernation.

A female horned lizard is usually plumper, her tail shorter. Her mate may sport a brighter coat.

A CAPTURED horned lizard may hiss occasionally, but once you hold him in your hand and softly stroke him on his back, he will calm down. If you stroke him between the eyes, he will seem hypnotized and fall asleep. He dislikes being turned upside down.

Obtain a desert terrarium with hinged screen top, or get a wooden box and put a screen lid on top. Spread an inch of clean dry sand or grit on the bottom, deeper at one corner so the lizard can burrow. Don't be alarmed if he sinks out of sight. He digs in for the night. He also needs to have a winter nap so he will be spry the next spring.

Sink a shallow pan of water in one corner of his home in case the pet wants to sit and absorb moisture. He probably does not drink water but gets it from the food he eats.

The horned lizard may not eat if the temperature drops below 70. You can keep his home warm with a light bulb, but remember he is a sunbather and appreciates being placed where mild sunshine can get to him several hours daily. Never put a glass over the box, however, for it will concentrate the sunshine and cook the pet.

OFFER soft-bodied insects and meal worms. If there are large red ants in your yard, collect some on a piece of wax paper smeared with a bit of honey or soft candy. The lizard will lap them up with his thick, sticky tongue. Don't be alarmed if the pet eats only once or twice weekly.

Some species dig holes in sand in spring or early summer and lay as many as two dozen eggs. Others give birth to their young along about August. The babies like to crawl upon their mother's back when she is perched on a rock. This gives them a sunbath while at the same time rests their legs.

CAMERA ANGLES

Give Your Lens New Speed

By the Shutterbug

Improved color film for both movies and still pictures makes record of scenes like this, left, better than ever.

FOR STILLS, or for movies, just about any camera worthy of the name will make good pictures of every-day subjects in good light. Where the faster lenses get in their licks is for fast-moving targets, especially when the light is poor.

But all picture-makers know this. And all of them also know that it's the extra bit of lens speed that makes a fast still-camera shutter really useful, and, often, slow-motion movies possible —as well as being the reason for the amount on most camera price tags. Now, however, for full-color picture-making, you can "buy" yourself added lens speed by merely loading with a faster color film. When, for example, that film is Kodachrome II, your camera lens immediately becomes 2½ times as fast as it has been before. And this is for optimum exposure results. As this new color film has a marked degree of exposure latitude, the gain is even greater than this.

APART FROM increased picture-making range, outdoors or indoors, a faster film means that you can shoot at smaller lens openings — and it's no news to anyone that the-smaller-the-lens-aperture, the-sharper-the-picture. What's more, Kodachrome II, itself, is a "sharper" and more detailed film, which virtue you'll find particularly apparent in extra-bright and extra-dark picture areas. Outdoors, in other words, for sand or snow, and for otherwise dark shadows; indoors, for often over-lighted flesh tones, as well as for the frequently underexposed surrounding areas.

Spring and summer activity is often fast-paced. Stopping such action, with the fastest-possible shutter speed, has been the objective of still-picture makers. Now, with a speedier color film, they can really fracture seconds!

IN MOVIE-MAKING, of course, the goal is not to stop motion but rather to record it as clearly as possible — which is especially true of 8mm filmers who want to show big-screen movies with one of the newer and more brilliant 8mm projectors. For them, and for almost any movie opportunity, the new film is the obvious answer. Yet in movies shutter speed can become important for the making of slow-motion pictures that do such a beautiful job in transforming fast and sometimes uneven action into detailed and graceful motion studies. The four-times-faster shutter pace of 64-frame filming demands a compensating increase in either lens or film speed — and, especially in bad weather or late in an otherwise bright day, a faster film can be a big help.

Indoors, of course, speed is everything. Speed of film means that, most times, you can use one of your camera's smaller instead of one of its larger lens openings. And on the count of shooting range, extra film speed, translated into added lens speed, means that you can now capture subjects which, heretofore, have simply been beyond your reach.

Roses Don't Just 'Happen So'

By Joe Littlefield

DESPITE all the advice from the professionals, many gardeners like to know some of the secrets of individual growers, particularly in the field of successful rose culture.

Mrs. George J. C. Thorne, president of the Santa Barbara Rose Society, gives some rules that are particularly appropriate because Mrs. Thorne is a business woman and has limited time to care for her garden. Nevertheless, she grows a bountiful garden of beautiful roses.

Here are some of Mrs. Thorne's comments:

"High temperatures that are encountered in July make thorough, deep irrigation of roses at regular intervals a necessity. If this precaution is taken, plants will suffer no setback, which can easily occur if they are allowed to dry out. Given a normal monthly feeding of a complete fertilizer (4-10-4 is best here), and regular spraying as a preventative rather than a cure, the reward will be many lovely blooms.

"MANY GROWERS in the Southland have kept their roses relatively free of mildew and some pests by a daily overhead watering of the plants in the early morning hours. However, in the Santa Barbara (coastal) area such a practice would be unwise. Our close proximity to the coast with fogs and the humidity that prevails, is a perfect buildup for fungus diseases and overhead spraying can increase the chances of both mildew and rust invading the rose beds. This does not mean however, that the roses should never be watered overhead. Indeed it is most refreshing to them but should be done early in the day to avoid leaf burn from the heat.

As pointed out, roses need plenty of moisture and a brief overhead watering does not supply the needed amount. Using soil soakers is suggested to insure good penetration. If this is done first and followed by a refreshing overhead watering much benefit is obtained. But the wise rosarian will then follow up the watering session with a thorough spraying. A combined fungicide and insecticide should be used. It is never advisable to spray roses that have not been watered ahead of spraying.

"GOOD housekeeping in the garden means healthier plants. Remove open blooms before petals fall. Rose gardens with dead flowers, discarded petals and foliage accumulating, offer little beauty. Under proper management, roses are used with dramatic success in landscaping.

"This is a good time to make sure there is sufficient mulch on the rose beds to keep the root zone cool. Also check to be sure the crown area is not covered with mulch. Removing spindly growth from the plant, maintaining an open center to insure better air circulation, are helpful in keeping fungus and pests out of the rose garden."

Beautiful roses, like Tiffany (above), don't just happen. They come about through following cultural rules.

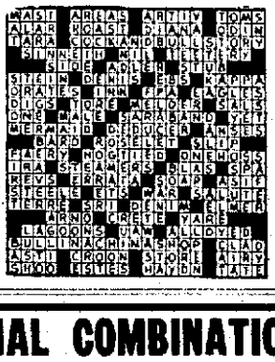

Fuchsia Events

Two events of interest to shade plant fanciers and their friends are scheduled for the coming week by Long Beach Fuchsia Society. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave., for a showing of slides of the recent fuchsia and shade plant show. A plant table will be offered. Visitors are welcome.

A pancake breakfast will be served by the group from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, 3736 Falcon Ave. Joe Littlefield, garden writer and lecturer, will be a guest of honor. Tickets may be obtained from all Fuchsia Society members.

Junipers Are Forever Young

Junipers grow at each side of this entrance, adding a note of grace to the more formal architectural lines.

By Walter Finch

THERE IS a juniper for almost every garden purpose. They range in height from 20-inch specimens used as ground covers to the upright varieties that may grow to 15 feet at maturity. One of the most desirable features of the juniper is its ability to look well even when subjected to persistent abuse and given a minimum of care.

Junipers belong to the pine family and during ancient times the genus name of juniperus was believed to indicate a plant that was "forever young." Even modern-day junipers bear out this interpretation for the oldest specimens have a young and healthy look. There are a large number of varieties although the average nurseryman stocks only about five or six types.

THE CREEPING junipers are of course recommended for ground-cover purposes and all of these prefer an open exposure and plenty of sun. The better varieties in this group will remain under two feet, although all respond favorably to pruning. Some of these produce both scale-like and needle-like foliage on the same plant.

The upright-growing forms may be employed toward the rear of borders, as dividers and for screening purposes. These junipers range in height from about 8 to 15 feet. Many make massive-sized shrubs at maturity. One of the most notable in this group is Pfitzer's juniper, which has been grown in this area for many years. It is fast-growing and produces gray-green foliage. Some varieties have greenish-yellow leaves.

One of the most popular of the spreading varieties for Southern California is Juniperus sabina tamarix. Because if its ground-hugging appearance nurserymen refer to it as a prostrate-growing type. It seldom grows higher than 18 or 20 inches, although in time it may attain a lateral spread of close to six feet.

ENTIRELY different in appearance is the narrow Irish juniper recognized botanically as Juniperus communis hibernica fastigiata. This should be used where height, rather than width, is desired. The plant grows to about seven feet but seldom exceeds 20 or 22 inches across. It is at its best in either full sun or part shade.

One of the more novel varieties is Juniperus chinensis twisted, its name being due to the twisted appearance of the plant. This is a compact variety, seldom growing beyond a height of 7 to 8 feet tall.

I think it is best to stop cultivating chrysanthemums about July 15, and at that time give them a 3- or 4-inch mulch of cow manure. This seems to carry them along to the time when the buds start to set. Then give them one feeding with a good well-balanced commercial fertilizer that is heavy in potash. Keep the plants well staked and tied and, when they show color, spread cheesecloth over them to protect them from the hot sun.

I believe in watering overhead up until the time the buds appear because it seems to keep the foliage clean and allow the plants to breathe oxygen. However, after the buds form, it is advisable to change to irrigation.

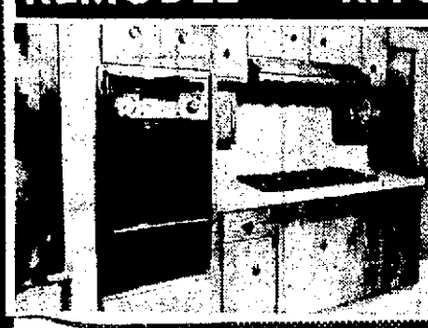

When chewing insects become prevalent, such at Diabrotica, Fuller's rose beetle, chrysanthemum green worm and others, give an occasional spraying with a material combining malathion and dieldrin.

GOLDIE DOVALIS

The Decor Is Indian

When you step inside, however, you are immediately transported far away from Santa Fe Avenue. Instead you find yourself in the colorful, romantic world of old Sante Fe, N. M. This effect is achieved by more than a dozen large murals of New Mexico desert and Indian scenes and the restaurant's brilliant modern-western style of architecture.

Owned by Gabriel (Bill) Dovalis and his wife, Goldie, Currie's Santa Fe quite naturally features cuisine which matches its decor. Since nothing is more western than charcoal-broiled steaks, Currie's serves beautiful special sirloins for $2.85; choice filet mignons for $3.50, as well as T-bones and extra-cut New Yorks.

The restaurant also features an extensive variety of sea food delicacies, tender roast prime rib au jus for $3.50, loin pork chops with spiced peach for $2.75 and handsome double French lamb chops for $3.50.

Always popular with the patrons is the "out-of-this-world" broiled ½ chicken for $2.50.

All of these entrees are accompanied by choice of tomato juice or soup du jur, large tossed green salad with choice of dressing, potatoes, toasted garlic cheese bread, and choice of beverage.

A large restaurant with seating for hundreds, Currie's Santa Fe has two banquet rooms and an impressive cocktail lounge.

RACE TO THE MOON

Will the risky, headlong Russian program put the moon behind the Iron Curtain? Or will our safer, more painstaking methods win the race?

WASHINGTON, D.C.

AT A RECENT RUSSIAN EMBASSY RECEPTION here, the German-American rocketeer Wernher von Braun and Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov drifted into a quiet corner and began talking shop. Titov spoke with great excitement about landing on the moon. He illustrated by bringing a pencil down with a weaving motion onto the palm of his hand. The pencil was a stubby Russian product as, he promised, would be the spaceship it symbolized. "The first men on the moon," he said confidently, "will be Russians."

Von Braun, who understands as well as any man the seriousness of the Russian challenge, did not take the boast lightly. Manned moonflight has been a Soviet goal since the early 1950s. Not until last year did it also become an official U.S. objective.

Our space scientists now believe they can land an American on the moon in 1968. The Russians, it is known, are aiming for 1967 (as a glorious climax to the 50th anniversary celebration of the Revolution).

Another Soviet Satellite?

Even on earth, we have seen what happens when the Russians get their foot in the door first. Ensconced on the moon, they may be even more difficult to dislodge. Russian science is reported to be seeking the means not only to build a permanent lunar base but to prohibit other explorers from landing, creating in the heavens yet another Soviet satellite.

Some skeptics doubt that any nation will place a man on the moon in our time. The problems in astrophysics, biology, communications, engineering, and guidance are truly staggering. (Austrian physicist Hans Thirring has compared the task to leveling the Rocky Mountains.) Others contemplate the hostile lunar landscape, tote up the $10 million a day the attempt will cost, and ask: "Why go to the moon at all?"

The answer lies, in part, in human inquisitiveness which has ever driven men to explore the unknown. The Space Age can no more be held back, say enthusiasts, than could have been the Industrial Revolution.

But there is a more compelling purpose: the simple fact that the Soviets are going to the moon forces us to compete. A Russian landing upon the moon, added to their other space firsts, would be an incalculable political and psychological setback for the West. It could destroy confidence in our leadership.

Military theorists warn, too, that the first nation to seize and hold the moon may also hold the earth in thrall. Its craters could become launching sites for the fantastic weapons of the future, its "hidden side" a base for space battleships. To be sure, the Russians deny that they have military designs upon the moon. But significantly, their space explorations are directed by Marshal K. S. Moskalenko, commander of the strategic rocket forces, whose military crews launched the cosmonauts into orbit.

Fortunately, the race for the moon is a relay race. Victory will not necessarily go to the side which makes the fastest start. But it would be foolhardy to deny that Russia's early start is an advantage, and the Russians have shown no disposition to give up their lead. Quite the contrary, they are reported to be taking extra risks to reach the moon first.

This has led to a controversy at the highest levels of American space science: Is the U. S. being too cautious in the space race? The great explorers of the past faced the fact that exploration was a dangerous occupation, and the great discoveries went to the daring. Have our modern explorers gone soft?

One group contends that free men place too high a value on life to risk it needlessly. A space tragedy might so shock public opinion, they warn, that it would set back space exploration for years. Therefore, they argue, risks should be reduced to a minimum; nothing should be left to chance.

But another group contends that Columbus would never have discovered America if he had been held back by the same conservatism that marks our space-work. "We have got to win the race to the moon, and we aren't going to fly there on a featherbed," declares one space authority.

Another charges that our space program is bedevilled by what he calls "the anti-shark-bite-spats approach." He explains: "During World War II, one policymaker came up with an astounding recommendation to protect our Pacific fliers against sharks. He suggested that they be issued metal spats, which would shield their legs after they hit the water until they could spread shark repellant around themselves. Of course, heavy, metal spats would have dragged the men to the bottom where they would have become shark bait for sure."

He claims our space capsules are similarly overloaded with safety systems and gadgets. "They carry just about everything," he says, "except a do-it-yourself surgical kit for emergency operations." He mentions 15 kinds of radio sets, electronic gear for every conceivable purpose. There is even a 300-pound periscope to give the astronaut a 360-degree look around. Yet he could see all he really needs to see through a simple porthole.

This expert believes the astronauts, themselves, are over-trained and over-schooled. Both John Glenn and Scott Carpenter have confessed that they spent hours training for emergencies that didn't arise, then had to invent on-the-spur answers for those that did. The Russian cosmonauts go through far less painstaking preparation. They are also younger and less experienced. Most aren't even test pilots, have done comparatively little flying. But the expert contends that they learn faster, not only because of their youth, but because they have less to unlearn. For space flight is a new art and bears little relation to testing jets.

Both Russian and American scientists agree that the "rendezvous technique" would be the quickest means to the moon. The idea would be to send the moonship up in two sections, couple the segments together while in orbit, then dispatch the combination on to the moon. To carry three men to the moon would require a 75-ton moonship, a monster alongside the five-ton Russian Vostoks which are now the world's heaviest capsules.

The dramatic rendezvous of two rockets in orbit, bringing them together as they whirled around the world at 18,000 miles an hour, would require less power than a straight moon shot. But it would require split-second timing and incredible control. A possible alternative: put a mother capsule into orbit around the moon, then detach a landing pod containing the lunar explorers. The pod would contain its own engine for getting back into orbit and rejoining the mother capsule for the voyage back to earth.

The lunar orbit technique would be simpler for the scientists, therefore quicker to achieve, but more dangerous for the astronauts. They might get stranded on the moon without enough rocket power to take them back to earth. Typically, the Russians are reported to be working on the riskier but speedier lunar technique while the Americans are concentrating on the safer method.

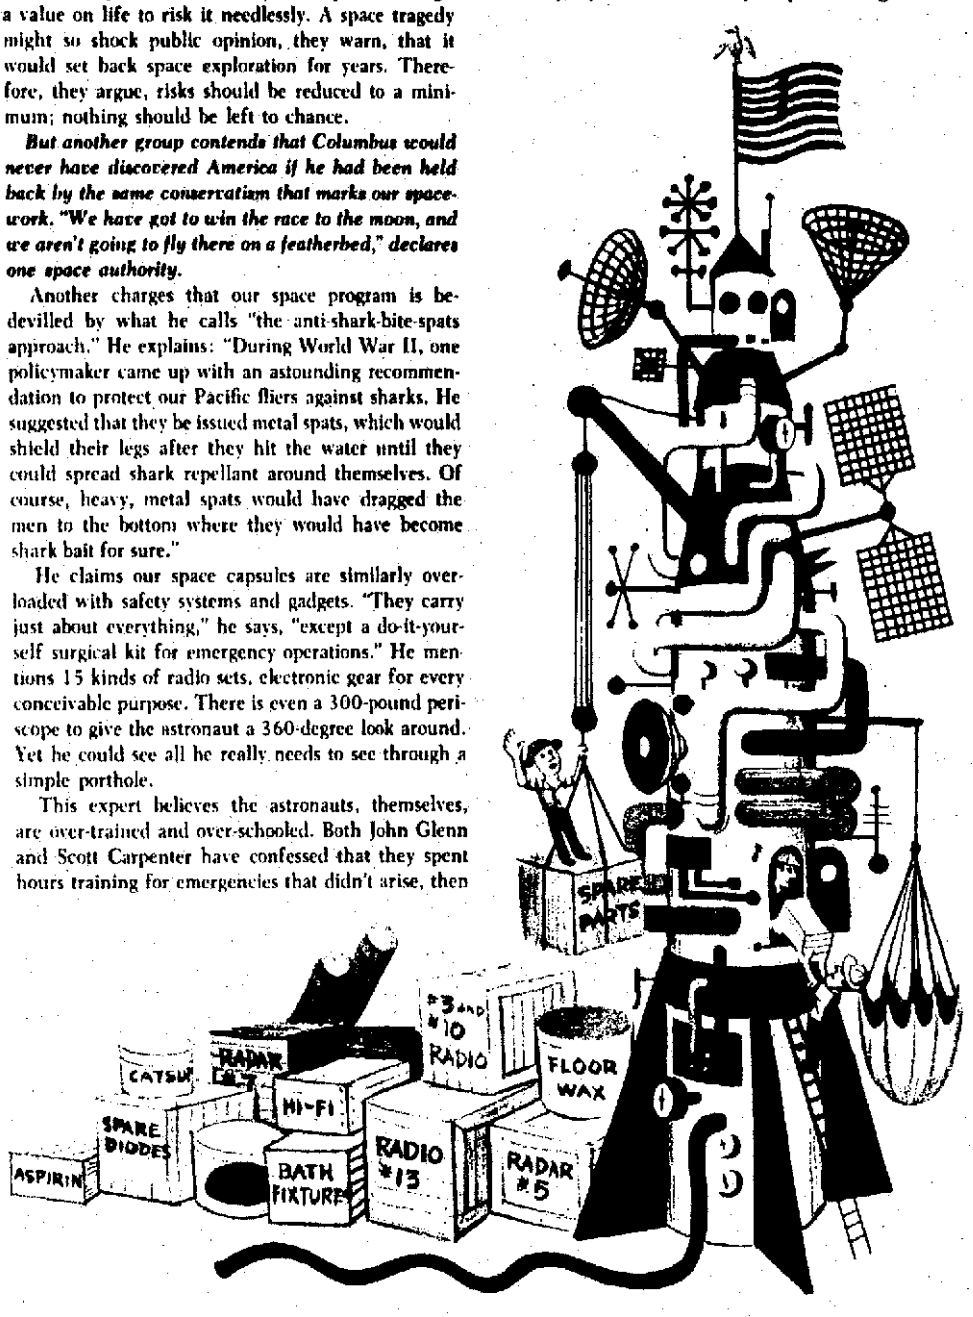

Another report from behind the Iron Curtain indicates that the Russians may also train lady cosmonauts for the moon journey. The practical Soviets are less concerned with skill than with weight, and women are generally lighter than men. But the American authorities still look upon space exploration as men's work.

Stakes May Be Too High

Despite Soviet willingness to put victory ahead of safety, the U. S. can't be counted out of the moon race. Hints have appeared in Russian writings that the stakes may have gotten too high for the Kremlin, that the massive cost of the moon project is beginning to slow the Soviet effort. But others warn that the Russians are sparing no cost to beat us to the moon. "The results of their research will soon become painfully apparent," warns an Air Force general familiar with the Soviet program. "It may come as a shock to those who prefer complacency to realism."

But most of the 435,000 men and women now being mobilized to work on the space projects within the government and industry are anything but complacent. Slow in starting, the U. S. is getting ready for its own sprint. We are now outspending the Russians and can do so indefinitely. Our astronauts are as eager to land on the moon as the cosmonauts.

The moon is by no means certain to fall behind the Iron Curtain. But it could go to the Russians by default if we let over-caution hamper our efforts. Perhaps the answer—and the victory—lies in giving the astronauts, the men who will go to the moon, more say about the equipment they want and the risks they will accept. After all, they were the first to warn that all space shots won't be successful, the last to demand a foolproof guarantee of Safety First. ■

Ulla Jacobsson

Is she another Ingrid Bergman?

Ulla runs in France. Happily wed, she puts love ahead of career.

by LLOYD SHEARER

VIENNA.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO I asked a Hollywood casting director what quality he would look for first in any young, photogenic movie actress. Immediately he answered, "A 38-inch bust."

I pointed out that Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergman, two of the world's most enduring screen stars, had never been so bountifully endowed. He conceded, but then asked, "How about Marilyn Monroe and Elizabeth Taylor?" I agreed that he had a point, or rather a curve, in those two cases, but I suggested the likelihood that the public was rapidly getting fed up with sexpots and sex-oriented films.

He agreed and said that all Hollywood casting directors were now searching desperately for actresses who generated "clean, wholesome sex appeal, the respectful, romantic kind which attracts men but doesn't antagonize women." In the trade this is known as "the Bergman quality."

As Fresh As Mint

One actress who exudes it is Ulla Jacobsson, a small stalk of Swedish loveliness with deep blue eyes, dark blonde hair, and the flawless complexion of a new-born rose. A European screen and stage star of 29 who gives men the impression that she has spent the previous night on a bed of mint, Ulla recently finished her first American-made film, The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm with Charles Boyer, Ricardo Montalban, Glenn Ford and Hope Lange. For the most part it was shot on the French Riviera; and Ulla was so good in this film, so professional, so cooperative, so naturally feminine and friendly that by the time it was over, she had become the darling of the crew, and another leading actress in the cast, reportedly consumed by jealousy, refused to speak to her.

"It is very funny," Ulla recalled in English, tainted by her half-Swedish, half-German accent. "This actress, she will not talk to me; and Glenn Ford, he will not talk to me when he is with her. She cannot think that I try to steal Glenn from her. I have wonderful husband of my own."

Ulla Jacobsson (pronounced Yakobson) is that rare creature—a woman who honestly believes she can make a success of both acting and wifehood. Here in this once-picturesque Austrian capital she is married to Winfried Rohsmann, a well-known ethnologist (ethnology is the science which deals with the characteristics and origins of different races). They have two children, Ditte, a girl of seven, and Martin, a boy of five.

Rohsmann lectures all over Europe, and Ulla likes to travel with him. "I limit myself," she explains, "to two jobs a year. When a very good part comes, there is temptation to take it, but I refuse, even if it hurts I refuse because every woman must ask herself, 'For me what is most important in life?' I love success. I love make myself something. But I love more my husband and children.

"You know what we do this summer? We put packs on our backs and climb mountains and walk across open country and sleep in haystacks under open sky. I know it is not the way Hollywood stars spend vacation, but I am not Hollywood star.

"I was there once five days and what I remember best is place where they sell so much food—the Farmer's Market."

Because she is considered another Ingrid Bergman with all the qualities that made Bergman so great a star at the box office, Ulla has been offered several Hollywood contracts. Martin Poll, who produced The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm, would like to place her under personal contract, but the shapely little Swedish actress—5-feet-1, 108 lbs., 34-23-33—will accept no long-term deals even though she has been a dedicated actress since she was 15.

Ulla was born in Gothenburg, Sweden. She was one of four girls in a group of 48 candidates chosen to attend the famed Gothenburger Theatre School. She was discovered for Swedish films by director Arne Mattson who saw her on the Stockholm stage, signed her for One Summer of Madness.

Ingmar Bergman, Sweden's so-called directorial genius, then called her for Smiles of a Summer Night, a film that won both of them international acclaim. After that, Ulla was signed for plays and films all over Europe. In 1952 she met Winfried Rohsmann, and married him. They maintain two apartments, one in Vienna, one in Gothenburg.

As an actress Ulla is best-known in Europe for her realism and "healthy sex appeal." Says Charles Boyer: "She is one of those enormously gifted Swedish girls like Garbo, Bergman, Viveca Lindfors, Signe Hasso. She has training, beauty, dignity, sex appeal and the acting talent to make any scene, no matter how unreal, come alive. If she were ambitious, Ulla could become one of the truly great stars of our time. All she needs is a Hollywood buildup."

And that of course is the one thing Ulla Jacobsson does not want. She realizes that in so many cases a Hollywood buildup turns out to be nothing but a big bust. ■

DESENEX!

MEDICAL SCIENTISTS REPORT:
"amazing results" "dramatic improvement"*

Probably nowhere is the control of athlete's foot more important than in the Army, Navy and Air Force, with millions of men in service. Thanks to a remarkable preparation, it no longer is the problem it once was.

The treatment (undecylenic acid) is so simple and dependable, it is now a standard Athlete's Foot Treatment used by the U.S. Armed Forces!

This Desenex treatment is also most often prescribed and recommended by physicians, for it works where others often fail. It promises new freedom from athlete's foot itching, pain and danger of spreading, as evidenced by clinical studies involving over 6200 men and women.*

What Desenex does

Desenex seeks out, attacks and kills not only common athlete's foot fungi, but also checks bacteria that often cause more stubborn cases. Maddening itch is relieved, healing rapidly promoted. Simply use Desenex Ointment at night; Powder during day. It's guaranteed to work or money back! Desenex—at all drug counters.

*Clinical results were described professionally as "dramatic," "immediate," even "amazing." Key facts from these studies by leading hospitals, medical schools and clinics are available to your physician or your foot specialist.

Townsfolk kick off clean-up program. Man with mop in foreground, second from right, is Gov. Barron.

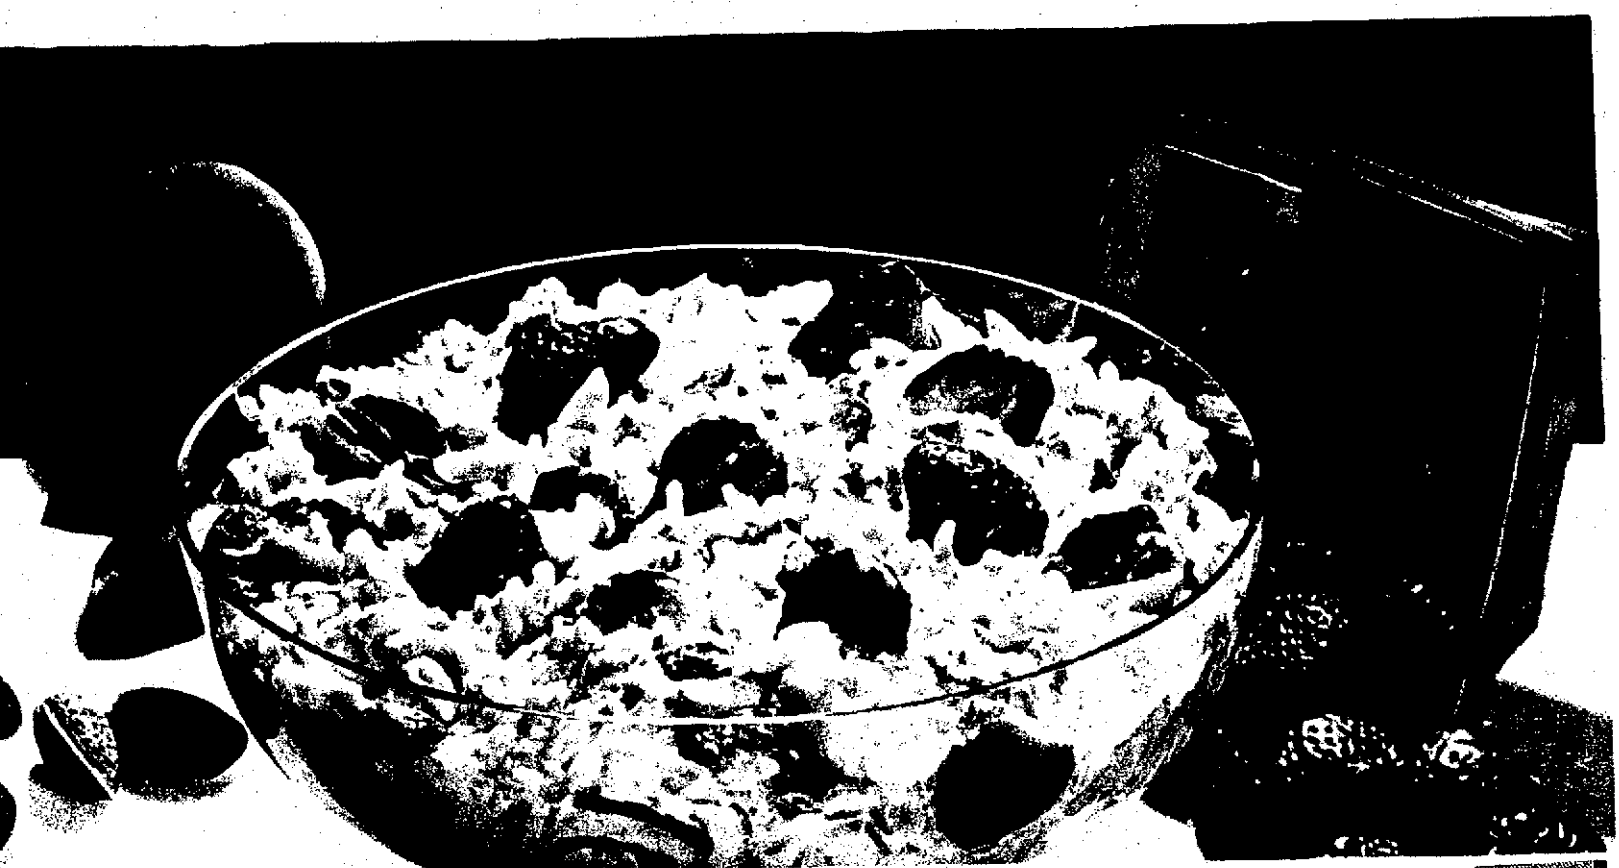

the BIG SWEEP

ELKINS, W. VA.

COULD YOUR TOWN use a face-lifting? If so, take a hint from West Virginia, where it's clean-up time from the panhandle to the highlands. The new state pastime is mop-up, scrub-up, paint-up, fix-up and pick-up from now on through the winter snows. West Virginia is out to capture the "Keep America Beautiful" award, but more important, it wants to start '63, its centennial year, with a brand-new face.

While Operation Clean-Up has been in effect throughout the state for a year and a half, the campaign has taken on new vigor ever since this community of 8,300—home town of Gov. William W. Barron—rolled up its sleeves in an all-out effort to be the cleanest town in the state. That was on May 4; now other communities are competing for best-scrubbed honors.

Eight years ago when Gov. Barron was mayor of Elkins, he took a broom down the main street to dramatize the need for keeping the community tidy-looking. This year the whole town pitched in on a voluntary basis to spruce up the streets, stores, public buildings and homes. Jailhouse inmates cleaned their cells; ladies got out on the highway and distributed litter bags to motorists entering Elkins; schoolchildren, carrying brooms, brushes and mops, paraded down the street and the whole town came out in a mass demonstration to Keep Elkins Clean. If your town needs sprucing too, try a clean-up. Write for free help and information to: National Clean-up—Paint-up—Fix-up Bureau, 1500 Rhode Island Ave. NW, Washington 5, D.C. Then grab a mop and pitch in. —ROSALIND MASSOW

SNOW MOUNTAIN RICE

1 cup water • ¼ cup sugar • ¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt • 1 cup Minute Rice
2 cups summer fruit (such as strawberries, peaches, raspberries, or a combination)
¼ cup slivered almonds • 1½ cups whipped cream or prepared Dream Whip Dessert Topping Mix

Bring water, sugar, lemon juice, and salt to a boil. Stir in long-grain Minute Rice, right from the box. Because you don't boil it first, Minute Rice can gather in all the tart-sweet flavors—and do it so fast, none can steal away. Cover, remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Uncover, stir, cool thoroughly. Meanwhile, sprinkle fruit with enough sugar to sweeten. Let stand while rice is cooling. Then drain fruit, measuring ¼ cup juice; add this to rice along with fruit and nuts. Fold whipped cream or prepared Dream Whip Dessert Topping Mix into rice mixture. Serves 8 grateful people.

Try new Minute Spanish Rice Mix, too. Delicious spice, seasonings, rice —right in the box.

A chocolate cake for summer

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

A rich chocolate cake "baked" right in your refrigerator is our cool contribution to your summer menu. This luscious cake is easy to make, requiring very little cooking—a fact which makes it especially welcome in warm weather. Serve our chocolate refrigerator cake after a light meal of jellied consommé, lamb chops, green peas and tossed salad. Make your beverage tea or coffee.

CHOCOLATE REFRIGERATOR CAKE

20 lady fingers
½ lb. sweet cooking chocolate
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream, divided

Line straight-sided loaf pan; 11 x 4 x 2½-inches, with waxed paper, leaving overhang. Separate lady fingers. Place 8 halves in a row in bottom of pan. Melt chocolate over hot water; remove from heat; add egg yolks one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Add vanilla. Whip ½ cup cream; fold in. Spread ¼ chocolate mixture on lady fingers in pan. Add another row of lady finger halves. Repeat until there are 4 layers of chocolate. Top with remaining lady fingers. Chill several hours or overnight. Lift cake from pan with waxed paper overhang. Remove waxed paper. Place on serving dish. Whip remaining cream. Frost sides of cake. Makes 8 servings.

FATHER

by MARY V. R. THAYER

MACAO.

RECENTLY the eyes of the free world have been focused on Hong Kong, where a sudden horde of refugees, fleeing from famine-ridden Communist China, has poured into the city looking for food and freedom.

Here in Macao, however, the desperate influx of Chinese refugees is an old story. Each day for more than 10 years, a steady trickle of starved and disillusioned Chinese has crossed the border into this bustling, tightly-packed Portuguese colony 35 miles west of Hong Kong. Instead of being turned away by local authorities, these refugees find a haven here. And the man they turn to for shelter and relief is a Catholic priest, Father Luis Ruiz, known throughout Southeast Asia as the "Chaplain of Refugees."

A chunky, handsome Spaniard with red cheeks, Father Ruiz radiates strength and optimism, works an 18-hour day, seems to buoy other people up with his own extraordinary vitality. His headquarters here is a ramshackle villa called Casa Ricci, founded as a refugee center in 1951 by Ruiz and other missionaries who had been kicked out of Red China.

In his office, Father Ruiz showed me his card file with snapshots of every refugee family—10,000 of them—that has passed through Casa Ricci. "We give every new arrival a shirt, trousers and sandals," he said. "The women get dresses—or cloth to make a Chinese trouser and tunic. We feed everyone for 10 days. This gives them stamina and cheers them up. Then we make a serious effort to get them jobs."

Blind Man's Story

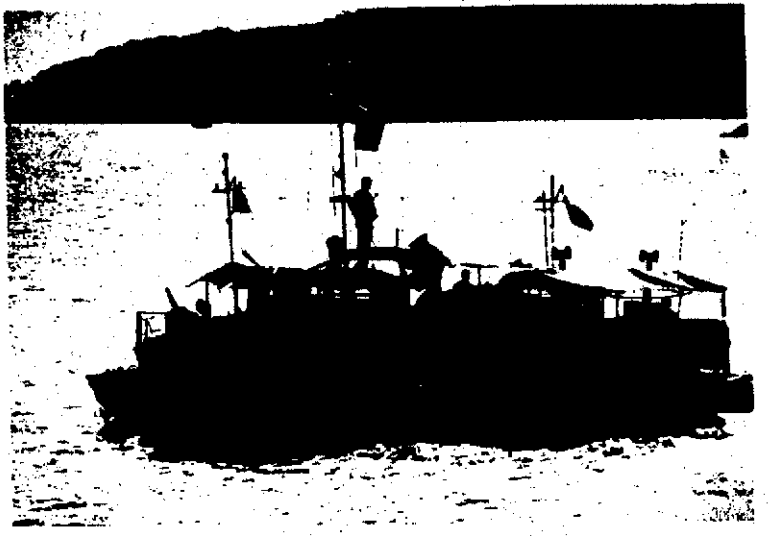

He took me out into the hall, already crowded with refugees, and pointed out a blind man. "That's a sad case," Father Ruiz said. "This young man—he's 34—was director of a district school, and therefore very valuable to the Communists. A year or so ago his eyesight began to fail. He asked permission to leave Red China for treatments and was turned down. But three months ago, when he went completely blind, the Reds tossed him over the border."

Father Ruiz opened a drawer. Inside were stacked small packets of money. He pressed one into the blind man's hand.

"My emergency funds," he explained to me. "To rent a bed in a crowded room this young man must pay four U.S. dollars a month. I'm tiding him over until he can learn a new trade. Hundreds of the blind are being expelled from Red China these days for being unproductive."

Father Ruiz' pockets have become a legend in Macao. He always seems to be able to find a little more money in them for a bowl of rice for one more person. Recently Casa Ricci was plagued by a series of thefts—but the only thing stolen each time was Father Ruiz' pants! To the thieves, these pants with their pockets seemed like a Christmas stocking.

"Let's talk to some of those who escaped across the frontier last night," Ruiz said to me. He inched his way through a crowd who reached out distraught hands, trying to stop him. Three older women, painfully thin and shabby, chattered shrilly at him.

Red Chinese gunboat (above) stands guard in Macao harbor to keep refugees from reaching the Portuguese colony by water. Photos below and right show Father Luis Ruiz chatting with some young refugees, hurrying through Macao on mercy mission.

"They have a brother in Hong Kong who could help them, but they can't write him because they don't have the money for a stamp," Father Ruiz told me. He reached in his pocket, handed them a few coins. "Those who get exit visas are allowed to take one Red Chinese dollar out. These old ladies were half starved when they arrived, and blew their dollars on food."

Finally we managed to reach one of the less crowded rooms. Two young men, neatly dressed in the mission's Western shirts and trousers, stood up as the priest entered. They had swum the river the night before—the river that divides Macao, a peninsula, from mainland China. "I try to give special help to those who escape by swimming," Ruiz whispered to me, "because they're the bravest."

The young men, 24 and 31, were thin, undernourished, but not starving. The story they told was to become increasingly familiar as I talked to dozens of refugees. This had been their second escape attempt. The first time they were captured and given three months of forced labor.

They were farmers; everything they produced went to their commune, and they were paid in rice on the basis of work accomplished. Usually they earned a six-ounce serving twice a day. They hadn't tasted meat in years, and fish only on Chinese New Year's Day, when a three-ounce portion was rationed to everyone. They foresaw sure starvation unless they quit Red China before the autumn harvest.

A Daring Escape

"This was a good week to escape," explained the younger one, "because the moon is dim." He said they had walked six hours each night until they were opposite Macao. They had a friend with them. He couldn't swim, so they rigged him a life belt of plastic balls. "When the guards spotted us and started shooting, we held our breath and swam under water. But our friend couldn't, and was killed."

Since they were good-looking Chinese, I asked if they were married. "Married?"

RUIZ The fabulous priest of Macao

exclaimed the 31-year-old in astonishment. "We can't even support ourselves—so how could we get married?"

"What about the girls," I asked, "don't they want to leave too?"

"Everyone wants to leave Red China," they cried, "but it's a hard trip for girls."

As we turned away, Father Ruiz told me that the initial money to run Casa Ricci comes from Catholic Welfare. The rest must come from private appeals—enough to cover expenses of more than $15,000 a month in direct help alone.

"We used to get such wonderful clothes from the Catholic Welfare," sighed the priest, "but those sent us now are often very worn and useless. And we're so short of men's clothing that I've given most of mine away." Children, too, have to be educated.

But even as he confided these worries to me, Father Ruiz seemed cheerful, convinced that with enough compassion and love of life he could truly accomplish anything for the helpless, desperate thousands who trust in him. ■

How you can help Red China's refugees

AT MACAO AND HONG KONG, the world has seen the desperate faces of men, women and children who have been living under Chinese Communist rule. We must show these people we care about them.

You can give a bowl of rice to a hungry refugee, take a homeless orphan off the streets, send medicine to those suffering from malnutrition. Send your contribution to CHINESE REFUGEE RELIEF, C/O POSTMASTER, WASHINGTON 13, D.C.

When childhood constipation occurs

More mothers use Fletcher's Castoria than any other laxative

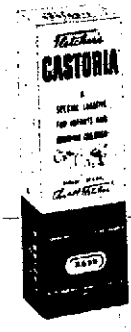

Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too, Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances . . . the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.

My favorite jokes

by MARTY INGELS

The veteran paratrooper was high in the air instructing a group of young recruits before their first jump. "You line up close together, clip your chute hook to the wire above your right shoulder, jump off, yell 'Geronimo' and hold tight as the chute opens."

One by one the recruits jumped till the plane was empty. The instructor closed the door, took a deep breath, and sat down to light a cigarette. Suddenly came a loud knock on the door. The instructor opened it and there hanging from one hand was one of the young recruits who asked, rather apologetically, "What was the name of that Indian again?"

A hungry drunk walked into the automat, put ten dollars in nickels and dimes into the slots, and soon had two tables piled high with food. The manager walked over to him and said, "Come on, buddy, get out of here. You're drunk!"

"Oh, no you don't," replied the lush. "Not when I'm on a winning streak!"

"I'm going to enter my dog in the dog show."

"Do you think he'll win anything?"

"No, but he'll meet some nice dogs."

A highly publicized Hollywood sex-pot was stopping at a New York hotel. She had just stepped out of the bathtub and was reaching for a towel when she noticed a window-washer at the window. At the same moment, he happened to look in at her. The glamor girl, too paralyzed to move, kept staring at the man on the ledge.

"Watcha lookin' at?" he finally asked. "Aintcha ever seen a window-washer before?"

A grimly determined inventor, undaunted by a series of grisly failures, kept working away on a long-range automobile powered by electricity instead of gasoline. He dashed triumphantly into the Explorers' Club in New York one evening and cried, "I've done it! All the way here from Mexico City without a single mishap!"

Pressed for a report on the cost of the trip, the inventor replied, "Exactly $3955.88—three dollars for electricity, and $3952.88 for the extension cord."

A California home-owner, using his new outdoor barbecue for the first time, was whistling away happily. Turning the roasted chicken on the spit, he whistled louder and longer as the bird grew browner. A passing drunk, struck by the happy sounds, staggered to the gate and watched the happy whistler cranking away.

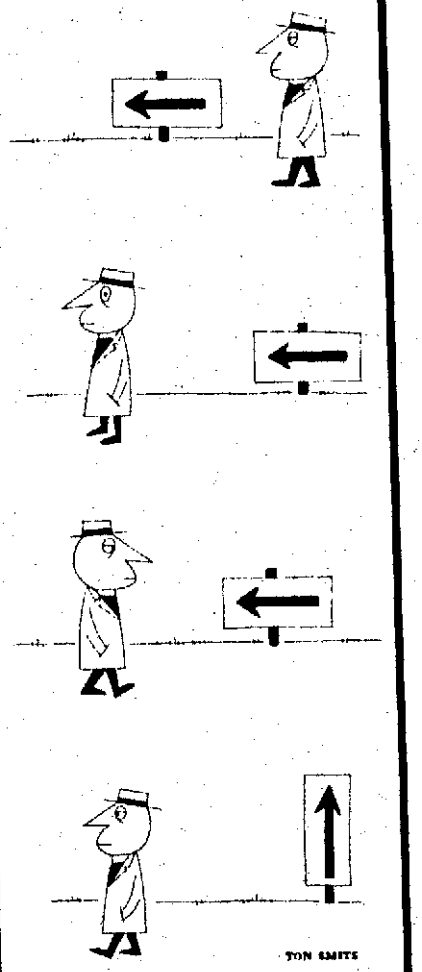

"The music's fine," the inebriate yelled approvingly, "but you're burning the monkey."

During a house call, Mrs. Smith kept chattering to her doctor until he finally interrupted and said, "Now, please, Mrs. Smith, put this thermometer under your tongue and keep your mouth closed for two minutes."

When the doctor later removed the thermometer from his patient's mouth, her interested husband, who had been standing by, motioned the physician to one side. "Say," he asked, "what will you take for that gadget? —It's marvelous!"

Little boy to his mother after returning from a ride to the grocery store with his father: "We passed two idiots, three morons, four damnfools, and I don't know how many knotheads."

ANECDOTE of the WEEK

Victor Borge has a favorite bet—that he can tell time by piano. A few days ago while working in Las Vegas he made that bet with Stan Irwin, entertainment director of the Sahara. Borge sat down at a piano in his room and began banging out some hot boogie-woogie. Immediately there came a pounding on the wall and a sleepy voice shouted, "Cut out that noise, you damn fool. It's 2:30 in the morning!"

GRIM POLICE DIARY OF DEATH

A Little Girl Was Forever Lost

By GEORGE FLOWERS

"A little girl is lost."

The night desk sergeant at the Torrance Police Department heard these words on July 3. His reaction was that of any father or mother of any child. A chill fell upon him.

What happened from 7:45 that night should be of interest to any one who has fathered or mothered a child. Unfortunately, it is typical of what happens when such a frantic message reaches any policing agency in Southern California—a land, alas, known for its crimes against children.

The log of the Torrance Police Department, made public exclusively to The Independent, Press-Telegram, tells the story from 7:45 p.m. It goes like this:

July 3, 7:45 p.m.: Citizen Brown, by telephone, reports his daughter, Dorothy Gale, missing. Car dispatched.

8:10 p.m.: Car reports search under way. Neighbors assisting.

9 p.m.: Dorothy Gale Brown's bicycle found, block from her home. Missing person report being prepared.

1 a.m.: Brown girl, 11, unfound.

7:20 a.m.: All available personnel dispatched to trailer court. Area search under way.

7:50 a.m.: List of friends of Brown family now in hands of searchers.

9:00 a.m.: Command post for searchers now established in trailer park. All off-duty policemen called to scene.

9:10 a.m.: Command post detail interviewing juvenile friends of Brown girl. Picture, procured from family, made available to newspapers.

9:10 a.m.: Off-duty policemen arriving. Search started of nearby apartment houses and courts.

9:15 a.m.: Personnel available. Squads organized to search nearby fields, railroad track areas.

9:15 a.m.: Better picture of lost girl delivered by family. Made available to newspapers, television.

9:15 a.m.: Harbor detail, Los Angeles Police Department, offers help. Accepted.

9:18 p.m.: Chief Bennett orders reserves to report.

9:19 p.m.: This is the Fourth of July, a holiday?

Final Repose for Dorothy

By ED KENYON

Bill Brown and his wife, Charlene, spent Saturday going over arrangements for the funeral of their only daughter, who less than a week ago was a happy 11-year-old girl who loved kittens, collected Elvis Presley records and was spoiled just a little by her parents.

How Hunt for Killer Goes On:

Investigators into the kidnap-murder of Dorothy Gale Brown, 11, Saturday were seeking:

To pinpoint the area where her nude body was cast into the sea Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. The U.S. Coast & Geodetic Survey was asked by Orange County officers to estimate the location by plotting sea currents and their directions.

The remainder of her clothing. Still missing since her dress and hairband were found at Bolsa Bay south of Long Beach were slip, panties, bra and sandals.

The child, who could not swim, drowned after she either fell or was thrown into the Pacific from a boat, investigators theorize.

Now Dorothy Gale Brown, called Gale by her mother and father is dead. Her murderer is still unknown, and the hopes that he will be found dwindle by the hour.

Funeral services at 11 a.m. Monday at the Stone and Myers Mortuary in Torrance will be conducted by the Rev. Ted Hicks, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in National City and the husband of Brown's sister. Burial will be in Roosevelt Memorial Park in Gardena.

Talking about final arrangements for their daughter's funeral with reporters, the Browns expressed hope that it would not attract a crowd of the morbidly curious.

• • • •

WHILE THEY were making funeral arrangements, the Browns also made plans to dispose of all of Gale's possessions.

"We're going to give all her things away," said Brown, a 38-year-old aircraft worker at North American Aviation. "We don't want anything around where we'll see it, so we'll probably give it all to some relief agency."

There was an occasional choke in his voice as he mentioned some of Gale's possessions, possessions that gave a hint about the life and personality of the smiling girl with the long blonde hair who dis-

L. B. Youth Killed on Drag Strip

A 22-year-old Long Beach youth was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control while traveling nearly 150 miles an hour and slammed into a light pole at a drag strip in El Monte.

Bruce Woodcock, 3632 Lewis Ave., was pronounced dead on arrival at El Monte Medical Center.

The mishap occurred at the San Gabriel Valley drag strip located off Rivergrade Road about three miles north of the San Bernardino freeway.

TOKYO (UPI)—Central and southern Japan got a respite Saturday from week-long rains but the death toll from floods and landslides rose to 52.

Red Atomic Sub Fleet Stirs Fear

Great Progress Made by Russ, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said Saturday Russia was making "enormous progress" in turning out nuclear-powered submarines.

The "growing number" of those Soviet subs poses one of the greatest challenges to the U.S. defense effort, he said in a radio-television interview.

Antisubmarine warfare, Jackson said, will present a formidable problem to the U.S. "It's going to take even a greater number of men, ships and submarines to combat this kind of threat to the heartland of the United States."

• • • •

JACKSON is chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee's subcommittee on weapons and in this capacity ordered a special study of submarine warfare a couple of years ago.

He said it was difficult to ascertain at present whether the Russians can match the U.S. Polaris submarines' ability to fire missiles from underwater.

But Jackson said there was "no doubt that they will have this capability ultimately," stressing the danger to the United States' heartland.

Jackson said he believes the U.S. has enough of a "survivable" retaliatory force to withstand an enemy nuclear attack and destroy the Soviet homeland.

• • • •

HE SAID, however, that he felt the United States will want to increase the number of Polaris submarines now planned for the fleet. Those 41, he said, are being produced very rapidly and should be completed by the end of 1964 or 1965.

Jackson's comments represented the first recent appraisal of Russian submarine strength by a knowledgeable U.S. authority. Until recently U.S. authorities did not believe the Soviets had nuclear submarines in operation, although it long has been assumed that they would eventually build them.

High A-Test Postponed Fourth Time

Unsuitable weather was blamed for the postponement until 5 a.m. Monday EDT.

Saturday's postponement came about eight hours before the shot was scheduled to take place.

Strike May Hit Local Air Firms

Douglas, Ryan, American Told of Union's Intent

Three local aircraft companies were threatened Saturday by a 16-day strike warning.

Douglas Aircraft of Long Beach, Ryan Aeronautical of Torrance and North American Aviation of Anaheim and Downey were told by two aerospace workers' unions that a strike would be called July 23 if no new contracts were signed by that date.

The unions were United Auto Workers and the International Association of Machinists, representing most of the country's aerospace workers. Together the unions represent about 125,000 employes.

The industry-wide strike they threaten would halt work at 51 major aircraft plants, test sites and missile bases throughout the nation.

• • • •

Members of both unions have approved the strike.

Contract negotiations have been under way since April 24. The unions seek wage increases, union shops, added unemployment benefits and company-paid family health insurance. Average hourly wage in aerospace jobs currently is $2.71.

The strike threat was made despite a federal mediator's warning that Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg would not tolerate a walkout in the industry.

Walter Maggiolo, head of a team of 15 federal mediators, said last Tuesday that Goldberg's warning did not indicate how the strike would be halted. The government could invoke an 80-day cooling-off period under the Taft-Hartley Act or appeal to both sides to wait until a fact-finding

Arrival of the nine ALN army units was a bitter blow to moderate Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda and his cabinet, who are trying to marshal popular support for their shaky provisional government which seeks to retain close ties with France.

The provisional government (GPRA) already was faced with "hostile" action by Morocco in the Algerian Sahara in what could be the start of an effort to move in on its desert oil riches. It was feared that Tunisia also might follow suit.

• • • •

BEN BELLA troops entered Oran from Tlemcen, near the Moroccan border, and proceeded directly to barracks reserved for them on the edge of the city. They did not pass by the European quarter of the city.

But Europeans, fearing bitter fighting in the power struggle between Ben Bella and Ben Khedda, stepped up their exodus to France. Throughout the day Europeans lined up outside airline and shipping offices seeking transportation to the French mainland. In their thoughts

L.B.-Area Women Fly in 'Puff' Derby

By LEE CRAIG
Aviation-Military Editor

OAKLAND—Fifty women pilots, including four from the Long Beach area, took off from International Airport here Saturday in the 16th annual transcontinental Powder Puff Derby after thick fog had delayed their departure for several hours.

First stop on the 2,500-mile race to Wilmington, Del., was scheduled at Salt Lake City, which was mandatory for all planes.

Leading the Long Beach contingent was prerace favorite Fran Bera, 4284 Pepperwood Ave., who won last year and five times previously. Her copilot is her sister, Edna Bower, 4813 Dunrobin Ave., Lakewood.

OTHERS FROM Long Beach were Ruth Gay, 440 Orange Ave., with Emma McGuire of Santa Monica as co-pilot, and Barbara London, 551 Margo Ave., with Norma Craig, 3841 Pacific Ave., co-pilot.

Judy Wagner, 2516 Via La Selva, Palos Verdes, was the other local entrant. She is flying alone.

Because the contestants are restricted to daylight flying, it will be Wednesday before they start touching down at Wilmington.

Computers will be used this year for the first time to determine who's in first place on each day of the derby.

Judy Wagner of Palos Verdes Estates was first among the 50 Powder Puff aviators to land at Salt Lake City, completing the first leg of the trans-continental race. She left immediately on the next step. Only minutes behind her was Frances Bera of Long Beach, pre-race favorite.

Priest Quells Hospital Riot

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Some 62 patients of the maximum security ward of the Lima State Hospital for the Criminally Insane rioted for about three hours Saturday night but were subdued after the hospital chaplain went into the ward.

The chaplain, a Roman Catholic priest whose name is not available, talked his way into the barricaded ward. After talking with the patients for some time, 23 left with him.

Then guards, highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies worked their way into the ward and after a brief scuffle brought the disturbance under control.

India Jet Wreck Sighted

BOMBAY, India (Sunday) (UPI)—The wreckage of an Alitalia DC8 jetliner that crashed with 94 persons aboard was found Saturday night in a thick forest 100 miles northeast of Bombay with no sign of survivors, police reported today.

Only one body was found at the crash site on a small hill in the forest in the western Ghats Mountain Range, which runs down the west coast of India.

• • • •

A POLICE search party returned to the town of Junnar, 25 miles west of the crash site, and reported heavy rainstorms had made the forest swampy and almost inaccessible.

The storm had been battering the area early Satur-

L.B. CONTESTANT

Anne Not Now Ugly Duckling

ANNE FANG

She was born in the midst of violence and scorned as a child with the tag "ugly duckling on stilts," but Anne Fang today is a serene and lovely young lady.

The loveliest, as a matter of fact, in all of Nationalist China.

And she'll be in Long Beach Aug. 9 representing the Republic of China in the International Beauty Pageant.

Anne was born during a savage air raid on Chungking in 1944 to Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Fang. When World War II ended, the Fang family moved from Chungking, the famous war capital of China, to Nanking, the nation's peacetime capital, and then to Formosa.

DAUGHTER ANNE, meanwhile, was growing into a tall youngster whose playmates teased her with the "ugly duckling" nickname and also called her "macaroni stick."

Still tall at 5 feet 5½ inches, Anne can no longer be called "ugly duckling." Last May 27 she was selected "Miss China of 1962" and was also named by the press corps covering the contest in Formosa's capital city of Taipei as the girl with the outstanding personality.

L.A.C. Says:

Honolulu

As we look out over Waikiki Beach—the tourist section of Honolulu—we see many high rise apartments in all directions. This morning's newspaper tells of how Honolulu stands fifth in the nation as concerns new construction. Another story tells of how new wage and fringe benefits will set construction workers' wage scales at $4.50 an hour—and an estimate that electricians will be able to retire on $200 a month at age 55.

This is a side of Hawaii that is of little interest to the tourists here to enjoy the beauty of the islands and the friendly people of many races that make the visits so enjoyable. But it is a change that makes this island much less attractive to visitors who were here 10 to 20 or more years ago. It is more like going to Miami or Palm Springs. The charm of the past is being replaced by night clubs, apartments, shopping centers and multi-storied hotels.

The day before we arrived, the Wall Street Journal shocked the Islanders with an article, "Clouds over Hawaii." The local papers have carried daily articles attempting to dispute the Journal's gloomy picture of the Island's economy. But there is evidence that there is trouble ahead for these fabulously attractive vacation areas where over 350,000 visitors are expected this year.

It seems to us the problem is basic in that unions are pricing the pineapple and sugar industries out of business. These agricultural and canning industry workers are the highest paid in the world. But their products must face the competition of other Pacific islands where the workers are the lowest paid in the world. Pineapple canneries are closing as are sugar mills. Unemployment on some of the islands is growing at a time when it is lessening on the mainland.

The Journal article showed the Waikiki Beach area of Honolulu added 2,000 new hotel and apartment house rooms in the last two years—up one third—They are all filled at present, but for seven months of the year they are half empty, according to the article. The local answers to the article do not refute many of the allegations.

The economy of the Islands is dependent upon the great military installations of Pearl Harbor and many other locations. It is estimated their 59,000 personnel and $400 million annual expenditures are more than all the tourists—pineapple and sugar income that comes to the Islands. The only factor that indicates a steady increase is that of tourism—and that is where the greatest emphasis is being placed.

There is good reason to expect an ever increasing number of tourists. The splendid jet air service only five hours from the Pacific Coast—make the islands a perfect short or long vacation resort. Splendid hotels and attractive restaurants and night clubs make them a vacationer's paradise.

However, the constant threats of strikes by airlines and shipping workers is the real "Cloud over Hawaii." It is estimated 65 per cent of all their fresh food products are imported from the mainland. This is why the past shipping strikes have caused great concern to the Islanders. Only the Pan-American flight engineers are now threatening, but the constant threat of the Harry Bridges controlled longshoremen—pineapple and sugar workers is the cloud that is constantly over the most attractive people and lands we have ever visited.—LAC.

which is operated under a complicated system of handicapping which depends on the power, speed and range of the planes.

In addition to the mandatory Salt Lake City stop, there are other optional landing places on the route. These are Fallon, Nev.; Elko, Nev.; Rock Springs, Wyo.; Scottsbluff, Nebr.; Grand Island, Nebr.; Des Moines, Iowa; Peoria, Ill.; Dayton, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. Bera, chief pilot for Belmont Aviation here, fell victim to a new rule this year for contestants that they must wear dresses instead of more comfortable slacks.

WHILE CLIMBING into her Beechcraft Bonanza to obligate a television cameraman, she split her skirt up the side. She made a hasty dash to the ladies' lounge to sew up the rent.

Mrs. Gay and her copilot, Mrs. McGuire, were only two of several grandmothers in the race but held a wide lead in number of grandchildren with 16 between them. They flew a Cessna 170B.

When Mrs. London's Cessna Skylane rolled up to the starting point, she received a few extra words of encouragement from the official starter.

He is her husband, Jack London.

Boy, 4, Burned Seriously as He Plays With Matches

BELL GARDENS (CNS)—Hospital along with Robert A. 4-year-old boy was burned seriously Saturday when his shirt caught fire as he played with matches outside his home here.

Gary David Williams suffered second and third-degree burns over a large portion of his body.

He was taken to Maywood suffered burns on his hands when he tore the flaming shirt off the boy.

The victim was playing with the matches shortly before 3 p.m. when the mishap occurred.

His screams roused Mason, who lives next door. The man called sheriff's deputies after ripping the burning shirt off the boy.

Women May Become Carriers of Letters

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Postmaster Anthony J. Lambert says the letter carrier service may go coed in some Philadelphia neighborhoods in the fall if there are qualified applicants.

Although Lambert doesn't particularly like the idea, he doesn't have the say as he once had. A recent federal order said women no longer can be barred from appointment as postal clerks or letter carriers because of their sex.

"Now we'll have to take a second look at our employment procedure," Lambert said.

Name New President of Mobil Chemical

NEW YORK (UP) — John D. Fennebresque, president of Texas Butadiene and Chemical Corp., will become president of Mobil Chemical Co. about Sept. 1.

He succeeds Paul V. Keyser Jr., now a member of the executive committee of Mobil Chemical's parent firm, Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc.

Fennebresque has worked with Monsanto Chemical Co., Celanese Corp. of America and FMC Corp. and served in a division of the War Production Board.

Shoreline Road Seen Necessary for Downtown

By GEORGE WEEKS

Long Beach's downtown shoreline is being jammed with vehicles even before the Arena and other planned improvements are ready for use.

Almost any hot Sunday as many as 95,000 motorists may be expected to converge on the area between the Los Angeles River channel and Alamitos Avenue.

On one recent day, June 24, 1962, mechanical counters registered 44,663 vehicle trips into and out of the area.

When new improvements are opened, one result is certain to be even more severe congestion unless a new shoreline road is constructed and existing access routes are widened.

These are conclusions of a 12-page report just issued by City Engineer Jess D. Gilkerson to support land acquisitions and construction financed from the Tideland Oil Fund.

The report will be used to strengthen city applications to the State Lands Commission for authority to use the oil money in the road-building projects, some of which will reach beyond the tide line into uplands.

The future increase is predicated on anticipated drawing power of such facilities as the Arena, the Maritime and Commerce Museum and Piers J, H and G in the harbor district.

Benefits foreseen from the shoreline artery, estimated to cost $1,350,000 for land acquisition and $1,436,000 for construction, include the following:

The roadway linking the Long Beach Freeway Terminus on the west with Alamitos Avenue on the east would substantially relieve traffic along Ocean Boulevard, already overcrowded.

It would provide efficient and safer access directly to facilities in the area.

It would provide east-west traffic circulation south of Ocean Boulevard, lacking under present conditions.

It would hasten the movements of vehicles arriving in the area during peak conditions and finding no place to park.

Gilkerson also pointed out that the projected Planet of Man Exposition and the proposed Magnolia Avenue Bridge to the harbor district will add sources of traffic. He estimated daily traffic volume generated by the fair on an average high day at 26,650 vehicles.

Besides right-of-way acquisition and construction of the freeway terminus and the connection at Alamitos Avenue, the city engineer recommended the widening of Elm Way and Locust Avenue south of Ocean Boulevard to 70 feet and Hart Place and Collins Way to 60 feet.

Pine and Linden Avenues should be extended to connect with the proposed beach roadway, he added.

UNION negotiators said the companies would be given formal notice of contract termination on July 13.

In a joint statement, IAM Vice President E.R. White and UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock said their unions were asking "benefits already enjoyed by millions of other American workers.

"It has become clear," the statement continued, "that this industry . . . has pledged itself to resist our union's efforts to win equality for aerospace workers."

If the strike is called, workers will be off the job at these missile bases: Vandenberg AFB; Cape Canaveral, Fla.; Sheppard AFB, Texas; Walker AFB, Roswell, N.M.; Lincoln AFB, Neb., and Warren AFB, Cheyenne, Wyo.

Also Fairchild AFB, Wash.; White Sands, N.M.; and bases at Omaha, Neb.; Plattsburg, N.Y.; Forbes, Kan.; Shilling, Kan.; Altus, Okla., and Neosho, Mo.

Bonn Troops Join French for Review

RHEIMS, France (UPI)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle take the salute today from an unprecedented joint parade of French and West German panzer troops at nearby Mourmelon Camp.

Adenauer flew here Saturday night from Bordeaux, where he pledged in a speech to use "all my remaining energies" towards promoting the cause of French-German friendship.

He described such friendship as the "surest dam" against a further advance of Soviet communism. He spoke at a banquet given in his honor by the Bordeaux city fathers in the Grand Theater.

After today's review of German-French troops Adenauer and de Gaulle will attend Mass together in Rheims Cathedral and then Adenauer will fly back to Bonn.

About 1,500 French and 1,500 German troops are to take part in the parade.

Council Asks Nude Model Studio Taxes

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—City councilmen were expected to act next week on a proposed ordinance regulating and taxing studios where nude models are sketched or photographed.

The proposal calls for the studios to pay a $100 annual fee and be subject to police inspection.

Females under 18 and males under 21 would be forbidden to model and female models would be required to first obtain a police permit.

U.S. to Hear Claims of A-Test Damages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is prepared to consider claims for compensation filed by Japanese nationals who may suffer financial damage as a result of U.S. nuclear tests in the Pacific, officials said Saturday.

They said the government "several months ago" sent a note to Tokyo informing the Japanese government about the U.S. position.

Boat Equipment Stolen at Marina

Navigational equipment and tools worth more than $300 were stolen from a boat moored at the Long Beach Marina, police said Saturday.

The boat was owned by Joe H. Kerr, of 5825 Hardwick St., Lakewood.

day when the plane, on a flight from Sydney, Australia, to Rome, was approaching Bombay for a landing.

Junnar is in the same area as Khed, where earlier unconfirmed reports said the crash took place. Yet another report had placed the crash site at Khajoli, 80 miles southeast of Bombay.

No Americans were aboard the plane.

* * * *

OFFICIALS in Poona, about 60 miles south of the crash site, said shepherd boys playing in a field near Junnar found a foreign banknote and turned it over to police. The find enabled police to narrow the search area.

Several Italian banknotes were found near the wreckage. Many of the passengers were Italian and the plane was en route to Rome.

Six policemen cordoned off the crash site while reinforcements were awaited for the search crews.

was the fact that 95 persons were killed and 163 injured in Oran Thursday.

Ben Bella, who seeks to lead newly independent Algeria into a sort of a "people's democracy," split with Ben Khedda last weekend when Ben Khedda fired the ALN three-man general staff. That action brought charges from Ben Bella that the GPRA had "sabotaged" the revolution.

The provisional government was trying to heal the breach through negotiation but movement of the ALN troops into Oran emphasized the split.

Murder Charged in Dual Killing

SANTA ANA (UPI)—Clytus Marian Deriso, 25-year-old psychiatric technician, was charged formally with murder Saturday in the fatal stabbing of two men.

Arraignment on the two accounts of murder is set for Monday.

Deriso was accused of stabbing Richard Adams, 34, Garden Grove, and James Benech, 34, Westminster. The bodies of both men were found Friday in a camping trailer behind a tavern owned by Adams' father.

The suspect has denied the killings.

55 German Firms to Exhibit in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Exhibits ranging from doll carriages to Porsche sports cars will be featured at the West German pavilion at the 1962 International Trade Fair July 25-Aug. 12.

Some 55 German firms will display their wares, which also include musical instruments, hunting rifles with telescopic sights and Christmas ornaments.

Bulgaria Warned on 'Incidents'

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The defense ministry announced Saturday night it has warned Communist Bulgaria against what it called further border incidents.

The warning was issued after joint investigations into the fatal shooting Wednesday of a 16-year-old Greek shepherd boy by Bulgarian border guards.

X15 Set for Record

EDWARDS AFB (AP)—Maj. Robert M. White will rocket the X15 on its highest and longest flight next Tuesday.

White is slated to try for 250,000 feet, more than seven miles higher than the black dart's present world altitude record for winged aircraft of 246,700 feet.

Brazilian Politicos in Parley

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—President Joao Goulart called opposition leaders in Congress to his palace Saturday in a personal effort to work out a fast compromise in the political crisis that touched off widespread rioting against high prices and food shortages.

Informed sources said Goulart was under pressure from army leaders for a rapid conciliation.

The army put down the riots, blamed for the deaths of at least nine persons in the Caxias surburb of Rio, and was keeping the peace. Military leaders told Goulart, however, they were concerned with the growing unrest and advised him to resolve the dispute quickly.

* * * *

THE 11-DAY power struggle appeared near an end with Goulart and conservative leaders of Congress reported close to agreement on measures to end or modify Brazil's nine-month-old parliamentary system.

The agreement would settle the basic dispute—over whether the president or Congress has final governmental power.

Goulart appeared to have won acceptance for his demand for a plebescite on the parliamentary regime before the end of 1962. It still was not clear, however, how much say he would have in the formation of a new cabinet.

Goulart conferred throughout the day with Social Democrat leaders (middle-of-the-road) and leaders of the National Democratic Union (conservative) on 10 civil portfolios in the cabinet.

* * * *

ANTONIO Oliveira Brito, undistinguished but uncontroversial minister of education in the last cabinet, was Goulart's choice for premier providing Brito could pick up congressional support for the plebescite scheme.

The president's second choice reportedly was Francisco Brochado da Rocha, president of justice in Rio Grande do Sul state, who, as a member of the state cabinet, energetically defended expropriation of the International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) Company.

Earlier Saturday, Goulart ordered a crackdown on hoarders of rice and beans in the Rio area.

Viet Leader Vows to Oust Red Raiders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—President Ngo Dinh Diem pledged Saturday on his eighth anniversary as head of South Viet Nam to drive the Communist guerrillas out of the land.

As he spoke two government operations against the guerrillas were reported under way in an area 20 miles west of Saigon and 150 miles to the south.

Preliminary reports said the 600 South Vietnamese flown into battle by American helicopters Friday had made contact with a guerrilla force in the Rachquet area 20 miles to the west and was "pursuing" them.

The reports said 12 guerrillas had been killed and six others captured in the first clash on the Plain of Reeds.

There were no final reports of another operation against the guerrillas who overran a civil guard post on the Camau Peninsula in southern Viet Nam. In this action, about 400 South Vietnamese were flown into battle.

'Peace Congress' to Hear K

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is expected to make his strongest appeal for disarmament since his 1960 United Nations appearance in an address to the "World Congress for Peace and Disarmament" opening Monday.

The conference has attracted to Moscow an estimated 2,000 disarmament advocates from more than 100 countries. They include labor leaders, educators, scientists, churchmen and other public figures.

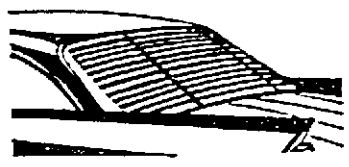

Some 150 delegates are expected from the United States.

The congress is under the auspices of the "World Council for Peace" which consistently has followed the Soviet propaganda line in its public pronouncements.

Western observers in Moscow expected some of the delegates from non-Communist countries to put forward views critical of Soviet disarmament policy.

Khrushchev's address to the delegates will be his first major speech devoted entirely to the arms problem since he proposed his plan for the U.N. General Assembly in 1960.

Doctors Fighting to Aid Churchill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, recuperating from a thigh fracture, showed early signs Saturday night of phlebitis in his left leg.

Phlebitis is inflammation of a vein.

A bulletin issued by Middlesex Hospital said:

"Sir Winston Churchill had a comfortable night. There are early signs of phlebitis in his left leg and the appropriate steps have been taken to deal with the condition."

CHURCHILL

The bone he broke in a fall in Monte Carlo 10 days ago is in his left leg, near the hip. The bone was pinned in an operation here last week.

During the afternoon Sir Winston's wife visited him in his private room at the hospital. She stayed about 45 minutes.

Asked how serious the latest development seemed, she replied: "I am afraid if you want to know about the medical aspects of this, you must ask those at the hospital concerned."

Commenting on the nature of phlebitis in general, one doctor said:

"I suppose it is due to the fact that Sir Winston has been lying down a good deal, and it is the sort of thing that could happen in a person of his age, particularly after a fractured femur. Treatment of the condition would include extra rest in bed."

Skis Throw Attorney General

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President Kennedy, his ailing 73-year-old father and others of the Kennedy clan Saturday held a family reunion aboard the Kennedy yacht —climaxed when Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy took a rough spill while water skiing.

The Chief Executive, in sports clothes, greeted his father, who has recovered considerably from a paralytic stroke last Dec. 19, at the local airport and drove him in a top-down white convertible to the family's seaside "compound" of homes.

R. KENNEDY

Kennedy's father had flown in from New York aboard the family's twin-engine Convair, the Caroline, named for Kennedy's four-year-old daughter.

Later the entire Kennedy clan went yachting aboard the family yacht, the Marlin.

The elder Kennedy, wearing a yachting cap and blue sweater, and the President, attired in blue sport shirt and tan slacks, sat in the sunshine on the stern of the vessel with other relatives.

While the Marlin was at anchor in Lewis Bay, near the family's home, the President's brother, the attorney general, went water skiing behind a Secret Service speedboat and took a header. He appered stunned when he climbed slowly into the boat, holding his head. But he later looked unhurt.

J. KENNEDY

The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, according to a report from his New York doctors, has regained some of the power of speech he lost in the December stroke and can now walk with the aid of a cane. Debarking from the Marlin, however, he rode in a wheelchair along the pier at the edge of his property.

Faulkner Eulogized, Laid to Rest

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—"A Mississippian by birth, an American by virtues of forces and loyalties which guided his art, William Faulkner now rests, the search done, his place secure among the great creators of this age."

That was President John Kennedy's eulogy of one of America's greatest writers.

Faulkner, 64, died of a heart attack Friday. He was buried Saturday in his private world beneath two massive water oaks. His resting place, a plot in the ancient St. Peter's Cemetery, is alone on the side of a red clay hill.

FAULKNER

The quiet, mixed emotions of his native townspeople were more clear as their famous citizen was being buried. The University of Mississippi's American Flag flew at half-staff. In memory, business establishments closed 15 minutes during the funeral.

Faulkner will rest in "the heart of the setting for that turbulent world of light and shadow which was the towering creation of his mind and heart," said the President at the White House.

The setting for many of Faulkner's 19 novels was the mythical Jefferson in Yoknapatawpha County, which he used to depict the South.

Many of his readers, and others, never really understood the slight, retiring, steel-haired Faulkner with his black mustache and his jaunty pipe—a frequent sight on the streets of Oxford.

Above-Ground A-Blast Fired in Nevada

NEVADA TEST SITE (UPI)—The first above-ground nuclear test over the continental United States since the world's powers placed a moratorium on atomic testing four years ago was conducted Saturday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense.

A small white cloud formed over the test site following an almost instantaneous flash as the low-yield-nuclear-weapon-effect test was carried out just several feet above the ground.

Friday's big below-ground shot here was more spectacular in appearance. The cloud formed by Saturday's shot was not of the mushroom type associated with atomic tests, and it was not dirty as was the case Friday.

Four tanks on flatbed trucks were seen heading into the test area Saturday morning before the explosion, indicating nuclear-warfare-test maneuvers by the military would be conducted in connection with future tests.

Newsmen were not permitted on the test site and witnessed the detonation from a vantage point about 50 miles away. Haze obscured vision of the site somewhat, making it difficult to see how extensive the flash from the detonation was.

700 Pay Last Respects to Rex Bell

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An overflow crowd of 700 including Nevada ranchers, politicians, businessmen and gambler, paid last respects Saturday to onetime cowboy film star Rex Bell, their lieutenant governor at the time of his death last Wednesday.

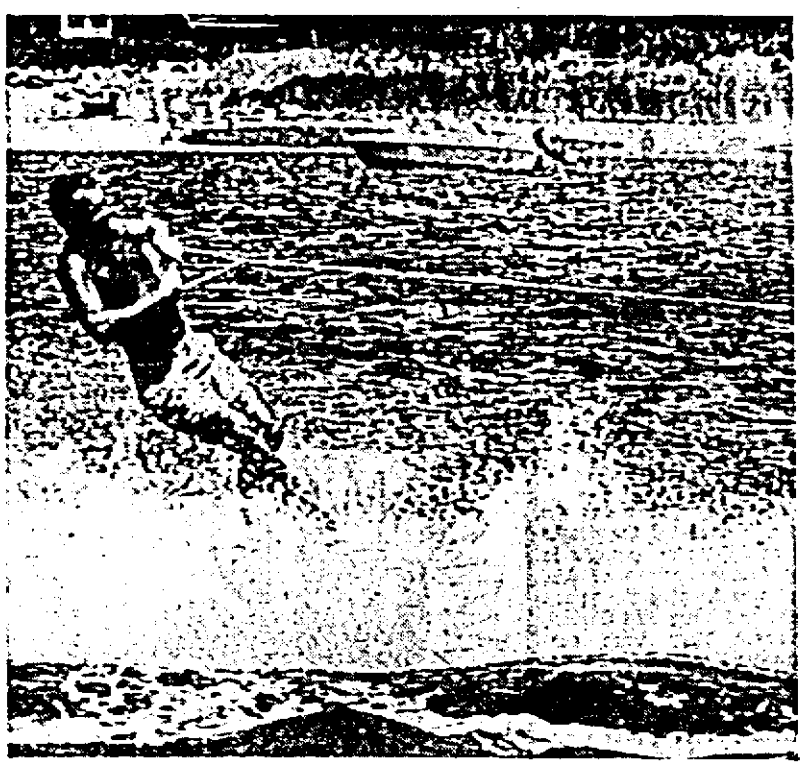

His funeral, not attended by his ailing widow, Clara Bow the "It Girl" of 1920 movies, was at Christ Church Episcopal.

Among those there was Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer, the man Republican Bell was campaigning to unseat. Another was Hoot Gibson, old-time cowboy actor.

Head-On Collision Kills Eight

COLONIAL HEIGHTS, Va. (AP) — Two automobiles jammed with 15 people met headon at full speed on a U.S. 1 hilltop just after dawn Saturday and in the thunderous crash near here, eight persons died.

In one of the cars, six of 10 were killed, including four members of a Baltimore family. The other car had five occupants and two—a Brooklyn man and his daughter—perished.

Medicare Decision This Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate opened debate Tuesday on one of the most controversial measures of the session—medical care for the aged.

Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., appealed for prompt passage of a bipartisan medicare bill that was sponsored by 21 Democrats and five Republicans. The new bill now covers 2.5 million elderly persons who were not eligible for benefits before due to a lack of Social Security credits.

On Friday the bill survived its first test in the Senate, when a rival Republican plan was turned down.

The defeat of the Republican measure left the administration's Social Security-financed bill intact. A vote is expected this week.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a key sponsor of the Senate's bipartisan compromise old age health care bill predicted on a radio-television program this morning that measure not only would pass the Senate, but that some form of medicare bill also would clear the House.

If the bill passes, it still would have to be approved by the House.

In other developments:

Sugar — The Senate passed a compromise sugar-extension bill. In a move to meet Latin-American critics of the bill, the Senate passed another measure giving President Kennedy power to allot a total of 375,000 tons of sugar to alliance for progress nations. The South American nations had criticized the sugar-extension bill, saying it sharply cut their share of the U.S. sugar market.

Lobbyists — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted Friday to investigate American lobbyists hired by foreign governments.

Doctors' Strike Closes Hospitals

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—A growing shortage of physicians Saturday forced officials to close two of 35 Saskatchewan hospitals that have been providing emergency service since a majority of doctors struck July 1 against the province's compulsory medical-insurance plan.

There were reports that Saskatchewan's Socialist government would reopen talks with the doctors in an effort to settle the dispute. Dr. A. D. Kelly, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said he sees signs that "conversations will be resumed."

• • • •

KELLY ADDED, however, that the doctors' position remains unchanged—the strike will be called off only if the government suspends the controversial medical-care plan. The doctors claim the program opens the way for government control of the medical profession.

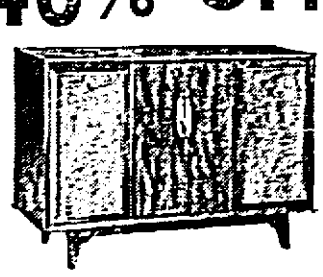

Socialist Premier Woodrow Lloyd said Saturday Saskatchewan's striking doctors have shown no interest in mediation of the crisis.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A labor leader said Saturday the outcome of the doctors' strike in Saskatchewan, Canada, will have a powerful impact on President Kennedy's proposals for medical care for the aged.

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO industrial-union department, strongly urged Saskatchewan Premier Woodrow S. Lloyd not to retreat in his dispute with the province's medical men.

Carey wrote Lloyd that the six million union workers he represents are "shocked and horrified at the callous action of Saskatchewan doctors who have left their posts and now refuse to treat the sick."

House Eyes W. Virginia H'way Plans

WASHINGTON — The House highways investigating subcommittee focuses its attention on West Virginia next week in its search for mismanagement in the nation's $41 billion federal aid road program.

About 30 witnesses are scheduled for a week of public hearings which begin Tuesday. They will bring to light material dug up by subcommittee investigators who have been visiting West Virginia periodically for more than a year.

The sessions will concentrate on the state's past management of its program for acquiring land for building highways financed in part by federal funds. They are expected to point up instances of apparent loose administrative practices rather than any widespread criminal conspiracy.

• • • •

THE WITNESS list includes present and former West Virginia highway officials, subcommittee investigators and officials from the bureau of public roads.

West Virginia was the fifth state on the subcommittee's list. It previously investigated and conducted follow-up public hearings on the highway programs of Florida, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Massachusetts.

The hearings have emphasized defects in the multi-billion dollar program ranging from inadequate supervision to cases of suspected collusion between contractors and highway officials.

• • • •

THE SUBCOMMITTEE was set up about 2½ years ago to make certain that federal money that is funnelled into the program is not wasted. The government pays up to 90 per cent of the cost of the bigger interstate highways.

Rights of way costs—which also was the subject of the Massachusetts hearings — comprise about 20 per cent of the $41 billion price tag.

Subcommittee members contend that the investigations have performed a valuable service by publicizing weaknesses in the road-building programs of the states investigated. They said the revelations have resulted in other state reappraising their programs to correct similar deficiencies.

MERELY RICH, NOT VERY, VERY RICH AFFECTED

Zounds! Does Tailing Off of Caviar Mart Indicate Rich Man's Recession?

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Are we getting the first signs of a "rich man's recession?"

While one hesitates to be an alarmist about consumer trends since the great stock market tumble, one cannot help being concerned by the fact that the sale of $250,000 yachts and the movement of fresh large grain Beluga caviar at $38 a pound has slowed down, leveled off, stiffened, tightened or topped out.

To put it in its proper perspective, there are reported tremors in the buying patterns of the very rich but not the very, very rich, of the new rich but not the old rich, of the capital gains rich but not the entrenched rich.

The demand for Rolls-Royce cars may be a good barometer of this special squall. While American sales generally have not yet been affected, says Richard Yorke, vice president in charge of sales in New York, the stock market plunge undoubtedly tilted "a few borderline cases."

• • • •

BY THESE, he means people who were considering buying their first Rolls, the $16,800 to $18,000 model, which the company calls its "stock car."

"This type of prospective buyer," says Yorke, with dignified compassion, "probably decided after the Wall Street drop to wait awhile."

While these fence-straddlers manfully try to get along somehow, the regular customers are holding steadfast, especially those who prefer the $30,000 Rolls, the air-conditioned, seven passenger limousine with its hand-carved, French-polished South African walnut and English leather.

• • • •

DAVID HEILNER of John D. Aden, Inc., a Boston firm of naval architects and brokers, reports a definite slump in the sale of big yachts. Particular sluggishness has been noted in the movement of the $250,000 jobs, which run about 70 feet and come complete with radar, hi-fi, color television, air conditioning and other essentials.

In the more pedestrian brackets, a greater spread has been noted between asking price and selling price. Until a few months ago, a boat seller asking $100,000 might have had to come down to $90,000. Now, he slides all the way down to $75,000.

While no one is panicking at Tiffany's, it was noted that the man who came in one day last year and bought $240,000 worth of jewelry for his wife — a pearl necklace and two diamond pins—did not repeat his performance this year. Nor did anyone else.

IN SOME other luxury fields there is no sign of slack. Wholesale furriers report mink and sable are moving well. Art dealers say prices of fine art pieces may be going up; are definitely not going down.

Charles & Co., which specializes in corporate gifts of fancy food, reported a definite 10 per cent drop in sales immediately after the market crash but says they are now off only 5 per cent.

The decline includes sales of caviar at $38 a pound, fresh pate de fois gras at $2 an ounce and fruit baskets which go for $150 if you insist on rounding out the fruit with nuts, candies, pates, caviar and brandied cherries.

2 p.m.: Final check of known suspects in nearby area complete. Negative.

2:05 p.m. Father identifies body found near Newport by skin diver.

Many items from here to 5 p.m. that day are unimportant to the story. In all, up to 5 p.m., more than 500 people had been pressed into the search, under the direction of Torrance Police Chief Percy Bennett.

Lt. Don Hamilton of the Torrance Police Department, the next day, had this to say:

"The sickening discovery of the body of the Brown girl ended a search that finally enlisted the help of thousands of people.

"I guess there isn't much to say to parents, except for one or two major points.

"A parent cannot police its child every minute of the day. A parent cannot so regulate a child so that it knows where the child is every second.

"A parent is a human being, so is a child.

"In Torrance we have had two tragedies within a year (Karen Lynn Tompkins, 11, disappeared in 1961)."

Sgt. Wayne Butts, of Los Angeles Police Department, who worked the Karen Lynn Tompkins case, adds:

"I have a daughter, 15. God knows, she has been trained to avoid strangers.

"The other day a man in a car followed her for blocks, trying to pick her up. She didn't get the car number."

Lt. Ralph Weyent, in charge of the Tompkins investigation, says:

"Torrance Police Department did all human beings can do. The public, itself, must supply any answer."

STAY AWAY! IT'S LUNCHTIME!

Barbara, an angry tiger, roars a warning that visitors are not wanted in her cage at the St. Louis Zoo. The cubs, born three weeks ago, have been so closely guarded by the mother that it has not been possible for attendants to determine their sex.

appeared last Tuesday evening.

"You know how it is when you have an only child," said Brown as he told of Gale's family of about 20 dolls. "She had a name for every one of them. And she named the parakeet, the canary and the cat that she had."

One of Gale's last presents from her father had been a record album from the motion picture, "Gidget Goes Hawaiian," that she had begged her father to buy and that he had finally given to her several days before she was kidnapped.

• • • •

"SHE HAD her own record player and some records, mostly Elvis Presley, and—and—what was the name of that other singer she liked, hon?" Brown asked his wife.

"Ricky Nelson," Mrs. Brown answered softly. "She liked Ricky Nelson, too."

"We want to get rid of it all, her bike, her doll house, her clothing, everything," said Brown.

The Browns don't know whether they will try to fill the aching void left by the death of their only daughter.

"We tried to adopt another child several years ago when it seemed likely we couldn't have another child," said Brown. "But the adoption costs were more than we could afford on the $5,000 a year I make."

The Browns both said they were thankful that, unlike the family of Karen Lynn Tompkins, who disappeared last year from her Torrance home without a trace, they had found out early what had happened to their daughter.

"Waiting and wondering and not knowing would be worse," said Brown.

Argentine Meat Plant Sold by Wilson

CHICAGO (UPI)—Wilson & Co. has sold its livestock slaughtering and meat processing plant in Buenos Aires to a group of Argentine businessmen.

The Chicago packing firm said that it will receive about $5,200,000 for the big beef operation, which has been shut down for nearly a year. Payment is to be made over a five-year period.

Parley on Parks Opposes Camps

SEATTLE (UPI)—The first world conference on national parks ended Saturday as delegates agreed to keep tourist facilities out of national parks wherever possible.

The 71-nation conference passed a resolution urging that campsites and structures such as dams and reservoirs be built outside park areas to preserve the wilderness values of the parks.

The group also endorsed a recommendation that an area be established as a natural habitat for every kind of plant or animal threatened with extinction.

TV Relay Satellite Set for Launch

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Telstar, a complex communications satellite which could point the way to world-wide television and expanded overseas telephone service, is scheduled for launching here Tuesday.

If all goes well, within a week after launching television viewers in the United States and western Europe will see the first live trans-atlantic TV programs—beamed across thousands of miles with Telstar serving as a relay station in space.

The firing will mark private industry's first venture into space. Bell Telephone Laboratories of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. built the satellite and is paying all launch costs.

Bell purchased a Thor-Delta rocket from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and will reimburse NASA for launching and tracking the satellite. Estimated cost is $3 million, which Bell will pay regardless of success or failure of the mission.

• • • •

THE THOR-DELTA, America's most reliable space booster with a string of nine straight successful satellite launchings, is to hoist Telstar into an orbit ranging from 600 to 3,500 miles above the earth. The payload weighs 170 pounds and has more than 15,000 parts, half of them electronic.

The two principal U.S. ground stations are at Andover, Me., whose huge horn antenna has sending and receiving capability, and at Holmdel, N.J., which will receive only.

Telstar is not expected to be within range of Andover until the end of the fifth orbit, about 12 hours after launching. On this pass ground trackers will verify orbital information and antenna pointing data.

On the sixth through ninth orbits, while Telstar is still within range of Andover and Holmdel, several domestic demonstrations are planned for periods running from 20 to 50 minutes.

• • • •

INCLUDED WILL be live telephone conversation via satellite, transmission of television tape and of a current news picture and sending high-speed data between the two stations.

Signals will be sent from the Andover horn. The satellite will amplify them 10 billion times and transmit them at a strength of 2½ watts to Andover and Holmdel.

The live transatlantic TV demonstration will be attempted after satellite systems have been thoroughly checked.

The three major U.S. television networks are planning a program for transmission to Europe. It will consist of 12 minutes of news events from a number of places in this country.

• • • •

THE EUROPEAN Broadcasting Union, representing 16 countries, will handle a European program to be beamed to the United States.

New York City will be the clearing house for the American program. From New York it will travel by cable to Andover, thence by microwave signal to the satellite which will rebroadcast it to two ground stations at Goonhilly Down, England, and Pleumeur-Bodou, France. These stations instantly will relay the television pictures throughout Europe.

The European program will originate in Brussels, Belgium, and will be shot to Telstar through Goonhilly Down. The American networks will broadcast it throughout this country.

An early intercontinental voice demonstration will be a telephone hookup between persons in 20 U. S. cities and 20 cities in Europe.

CLOVIS, N. M. WAS STOP FOR TRI-MOTORS

Once-Major Transcontinental Air Terminal Ignored by Whistling Jets

By JOHN McMILLION

CLOVIS, N. M. (UPI)—Supersonic jet fighters from Cannon Air Force Base whistle over the outskirts of Clovis, with pilots too young to remember that down below, transcontinental airline service first flapped its wings 33 years ago Saturday.

Charles Lindbergh, Amelia Earheart, Will Rogers and other aviation pioneers played a part in its development on the flat, glassy field in eastern New Mexico. So did the earthbound railroads. From it grew a major airline flying jets around the world.

In 1929 and 1930, the New York - Los Angeles flight took 48 hours (if all went well) and it cost $351.94 at first. Today, jets make the flight nonstop in about four hours and its costs $200 or less.

• • • •

IN ORDER to open the first coast - to - coast passenger airline service, the long-since defunct Transcontinental Air Transport Airline utilized the facilities of both the Sante Fe Railroad and, farther east, the Pennsylvania Railroad.

On July 7, 1929, actual passenger-carrying operations began this way:

Passengers left New York aboard a Pennsylvania train; walked across the tracks to an airport at Columbus, Ohio, where they boarded a Ford tri-motor (affectionately known as the "Old Tin Goose"); flew during daylight hours only to Waynoka, Okla.; boarded a Sante Fe train there for the overnight trip to Clovis, and from there flew west to Los Angeles. Planes flew about 100 mph.

Going east, procedure was reversed.

The public was entranced and movie stars and heroic young pilots combined to kick old T.A.T. off with plenty of fanfare.

• • • •

WILL ROGERS, an early enthusiast of aviation and eventually a victim of it, made pilot trips on the proposed line prior to its formal inauguration of service.

T.A.T. was laughingly referred to as the "Take A Train" airline in this highly partisan railroad town in 1929. A sizeable chunk of money was sunk into the venture but the whole setup was altered in 1930.

Night flying, which was developed soon after the airline started, combined with effects of the depression to force drastic realignment of routes and service.

T.A.T. merged with the old Maddux Air Lines and pulled out of Clovis and Waynoka. It dropped the awkward plane-to-train shuttle, and began night flying with 18-passenger Curtiss Condor "pullman" planes.

• • • •

IN 1929, the air west of Clovis hummed with the sound of the three stalwart engines of the old tin gooses. The elite of the country passed through this town, then a tiny prairie city, en route back and forth between New York and Los Angeles.

Lindbergh and his bride flew through on their honeymoon prior to opening of service, ironing out final kinks in the Lindbergh-planned route. Amelia Earhart, later to die in mystery in the Pacific, also was an official of T.A.T. and came through Clovis on the first flight.

Discover Shift of Pacific's Rim

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—A scientist said Saturday the rim of the Pacific Ocean is moving horizontally—and continuously—along several giant scars where most of the world's earthquakes take place.

Dr. Clarence Allen, a scientist at the California Institute of Technology, said it was "too early to draw conclusions about the over-all movement of land masses in and around the Pacific."

But he said "the activity does suggest great geological events in the sub-crustal material—perhaps a horizontal plastic flow of large amounts of rock material. We need more information and a better understanding of the earthquakes that accompany the displacements."

He said the drifts appeared too complex "to fit any single model."

Allen, a geologist and authority on the San Andreas fault along the west coast of the United States, said the average movement of earth on the west side of the fault is about one foot every six years. He said the land is moving northward.

"This builds up strain in the rocks near the faul that is relieved by intermittent sudden displacements along it, causing earthquakes," Allen said.

• • • •

ALLEN SAID the movement may be even greater along New Zealand's Alpine's fault.

Allen recently returned from field trips to New Zealand, the Philippines, Formosa and Chile, studying faults in those areas.

"While all of them appear at least 600 miles long," Allen said, "all presumably are much longer than they appear because at least one end of each vanished into the sea."

He said evidence indicated other faults exist under the Pacific. He said this is brought out by earthquakes whose epicenters are under the ocean.

Allen said the Pacific's rim is often referred to as a "ring of fire" because most of the earth's active volcanos are in this area, as well as most of the earthquakes.

Property Valuation Hearing

L. A. Times Los Angeles Bureau

Board of Equalization hearings by the Board of Supervisors start Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the Hall of Administration's hearing room.

With the exception of Tuesday, which is the regular meeting day for the supervisors, equalization hearings will be conducted daily, starting at 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Taxpayers seeking equalization of their assessments, to make them conform to like property in the county, must file petitions for equalization in order to appear before the board.

• • • •

DEADLINE for filing petitions will be Friday. Taxpayers wishing to file should bring a tax bill, or other complete property description, to Room B-91, Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Specially trained staff assistants of Gordon Nesvig, clerk of the board, will assist the taxpayer in making out his claim and will advise of the date and time of hearing.

Nesvig told taxpayers, however, that the Board of Equalization hearings are not the time or place to protest taxes.

At these hearings, Nesvig pointed out, the board only hears evidence as to the valuation of property and attempts to equalize such value with that of similar property in the county.

F'way Hearing Site Protested

Seal Beach Mayor Dean H. Gemmill charged today that the state highway commission is depriving several hundred citizens here of the opportunity to attend a July 24 hearing on the extension of the San Gabriel Freeway.

"We know of 500 to 600 citizens who want to attend the so-called public hearing," he said, "but state officials have set the meeting in a tiny auditorium in Santa Ana with a legal limit on attendance of 100 persons including state personnel."

Charging that the procedure for choosing the meeting place was a "travesty of justice," Gemmill said the city had offered a 500-seat school auditorium in Seal Beach but that the commission had refused it because people in attendance would not be allowed to smoke.

Purpose of the hearing is to hear protests against the proposed southern extension of the San Gabriel Freeway into the city of Seal Beach. The City Council has voted against the extension.

U.S. Exports in May Show Dip From Apr. 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. exports dipped 1 per cent from April to May, the Census Bureau reported.

After allowing for normal seasonal fluctuation, civilian exports in May were valued at $1,774,700,000. This compared with an April total of $1,794,600,000.

The largest decreases were in shipments of vegetable products and miscellaneous items.

Military aid shipments totalled $80.1 million in May, down from $82.4 million in April.

Tristan Islanders Would Return to Ruined Homes

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (AP)—The Tristan Islanders have given up on the 20th Century.

They want to go back to their ancient lonely island in the South Atlantic, away from it all despite the danger of volcanos.

The humble folk of Tristan da Cunha were forced to flee their homes last October and were brought to Britain, where they were excited by their first look at such modern inventions as automobiles, trains, television, telephones and especially traffic lights.

This first thrill has worn off.

"Give us the opportunity to land a small force of young men on our island to plant potatoes and we will go back," Willie Repetto, leader of the islanders, told the British government. The Colonial Office said:

"There can be no question of the islanders going back to their island this year before the end of the southern winter. The beaches were destroyed by the lava from the volcano and we are waiting to see if the tides will alter them.

"Another expedition will go out to Tristan da Cunha this autumn to see how the position has changed."

India Diverts Ships to Area Hit by Flood

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—India has diverted two ships loaded with foodstuffs to Chittagong to help flood victims in east Pakistan, an Indian high commission spokesman said. The ships were en route from the United States to Madras. The Chittagong area has been flooded by heavy rains, hundreds are homeless, and several are believed to have lost their lives.

Complain Thousand Oaks Homes Slipping, Cracking

THOUSAND OAKS (AP)—Authorities are checking complaints that 300 houses are slipping, cracking and buckling.

Dist. Atty. Woodruff J. Deem said that the investigation involves a contractor and the county building department.

The complaints concern relatively new homes in the $15,000 to $20,000 class, he said, at Camino Graciosa, an unincorporated section of Conejo Valley about 45 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

Mothers Will See British Army Life

LONDON (AP)—Three British army recruits are going into the army this week—with their mothers.

The mothers will remain at the army camp only one week. Their sons, all volunteers, will stay considerably longer.

The mothers will go on special invitations from the British army.

"We aim to show the mothers exactly what goes on in the early days of a recruit's training," explained Maj. Edward Smeeden, a Royal Engineers adjutant.

The mothers and sons are: Mrs. Olwyn Billett and her Eric, 19; Mrs. Grace Collingworth and Barry, 19; Mrs. Joyce Bowler and Neil, 18.

Said Mrs. Billett: "When Eric told me he was joining the army, I told him he must be out of his mind. Getting into something with all that getting up early and discipline. Then they invited me to come and see for myself."

Mrs. Collingworth, who said her week with the army will be her first week away from housework for 25 years, told a reporter: "I want to see their kitchens."

Lt. Col. V.H.S. Hannay, commanding officer of the Engineers regiment, explained the invitations were sent out to show how the army has changed—for the better.

The mothers will be billeted with married army families at the Engineers camp near Cove.

Neighbor Women's Legs Bother Men; Ask Tax Cut

STREET, England (AP)—Six men went to court here complaining they were seeing too much of women's legs.

The men, neighbors in the same street in Street, a small town in Somerset, said that a row of new houses shutting their back fences were built so close they had no privacy left.

They appealed to a court for a cut in their tax rates.

"All you can see in the summer are women sunbathing with their clothes up to their backsides," complained Sidney Wheeler.

The chairman of the court didn't think their plight so distressing and refused to cut their rates.

Children to Profit From Store

The Long Beach Exceptional Children's Foundation, in cooperation with the Good Shepherd Home of the West, has started a drive to collect surplus household goods, clothing and appliances to sell in their retail store, Value Village, 2420 Santa Fe Avenue.

Mrs. Millard Nichols, president of the foundation, said Value Village would be open to the public the latter part of this month and that the profits from the store would be used to help handicapped, retarded children.

The foundation conducts a training center at 4519 E. Stearns St where the children are "given an education so suited to their needs that they have the fullest life of which they are capable," Mrs. Nichols said.

The Good Shepherd home in Terra Bella maintains a 24-hour care and training center for retarded children, regardless of color, race or creed.

Trucks will call for items if the donors will call Value Village, Mrs. Nichols said.

THE POLICE HAVE IT

Hey, Sam T.! You Lucky $500 Loser

Somewhere in Long Beach there's a lucky guy named Sam T.—.

Sam, who just arrived here from —, Tex., stopped Saturday afternoon to fill his tank at Bob Blashaw's filling station near Palo Verde Avenue and Atherton Street.

While his car was being serviced, Sam told attendants he planned to find a room somewhere in Long Beach. Didn't have an address yet, though.

He bent over to examine a tire, Blashaw and his wife told the Independent, then drove off.

Minutes later the station operator found on the drive a book containing $500 in traveler's checks — which Sam can reclaim by going to Long Beach police station and identifying himself.

Lucky guy, Sam. Some people might not have turned in the checks.

Missiles, Guns End Radioactive Ship's Career

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The destroyer Fullam sank Saturday beneath the waves she had ridden so stalwartly for the past two decades.

The radioactive ship was purposely sunk by A4D Skyhawk aircraft from the carriers Forrestal and Enterprise, using air-to-surface Bullpup missiles.

The cruiser Newport News and other 2nd Fleet ships finished the doomed ship off with guns.

The Fullam lay dead in the water some 150 miles southeast of Cape Henry. She was towed there Friday by the service-force salvage ship, Recovery.

42 Queens Vie for Title of Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Queens from 42 nations were in this resort city Saturday for Miss Universe pageantry that opens today with a parade in native costumes. Still others were en route.

Also here were Miss U.S.A. contestants from some 40 states.

The beauties registered, were fitted with bathing suits, visited beauty parlors, and otherwise prepared for activities to be climaxed by next Saturday's Miss Universe selection and a coronation ball the following night.

L. B. Police Dept. Strives for Service, Efficiency

By BOB SCHMIDT

Thousands of taxpayers' dollars and hundreds of man hours are being saved each year by the Long Beach Police Department because of increasing attention to "finding the right person for each job" and "using the department's personnel so as to give the community maximum benefit."

But, says City Manager John Mansell, that doesn't mean that we believe in a strict, inflexible definition of the function of a police department or the duties of a policeman."

The question arose after a recent column in the Independent, Press-Telegram by nationally syndicated writer Sydney J. Harris.

Harris quoted from and concurred with a book entitled "Man, Crime and Society" which maintained that police officers too often were called upon to perform "non-police" functions, acting as clerks, radio operators, traffic safety lecturers, motor vehicle inspectors, and a multitude of et ceteras.

* * * *

HARRIS AND the authors of the book maintained that these and similar duties were properly the function of society's various agencies, such as the family, the school, and the church.

"It's an old, old argument," assistant police chief William Kummer said. "And it hangs on whatever definition you accept of the proper function of a police department.

"There is one theory that a policeman should confine himself to going out and catching lawbreakers. There is another theory that a policeman's function is not only to catch a lawbreaker, but to prevent the law from being broken in the first place, to deter a potential lawbreaker, if he can."

* * * *

"THE LONG BEACH Police Department, and I think most departments throughout the country, subscribes to the second theory," Kummer concluded.

"That's why this department has officers going to schools and lecturing on traffic safety and the dangers of narcotics," added Budget Officer Lee Risner.

"A narrow definition of a police department's function is not possible if you say, as we do, that our department's function is simply to be of service to the community," Risner said.

"NEVERTHELESS," Mansell said, "we are interested in increasing our efficiency. To that end we have removed from police responsibility many jobs which other departments can do better, consequently freeing officers for work they can do better.

"The police department once had such responsibilities as rounding up stray animals, painting street lines, and maintaining a lifeguard service. We don't do any of those things any more.

"In addition, we employ full and part time crossing guards, specially trained correctional officers at the honor farm, and girls to perform stenographic and other clerical duties.

"OUR USE of meter maids —the women officers who patrol the parking areas—has released about 25 men for other police work. And the girls do their jobs as well as the men were doing it.

"As an example of our continued efforts to find better ways of doing things, we use a device in our department which gives us some 250 hours a month more time from our officers than we were getting.

"Before, when an officer was called to the scene of an accident or a holdup or some other violation, he would take down as much information as he could, then come back to the office and prepare a report. This involved leaving the field, sitting down at a typewriter and grinding out the report.

"And the way some of those fellows typed, it was a grind," Kummer added.

"NOW," Mansell continued, "they simply go to a phone and call in. A device records their call, and a girl transcribes it. The report looks better, and the officer is out in the field where he should be."

Kummer added that another innovation currently being put into use is a combination telephone-dispatch room. He estimated the yearly savings at about $10,000.

The police department employs 646 people, of which 129 are civilian.

"Long Beach ranks high among cities of its size in the ratio of sworn personnel to non-sworn personnel," Risner said.

'Magic Couch' Claims Ruled Misleading

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Stauffer Laboratories of Los Angeles Saturday were under orders from the Federal Trade Commission to stop making false claims that its electric "Magic Couch" will help lose weight or firm muscle.

FTC examiner Edward Crell issued the order against the firm and its president, Bernard H. Stauffer, following hearings on an FTC complaint issued early in 1960.

Crell said the device would not tone muscles or reduce body weight. If anyone loses weight by following the "Stauffer Home Plan," it would result from a reduction in calories, he said.

The ruling was subject to a review by the commission.

Greek Medic Group Seeks Protection

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—About 1,000 doctors staged a six-hour strike Saturday protesting that the government is not giving them sufficient protection against disgruntled patients.

Military doctors stood by to handle emergencies during the strike period.

The doctors' complaint goes back to last April when a prominent physician was slain by a husband whose wife died after an operation.

Following the slaying, there were several reports of doctors being threatened by relatives of patients.

Scientific Salesmanship Subject of LeBarr Talk

"Scientific Salesmanship" will be the subject of a speech by vocational counsellor Georges Henri LeBarr July 17 at the Lafayette Hotel.

LeBarr, who attempts to analyze a person's characteristics, abilities, and potentialities from a photograph of the subject, will speak in the hotel's Supper Room at 7:30 p.m. There will be no charge.

He will be introduced by Bill Ballard, a member of the Long Beach Real Estate Board.

The lecture-demonstration is primarily designed for sales and business people, but is open to the public. LeBarr's speech is sub-titled "How to Size Up Your Prospect and Expedite Transactions."

Also on the program will be a color film entitled "The Story of California from the Beginning."

Ezra Taft Benson's Son Enters Race

Aussie Royal Tour Director Appointed

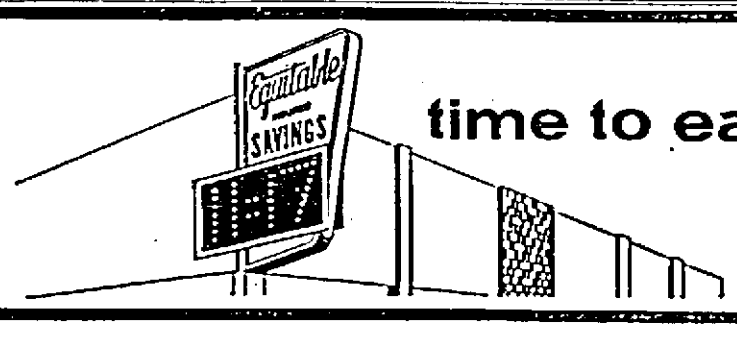

CANBERRA (UPI) — Sir Roy Dowling, former chief of Australian defense forces, has been appointed director for the royal tour of Australia by Queen Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, next year.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies made the announcement and said Dowling will leave in two weeks for discussions at Buckingham Palace.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

6,000 Reserve Troops in Camp

"You're in the Army now" was the theme song Saturday for 6,000 Southern California Reservists beginning two weeks of field training at military reservations around the state.

All are members of the West's largest reserve unit, the 63rd Infantry Division.

Infantrymen are in training at Camp Roberts, artillerymen at Hunter Liggett Military Reservation and tank crews, Camp Irwin.

A mass outbound troop movement began at midnight Friday when 3,000 men boarded two trains at Los Angeles Union Station. Others traveled in truck convoys and buses from a dozen Southland cities.

Business Fraternity Elects

Long Beach chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, a national business fraternity, is headed by a new slate of officers, it was announced Saturday.

New president is Lawrence E. Pearce, of 5956 Los Encinos Ave., Buena Park. New directors are John E. Lasswell, 2675 Easy Ave.; Bernard Reizner, 6718 E. El Salvador, and Kermit J. Sadler, 25016 Belleport St., Harbor City.

Fireman Hurt in Oil-Field Blaze

A spectacular oil-field fire at Santa Fe Springs was put out Saturday after a fireman was injured in the five-hour fight near the 9900-block of Bloomfield Avenue.

Flames erupted when an oil worker struck a gas meter with his car and broke a feed line. Released gas caught fire and engulfed the car, driven by Donald Childes, 36, who escaped uninjured.

Fireman Dave Vietzke, 24, was burned about the eyes but was released after treatment in a Whittier hospital.

Three Santa Fe Springs fire companies under command of Acting Chief Lester C. Bullock prevented flames from spreading to nearby wells.

Gardena Gets Branch Library

A new major branch of the Los Angeles County Library will be built in Gardena as part of the expanding Civic Center, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced.

The architectural firm of Marion Varner and Associates has been retained to draw plans for the facility.

The branch, to be one of the largest in the county library system, will serve much of the southwest portion of Los Angeles County in addition to Gardena, Hahn said.

L.B. Army Noncom Found Dead in Bed

The body of Army Sgt. Robert A. James, 31, stationed in Seoul, Korea with the 1st Cavalry Division, was discovered Saturday in bed. His wife, Elizabeth, lives at 1557 Parade St.

Army officials said an autopsy will be performed to determine cause of death.

Slugger Runs as Victim Screams

Waitress Jewel F. Sarringar, 40, of 1609 Atlantic Ave., Saturday was treated for head injuries at St. Mary's Hospital after being slugged by a man as she walked near her home.

She said the assailant suddenly appeared and struck her on the head several times with what may have been a wine bottle. He reportedly ran after being alarmed by her screams.

Accident Victims Arrested

Two Los Angeles youths, injured in an accident involving an allegedly stolen car, Saturday were taken into custody by Los Angeles officers on car-theft charges.

Police here said John J. Mojica, 18, suffered a broken left leg, and Robert Mata, 18, severe facial cuts, when the car in which they were riding crashed into construction work on San Diego Freeway at Atlantic Avenue near 33rd Street.

The driver and another youth, who apparently fled the scene, are being sought, officers reported.

Methodists Retain 'Total Abstinence'

BURSLEM, England (AP) — By an overwhelming majority vote, the Methodist Conference rejected Saturday night a move to discard total abstinence as a condition of membership of the church's Order of Citizenship.

The proposal had been made that the phrase "total abstinence" be replaced by "abstemiousness in the use of all alcoholic beverages" but abstinence while driving.

POLITICS

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Los Angeles County's 217-member Republican Central Committee will name its election year chairman Tuesday night to climax an increasingly bitter battle between aspirants J. A. (Jud) Leetham, the incumbent, and Jack Drown, often referred to as gubernatorial nominee Richard M. Nixon's "closest personal friend."

Drown, of Rolling Hills and proprietor of the Drown News Agency, 2531 E. 67th St., claims, through his backers, to have pledges of support from more than 100 committeemen.

Leetham supporters, stoutly defending him against Drown's charges of deficit operation of the committee, have appealed to committeemen to reserve their decision until, they say, revelation of an audit at the Tuesday election meeting will prove Drown's charges false.

* * * *

OBSERVERS within the committee see the Drown-Leetham contest as one to decide whether Nixon will be permitted to name his own man, Drown, for the tactical conduct of county campaigning or whether the job will go to Leetham, who claims a party loyalty approach as opposed to a "one-candidate oriented" approach.

Drown has pledged support to the whole GOP ticket and Leetham has pledged unflagging support to Nixon and the ticket whether he wins or loses the chairmanship.

Drown cites a June 14 meeting of the United Republican Finance Committee as basis for his deficit charges, saying specifically that the June 30 deficit was $10,000 and will bulge to $53,000 by Sept. 1 when the long, hot campaign is just beginning.

* * * *

LEETHAM, supported by county treasurer Charles Soderstrom and URFC chief Harold Ramser, says this report is false, adding that the Tuesday-revealed audit will more likely show a surplus of about $50,000. Ramser says the Drown-predicated deficit of September would occur only in the "preposterous" eventuality that there will be no fund-raising effort whatsoever this summer.

Claims of wide Drown support were contained in a letter over the signature of Nixon law firm associate Earl C. Adams. It contained the names of other Drown backers including two Long Beach committee members John C. Lungren, M.D., and Dr. Ryland R. Madison. It also included three assemblymen, Houston I. Flournoy, Chet Wolfrum and Howard J. Thelin.

JACK DROWN

* * * *

COUNTY precinct chairman Jim Ritchey also has circularized committeemen to refute allegations of an inadequate job of getting out the GOP vote in the primary. Ritchey noted that personal congratulations from Nixon himself were at hand to dispute the charge.

As Nixon's favorite, Drown may have the inside track although Leetham has not conceded an inch. Leetham apparently feels that impact of the financial report Tuesday will be a significant one. Such feelings was implicit in his remark on Drown's charges: "It is hard for me to imagine that Mr. Drown could want the county chairmanship so badly that he would do what he is doing to get it."

FRONTIER DEMOS

Mrs. Zita Remley will be guest speaker for the New Frontier Democratic Club at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the Terrace Room of the Breakers International Hotel.

* * * *

BIGELOW WINS

M. Ross Bigelow, attorney, won a place on the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee for the East Long Beach 39th Assembly District by virtue of absentee ballots.

Bigelow edged out Deane Dana by about 15 votes after absentees were counted although Dana had a 30-vote margin before the absentee count.

82nd Airborne Invasion of Sicily in 1943 Was Monumental Snafu

(This is another in a series of articles recalling people and places, campaigns and catastrophies of World War II. Subsequent articles will appear at intervals of approximately two weeks.)

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

The 82nd Airborne Division was accustomed to snafus by the time it hit Sicily, on July 10, 1943.

"After Tunis," says one veteran, "nothing seemed to matter."

In training there, the division got its transportation system fouled up, lived on Spam and marmalade for a solid week.

But that was just a comic-opera introduction to the horrible mess that followed.

Sicily was the first big-scale mass parachute drop of World War II, fashioned in part after the successful, but comparatively small German airborne assault on Crete two years earlier. Since this was the Allies' first major descent from the air to a battlefield, some mistakes were inevitable, perhaps—but . . .?

• • • •

THE BATTLE PLAN was relatively simple. The First Division was to make a beach landing on western Sicily, the 82nd Airborne to drop in ahead and clean out the initial Italian and German resistance.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, who commanded the 82nd, said even the Germans were not original.

In 1763, Ridgway said in his memoirs, Benjamin Franklin observed a balloon ascension and wrote:

• • • •

"WHERE IS the prince who can so afford to cover his country with troops for its defense as than ten thousand men descending from the clouds might not in many places do an infinite deal of mischief before a force might be brought together to repel them."

Unfortunately, the Americans did an "infinite deal of mischief"—to themselves.

Although there were hundreds of Allied ships near the beaches to gauge the winds, nobody adjusted for a sudden shift in air currents that began at midnight.

• • • •

THE PARATROOPERS' target was a small area near the Sicilian town of Gela, to land ahead of Gen. Omar Bradley's invaders and screen them, for the moment, against enemy attack.

Mild breezes were predicted, and the paratroop drops were figured for that eventuality.

Instead gale-like winds of 35 miles velocity were raging when the troop-carriers flew over the scene. The drops were made, regardless.

• • • •

THE SOLDIERS of the 82nd were scattered for 60 miles in all directions, covering an area of hundreds of square miles.

Then came the greater tragedy.

Offshore, the invading armada had just repelled a German aerial assault. As the battered German bombers flew off, planes carrying the 504th Battalion of American paratroopers came over the horizon, directly on schedule and directly on course.

Somebody downstairs blundered.

Afterwards officers and men said they had been so furiously engaged in combat with the German planes that they didn't stop to think.

The slow American transports lumbered toward their drop zones, and were caught in a devastating anti-aircraft fire from the American armada below.

Paratroopers poured out of the planes as shore batteries took up the fire. Before the appalling mistake could be corrected, 23 American transports were shot down—by American guns. The fleet commander blamed the Air Corps, the Army blamed merchant seamen manning guns on transports.

Gen. Keerans, commander of the 504th, never got an opportunity to testify. He was one of the paratroopers shot down and killed.

While this tragedy took place on the beach, inland confusion was rampant.

The bewilderment of the American invaders was scarcely less than that of the German defenders. As fast as they committed reserves to one area, they would get invasion reports from another.

One American general—James M. Gavin—later described Sicily as a "self-adjusting foulup."

By that he meant that the snafu had now spread to the German sides of the lines—if there was anything such as "lines."

On the American front, the snafu deepened before it improved. Each division committed to the Sicilian invasion had its own password, and the British had one of their own, too. Since the American drop covered such a wide area, units were days establishing contact with their own commands.

The British were unexpected benefactors. The gales blew them hundreds of reinforcements—Americans sailing through the sky far off course. The First Division found itself reinforced by paratroopers.

Inland the airborne troops found themselves in squads instead of platoons, platoons instead of companies. But they fought like tigers.

The objective of these troops—to delay German reinforcements until the First Division could mount an offensive from the beachhead—was achieved so notably that one of Germany's prize units, the Hermann Goering Armored Division, was sealed off from the beaches. In the opinion of German General Karl Student, as he expressed it two years later in a prisoner-of-war camp:

"I attribute the entire success of the Allied Sicilian operation to the delaying of German reserves until sufficient forces had been landed by sea to resist the counter-attacks of our defending forces."

The men who died by snafu at Sicily may have saved the lives of thousands of their fellow soldiers. As a result of the foulups there, paratroop commanders changed many of their procedures. In later airborne invasions, Allied guns were silenced along the pathways of the troop-carrying planes; passwords were simplified and standardized, and revised concepts of using weather information were developed.

Gen. Gavin called Sicily a "sobering experience for all the troops and staff.

"After Sicily, the troopers of the 82nd knew what it was to leap from the door of a plane into the inky black night. They knew full well whether they lived or died depended entirely on their physical and mental resources and what they carried out the door with them.

"Only God came along with you, was the feeling after Sicily."

Attorney Files Suit Over Title H'wood Lawyer

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The late Jerry Giesler, counsel for many Hollywood stars, never was a "Hollywood lawyer," an attorney who was filmland's first assemblyman in 1932 charged.

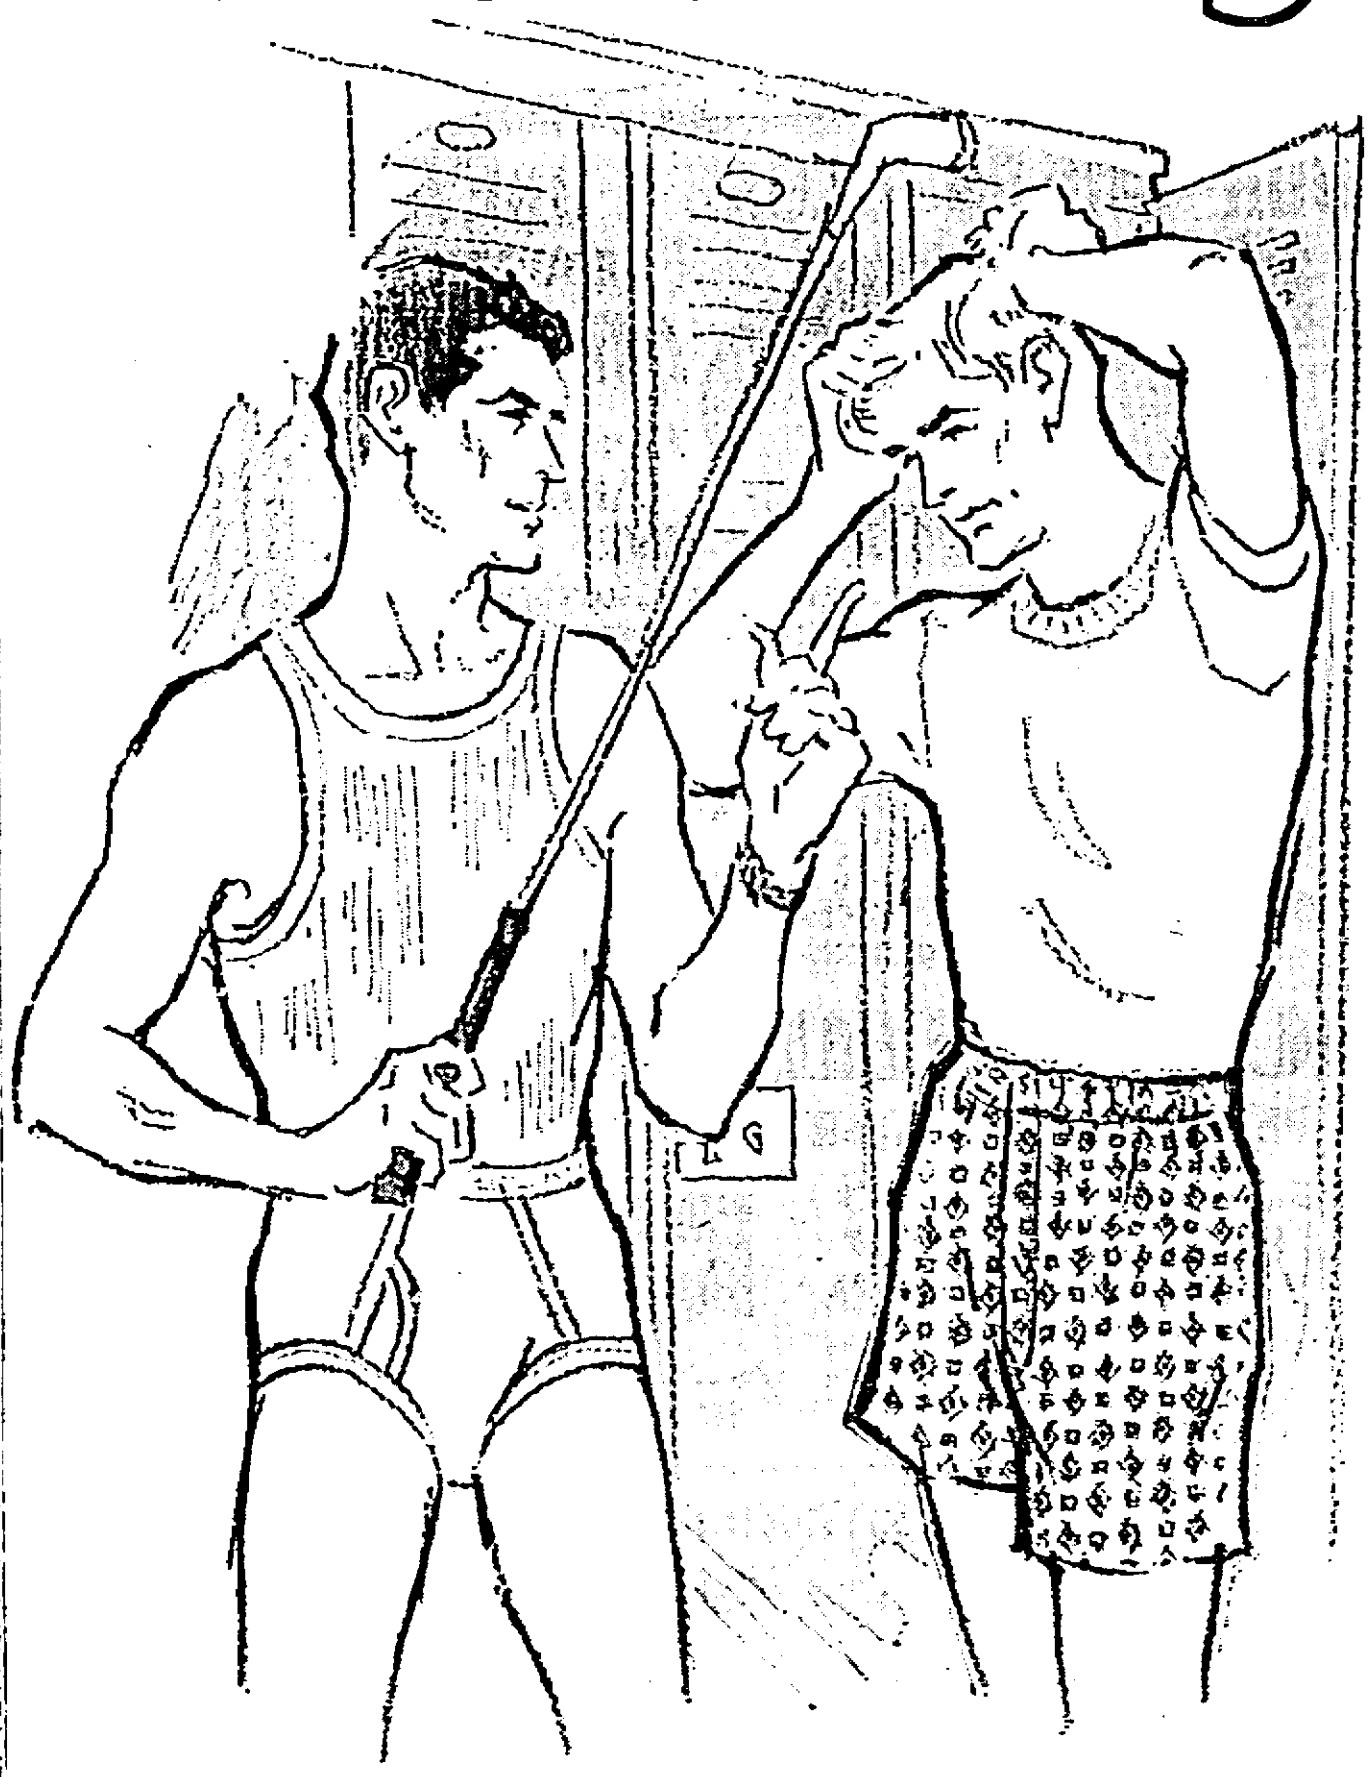

Protesting use of the "Hollywood lawyer" tag on a paperback biography of Giesler, attorney Milton M. Golden filed a $150,000 damage suit against Simon and Schuster, Inc., the Giesler estate and Pocket Books, Inc., as well as 18 booksellers and distributing organizations.

Golden said the title, added to a new paperback edition of Giesler's life, is "unfair competition" with his own story, "Milton M. Golden: Hollywood Lawyer," and is false and misleading to the general public.

DSA Seen Saving Military, Taxpayers $2 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new $3-billion Defense Supply Agency — DSA — is now nearing full operation.

That may turn out to be the best news taxpayers have had in years.

This unsung, almost ignored agency is now eight months old and has 16,500 employes. Ultimately, it will have 23,900.

Its job is to supply the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines with the items they use in common and to do it efficiently and effectively.

In the process, it is expected to lop $2 billion annually from the current procurement costs of the services—$2 billion that critics of the military say has been spent through sheer managerial inefficiency and service parochialism.

It already has reduced the jumbled inventory it took over from the services by $229 million.

• • • •

TAXPAYERS have been complaining about the inefficiency of military procurement clear back to the days of George Washington. Nobody has the foggiest notion of how many long-forgotten studies have been made on ways and means to improve military supply services.

Last year Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara ordered another study. The final report, never published, apparently outraged his sense of tidiness for on Aug. 31 he announced the Defense Supply Agency would come into being Oct. 1.

For all practical purposes, the defense secretary abolished the Quartermaster Corps operations of the armed services and transferred the whole kit and kaboodle to DSA.

• • • •

IN SO DOING, McNamara not only brought a high degree of centralization to the chaotic procurement field, but by estalishing the agency outside any military service and directly under his office, he nailed down civilian control of a vital section of military spending, though his first choice for chief was a military man.

To head this new empire McNamara yanked Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara, 57, an affable fisherman and terrible golfer—100 plus, back from Korea where he was serving as quartermaster general to the 8th Army. The two McNamaras are unrelated.

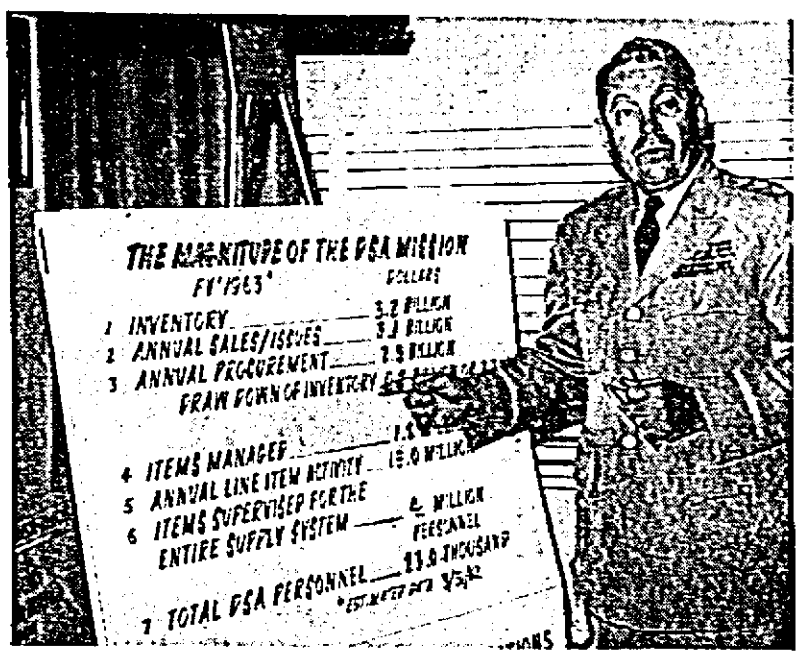

The DSA now has charge of procuring food, clothing, medical supplies, petroleum products, construction materials, industrial, electronic and automotive supplies for all the services.

• • • •

FURTHER, it is charged with providing transportation for all suplies from where they happen to be, to where the services need them. In addition, DSA is now charged with handling the sales of all goods declared surplus.

To supply the services Gen. McNamara has a revolving stock fund of $3 billion a year. He plans to sell about $3 billion worth of goods to the services and buy a like amount from producers.

In essence, DSA operates a wholesale warehouse system which delivers to the service-operated outlets. The service-man is the consumer.

No Rest Seen in Battle for Beach Beauty

LA JOLLA, Calif. (UPI) — A permanent organization to prevent installation of a public restroom at Windansea Beach in La Jolla was formed here Saturday.

"We are opposed to this thing down the line," a spokesman for the group said. "We want no compromise."

The group was formed to keep the "natural beauty" of the beach intact "for all San Diego to enjoy," the spokesman continued.

County Health Director Dr. J. N. Askew has told the La Jollans that state law requires a public restroom on the beach and one must go in.

This is the second altercation over the proposed facility. La Jolla won the first.

Doctors Donate $4.7 Million to Medical Schools

CHICAGO (UPI)—American doctors gave more than $4.7 million to the nation's medical schools last year, the American Medical Association said.

The physicians gave $3,428,413 directly to the schools, and $1,303,161 to the AMA's education and research foundation. The foundation, started in 1951, has raised $11.5 million to aid the country's 86 medical schools.

Deans of the medical schools may use the grants at their discretion for special projects or expenses outside their budgets.

N. Y. Ship Company Gets $53 Million Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy will award a $53,997,001 contract to the New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N. J., for construction of a nuclear powered frigate, Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N. J., said.

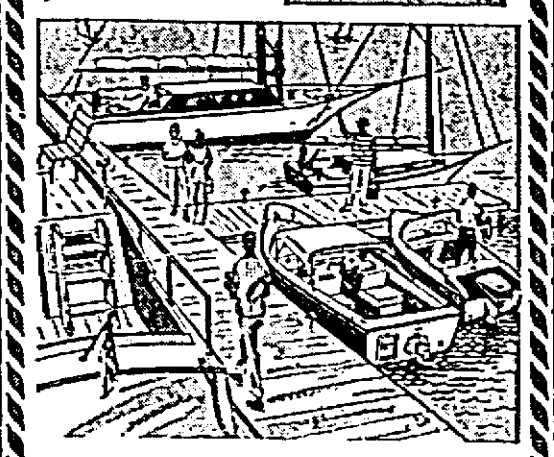

New York Ship was one of three firms to bid for the frigate.

This is the second major contract within a week that the Navy said it will award to the Camden firm. Last Tuesday it was selected to build one of three nuclear attack submarines. This vessel is expected to cost about $23 million.

Tax Cut Timing Clamor Grows; JFK Stands Pat

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

Clamor over the question of an immediate income tax cut to aid business grew louder this week.

President Kennedy told his news conference that his administration is seriously considering requests by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO for a reduction now.

But for the time being Kennedy stood pat on his previously announced intention of asking Congress to reduce taxes, effective next January.

He said he was watching the economic indicators and that if they seem to reflect the need for a quicker cut he will recommend it.

Three governors — Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican, Michael V. Disalle of Ohio and Edmund G. Brown of California, Democrats—joined in the plea for lower taxes.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., reiterated his demand for early action on taxes.

The proposals ran into opposition from Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman, and Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican member, of the Senate Finance Committee.

"While it may be politically popular at this time, the long-range inflationary results for America would be disastrous," said Williams. "I refuse to have any part of such irresponsible action as to endorse a tax cut in the face of our present deficit."

Byrd, estimating the proposal would reduce tax revenues by $9.5 billion a year, said it would lead to a deficit of more than $15 billion in the current fiscal year.

President Kennedy twice discussed the situation with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

• • • •

THE FIRST National Bank of Chicago, in its semi-annual poll of mid-western leaders of commerce and industry, found expectations of improved business during the second half of this year in the rubber and automotive products, merchandising, food, farm equipment, oil and appliance industries.

The steel industry is expected to remain at its slow pace. Representatives of the construction, rail and paper industries were pessimistic.

Another survey by the University of Michigan research center indicated that the consumer will continue the high level of spending that prevailed in the spring.

However, the report said "it is evident that the consumer is not in an exuberant frame of mind. There are no indications that people are disposed to upgrade their standard of living more rapidly in the period ahead than they did during the past few years.

"Thus, the impetus to faster economic growth, sought by government and business, is not likely to come from the consumer sector in the near future unless new stimuli alter the prospects seen by consumers."

• • • •

THE FEDERAL reserve board reported that consumers increased installment credit debt by $113 million in May, about $100 million less than in April. A moderate decline in the signing of new installment contracts for consumer goods was noted.

Total inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May showed the smallest increase in nine months, the Commerce Department announced. Inventories were estimated at $97.4 billion, up $170 million from April.

The department said total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in May were estimated at $66.4 billion, a gain of less than one per cent from April.

It was announced in Tokyo that the Kennedy Administration has invited Japan to invest in building factories in the United States. It would be a means of helping correct a U. S. adverse balance of payments situation.

Mentioned as regions where industrialization might be expanded with Japanese funds were Wichita, Kan., Wilmington, N. C., Maine, New Jersey and areas on the West Coast.

FOURTH OF JULY shutdowns cut into automobile and steel production.

Output of passenger cars dropped to an estimated 112,000 this week from 126,521 last week but was far ahead of the 83,962 built in the July 4 week last year.

The auto industry reported it turned out 3,620,996 passenger cars in the first six months of this year, a gain of 32.3 per cent over the 2,736,804 built in the 1961 first half.

Production of 570,000 cars was scheduled for July, up 43 per cent from a year ago and the highest for July since 1955.

Steel production was expected to fall to another 17-month low this week. Last week the mills poured 1,501,000 tons of steel, down four per cent from the previous week.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Huge Nevada Blast Was a Peaceful Venture

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The mightiest H-bomb type device ever fired in the United States ripped a huge crater in the Nevada desert last week.

But it was a peaceful rather than warlike venture—a part of Project Plowshare to convert the power of nuclear forces to digging harbors, obliterating obstructive mountains, and turning up deeply buried minerals.

• • • •

THE UNDERGROUND blast—600 feet beneath the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test center—was the prelude to the first atmospheric test in the United States in four years. It also coincided with plans to fire a high-altitude H-bomb in the Central Pacific weapons test series.

The explosion opened a crater roughly 300 feet deep and nearly a third of a mile in diameter. The hole was 600 feet deep until debris blown into the air settled back.

The AEC said a "relatively clean" thermonuclear device was used, but that in any event 95 per cent of the deadly radiation was trapped in the ground.

President Kennedy has no intention of recommending an immediate tax cut despite mounting pressure from business and labor. That doesn't apply to early 1963, however.

• • • •

HE MADE this clear in a nationally televised press conference after the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO, spokesmen respectively, for business and labor, claimed a cut now was imperative to bolster a sluggish economy.

The President said he would have to watch basic economic indicators over the next few months before deciding whether such a stimulant is needed.

He said he and Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon preferred to stick to their previously announced schedule of a cut next year.

The AFL-CIO replied that Kennedy "is dead wrong." It said the economy was not responding as it should and that "everything looks bad and nothing looks good."

• • • •

THE LABOR Department reported, meantime, that unemployment, swollen by school youngsters entering the labor market, inched up in June for the first time in more than a year to 5.5 per cent.

Kennedy appealed to Congress for bi-partisan support of his $4.9 billion foreign aid bill which the House takes up this week. The Senate cut the total to $216.5 million.

The President recognized that the program places "great demands" on the American people. But he said it was vital to United States and free world security. He urged that these facts be kept in mind:

—More than half the funds go for military assistance to nations defending themselves against communism; more than 80 per cent is in loans which must be repaid in dollars; more than 80 per cent will buy U. S. goods, thereby helping industry and workers.

He warned that changes are going on throughout the world and that the program will have a bearing on whether they take place peacefully or with violence. "The stirrings of revolution can be felt in this hemisphere," he added. "It will be either peaceful or violent."

• • • •

IN A FOURTH of July address in Philadelphia where American patriots lighted the Torch of Liberty 186 years ago, Kennedy envisioned a mighty economic, political and military partnership between the United States and a United States of Europe.

Such an alliance would be so strong, he said, that it could mount a deterrent powerful enough to forewarn any aggressor and banish war and coercion from the earth. "All this will not be completed in a year," he said, "but let the world know that this is now our goal."

Kennedy has been urging closer anti-Communist political and economic ties in Free Europe. He has acclaimed the European Common Market, which Britain and other nations are expected to join, as the first step in what he called a future "declaration of interdependence"—a concrete Atlantic partnership.

• • • •

"WE DO NOT regard a strong and united Europe as a rival but as a partner," the President declared. He believed a united Europe could play a greater role in common defense, in reducing trade barriers, helping newly independent but underdeveloped countries, and developing coordinated policies in all economic, diplomatic and political areas.

He cautioned that such an alliance must not become "a rich man's club while the rest of the world gets poorer and poorer." In other words, he said, it must play a great role in aiding progress in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev repeatedly has denounced the proposed economic alliance which could cut deeply into Russian trade, and Moscow has warned Austria and other nations not to join in.

• • • •

SEN. BARRY Goldwater of Arizona started a political ruckus with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower over creation of an all Republican conference and national citizens committee to serve as a GOP advisory council.

The acknowledged leader of the party's conservative wing denounced the move, charging that those named to the council were responsible for divisive tactics which led to Kennedy's election. He asserted that this ran counter to the traditional principles of the party and the counsel of party leaders.

The council was formed at a GOP meeting at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm. Goldwater, who harbors presidential ambitions, called on Republican National Chairman William E. Miller to repudiate it and keep party strategy in the national committee.

Miller did not respond immediately but Eisenhower did. He wrote Miller, as did liberal Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N. Y., that the council would promote progressive programs "which are the core of Republicanism;" that it was "crucial to the party's resurgence;" and that it was strictly a leadership move which will bring together "the truest possible group action of our national leaders."

Short-Shorts, Capris, Levis Blossom at LBSC

—Staff Photos by Roger Cear

THERE'S NOT A CARE in the air these days at Long Beach State College, where the dress is casual and the students are glad of it during summer sessions. Baring their burly knees to the breeze, the keen students at left ponder the transition from the academic to the pragmatic as they view the departure of the carefree and charming group of coeds. A t right, assistant art professor Dick Swift plays it cool, too, as he relaxes in sport shirt during class s ession. Instructors value such summer informality. Girls are sporting short-shorts, capris, and tight slacks. Men are wearing shorts, Levis.

Swim Pool Manager Is Honored

Scholastic and aquatic performance, leadership qualities, and personality were the basis of the votes cast by Bender's 50 fellow students and the school's teaching staff.

A graduate of Jordan High School and Long Beach City College, Bender is attending Long Beach State College while employed by the city's recreation department. He was nominated to attend the aquatic school by the Long Beach Red Cross Chapter.

At Tulequoia he renewed his certification as a Red Cross water safety instructor and qualified as a first aid instructor and an instructor in basic boating and advanced survival swimming.

LBSC Summer Dress Informal

The Long Beach State College handbook is explicit: "Bermudas, slacks, shorts, sweatshirts, levis and the like are not appropriate for general campus wear."

But when the winter's chill is off the air, anything—or almost anything—goes.

Blossoming in the lazy summer sun are gaily colored short-shorts, capris, Bermudas and tightly tailored slacks.

FOR THE MEN, it's shorts, T-shirts and Levis.

Some professors have shed ties and are lecturing in passionate-plaid sport shirts.

It's all perfectly legal and proper. The handbook's advice covers only the regular school year.

Practical observers believe the current summer session is setting a record for "casual" learning. A college spokesman says the trend appears to be growing.

PRETTY SUE Chapman, an aspiring elementary school teacher from Harbor City, alternates between fetching white shorts and capris. "I think it's one of the best things about going to school in the summer," she says.

As a general rule, the LBSC handbook advises: "Simplicity is the keynote on the campus." Summer 1962 appears to be drawing a thinner line than usual between the simple and the elemental.

Beach Combing with Malcolm Epley

SOUTH of Long Beach lies the ocean—a geographical fact that still evades a lot of people.

Some one had it a little mixed up on the first reports of the finding of the dress and hairband in the tragic case of the missing Torrance girl.

The authorities at first wouldn't tell us exactly where the find was made. "South of Long Beach" was all they would say, and that's what early edition headlines had to say.

Later, it developed, the spot was at Bolsa Chica Beach, which is as much east as south. Directly south would be something else, a fact evidently not clear to the official who gave the first report. A small point, perhaps, but interesting to geographical hair-splitters.

JIM BENTSON, the lawyer, who lives east of Long Beach at Seal Beach, has had an interesting experience with Seattle.

Bentson cancelled a mid-May trip to the fair up there when his travel agent was not able to guarantee reservations made earlier in the year. The lawyer wrote a hot letter to several newspapers, and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer printed it. That really touched things off.

The president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, the director of the fair, and the head of the fair housing bureau, telephoned him the day of publication of the letter. He was even more impressed and moved when a cab driver and a housewife telephoned from Seattle volunteering to get his family a place to stay.

Before the day was over, Bentson had eight phone calls and three telegrams, including an offer from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hekker offering him free use of a duplex at Kent, Wash.

In the week that followed, he received no less than 39 letters from Washington, including five more offers of free accommodations. Others sent clippings about people who had attended the fair at little cost and soon.

Bentson, of course, has changed his mind. He's going to Seattle. "Promoters and profiteers can't last long in that atmosphere," he says. "We're looking forward to our trip, not only because we'll see the fair, but because we'll meet the warm-hearted people up there."

ALL of this is worth particular note because Long Beach, a few years hence, will probably be hosting a world's fair.

It's a big responsibility for a community, and a few hot-shot profit-takers can do a lot of harm.

Seattle's good people are laboring to overcome such handicaps. Knowing they're likely to develop, we are forewarned and have the chance to head them off before the fair opens.

TOMORROW, Monday, is a big day for this dept. Scheduled is the announcement of the results of the "Predict the June Headlines" contest that attracted so much interest among B-C readers.

It has been a job, sorting and scoring the hundreds of entries. But it has been fascinating, too.

It turned out to be a tough contest, for June was a rather unpredictable month. But you'll be surprised, for instance, at the number of entrants who actually picked the Dodgers in second place and the Angels in third on June 29, the key day for two of the contest questions.

Watch for the results tomorrow.

Lt. Cmdr. Tiernan Takes Over at Santa Ana Training Center

Lt. Cmdr. Bernard F. Tiernan, USN, formerly with the staff of the Naval Air Reserve Training Command at Glenview, Ill., is now commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Training Center at Santa Ana.

A full-scale change of command ceremony at the former lighter-than-air facility of the wartime Santa Ana Naval Air Station served to welcome him aboard.

Capt. A. D. Christopher, USNR, who had taken over temporarily pending arrival of Cmdr. Tiernan, returned to his primary duty as commanding officer of Long Beach Naval Reserve Training Center at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station.

Cmdr. Tiernan, who was a bomber pilot during World War II, later served as a jet fighter pilot from the decks of the USS Essex. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with three stars, the Presidential Unit citation and Navy Unit commendation medals.

With his wife Florence and their five children, he lives at 18671 Eunice Place, Tustin.

Deadly Dope Dosage Is Related by Witness

A 21-year-old Long Beach woman, booked for investigation of murder in the narcotics-overdose death of a Lakewood man, admitted Saturday that the victim took the overdose in her home.

During a police lie detector test, Mrs. Marjorie E. Goodin said she admitted Robert Gary Badstubner, 22, to her home at 1049 E. Plymouth St. Tuesday night and that he took an injection of heroin in her presence.

Badstubner, of 4723 Levelside Ave., was found later dead in his parked car on E. 63rd Street at De Forrest Avenue. Mrs. Goodin said he was alive when she last saw him.

Mrs. Brenda Joyce Drewien, 21, of 17903 Woodruff Ave., Bellflower, and Kenneth J. Bennett, of 15813 Washington St., Compton, arrested earlier for questioning in the case, were released Saturday. Police said they were apparently not implicated in the death.

MISSIONARY RETURNS

Whites Held Chief Cause of Africa Jungle Violence

By VERA WILLIAMS

"Whites in large measure are responsible for the violence in Africa's jungles.

"They imposed their culture too much and too fast on the native culture of Africa, giving the people things they never had possessed, did not need, and had no way to reproduce for themselves.

"Thus the natives developed the 'Gimme' habit."

It's one of the famed "White Fathers of Africa" speaking — white-robed Rev. Aime LaCasse, who for 20 years served as a missionary in Africa, living in mud huts without a floor, eating native food, speaking Swahili, Banyamezi and Arabic.

"A Westerner gives an African native a bed, for instance—" reflects Father La Casse. "He never has seen a bed before, he has no use for it. But his neighbors see it, and they want one, too. They can't get one; they have no means to make one . . . Trouble."

The order of "White Fathers," technically the "Missionaries of Africa" was founded in 1868 by Archbishop Charles Martial Allemand Lavigerie shortly after Henry M. Stanley found the explorer David Livingstone. ("Dr. Livingstone, I presume?")

• • • •

BY ORDERS of the founder, the "White Fathers" wear the costume of the Moslems of North Africa, a white cassock known as a "gandurah," a white hooded cape or "burnous" and a soft red fez called a "chechia." In warm countries, cassock and cape are of cotton; in the mountains they are made of wool.

Because Moslem holy men carry strings of black and white beads as they chant "There is no god but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet," the White Fathers wear Rosaries of black and white beads.

A native of New Hampshire, Father LaCasse was a theological student in Montreal when he heard a White Father speak and was fired with the desire to serve in Africa. He went to Algiers and Tunis in 1934, and was ordained in 1938 in the old Punic city of Carthage.

• • • •

HIS FIRST assignment was at Kigoma-Ujiji in Tanganyika, where Livingstone was found.

Later he was dispatched to the mission at Tabora, the old slave market.

"In the market place, the stakes still stood where the slaves were tied," he says. "We could follow the slave trails by the bones from Tabora east to Dar-Es-Salaam and Mombasa, and west to Lagos and what now is Accra."

REV. AIME LACASSE
Speaking Swahili, Banyamezi

"Slavery still is practiced," he says, after a pause. "Arabs take African natives as slaves to Arabia. The United Nations knows this."

• • • •

FATHER LaCASSE served an area 90 miles wide, with some 60,000 inhabitants, most of them pagans.

"At that time," he says, "in Africa were 52 of us priests and brothers, with orders to live as closely to the natives as possible, to teach them about God and right and wrong, but not to unduly impose our culture on theirs.

"We ate the native fruits, we raised the native vegetables. On safaris, we ate the same food they did—bugali, which is corn flour boiled in water, scooped out from a central container by hand and dipped into a sauce made from digitalis leaves and ground peanuts. The milk was hard to take, because the natives clean the milk gourds with cow urine."

Africa needs no orphanages, he says, because homeless children are assimilated into the families of their relatives. In the main, the natives practice monogamy, but if a woman's husband dies she automatically becomes the "extra wife" of her husband's brother.

Failure to bear children is almost the only reason for divorce in Africa.

Father LaCasse says he has known natives to carry an ill or wounded neighbor 65 miles on a litter on their shoulders to a hospital.

"That's brotherly love," he adds.

"Africans are surprised at our motels, hotels and restaurants. In Africa, you may eat and sleep in any home where you stop."

• • • •

THE "WHITE FATHER" believes that American doctors could learn much from African witchdoctors who concoct medicines from native herbs, roots, leaves, barks and grasses. He has seen sensational cures of black mamba and swira snakebites. A mamba kills in 20 minutes and a swira in 5 minutes.

The witchdoctors, he says, have potions that seem to cure sterility in men and women.

"Sometimes," he says ruefully, "they give an overdose, and the patient, even if cured, dies.

"Witchdoctors, however, are helpless before the common cold. They can't cure it any more than an American doctor can."

• • • •

NATIVES MAKE a toothbrush by chewing a twig of the mswaki bush. Father LaCasse never has seen an African native who used this "toothbrush" with bad teeth, regardless of good or bad diet.

"If an American manufacturer could make toothbrushes or a dentrifice from the mswaki, he'd have a fortune."

Father LaCasse now teaches classes in theology, African culture and laws of spiritual life, training Lay Mission Helpers at St. Paul's Catholic Church, Los Angeles.

During July he is substituting for Father Louis Pick at St. Anne's Catholic Church, 340 10th St., Seal Beach.

CTA Should Use Its Power With More Restraint

A SPOKESMAN FOR the California Teachers Assn. got a standing ovation this week at the National Education Assn. convention in Denver when he told how the CTA blackballs school districts of which it disapproves.

After the cheers faded, however, the cold fact remained that the CTA was (and it still is) under a court order restraining it from applying that policy.

FOR TWO YEARS the Little Lake City School District, northeast of Long Beach, has been embroiled in conflict over the issue of fundamental versus progressive education. The CTA, a large, unofficial organization of professional educators, stepped into the conflict recently after voting itself the power to impose boycotts. It decided that the school district's personnel policies were not satisfactory.

Sanctions were applied. Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the CTA, explained in Denver this week what the application of sanctions means: "We refuse the district the use of our teacher replacement service, and we notify every teacher placement office in the United States of our stand."

LITTLE LAKE, believing that the school district's policies were the district's own affairs, hit back. The district's administration sought a restraining order, which Judge Charles Loring of the Superior Court granted.

Judge Loring issued five orders to the CTA, preventing it from: continuing its sanctions, disseminating false and misleading information about the district, withholding teacher placement services, interfering with personnel seeking employment at Little Lake, and encouraging teachers to resign from their contracts.

The fireworks will resume in Superior Court on July 19.

WE DON'T KNOW THE fine points of law involved here, but we do understand certain principles at stake. One of these is self-determination. If the residents of Little Lake don't like the way their district is run, they have the power to change its operation through their elected school board, without the aid or interference of the educators' lobby.

In developing and applying a "sanctions" system, the CTA, an unofficial body, has set itself up as the arbiter of the conduct of individual school districts. The legality of the CTA's assumption of this role has yet to be decided, but in any event, we feel it is improper.

The CTA charges the Little Lake district with the harassment of teachers; the CTA's remedy is to harass the district. In our opinion, the district, an official body, is on surer ground when it sets up rules for its teachers than the CTA when it sets up rules for districts.

If the CTA wants to prove that its chief interest is the promotion of education rather than the conquest of the state's school system, it will use the power of its huge membership and its large treasury with more restraint.

Burden Bearable When It's Kinfolk

By the I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Massachusetts senatorial contest embracing as it does a Kennedy, a McCormack and a Lodge continues to fascinate the politicians in this highly political town. The race was being discussed recently and the role or non-role of President Kennedy in the struggle was being talked about. Said one wag: "The Massachusetts race reminds of a brochure put out by Father Flanagan's Boys' Town in Omaha. It had a picture of one kid giving another boy a piggy-back ride. Underneath was the caption. 'No, he's not heavy. He's my brother.'"

• • • •

GEORGE LODGE, the Republican candidate for the Massachusetts Senate seat was in town recently. He had worked here during the Eisenhower administration and has therefore a lot of friends in Washington. He was given a cocktail party which was to be a fund-raising affair. Several of his old friends who were expected to show up didn't. The reason? It was said the White House indicated it would strike from its list, social and political, those who attended the Lodge shindig. After all, Lodge might be running against brother Teddy in the fall.

• • • •

ONE OF THE KENNEDY girls recently approached a well-known newspaperman and asked him what he thought of Bobby for vice-president in 1964. When the newsman first looked incredulous and then stammered that he didn't think much of the idea, the lady walked away in somewhat of a huff. Apparently the Kennedys like it here and are wondering how to lengthen their Washington sojourn.

• • • •

SPEAKING OF THE KENNEDYS, one of these reporters went on a boat trip on the Potomac River the other night with most of the Kennedy clan. He's glad to report that no one, either purposely or inadvertently, fell into the water.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Should State Pay for Pools, Gyms, Housing for Students?

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—A survey of the projects planned with the $270 million bond issue proposed to the people for acceptance or rejection at the November general election brings out a good many questions as to what is necessary and what can be done without in the state's educational system.

There is no doubt that all the projects planned by the educators are highly desirable for the educators, and would contribute much to the country club college life which has been developed in California over a period of years.

However, the taxpayers, who are the people putting up the money for this enriched program, revolted in June, and a good many keen political observers who personally favor the bond issue, feel the taxpayers may cinch that revolt in November by again defeating the proposed issue.

MacARTHUR

Three gymnasiums, one at Orange State College for $3,752,000; another at Alameda county state college for $4,660,000 and the third at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo county, for $2,783,000, are on the list for construction out of the bond money.

In Los Angeles state college, the educators want an administration building for $1,500,000. At Long Beach a gymnasium-classroom addition for $3,310,000 is proposed. At least this one has some provision for carrying out the original intent of education, which is classroom instruction.

Then there is also the question of why the taxpayers of the state should go into debt to construct swimming pools for the state colleges. One is listed at Cal Poly for $248,000, desirable of course, but hardly a project which should tax the paying capacity of future generations.

A good portion of the proposed indebtedness is slated for administration buildings, such as $2,085,700 for an administration building addition in Los Angeles; residence halls, and cafeterias.

Admittedly, administration is an important part of the university and colleges systems. But the systems are being administered at the present time, so the question arises as to why the state should go in debt for better facilities. No such expansions are possible in private business when the private concern is forced to borrow money for quarters it can do without.

Residence halls are desirable, up to a point, but if a student can't find private housing on his own, and learn about some of the necessary procedures for taking care of himself, he is losing some of the important features of his education. Then, too, he has to eat, so cafeterias are desirable. But there are few students who would miss meals if the cafeterias did not exist.

• • • •

IN THE LONG RUN, the student who really wants an education, is going to get it, whether he has gymnasiums, residence halls or cafeterias. And he will get his education without coddling on the part of his parents or the state. And after all the education without coddling is all the more valuable to the student, and appreciated by him in a higher degree than if it were handed to him on a silver platter.

Dewey Gave Up Chance to Win

WASHINGTON. — This writer, having sometimes been critical of Thomas E. Dewey, would like to even up the score by recounting how he patriotically gave up a sure-fire campaign issue which might have made him President.

The story is revealed in a fascinating book by Dan T. Moore and Martha Waller, "Cloak and Cipher," which deals with secret codes and wartime espionage. Specifically, it tells how the United States had broken the secret Japanese code for transmitting messages just before Pearl Harbor and how a message warning of the attack was received in advance but not acted upon because "everything at the top level in Washington seemed to be closed for the week end." As a result of this nonchalance, the U.S. Navy suffered its greatest defeat in history.

Three years later, when Franklin Roosevelt came up for re-election to a fourth term in 1944, the young GOP candidate against him, Tom Dewey, was preparing to make the Pearl Harbor catastrophe an important issue. Enough had leaked out to know that it resulted from bungling at the top. But Republican leaders did not know that the breaking of the Japanese secret code was involved.

However, authors Moore and Waller tell how Gen. George C. Marshall, then Chief of Staff, sent a top secret letter to Dewey, without the knowledge of President Roosevelt, revealing the consequences — if the breaking of the Japanese code was disclosed.

"The most vital evidence in the Pearl Harbor matter consists of our intercepts of the Japanese diplomatic communications," the Chief of Staff wrote the GOP candidate for President.

"We have gone ahead with this business of deciphering their codes until we possess other codes, German as well as Japanese . . . the battle of the Coral Sea was based on deciphered messages and therefore our few ships were in the right place at the right time. Further, we were able to concentrate our limited forces to meet their advances on Midway when otherwise we almost certainly would have been some 3,000 miles out of the place.

"The heavy losses reported from time to time which they sustain by reason of our submarine action largely result from the fact that we know the sailing dates and the routes of their convoys and can notify our submarines to lie in wait at the proper point," Gen. Marshall wrote Dewey.

He revealed much more about U.S. victories based on breaking the Japanese codes, then concluded: "You will understand from the foregoing the utter tragic consequences if the present political debates regarding Pearl Harbor reveal to the enemy any suspicion of the vital sources of information we now possess.

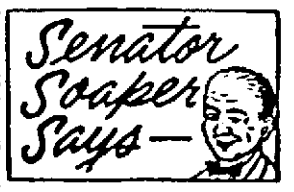

"I am presenting this matter to you for your secret information in the hope that you will see your way clear to avoid the tragic results with which we are now threatened in the present political campaign."

• • • •

DEWEY decided to put the interests of the United States above his own political ambition. Authors Moore and Waller point out that the 1944 election was close and that "if only one voter in 26 had changed his vote from Roosevelt to Dewey, because he knew the full facts regarding Pearl Harbor, Gov. Dewey would have been elected President of the United States."

NOTE—Secret codes govern not only war, diplomacy, and history, according to "Cloak and Cipher," but secret codes exist in the underworld, in prisons, among French tramps and among London cockneys. The codes which have never been deciphered are those of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Rosetta stone, and Bacon and Shakespeare.

DEWEY

DELEGATES to a women's club convention complain because the President sent a taped speech instead of addressing them in person. This is only a preview of the future when the voice of leadership will inevitably begin: "This is a recording".

'Reversal' of 1956 Primary Cheers Richards Dopesters

STATE SEN. RICHARD RICHARDS' busy office elves went to work after the primary and when their boss walked in the other day he found his office redecorated in late fall colors and—to his delight—Senator Thomas H. Kuchel painted into a corner.

RICHARDS
So Goes November?

It was a job in figurative decor and the paint could chip and peel before Nov. 6, but statistically Richards' crew thinks the one-coat primary coverage over Kuchel for the U. S. Senate seat will need only a touch-up in November.

Main theme of the Richards statistics is that he got more votes than Kuchel in the primary and that the whole statistical picture is almost the reverse of the 1956 Kuchel-Richards contest when Kuchel won.

Richards' statewide margin over Kuchel on June 5 was about 319,000 votes. His HQ points out this was done despite the fact that only about 53 per cent of registered Democrats voted as against about 70 per cent of Republicans.

Here are highlights of the statistical report by Richards partisans:

Richards ran ahead of Kuchel in 41 of the state's 58 counties and the 41 have 78 per cent of total state voter registration. Richards got 83 per cent of Democratic votes cast in the Senate race while Kuchel got 75 per cent of GOP votes.

Los Angeles County gave Richards a 180,000-vote margin over Kuchel and, traditionally, the county primary winner repeats in the general. Richards got 86 per cent of the county Democrats while Kuchel got 69 per cent of Republicans voting in the Senate race.

Voting drop-off (those who vote the top of the ticket but fail to vote for contests farther down the ballot) was only 3 per cent from the gubernatorial vote to the eighth-place Senate position of Richards, but 13 per cent for Kuchel. Also, in the county, Richards ran second only to Governor Brown despite not being an incumbent.

Richards ran ahead of Governor Brown in 21 of the 58 counties.

In 1956, when Richards had been in office two years and when Kuchel "capitalized" on Eisenhower's strength, Kuchel beat Richards in the primary by 327,738 votes. The margin was reversed in 1962.

HERE'S HOW Richards' HQ presents the comparison of 1956 and 1962 primaries. Of the total vote in 1956, it was Kuchel over Richards 51 to 30 per cent with Richards' Demo opposition getting 14 per cent and Kuchel's GOP opposition getting only 2 per cent.

In 1962, it was Richards over Kuchel 43 to 35 per cent, with Richards Demo opposition getting 10 per cent and Kuchel's GOP opposition scoring 12 per cent.

Richards carried only seven counties in 1956, representing 4.4 per cent of the total registered vote.

Richards' 1956 vote was 1,004,336. His 1962 total (semiofficial) was 1,653,249 for a gain of 648,913. Demo registration rose 937,000 in the six-year period.

Kuchel's 1956 vote was 1,332,074. His 1962 total (semiofficial) was 1,333,713 for a gain of only 1,639 votes while Republican registration in the six-year period increased by 556,000.

STILL RUBBING it in, Richards' HQ notes that Kuchel's dropoff occurred despite the fact of his incumbency, first spot on the ballot and the fact that he is minority whip of the Senate whereas Richards was a non-incumbent whose name was rotated into first position on the ballot only in every third Assembly district.

For Kuchel to win, say Richards partisans, he would have to make up some 15 per cent of the Republican vote he failed to get in the primary plus 20 per cent of the Democratic vote.

He's Irked by Ad Distortions

This is an open letter to Mr. John Consumer, the B.B.B., several mercantile managers, and a couple of advertising representatives: if the shoe pinches, take it off!

For several years I have been irked by misrepresentation in display ads' cuts (illustrations). Here are some cases in point:

A CAMERA store ad says light meters are less than eight dollars, illustrated by a master meter that retails for more than thirty dollars. The ad says, "Get that perfect exposure every time," but there is nothing in the meter guarantee protecting a camera-user from his own nitwit mistakes.

Television advertisers are accused of thinking the public is largely mental midgets. Advertising layout people and art directors evidently go along.

What's the motive? Anything for a buck? Please the boss who demands "results"? Anything is good enough if it's art? Too much to do in too little time?

Ruling Held a 'Triple Wrong'

EDITOR:

The recent "prayer ban" by our Supreme Court is wrong—legally, morally and spiritually. The "laws of the land" must be for the good of all peoples—not for the satisfaction of a few.

How can we teach our children respect for teachers and our educational system in the public schools when these same forbid them to practice all the acts of life and living which they do in our homes and churches?

I feel sorry for the teachers who must carry out this infamous order.

Supreme Court Ruling 'Absurd'

EDITOR:

There is nothing more inspirational than the sight of a group of youngsters in their formative years, engaging in simple prayer, whether in school, church or elsewhere, be they Catholic, Jew or Protestant.

The fundamental principles which gave us our freedom of choice of religion, and the right of worship and pray as we please, antedates the Supreme Court. Our forefathers fought, bled and died to gain these freedoms which we now cherish.

• • • •

NOW, AFTER 186 years, this group of men, supposedly endowed with superior wisdom, take away a segment of these freedoms with a mere snap of their fingers. The ridiculous reason given, is, that prayer in public schools, howsoever neutrally denominational, is a form of coercion. What could be more absurd?

If this be true, then by the same token, the teaching of cleanliness and good manners would be in the same category, not to mention reading, writing, arithmetic and geography.

With the present trend, this group of tottering old men might yet stick their ever-lengthening noses into the sanctum of our private home lives.

Oh boy! That will be the day!

Languages in the News

By Charles E. Kuntz and Robert Swanson Davis

When we are in a fix we sometimes say we are "between the devil and the deep blue sea."

Other languages also have picturesque ways of expressing this dilemma. In some languages they say one is "between the hammer and the anvil," such as Russian—Myejdu molotom I nakovalney, and German—Zwishen Hammer und Amboss; while others turn it around and say "between the anvil and the hammer," as in French—Entre l'eclume et le marteau and Italian—Fra l'incudine e il martello. Arabic has it as Bein narein ("between two fires,") while Spanish says Entre la espada y la pared ("between the sword and the wall,") an interesting survival from the days of sword fighting. One of the most interesting of all is the Greek—Metaxi skyllas ke Harivdos ("between Scylla and Charybdis,") which refers to two legendary female monsters, who crouched on the two sides of the Straits of Messina.

Looking Far Ahead, L.B. Gas Dept. Keeps Abreast of City's Fast Growth

Though the primary purpose of this article is to present the history of the Long Beach Gas Dept. of the City of Long Beach, as an operating organization, it seems desirable to first discuss briefly the commodity and its production and delivery in both the manufactured and natural forms, since both have played a part in the life of the department.

Once the gas, whether manufactured or natural reaches the utility company's system it becomes a matter of dispatching and regulation to continually and uniformly deliver the quantities necessary to meet the demands of the various consumers. Depending upon the existing pressures in the feeder mains the gas upon first entering the system is either dispatched to the holders for storage until peak demand periods occur or it is sent directly throughout the feeder system for supply to the distribution system. Entrance to the distribution system from the feeder mains is effected through various pressure regulators that maintain a substantially lower but uniform pressure within the distribution system and it is from this system that service to the consumers is maintained.

INTRODUCED IN 1900

Domestic gas service was first introduced to the people of Long Beach in 1900 by the United Electric Gas and Power Co., predecessors of the Southern California Edison Co. of today. They delivered manufactured gas from a small 20,000 cubic foot per day gas works located in the present-day vicinity of Ocean Blvd. and Pico Ave. Their mains extended along Ocean Blvd. to approximately Pine Ave., and northerly on Chestnut Ave. The City at the time had a population of 2,250 and by the end of the first year of operation this company had 160 active consumers for gas then selling for $1.90 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The Long Beach Gas Co. was organized in 1900 and by January of 1901 they too were delivering manufactured gas to the people of Long Beach. Their product was a gas generated from crude oils in a plant located in the vicinity of Alamitos Ave. and Broadway and their distribution system covered much the same territory as did that of the United Electric Gas and Power Co.

Notwithstanding the fact that the total population of Long Beach was not in excess of 15,000 and the available consumers were less than 4,000, a third gas company was chartered in 1905 to be known as the Inner Harbor Gas and Electric Co. Their manufacturing plant was built on the present location of the Long Beach Gas Department's Plant No. 1, then some two miles west of the city limits, and their distribution system entered the city via Seventh St. and served the same area as the other two companies.

MUCH COMPETITION

Quite naturally there was strenuous competition between the three companies for both the new business and the old and it soon became quite obvious that the cost of obtaining, connecting and holding the consumers to one individual system was more than was justified by the gross revenue received. Also the growth of the city was not measuring up to the expectations of the real estate developers of that day and numerous system extensions to subdivisions never were put to any worthwhile service during the life of their company. Consequently, through various mergers, sales and consolidations the three companies eventually ended up as one, the Long Beach Consolidated Gas Co., which was incorporated in July 1910. The manufacturing of gas was then centered in the original plant of the Inner Harbor Gas Co.

Through this entire early period the consumers of gas in Long Beach had used only manufactured gases, but in 1912 outside gas was contracted for with the Southern Counties Gas Co. of Los Angeles and the product was a mixture of one-half manufactured gas and one-half natural gas. This gas mixed with the gas then being manufactured by the local company raised the heat value of the gas delivered to the consumers from approximately 550 B.t.u. to around 600 B.t.u. It was subsequently raised to over 1100 B.t.u. in 1915, when straight natural gas was introduced to the area with the construction of transmission lines from the Fullerton oil and gas fields. Long Beach has enjoyed straight natural gas since that time and it is safe to assume that with the present-day advancements in long distance gas transmission it will continue to have natural gas for many years to come.

On May 22, 1916, the Southern Counties Gas Co. purchased the properties of the Long Beach Consolidated Gas Co. and continued to operate them until the time of public ownership in 1924.

SIGNAL HILL HITS GAS

The Signal Hill oil and gas field, at one time the leading source of natural gas supply in California, came into being in 1921, and soon there were enormous quantities of natural gas and oil being produced in this field. Considerable public attention was directed to the field because of its proximity to Long Beach and because of the heavy gas production which, during the early part of 1923, amounted to over 125,000,000 cubic feet per day, and with the discovery of additional oil and gas zones, increased to a maximum of about 415,000,000 cubic feet per day in 1924.

At the beginning of the oil excitement in Signal Hill the City of Long Beach, owning several large tracts of land in the heart of the proven areas, leased certain properties for oil and gas development, retaining, however, the right to all gas produced over that required for field purposes should the City at any time desire to go into the gas business on its own. Gas production from these leases was soon reaching upwards toward 25,000,000 cubic feet per day and the plan for municipally owned and operated gas utility grew out of the belief of certain public-spirited citizens that this gas could and should be delivered to the inhabitants of the city at a cost much less than that being charged for this same gas by a private company.

BOND ISSUES

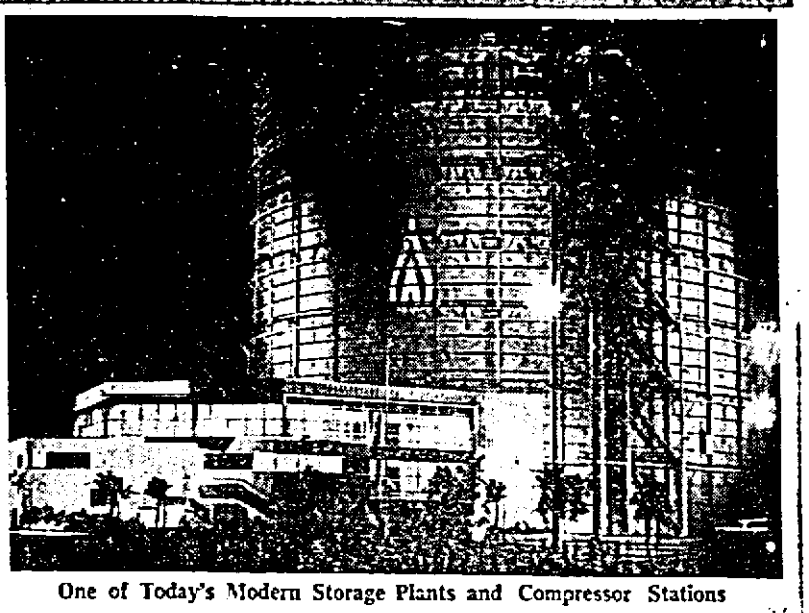

At a special election in 1923 Long Beach citizens voted $3,000,000 in bonds for the acquisition of the local gas properties. Purchase negotiations were completed in April 1924, and on May 24, 1924 the city took over complete operation of the system.

In 1927, $950,000 in additional bonds were voted for a new gas storage facility and distribution expansion. All extensions and improvements except those made under the bond issues of 1924 and 1927, have been paid for out of earnings. Included are the North Long Beach system, composed of about 60 miles of mains and 4,000 consumers, which was purchased in 1932 from the Southern California Gas Company for $337,000; the Utilities Building, built in 1932 at a cost of $98,000 and further enlarged in 1939, at a cost of $38,500 to the Gas Department; a General Stores Warehouse at Plant No. 1 in 1940, at a cost of $94,000; a Liquid Petroleum Gas Standby Plant at Plant No. 4 in 1941, at a cost of $250,500; a 3,000,000 cubic foot holder and compressor station in North Long Beach in 1946 at a cost of $880,000; four 500,000 cubic foot high pressure holders at Plant No. 4 in 1946 at a cost of $318,000; a new compressor station at Plant No. 1 in 1946 at a cost of $280,000; a high pressure transmission line from Huntington Beach to the Long Beach harbor area in 1952 at a cost of $414,000; 12,183 gas accounts and service facilities which had been served by others prior to annexation to the city, at a cost of $2,201,617; a new compressor station at Plant No. 4 in 1956 at a cost of $850,000; a 5,000,000 cubic foot gas holder and compressor station facility at Plant No. 6 in 1959 at a cost of $2,800,000; and numerous other small additions and improvements which, with the constant improvements to the gas distribution system, gives the department an investment in gas properties of $25,583,027, as of the Annual Report of 1960-61. Added to this is the sum of $47,475,915 which has been transferred to the City General Funds as of the same date.

GROSS REVENUE

Other vital statistics taken from the 1960-61 Report and indicative of the growth of the department are as follows: gross revenue for the year was $16,157,468; metered gas sales for the year were 26,596,673,000 cubic feet; charges for services rendered other City Departments were $470,256; total amount of main in the system was 759 miles; total number of services in the system was 77,207, and the total number of active meters in service was 114,073.

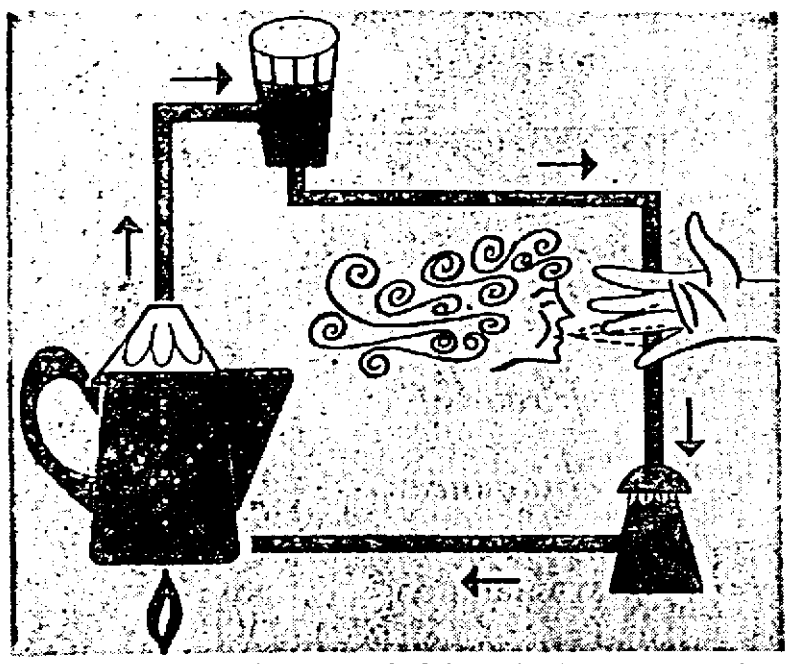

The furnishing of adequate supplies of natural gas over peak demand days is the dominating problem of the natural gas business. As previously mentioned, the department had ample supplies of gas available from city-owned lands at the time of taking over the operation. However, due to the phenomenal growth of the city and the ever increasing peak demands, the city has continually required additional gas from other sources.

One of Today's Modern Storage Plants and Compressor Stations

Amazing Flame That Cools

Thousands of years ago a bolt of lightning struck among some bare rocks and lighted a fire that burned continuously with no visible fuel. A wandering tribesman saw the miracle and brought his people to worship the god-like blaze.

Thus, natural gas was first known to man.

Today, the residents of Southern California may witness another miracle involving this long-time, low-cost favorite fuel.

This new miracle is gas air conditioning. It's a mechanical marvel that heats in winter, cools in summer, wrings excess humidity from the air, sifts out dirt, maintains any tempature you dial.

Getting cold air from a gas flame combines four basic laws of nature.

1. The boiling action you see in your percolator serves as the engine of gas air conditioning—moving a refrigerant liquid and vapor to the top of the unit.

2. The second step is condensation. This converts the vapor back to liquid.

3. Evaporation then provides the cooling effect.

4. The final step is absorption of the vapor by a salt solution. The liquid then returns to start the cycle over again.

No other air conditioning system ever invented works as simply as this—with no moving parts in the cooling-heating cycle.

There's a better way to keep cool!

Now you can forget about cooling off with ice cubes, snow cones, hand fans, window coolers, and quick trips to the mountains. Now you can own a gas air conditioner—the finest, whole-house air conditioning system you can buy.

Gas air conditioning systems run on low cost fuel, stay quiet permanently. Its heating-cooling unit has no moving parts. Nothing to break down, wear out, or make noise. You get trouble-free performance. You get the best there is to get—whole-house, year 'round, central gas air conditioning that automatically cools or heats every room in your home while it ventilates, dehumidifies, and cleans the air. You'll sleep better, feel better, live better with new, modern air conditioning installed in your home.

DANCIN' TO DIXIELAND

Joining in as clarinetist Jack Browne prepares for International Dixieland Festival under way at Reef Restaurant is Jean Price, Miss Dixieland for month-long event. Browne, who has appeared with several of the all-time great Dixieland bands, and other musicians began competition last Wednesday, and will resume this afternoon at 3 on the Reef's luau grounds at Pier A, Long Beach Harbor.

EVERY SUNDAY AT REEF

Pier A Jumps as Jazzmen Join in Dixieland Festival

The first Sunday session of the month-long International Dixieland Festival opens at 3 p. m. today in the Reef Restaurant luau grounds on Pier A, Long Beach Harbor.

The competition, which started July 4 and will continue Sundays through July, features more than a dozen of Southern California jazz bands.

Individual musicians in the groups number some of the most experienced two-beat sidemen in the country, according to the sponsors, the Southern California Hot Jazz Society.

Clarinetist Jack Browne, one contestant, has played with such all-time jazz greats as Django Reinhardt, Jack and Charlie Teagarden, and Matty Matlock.

Other members of the group playing with Browne are Boogee Centobie, who has recorded with Muggsy Spanier, and Bill DeWees, who played drums with Tommy Dorsey in the 30s.

Also on hand for the festivities will be Jean Price, the official Miss Dixieland of the event.

The bands will be competing for various prizes, including a week's engagement at a Las Vegas hotel.

San Marino Couple Give USC $250,000

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth T. Norris of San Marino have given $250,000 to the University of Southern California School of Medicine building fund.

Receipt of the gift was announced by Dr. Norman Topping, USC president.

Norris is chairman of the school of medicine's board of councilors and is chairman of the board of Norris-Thermador Corp.

Add Arctic Specimens of Wildlife

Seven specimens of Arctic wildlife, collected on a recent Los Angeles County Museum expedition to Alaska, have just arrived at the museum.

The animals include two polar bears, a pair of Arctic foxes and five walruses. One of the walruses will be given to the National Museum in Washington.

The other specimens are being prepared by George Adams, senior taxidermist, for exhibition in future habitat groups at the museum.

The animals were collected by a party composed of Melville N. Lincoln, senior curator of habitat groups at the museum; Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh H. Logan of Glendale, sponsors of the expedition.

Logan shot the two polar bears on the frozen surface of the Arctic Ocean, west of the village of Barrow. This part of the expedition had the cooperation of the Navy's Arctic Research Laboratory at Barrow.

Syria, France May Resume Relations

DAMASCUS, (UPI)—Syria will consider reestablishing diplomatic relations with France soon, according to reliable sources here.

The two countires severed relations following the French-British-Israeli invasion of Suez in 1956.

Vogue Expands Beauty Facilities

New and larger facilities are now helping the Vogue Beauty Supply Co. serve the needs of the professional hairdresser in southern California, President Bob Altman has announced.

In business in Long Beach for six years, the firm recently moved into larger quarters at 2680 E. Pacific Coast Hwy.

The company is the exclusive distributor of Revlon, Helene Curtis, and L'Oreal of Paris, the French hair-coloring line.

Vogue presently serves beauty salons in Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. Altman himself is recognized as a leading designer of salon installations. During 1962 he has designed installations in Italian Provincial motif, plus Parisian and Colonial Early American themes.

The second story of the new building will be used to present new techniques in hair coloring and permanent waving through special cost-free classes for professional hairdressers.

Newspaper Guild Opens Convention

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild opens a five-day annual convention here Monday with indications that the meeting may be the largest in the history of the 23,000-member union.

More than 500 delegates are expected for the 29th annual convention, along with members and their families.

Carl T. Rowan, deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs and a former reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, will speak at the guild banquet Tuesday night.

An issue before the union is a proposal to increase per capita payments from locals to the guild from $1.80 a month to $1.90. The proposal has the backing of the guild's international executive board, which meets Friday before the convention.

Eureka Reactor Hearing Delayed Until July 19

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Atomic Energy Commission hearing concerning initial operation of a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. nuclear power reactor near Eureka, Calif., was postponed until July 19.

The hearing was put off because of the illness of AEC Examiner J. D. Bond.

Construction of the company's Humboldt Bay power plant, to produce about 50,000 kilowatts of energy, is nearing completion. The hearing concerns a provisional operating license sought by the company so it can load nuclear fuel into the reactor and start operation.

Senate Group Asks Study of Aid to Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has directed the Welfare Department to make a thorough check of the Aid to Dependent Children relief program over the nation.

The committee said that, if a District of Columbia sample should hold true for the nation as a whole, waste in the program might run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

The directive was in the committee's report on a $3.5 billion money bill carrying funds for the Welfare and Labor departments for the fiscal year which began last Sunday.

Hungary Weather Hurts Grain Harvest

VIENNA (AP) — Hungary's grain harvest will be cut by bad weather for the second year in a row, Agriculture Minister Pal Losonczi has told parliament.

Radio Budapest said the minister reported the 1962 harvest will be even less than last year's. No figures were given.

Engineer to Address Microwave Society

New engineering techniques associated with Gonset products will be explained Wednesday at 8 p.m. to members of the Microwave Society of Long Beach at the Bayshore Public Library, 2nd Street and Bayshore Avenue.

Bert Ramsey, Gonset's chief engineer, will be the guest speaker. He will show the firm's new single side band transceiver GC 102.

In addition to being Gonset's chief engineer, Ramsey is a radio amateur with a special interest in the VHF and UHF frequencies. He is a member of I.R.E. and other technical organizations.

Radio amateurs interested are invited to attend the meeting.

UNSEEN BY MOTHER

Eddie Jones of Abilene, Tex., celebrates his first birthday without ever having been seen by his mother. He was delivered by Cesarean operation after she was injured in auto crash and she has been unconscious ever since the accident in December 1960. He is cared for by his father, who also has the burden of watching over his wife.

Flight Engineer Peace Talk Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Airlines and their flight engineers will meet at the Labor Department Monday with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to negotiate both wages and the composition of crews on jet airliners.

The Labor Department, announcing plans Saturday for the afternoon session, said the talks would give "appropriate consideration to the Trans World Airlines settlement."

The phraseology was not explained but indicated the formula reached last month as a basis for settling the long-standing dispute between TWA and its flight engineers would be discussed as a possible basis for settlement at American, where only the wage issue was up for negotiation this year.

• • • •

A LABOR Department spokesman said that, in effect, the meeting Monday was, by mutual consent, an agreement to open the talks to the crew issue also.

The TWA formula attempts to unsnarl this central issue involved between the Flight Engineers International Association (AFL-CIO) and most of the major airlines — the makeup of jet airliner crews.

Jets now have four-man crews — three pilots and a flight engineer. The airlines plan to reduce crews to three men by combining the job of the flight engineer and the third pilot. The problem has been whether a member of the flight engineers' union or the Airline Pilots Association would get the third job.

The TWA plan, which must still be ratified by the flight engineers, provides that the airline will give pilot training to any engineers who seek it and that engineers get preference over pilots for the third job in jet crews.

When an engineer cannot obtain certification as a pilot he will be entitled to severance pay in amounts still to be spelled out.

The Labor Department announcement of Monday's meeting said that Goldberg had discussed the TWA settlement with representatives of American's flight engineers Saturday.

• • • •

MEANWHILE Eastern Air Lines is shut down as a result of a strike begun June 23 by the flight engineers' union over the cockpit-crew issue.

The union had threatened to begin a strike against Pan American World Airways the same day but Pan American obtained a temporary restraining order from a federal judge in New York. The judge, George Rosling, extended the order on July 5 until Aug. 1 despite protests of a flight engineers' lawyer that "I don't think we can survive this."

Last Stand for Benny in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—The audience whistled at Benny Goodman Saturday as he played a long, soft version of "It's Just One of Those Things."

Some of them later complained the rendering was monotonous, others said they could not hear pianist Teddy Wilson.

Goodman, whose band finishes a six-week concert tour today, said afterwards: "I guess I was too far away from the mike and a bit tired."

However, the capacity audience of 11,000 asked for and got 30 minutes of encores, vocalist Joya Sherrill sang for the second night her versions of the song "Katyusha," which was attacked as indecent in a letter to the Soviet government newspaper Isvestia. Again, the audience cheered, and clapped.

The band is scheduled to leave Monday.

Boy, 14, Booked in 'Accidental' Fatal Shooting

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 14-year-old boy was booked at Juvenile Hall Saturday on suspicion of fatally shooting a man whom he was only trying to scare.

Michael C. Surber, Los Angeles, was quoted by police as saying he and a friend decided to frighten the victim after he became boisterous and insulting at a party.

Clyde White, 61, died instantly Friday night when he was shot in the throat at a party given for his daughter Rosemary, 15.

Police said the youths picked up a rifle in a bedroom at the White home. Surber was quoted as saying he pointed it at White and it discharged.

102 Million Visits to National Forests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Forest Service reports that visits in 1961 to national forests totaled 102 million, exceeding the 100-million mark for the first time.

The 1961 visits represented a 10 per cent rise over the number in 1960 and nearly four times the annual visits 10 years ago.

For the past three years about 2 bilion young trees have been planted annually throughout the United States. This amounts to about 11 little trees for every man, woman and child in the country, an enormous increase over a few years ago.

AT BOTTOM OF OCEAN

Gadget May Detect Secret A-Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Experiments with detection gadgets sunk thousands of feet deep on the ocean bottom or in abandoned oil wells eventually may help develop a system for detecting secret underground nuclear tests, a statement by Pentagon scientists hinted Saturday.

An announcement by the Advanced Research Projects Agency (ARPA) said the current amount of new information which still is being assessed.

• • • •

THE STUDIES are called "vela uniform," which is a part of the overall program for perfecting detection of underground and atmospheric explosions. Continued research in earthquake effects and development of new techniques for detection now have begun to bear fruit, the announcement said.

The scientists, in talking to newsmen, cautioned against saying that any breakthrough in the over-all problem has been achieved. Research progress has been primarily in the technique of identification of seismic signals, to determine whether they come from earthquakes or nuclear explosions.

However, the announcement also discussed possibilities of extending several times the range at which seismic signals can be used for deciding whether a shockwave originated from explosion or earthquake.

• • • •

AGENCY scientists have monitored the more than 40 underground shots set off in Nevada in the current series and compared them with recordings of hundreds of earthquakes. A test shot in which a three-kiloton explosion was set off in hard rock was detected at 450 miles. But a much larger shot in alluvium —a soft material—was recorded at only 250 miles with required identification features. Then the statement added:

"With the improved sensitivities now forthcoming from the vela uniform program, it may become possible to extend this particular criterion (of identification) with some degree of reliability to distances between 1,500 and 3,000 miles from buried nuclear explosions in the low kiloton range." The new technique and ranges mentioned conceivably could mean that underwater detection devices might eventually be developed which could be planted in the oceans bordering the Russian mainland.

'MARRIAGE-GO-ROUND'

Ozzie, Harriet to Tackle Stage

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ozzie Nelson, patriarch of one of show business' most successful families, makes his legitimate stage debut this week.

In a career of more than 30 years, from bandleading to durable television star, he never before has appeared as an actor on the stage.

It will be old hat to wife, Harriet, born into a stock repertory company. She knew what a proscenium arch was before she tasted solid baby food.

The famed husband and wife team will tour for four weeks in the Broadway hit "Marriage-Go-Round," a bit saltier than TV's "Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet."

• • • •

"I'M REWRITING the play somewhat," says Ozzie. "I hope the author doesn't mind.

"We have our image on TV and while the play is robust humor, I find that I can say things a little cleaner and still retain the play's vigor."

The story line concerns a young, beautiful hunk of Swedish womanhood who moves into the house of a university professor and his wife. The glamazon envisions the perfect baby as coming from the brainy professor and herself.

OZZIE PLAYS the professor and Harriet the wife. Sally Kellerman, who did the role in a Pasadena Playhouse production, plays the student, a role done both on Broadway and in the movies by Julie Newmark.

Lyle Talbot, who plays Ozzie's next door neighbor on television, will complete the cast for the summer stock tour which opens this Tuesday in Warren, Ohio, for a week. Week stands follow at Columbus, Ohio, Southfield, Mich., and Highland Park, Ill.

Cardinal Dies

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Giovanni Cardinal Panico, formerly papal nuncio to Portugal, died Saturday of a heart attack, Vatican sources reported. The sources said the cardinal died at his native town of Tricase.

Joan Calls Marilyn, Liz 'Children'

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Academy Award winner Joan Crawford says glamorous stars Elizabeth Taylor and Marilyn Monroe are a pair of "children."

Miss Monroe recently was fired from the movie "Something's Got to Give" after repeatedly failing to report for work. The picture later was shelved when Dean Martin refused to appear in it without Miss Monroe.

The beautiful Miss Taylor has been criticized for her actions on the set of "Cleopatra" in Rome. She separated from her husband Eddie Fisher and has been keeping company with "Cleopatra" costar Richard Burton.

• • • •

"MARILYN AND LIZ are of an age to be women, but unfortunately for them and the people around them, they're children," Joan said.

"I was proud to be part of this industry when Marilyn was fired. I don't think she has a friend. She hasn't taken time to make a friend in this industry. And many people have tried to befriend her.

"And the same with Liz, she's a taker, not a giver. I was raised at the same studio, Metro Goldwyn Mayer, and pampered as much as she was. But I didn't take it for granted, ever."

Miss Crawford, who is costarring with Robert Stack in "The Caretakers," said she didn't believe either Marilyn or Liz had enough boxoffice drawing power to warrant their temperamental conduct.

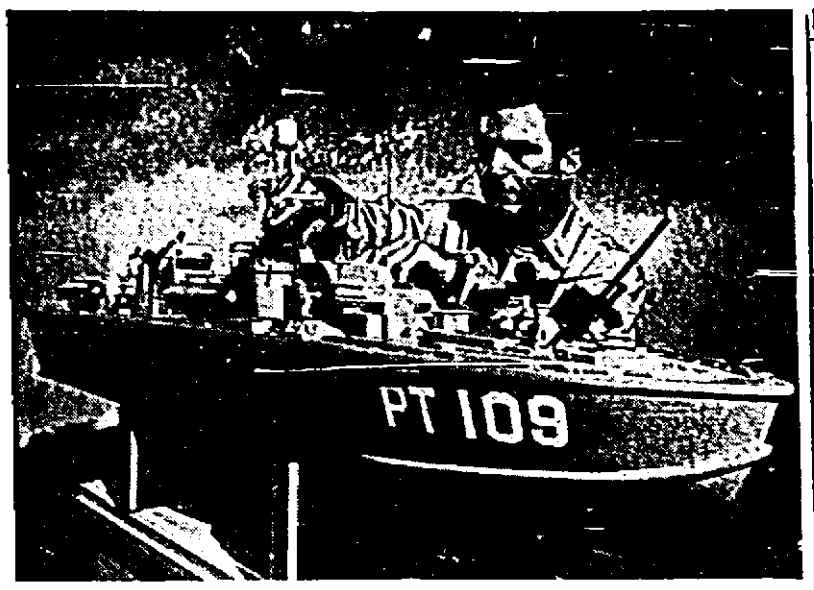

• • • •

"I THINK Miss Monroe deserved what she got," Miss Crawford said. "And Miss Taylor deserves the same but nobody has guts enough to fire her. But she'll get it. Liz can get what Liz wants only so long."

Besides "Caretakers," Miss Crawford has two more pictures scheduled, "The Lady in a Cage" and "Whatever happened to Baby Jane," the latter costarring Bette Davis.

She plans to complete work on all the pictures within the next three months, a feat which would be impossible for some of filmland's pampered stars.

"People say the stars have taken over," scoffed Miss Crawford, referring to Hollywood's troublemakers. "They're not stars, they're not even pros. They're personalities pretending to be stars."

TEST BY FILM

Actor Cliff Robertson looks over a scale model of PT Boat 109 in Hollywood. He'll be skipper of a full-sized version in the film "PT Boat 109" in which he has the role of Lt. (now President) John. F. Kennedy. Robertson, who's been doing fine in TV but not so well in movies, knows that if this part comes off he has it made on the screen.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Art-Lover Zero Mostel Is Unhammy B'way Ham

By EARL WILSON

I sat on the stairs in the back of the Alvin Theater a few nights ago watching Zero Mostel clown through "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" — and saw something I shouldn't have.

Director George Abbott was also watching from the back of the house, taking many, many notes in the dark.

Zero and the others had added little speeches or gestures—and Abbott was about to "delete the improvements," as George S. Kaufman once called it.

"Yes," Zero told me later, smiling about it. "Abbott heard I had added something and asked me to take it out. It got a huge laugh but maybe it didn't belong . . ."

Zero shrugged. "How could I object? Abbott's there at least once a week checking up, keeping the show right. I hate those directors who abandon a show opening night and you never see them again!"

Zero appears to be an unhammy ham. After a recent matinee, he picked up the cane he's been carrying since a bus hit him a couple of years ago, injuring his leg and led me to the Fornos restaurant, which is Spanish and much favored by South Americans.

All along 52nd Street he got a grand hello. He crossed his eyes, made gestures, grinned, did the things his fans expect, and then said when he sat down:

"Give me some soda—I'm going on a bat."

Like many other stars, Zero won't take a real drink when there's another show to be done. He wants no trouble with anybody, he just wants to do his work and get home and paint.

"It keeps me off the streets," he says.

It also dominates his life. You'll never hear of him having a country place, for example.

• • • •

"I HATE TO GO to the country," he said. "I hate sand, turf, trees, landscapes and water. When I travel, I don't get out of the museums. I never socialize.

"Poor Katie, my wife, went to Paris with me last summer," he said. "I had her up going to museums with me early in the morning.

"I can sit in front of a painting for hours. About the fourth day she broke out screaming, 'Get me out of here! I've got paint poisoning! Get me out of here!'"

Zero's own distinguished paintings will not be seen in his dressing room. But he has several by his friend Romano Farragio.

"If I go in an artist's home and he has only his own paintings, I think he must be egotistical," Zero said. He has painted since childhood. When he was a couple of years old, his mother said: "He's a child but he doesn't draw like a child."

• • • •

"BUT NOW I'M an adult and I don't draw like an adult—now I draw like a child," he insists.

They're always telling Zero to scream—be temperamental—raise hell about something to attract attention.

"It's silly," he says. "You should save your temperamentment to use when you're facing your audience."

Zero has a son, Josh, 15½, who's a good violinist, and another, Tobias, 13½, who, he says, "plays Chopin's 'Sonatas' in the daytime."

"They have a tough time, the kids today. Last summer they went to Europe . . ."

Zero's closer friends may call him just "Z" for short. His real name is Sam. "In school they used to call me Zero—because of my marks. The first time anybody called me that professionally, I was furious. I thought it was undignified."

Zero's done eight Broadway shows now; his first was "Keep Them Laughing." Zero says with typical modesty, "Though some people said it should have been called 'Keep Them From Laughing'."

William Holden, filming "Paris While It Sizzles," has started a fashion fad in Europe — leopard-skin bowties with evening clothes. . . . Tammy Grimes may make her solo cafe debut in Las Vegas. . . . Singer-pianist Bobby Short, closing a long stand at the Blue Angel, got a gift from a customer he'd never met—a 3-carat diamond ring. . . . Federal penal authorities decided against showing "Birdman of Alcatraz" in prisons.

Ex-Gov. Noe of Louisiana bought six dozen of the expensive Four Seasons glasses, sent 'em out as gifts. . . . James Stewart bought a 36-foot sailing sloop, named it "Mr. Hobbs II." . . . One of the El Morocco crowd, who races his auto in sports car rallies, says: "I might as well—there's no place to park in Manhattan, anyway."

"Before each scene I whisper to him, 'Do you want to be an actor or a pair of shoes'?"

20th C-Fox expects that the real hot authentic love scenes between Liz Tayor and Dick Burton will sell "Cleo" to the kooks—and there are millions of kooks! . . . Red Buttons bought 10 new suits; that's how he buys 'em now.

EARL'S PEARLS: They tell in H'wood of the star who was so busy she had her stand-in go home to visit her parents for her.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Liz Taylor's supposed to be Jewish," cracks Henny Youngman, "—but lately she's been Welshing."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: This is the only country in the world where businessmen get together over ten-dollar steaks to discuss hard times.

PETER, JFK

Home Steam Bath Latest H'wood Fad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Newest status symbol in Hollywood is the home steam bath. And in some homes—a steamless steam bath.

The vogue caught on because of Peter Lawford.

Lawford bought a home on the Santa Monica beachfront that once belonged to Louis B. Mayer. It had a steam bath. Lawford took steam baths for years.

Then a relative got elected president of the United States. Once on a visit President Kennedy took a home steam bath at the Lawfords.

Everybody, it seemed, was installing steam baths in their home.

No One to See Steve's Funniest Cinema Sketch

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Allen didn't get the publicity that Marilyn Monroe and Dean Martin did but he's out of a job too with the shutdown of "Something's Got to Give."

"One of the funniest things I think I've ever done is a scene with Cyd Charisse but now no one will see it but the people who saw the rushes," he said.

WOMAN MOTOR RIDER'S FUNERAL

150 Cyclists in Procession

By RALPH HINSHAW JR.

In death as in life, Mrs. Pat Russell was surrounded by motorcycles.

Nearly 150 fellow cyclists, riding two abreast Saturday afternoon, escorted the 48-year-old Paramount housewife and motorcycle devotee the last three miles from a mortuary to Downey Cemetery.

Ironically, Mrs. Russell, of 8130 E. Rosecrans Ave., died astride the motorcycle she loved so well. With her husband, Clinton, she was riding through Tucson, Ariz., June 25, when a tire on her machine blew out, throwing her to the pavement.

The couple was returning from a vacation trip to Philadelphia, Pa.

Only four automobiles beside the Miller-Sanger Mortuary cars, joined in her funeral cortage. The many mourners, representing Norwalk, Golden Gate, Joshua Tree and Lucky Wheels Cycle clubs, and her own Centaurs, formed the two-wheeler procession.

Baby Electrocuted Climbing on Stove

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — An autopsy is pending to determine the cause of death of Daniel Lee Jansen, 21 months, who apparently electrocuted himself accidentally.

Authorities said the infant was killed Friday when his head touched a toaster while his feet were grounded on the kitchen stove as he climbed to get something to eat.

WANTS HER CHILDREN

Wife Here Seeking Job

The young wife of a man who committed suicide in Seattle because of financial difficulties was located Saturday in Long Beach.

Mrs. Mary Oliveros Baxter, 20, who has been living at 814 W. 3rd St., read a story in Saturday's Independent, Press-Telegram, telling of a police search for her, and contacted detectives.

She said she and her husband had been living in Seattle with their two children but her husband was unable to find work and the family was in serious financial difficulty, according to Det. Insp. Leonard Hermansen. Mrs. Baxter came to Long Beach seeking work as a waitress.

Seattle police notified the Long Beach officers that her husband had committed suicide. The couple's two daughters, ages 3 and 2, were taken into custody by Seattle authorities.

Mrs. Baxter told police she still is seeking work and wants to bring the children to Long Beach.

Picket School Prayer Foe

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP)—Nine pickets paraded Saturday outside the silent home of Lawrence Roth, the man who led the successful court fight against a prayer in public schools.

Four policemen watched over the demonstration, which attracted virtually no spectators and little attention from the Roths' neighbors in this Long Island community.

Roth, his wife and two teenage children were said to be away for the day.

"FBI Please Investigate Mr. Roth," said one of the pickets' signs. Another read, "Impeach the Pro-Red Supreme Court."

Admiral's Voyage has better than length lead over Doc Jocoy as horses go into clubhouse turn at start of Hollywood Park Derby Saturday

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Hail Karen, Billie Jean--Net Queens

WIMBLEDON, England (Special)—The 10-day talk at Wimbledon has been of America's tennis tragedy. But today it doesn't seem so tragic, thanks to a couple of comely Californians.

Pert Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista became a double "world's champion" and vivacious Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach teamed with Karen for a repeat victory in doubles Saturday as tennis' premiere tournament drew to a thrilling, surprising conclusion. Today they are being hailed by all the tennis world.

BILLIE JEAN MOFFITT
'It Wasn't Easy'

Mrs. Susman, 19-year-old star, fought from behind in both sets to beat brawny Czech housewife Vera Sukova, 6-4, 6-4, in the women's singles.

Then she teamed with 19-year-old Miss Moffitt to successfully defend the doubles crown they won in a shocker here last year. They drubbed Sandra Reynolds Price and Renee Schuurman of South Africa, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

Miss Moffitt, who had a cold and had difficulty breathing, said, "We were unable to get our teamwork clicking at first. It was close, and could have gone either way."

• • • •

"IT'S ALL DUE to married life," said Mrs. Susman of her new-found success.

"It's wonderful having Rodney here with me," added the teen-age bride.

"This is my third Wimbledon tournament. In previous years I've felt lonely and a long way from home. But when you've got someone you love beside you, it makes a world of difference.

"I'm sure it has done a lot for my tennis, anyway. I've played better at Wimbledon this time than ever before."

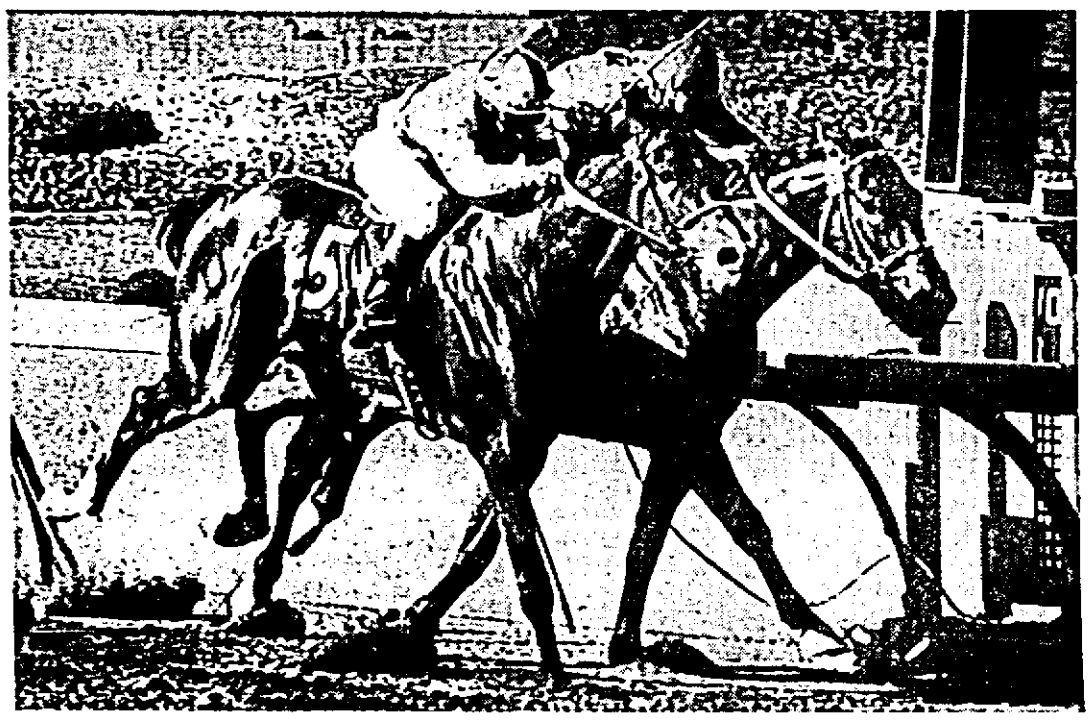

Mrs. Susman stormed to the singles title without losing a set in the two-week tourney. She set out to avenge a defeat in the Wightman Cup matches last month and played with determination all the way.

• • • •

BUT FOR a time Saturday, the outcome was in doubt. Mrs. Sukova's deceptive slow-balling tactics gave the amiable Czech matron a 3-0 lead

FINE 'SITE' FOR PLUNGERS

Longshot Drill Site (5) Nips 'Admiral' by Neck at Wire

Drill Site, 43-1 Shot, Wins Derby

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Drill Site—the longest shot in the field and a gelding with the poorest of credentials — stunned 48,435 patrons and thousands of television viewers by capturing the rich $113,900 Hollywood Derby at Hollywood Park Saturday.

The triumph of Drill Site was the biggest upset in 22 runnings of the Derby, a classic ballyhooed as the race to decide the very best three-year-old in the West.

A 43-1 shot, the son of famed Imbros returned $88 straight as he bested seven other sophomores and collected a purse of $68,900—which was some $41,800 MORE than he had earned in his entire two years of running.

Ridden expertly by Ralph Neves, a Portuguese veteran whose back was aching so badly that he hardly could boost himself into the saddle, Drill Site scored a neck decision over the highly-regarded traveler, Admiral's Voyage. The Voyager, who has raced at so many tracks that he's known as the "Marco Polo of the turf world," had a decisive three-length margin over Doc Jocoy, who in turn was another length in front of the fourth-place Indian Blood.

VICTORY WAS ASTONISHING

Drill Site's victory was astonishing not only to the witnesses and wagerers, but also to trainer Johnny Adams, who—by the quirk of coincidences—rode the first winner of this race (Specify) in 1938.

"I thought he was a pretty good horse," bubbled Adams after the chase, "but I thought he was too little to battle these horses on even terms. Even though he won today, I don't think he could beat these same horses with equal weights. He'll grow and I think get better in the months to come, but I never dreamed he'd whip this field today."

Adams was honest—and right. The weight won for his horse this day. Drill Site had a 110-pound package, Admiral's Voyage a 126-pound load.

In that gruelling, shoulder-to-shoulder stretch drive between the two thoroughbreds, Drill Site's 16-pound advantage was the difference.

Even Neves expressed surprise at his mount's victory.

"I liked the colt, that's for sure, but he hadn't backed me up," commented the Portuguese pepperpot. "When I finished fourth at Santa Anita in the San Felipe Stakes last February, I told Adams I thought he'd be a top colt. But he didn't justify my prediction until today.

"I figured I had a chance today, but I didn't think he'd beat Admiral's Voyage unless he went back to that Santa Anita form. I guess you'd say he did, wouldn't you?"

ADMIRAL'S VOYAGE HAD EXCUSES

Admiral's Voyage, the colt dripping with class, had some obvious excuses, which his jockey, Braulio Baeza, flown in from the East especially for this test, was quick to point out.

"He hadn't raced at this track during this meeting," explained the Panamanian, "and he had too much weight.

"He was as good today as in the East and he ran his race, but that 16 pounds was just too much. He was just breezing during the early part and when I hit him at the top of the stretch he pinned his ears so I just kept hand-riding him most of the way. You can't beat weight."

Admiral's Voyage shot from the gate like an astronaut. He called his own shots past one pole after another, with Doc Jocoy, Calgary Brook and Drill Site inhaling his dust. The others were too far back to catch anything but the view.

Drill Site made his move around the defying stretch curve, but nobody paid much attention since Admiral's Voyage was cruising so easily. When the two locked horns, the chalk players began to tremble.

Class is something special, but it disintegrates when the orphan isn't packing poundage.

Drill Site collared the Voyager 30 yards from the wire, muscled against him for an instant, then lunged that valuable neck in front just when the photo finish cameras were whirling.

Owner Ralph Lowe, who stayed in Texas because of illness, purchased Drill Site one year ago at auction for $12,500.

SHOEMAKER GAVE UP ON WINNER

"The cold had knee and leg troubles and everybody thought Mr. Lowe paid too much for him," said Adams. "I guess I did, too."

Even Willie Shoemaker, who piloted the sad second choice (5-1) Black Sheep Saturday, must have harbored the same sentiment.

Willie bred Drill Site on his Shoemaker Stock Farm and gave up on him when he placed the gelding on the auction block. But that Shoemaker always wins—even when he loses a race.

Because his farm sired Drill Site, Shoe picked up a cool $6,890 for the breeders' award.

Shoe's only comment after the chase was: "If I had to lose, a better horse couldn't have won it."

Especially when you get a $6,800 kickback, eh?

KOUFAX TRIES TODAY IN SERIES WINDUP

Dodgers Fall Off Top Roost

By GEORGE LEDERER
L.P.T. Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO — Leave it to the Dodgers to solve the question: which came first, the chicken or the egg?

Well, the Dodgers laid an egg Saturday for the second day in a row and trailed the Giants, 9-2, long before a chicken camped on the field in the seventh inning.

Before 40,186 rooters and one rooster, the Dodgers made a yolk of the game and were scrambled by the Giants, 10-3. Needless to say, manager Walter Alston had nothing to crow about since the Dodgers no longer rule the National League roost.

Going into this afternoon's TV series finale, the Dodgers trail the Giants by one-half game and are only two games ahead of third place Pittsburgh in the essential loss column. The assignment of gaining a split in the series and regaining the lead goes to Sandy Koufax (12-4). He will be opposed by lefthander Bill O'Dell (10-6).

After nine errorless games, the Dodgers have been guilty of 10 bobbles in the last two days. Five errors Friday night and five Saturday have handed the Giants 10 unearned runs.

Saturday's butterfingers act featured Johnny Podres, who made an encore, Tommy Davis, Larry Burright and John Roseboro. Had it not been for Podres' first throwing miscue, it would have been a decent contest, despite the no-hit bid of winner Jack Sanford.

Willie Mays' 25th homer, his first hit of the series, was the only legitimate run scored against Podres, who absorbed his seventh loss.

A throwing error by Podres led to two gift runs in the second inning and Burright's third error in two days gave the Giants a 4-0 margin in the fifth.

Podres threw away an easy chance after Jose Pagan bounced to the mound in the second round. "It was my own fault," said Podres. "I made a flat throw and didn't put anything behind it. If it weren't for that, it would have been a 1-0 game and I'd have been pitching a lot longer."

Podres left for a hitter in the sixth and Larry Sherry, his successor, failed to get anyone out. Sherry faced five batters and each scored, albeit two runs were unearned.

Two walks and an error by T. Davis filled the bases for a three-run double by Harvey Kuenn. Jim Davenport's hit scored Kuenn and Mays singled home Davenport to

HANEY CALLS BELINSKY ON CARPET

Bosox Squeeze Past Angels, 5-4

By ROSS NEWHAN

The Angels are about to disown their "cousins."

Home runs by Lou Clinton and Jim Pagliaroni wiped out a tape measure clout by Leon Wagner and paced Boston to a 5-4 victory over the Cherubs before 16,725 fans Saturday night.

Victors only once in nine previous meetings with the Angels, the Red Sox have now won two in a row in the concrete castle, knocking the American League crown from the Seraphs' head and dumping them into third place, two games from the summit.

• • • •

WAGNER ripped his tape-measure in the fifth inning after Albie Pearson had reached first safely on Frank Malzone's error. The clout, which landed in the Boston bullpen and was estimated at 475 feet off Don Schwall, tied the game and came at a time when the last year's rookie of the year was picking up steam for one of the few times this season.

Schwall, saddled with a 4.98 ERA and 2-10 record coming into the game, had yielded a run in the second on a walk to Lee Thomas, a stolen base, and single by Jim Fregosi.

He then, however, allowed only one hit until Wagner stepped into a fast ball for homer No. 25, which didn't come last year until Sept. 28. It was "Long Gone's" fourth off Boston pitching and was considered, along with tremendous shots by Harmon Killebrew and Elston Howard, one of the three longest at the Ravine.

• • • •

IT PUT Lee on even footing again. Following fourth-inning singles by Pete Runnels and Pagliaroni, Lee had served up a round-trip special to Clinton, putting the Angels in the 3-1 hole.

An inning and a half after the Wagnerian aria, however, the fates which have worked against Lee ever since he came to the Angels struck again. Loser of two games on the recent road trip because of unearned runs, Lee watched Thomas drop Fregosi's routine throw on Malzone's two-out grounder, allowing Billy Gardner to score with the tie-breaking run.

Lee gave way for a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the seventh and thus absorbed his sixth defeat against the same number of wins. He watched from the dugout as Pagliaroni hammered what proved to be the key nail into the Angels' coffin with his second homer of the series and seventh of the season off Art Fowler in the eighth.

• • • •

SCHWALL stymied the Angels following Wagner's homer, but when he walked Bobby Rodgers to open the eighth, giant Dick Radatz was called in. Thomas singled, sending Rodgers to third from where he scored as Felix Torres tapped into a double play, but Radatz then retired

How to Succeed Without Players

A New York writer authored a clever piece a few days ago on the astonishing Los Angeles Angels. The yarn was headlined, "How to Succeed in Baseball Without Players."

The article was printed before Friday night's Boston massacre in Chavez Ravine. After that Boston tea party the tune might have been changed to "How Do You Succeed in Baseball Without Players?"

ROCKY BRIDGES
Manager for a Night

But this thesis is not to cast barbs at the Angels, who have produced the most insane, incongruous sports story in decades. No matter how they fare the second half of this season, they deserve to be chronicled forever in athletic annals as the most astonishing conglomeration of Frank Merriwells ever put together.

How, possibly could a club slapped together in a few months take over in its second season the leadership of a circuit formed more than six decades ago?

How, indeed?

For the answer — or at least for a partial explanation—we interrogated a charter member of the Angels. The man, a Cinderella personality himself—a person whose sheer determination rather than outstanding ability kept him in the majors a dozen years—reached the heights Saturday night when he managed the Angels in the absence of boss Bill Rigney, out of circulation because of his father's death.

Angel manager Rocky Bridges, why was your collection of castoffs and apple-cheeked boys leading the American League?

"WHY DON'T YOU ASK ME why the Yankees aren't 10 games in front?" spat out the man who keeps chewing tobacco steady on the stock market.

"Anyway, there's lots of reasons why this ball club went into first place," continued the squire of Los Altos.

"First of all, everybody's having a good year. Right now, we're just like the Cincinnati Reds or Pittsburgh Pirates the last two years in the National League. Everybody got hot and they won pennants. The same with us.

"Second, this is the loosest club I've ever seen in baseball. Nobody's tight and irritable. Everybody's playing the game as it was supposed to be played—for fun. If we lose, well, we just lose. Nobody gets sore at anybody else.

"Third, we got off to a pretty good start this year. We were a better team last year than our eighth place showed. Remember how we won only a couple games out of our first 20 last season?

"Anyway, if we stay loose and all our guys keep having their good years, we'll stay in the first division the rest of the season."

DURING THIS CONVERSATION, Chairman-of-the-Board Gene Autry sauntered over to congratulate Bridges. A perspiring Ted Bowsfield also ducked into the dugout at the same time.

"You're doing great, Ted," enthused Autry. "Keep it up, kid."

"Thanks, Gene," replied the pitcher. "Just keep on watching us the rest of the season, man."

"See what I mean?" chuckled Bridges. "We're real loose. Do you think any of the Dodgers call their owner 'Walter'?"

ROCKY TOOK OFFENSE when I casually mentioned that certain National League people pointed to the Angels' rise as proof that the American League was far inferior to the N.L.

"I'll give you an answer to that one," snapped the manager pro tem. "Look at the New York Mets, the worst team in baseball. The National League had plenty of time to stock its new club and give it some players to make it fairly representative the first year. It's not.

"The Angels had just a few months to get organized and look at us now. I've played in both leagues and never saw a difference in caliber of talent. Some years one league's stronger than the other, but I don't think the American League's weaker this year. Anyway, who won the World Series last year?"

WAS MANAGING THE ANGELS Rocky's biggest thrill?

"I've had two big thrills in baseball," responded Bridges, "and they both were different kinds. My first was when I was named to the All-Star team a few years ago and the other was when Fred Haney told me I'd be the boss Saturday night.

"I think I appreciate the second one more because it's a big milestone—at least for one evening."

Bridges then excused himself and made a beeline for a group of Angels.

"Got to check signals with my players," cracked baseball's fondest imp.

Musial's Homer Nets Cards Split

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Musial hit his 453rd National League home run in the eighth inning of the second game Saturday for a 3-2 St. Louis victory over the New York Mets after Marv Throneberry's two-run pinch homer in the ninth had given the Mets the 5-4 opener.

HOW TO DE-GLOVE A THIRD BASEMAN

Tom Haller, San Francisco's catcher, rips glove and ball right off hand of Dodgers' Jim Gilliam as he slides into third. Haller raced to third on Harvey Kuenn's single in second inning.

Butterfinger Act Costly to Dodgers

greet Ron Perranoski. The final Giant run came on Davenport's 10th homer off Phil Ortega.

T. Davis made his error as a third baseman. He was brought in from left field after Burright left for a hitter in the sixth.

Sanford (9-6) retired the first 13 Dodgers before he walked Ron Fairly. Jim Gilliam finally spoiled the no-hitter with a leadoff double in the seventh, the Dodgers' first hit since the fourth inning of Friday's 12-3 massacre.

• • • •

ONCE SANFORD wilted, he did so faster than an ice plant in a hot house. Willie Davis followed with a triple to break up the shutout and T. Davis singled to signal Stu Miller's entry from the bullpen.

While Sanford blamed Kuenn for being out of position on Gilliam's hit, the truth of the matter was that Sanford ran out of gas as he scored from first on Kuenn's double an inning earlier.

Miller served Roseboro's fourth homer and a triple to T. Davis while checking the Dodgers in the last three innings. Davis ran his hitting streak to 12 games and boosted his league-leading average another notch to .345.

• • • •

ALSTON chased a photographer out of the Dodger clubhouse, but otherwise was philosophical about the loss. "I'd say the scorekeeper was very lenient," he said. "He could have given us a dozen errors the last two days.

"We've looked bad before, but never two days in a row. Podres wasn't that bad, but Sherry was wild. I suppose he had too much rest."

And what became of the rooster? Naturally, he observed all the action from foul territory. He was all chicken.

AS PHILLIPS SLAPS 2-RUN HOMER . . .

Indians Run Streak to Six

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bubba Phillips smashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning Saturday to power the league-leading Cleveland Indians to their sixth successive triumph, a 5-3 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

The Indians and ace pitcher Dick Donovan had blown a 3-1 lead in the top of the eighth frame when a walk, Joe Cunningham's triple and a single by Floyd Robinson tied the score.

Donovan failed to win his 13th triumph when he was chased to the showers in the eighth inning.

Bill Dailey (2-0), who pitched the final 1⅓ innings was the winner. Dom Zanni (5-4), who served up the homer to Phillips after Luis Aparicio opened the door with his second error, was the loser.

The White Sox scored first in the third on a two-out double by Bob Sadowski and Cunningham's single.

Cleveland moved in front 2-1 in the fourth on a walk and three straight singles—by Woodie Held, Phillips and Jerry Kindall—produced two runs.

Don Dillard homered in the seventh frame for Cleveland, his third round-tripper in his last four games.

The Indians had lost five straight before they started their current winning streak. By beating Chicago, Cleveland cut the margin to 5-3 against the only team in the league it trails in the season series.

Donovan, who has lost only three decisions this season, was breezing along until the eighth. The all-star hurler was aiming for his 10th complete game in 18 starts. He had permitted only five hits until the eighth.

Pirates Bombard Cousin Phils, 6-4

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates put on a late bombardment with help by enemy misplays to resume their dominance over the Philadelphia Phils Saturday with a 6-4 triumph.

Manager Danny Murtaugh used four hurlers with ElRoy Face picking up his fifth victory. The loss was charged to Chris Short, the third Philly hurler who saw action.

Bob Wine gave Phils' starter Jack Hamilton a 2-0 lead in the third inning with a homer over the left field wall after Bob Oldis had singled. It was Wine's fourth homer.

The Phils chased starter Harvey Haddix in the sixth in padding their lead to 3-0. Mel Roach doubled off the scoreboard and tallied on Jack Callison's single.

Hamilton met the same fate in the sixth inning when the Pirate attack erupted for four runs aided by two errors by third baseman Don Demeter.

Four members of the Dolphin swim club of Lakewood shattered three long-standing records in sweeping the 12th Huntington Beach half-mile, rough water swim Saturday.

Casey Coleman broke the 1957 senior men's mark with a 10:36.0. Kathy Baker in the senior women's division swam 11:63.0 to break another 1957 record while Carol Merzel's 12:50.5 was good enough to break the junior girls mark set in 1955. Frank Richards was first in the junior boys.

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Bobby Del Greco's three-run home run with two outs in the eighth inning Saturday night gave the Kansas City Athletics a come-from-behind 9-8 victory over the Washington Senators.

George Alusik's three-run pinch home run brought the Athletics up to within two runs of the Senators at 8-6.

Yank Homers Quiet Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST PAUL—(AP)—Reliever Marshall Bridges checked his own wildness in time to subdue an eighth-inning Minnesota rally as the New York Yankees flexed their home run muscles for the second straight game to down the Twins, 6-3, Saturday.

Yankee starter Bill Stafford was cruising along with a one-hitter and a 6-0 lead when the Twins finally broke his spell in the eighth.

Two singles and a walk loaded the bases before Bridges replaced Stafford. Bridges then walked in two runs and another scored on a force-out before he struck out Bob Allison and Bernie Allen lined to Jack Reed who made a diving catch in right field.

SKOWRON

The triumph enabled New York to stay just a half game behind American League leading Cleveland.

Hector Lopez and Bill Skowron each swatted a two-run homer to provide the Yankee victory margin.

Braves Succumb to Cubbies in 10th, 2-1

CHICAGO (UPI)—Catcher Dick Bertell singled with the bases full and two out in the 10th inning to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

It was the second time in two days the two teams played a 10-inning game, and the loss ruined the Braves' chances of climbing past the .500 mark in National League standings for the first time this season.

It was Milwaukee's 42nd loss in 83 games as Bob Shaw, who went the distance on a yield of 10 hits, suffered his sixth loss. He has won nine.

KOUFAX SELECTED PLAYER OF MONTH

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, who pitched a no-hit game against New York on the last day of the month, was named Saturday at the National League's "player of the month" for June.

The selections are made by a committee of 50 sports writers and broadcasters.

WYNN

Man to Man

HOLSCHER

By JERRY WYNN

Man to man, in the language of golf, means match play.

And in the largest and richest match play tournament in the world here this week, the man to beat is Bud Holscher.

The popular young Lakeside pro will tee off Thursday as defending champion in the $10,000 Southern California PGA Championship at Recreation Park.

For the uninitiated, match play is scored on the amount of holes a player wins regardless of how many strokes it takes to win the hole. In medal play, each stroke is added for an 18-hole score.

Do you enjoy match play, Bud?

"Yes, for two reasons. First, I was brought up with match play tournaments as a junior in Southern California. Secondly, I like the idea of competitiveness. In match play, you know exactly what you have to do, and how your opponent is doing."

Why are some players more proficient at match play than medal play?

"Personality and temperament are more apparent in match play. For instance, one player is mad. His opponent senses he is upset, and subconsciously will play harder. Oppositely, if a player fails to upset an opponent, he may ease up subconsciously."

Do you feel the National PGA made a mistake in abandoning its match play championship in favor of medal play?

"No. With them, it's strictly a matter of economics. The public wants to see all the top players in the final two rounds, and in match play only a few remain. However, it might be a more exciting tournament at match play."

Who do you consider your top challengers in the So-Cal PGA event?

"Could be anybody. I can't recall one easy match I played here in the last two years. And I guess every one may shoot for me a little harder."

Will the record $2,000 first prize purse add more stimulus to a player?

"Yes and no. Every one wants to win more money, but in match play, you are playing a constant opponent rather than a prize. You can't think of anything but the match in progress."

How do the galleries in Long Beach compare with others?

"They have been fabulous. I may be prejudiced because I have a soft spot for the place. I played so much junior golf there, and I guess the people may know me better than some of the other players. I appreciate it."

You played the tour for four years. Do you ever yearn to return?

"Not at all. I have no desire to return. I am very satisfied with the present challenges of business and being a club pro."

What was the most important thing you learned from the tour?

"More than anything was an attitude toward the game . . . taking the good with the bad and trying to be the same person, keeping everything in proper balance. You have ups and downs on the tour, and there are more downs. You have to overcome your emotions and take things in stride. I guess the word experience sums it up."

Would you recommend the tour for a young golfer?

"Yes. It's best for him to try the tour and see what it is like. He will learn first hand how tough the competition is."

You played Pinky Stevenson in the semi-finals here last year. What do you think of his chances if he goes on the tour?

"Pinky is a very fine player, but he needs more strength. I was slender like him when I first joined the tour, and it is a disadvantage. You'll find the really good players that are winning are big, strong and even overweight."

What has Arnold Palmer going for him that other golfers do not?

"A double set of adrenalin glands. He gets himself up faster and to a higher peak than any other golfer in history. If a player with as fine a game as Littler could have the same capacity for getting up, he would be equally as great."

What has been your greatest thrill in golf?

"As a player, it was winning my first PGA tournament, the LaBatt Open in Canada. I won $5,000 and it was like a million dollars to me at that time. A close second would be winning my championship match with Mike Austin in Long Beach two years ago after coming back from so far behind.

"Equally as satisfying to me was the opportunity to become a club pro . . . first at Los Posas and now at Lakeside. I have been very fortunate."

SUITCASE OVERFLOWS WITH ROAD QUOTES:

They're Not the Yanks Without Mantle

By ROSS NEWHAN

A suitcase full of qvotes, souvenirs of 20 days on the road:

Fred Haney — "It was easier for me to manage when I was playing. It seemed my mind was preoccupied with playing my position. When I was on the bench, I had to worry about nine positions."

Haney (story-telling): "I named Bobo Newsom to pitch an important game for me one year. Bobo loved to have fun, but the night before this game he locked himself in his room and remained there all night. The next day it rained, but that night Bobo again stayed in his room.

"It rained again the next day and again Bobo stayed in his room. This went on for two more days. Finally, about the fourth rainout, Bobo came to me: 'To hell with you,' he said. 'I'm not spending the season in that room. You pitch tomorrow. I'm going out tonight.'"

Eddie Short (general manager of the Chicago White Sox): "Frank Lane taught me more about baseball than anybody else, but to Bill Veeck, I owe a tremendous debt for teaching me consideration of the fans. Bill honestly had the fans' welfare in mind and he taught me a lot of things about keeping happy the people who pay their way into a ball park."

Yankee Tex Clevenger: "See you at the Ravine in October." "You mean you'll be there to see the Angels play in the World Series?" he was asked. "No," said Tex, "we'll be there to play the Dodgers. We think they'll win. We hope so, anyway."

Clevenger Again: "We tried to kid ourselves that we were the same club and could do the same things without Mantle, but it wasn't true. With Mantle, there are so many intangibles. His mere presence in the lineup means more to us than knowing his bat and glove are around."

Jimmy Piersall: "My wife was quite upset when she read about the trouble Belinsky got himself into. She even called. 'If you're traded to the Angels you're not going to go,' she said. 'Do you think I want you driving around with that screwball all summer.'"

Harmon Killebrew: "I've heard it said for years that the reason ball parks have different measurements is because they were built long ago and the cities grew up around them, creating a real estate problem. But what was to prevent these new stadiums from having the same distances when they were built? I'm talking about Chavez Ravine and the new D. C. Stadium, which are about as dissimilar as they can be. Why can't there be some uniformity?"

FRED HANEY
Tells Story on Bobo

Vic Power (Minnesota first baseman having great year at plate and in feild): "I'm a consistent hitter — at certain times. I'm not a real power hitter. The most homers I've ever had in one year is 19. I consider Rocky Colavito, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris real power hitters. They hit over 25 each year. I think I can do it, but you can't always go for the home run.

"It seems I lose my timing when we have a day off. Most of the time when I go without a hit, it's the day after an open date. Then I come back."

Calvin Griffith: "I've already submitted the Twins' bid for the 1963 All-Star Game to president Joe Cronin. It's not certain, though, whether we'll get it, depending on whether there is only one or two games next year. If there is only one game, it's the National League's turn. If there are two games again, we could be in the picture."

Frank Crosetti (Yankee coach): "Sign - stealing stories are hooey. To begin with, the same circumstances dictate the strategy in the majority of cases, so that there is little secret about the play. Even if a team only suspects the other fellows may be wise to the signs, or the catcher, it is a simple matter to put on a switch."

Anonymous Angel (to Leon Wagner as the Seraphs' lone Negro boarded the bus in Washington after making a game-saving catch): "Hey Leon," came the voice from the back of the bus, "you can sit in the front tonight."

That empties the suitcase and the notebook.

Marzich Barrels Back Into Lead in Pro Kegling Play

By DAVE TAYLOR

Long Beach's Andy Marzich came barrelling back out of a sixth position hole to reclaim the lead over 126 of the world's top bowlers Saturday as the $18,000 PBA Western Open became a private duel between Marzich and Minneapolis sharpshooter Bob Strampe.

Taking alley-mate Strampe's challenge, the 29-year-old Marzich blasted a fantastic 1,150 total for five games of the tournament's third qualifying round Saturday and led the pack into its last qualifyer heat with 304 pins over a 200 average tallying 3,304 for 15 games.

"Handy Andy," 1960 Southern California bowler of the year, had been knocked out of his early tournament lead Friday when Strampe hit a string of 10 consecutive strikes for a 276 game to take the reins with 216 over at the second round.

Marzich came charging back Saturday with a 278 of his own and made it stick with additional singles of 216-236-214, and 206.

Strampe held on through the five-game Marzich barrage, racking up 1,044, and easing himself into second position with 3,260, forty four pins under Andy.

As one observer in the gallery of fans jamming the concourse at Ocean Lanes put it—"Andy shows 'em where the track is and Strampe puts his ball in it."

• • • •

MARZICH, a late starter in the current season Professional Bowlers' Assn. tournament tour, has already cashed in for $5,000 in six of the nine contests he has entered.

Crowding Strampe from third place going into the fourth qualifyer Saturday was St. Louis pin pelter Al Savas, hitting 3,255 for the 15-game stint, just five pins under Strampe. Los Angels all-star Jack Henry was fourth with 3,239 and Roy Lown fifth on 3,237.

Early tournament favorite, top PBA money winner Don Carter, was lagging with only 87 pins over a 200 average for 3,087. But, by the fourth qualifyer, his perennial rival, Fay Bluth, had climbed from nowhere to eighth place among the top 16 shooters. Bluth wasn't even rated at the end of the second round Friday.

• • • •

WITH AN impressive show of machine-like consistency, Ray had been "sneaking up" on the leaders, starting with 71 over in the first session, dropping to 12 under in the second, picking up to 59 over in the third round and rising again to 184 over in the fourth for 3,184.

The leading 32 bowlers were scheduled to start a five game semifinal round at 10:30 a.m. today. With the field then chopped to 16, the first final round is scheduled at 1 p.m. with the last final session slated at 7:30 p.m.

Top 16 leaders after four qualifying rounds:

1. Andy Marzich, Long Beach—3,304.
2. Bob Strampe, Minneapolis—3,260.
3. Al Savas, St. Louis—3,255.
4. Jack Henry, Los Angeles—3,239.
5. Roy Lown, El Paso—3,237.
6. Dick Ague, San Jose—3,224.
7. Ray Orf, St. Louis—3,190.
8. Ray Bluth, St. Louis—3,184.
9. Bill Tucker, St. Louis—3,182.
10. Joe Donato, Schenectady, N.Y.—3,172.
11. Frank Stevenson, Los Angeles—3,171.
12. Glen Allison, St. Louis—3,161.
13. Jim St. John, Minneapolis—3,160.
14. Bill Landowski, Fortuna, Calif.—3,159.
15. Duncan MacLeod, Santa Ana—3,154.
16. Jim Stevenson, Tacoma, Wash.—3,149.

Karen 'Doubles' at Wimbledon

in the second set before she began limping. By the end of the match Mrs. Susman was playing a foe who was almost stationary.

The young American received the huge trophy from the Duchess of Kent and brought a roar from the 14,000 spectators when she replied to a question from Queen Elizabeth's aunt by pointing to a box adjoining the historic center court. She was pointing to the spot from where her husband had watched her greatest triumph.

• • • •

THE PHOTOGENIC American said afterwards she had seen Mrs. Sukova play only on television but "other girls had warned me to watch out for her disguised passing shots. In the first three or four games I found out that this was true and I had no idea where she was hitting the ball.

"When I realized I had won, I looked up into the sky and said 'Thank you, God.' I wanted to sit down on the court and stay there."

Both finalists were nervous at the start although Mrs. Susman pulled herself together in a hurry and won the first game by breaking Mrs. Sukova's service.

The American piled up a 5-3 lead and streaked to a 40-0 lead in the ninth game when she dropped three set points in her eagerness to send across the clincher. Eventually, Mrs. Sukova won it to make it 5-4.

• • • •

IN THE next game, Mrs. Susman again frittered away three set points but this time she won with a kill after a long volley. During the ninth game of the second set she dropped match point once when she lobbed too weakly and Mrs. Sukova won the point.

Then the Czech banged in a first service that Karen hit out. Mrs. Susman's winning point was a kill at the net, at which the limping Mrs. Sukova didn't have a chance.

Saturday's results:

Women's singles—Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, defeated Mrs. Vera Sukova, Czechoslovakia, 6-4, 6-4.

Men's doubles—Bob Hewitt and Fred Stolle, Australia, defeated Boro Jovanovic and Nicola Pilic, Yugoslavia, 6-2, 3-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Women's doubles—Mrs. Susman, and Billie Jean Moffitt, Long Beach, Calif., defeated Sandra Price and Renee Schuurman, South Africa, 5-7, 6-2, 7-5.

Mixed doubles—Neale Fraser, Australia, and Mrs. Margaret Osborne Du Pont, Wilmington, Del., defeated Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., and Ann Haydon, Britain, 2-6, 6-3, 13-11.

Gentlemen's plate (for players eliminated in first and second rounds)—Jon Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif., defeated Abe Segal, South Africa, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Ladies' plate (for players eliminated in first and second rounds)—Marlene Carlson, South Africa, defeated Margaret Hellyer, Australia, 6-2, 6-1.

Barber, Holscher to Shoot for Record $10,000 Purse

JERRY BARBER
National PGA Champion

By JERRY WYNN

When host professional George Lake brought the Southern California PGA Championship to Recreation Park in 1941, he had to underwrite a paltry purse of $500.

This week, the tournament returns for its 35th renewal and 21st anniversary in Long Beach offering a record purse of $10,000.

Action begins Thursday and continues through Sunday. A field of 120 will tee off in the first round with the survivors battling through a schedule of two rounds a day leading into 36-hole finals on Sunday. The winner will receive $2,000; the runnerup $1,200.

Although the two veterans —Bud Oakley and Olin Dutra — who played in the 1941 finals, are back this year along with a host of familiar faces, the two young men—Bob Adamson and Pinky Stevenson — who created a sensation in 1961, are missing.

The tourney was unofficial last year because of a hassle over a since-nullified National PGA discriminatory bylaw and non-PGA members were allowed to play. Adamson won the title by dumping Jerry Barber and Bud Holscher in successive rounds. Stevenson captured the medal in his first round as a pro.

• • • •

NEITHER QUALIFY this year as PGA members because of a five-year apprenticeship rule.

Entered in the tournament is the first Negro member of the PGA, Jimmy DeVoe of Fox Hills, a sprightly 73 years old.

Barber and Holscher rate as solid co-favorites. . . . Barber the National PGA champion, Holscher the defending champion because of his memorable comeback victory over Mike Austin in the 1960 finals. They are strictly the class of a field comprised largely of inactive home club pros.

• • • •

BUT ANYTHING can happen in 18-hole match play, and such seasoned shotmakers as Dale Andreason, Jimmy Clark, Zell Eaton, Don Collett, Smiley Quick, Jimmy Thompson, Red Wiley, Babe Lazane and Austin will not concede a single hole to the favorites.

A newcomer to the event and fresh from the tour is young Ronnie Reif, and another longshot title threat is Jack Doss, Virginia Country Club's new pro and another SC-PGA rookie. Other top Long Beach hopes include jaunty Johnny Jurus, who carried Barber through a sensational 25-hole match last year; Monty Blodgett and Frank Newell.

Season tickets, costing $2 for all four days, are on sale at all golf shops. Daily tickets cost $1 the first three days and $2 on Sunday.

Griggs, Miller, Richardson in Golf Spotlight

Long Beach area amateur golfers will be playing on three national fronts this week.

At Tonawanda, N.Y., Larry Griggs Jr. will tee off Monday in the first qualifying round for the 37th National Public Links Championship.

At South Bend, Ind., Ruth Miller will play in the 62nd Women's Western Amateur Championships starting Monday.

At Pebble Beach, John Richardson begins his title defense Monday in the 51st California State Championship. Other L. B. championship flight players:

L.B. Water Polo Team Splits Pair

LOS ALTOS HILLS (UPI) —The Long Beach Nu-Pike water polo team won one match and dropped another in the National AAU water polo championships Saturday.

Long Beach defeated the Foothill "A" squad, 5-1, but lost to the Inland Swim Assn. of Norwalk, 2-1.

The Illinois AC and the Commerce, Calif. "A" team will meet today for the title in the triple elimination competition. Illinois downed Foothill, 12-2, and Norwalk, 2-1, while Commerce tripped El Segundo, 5-2, and the S. F. Olympic Club, 7-4.

Collett Wins Top Eliminator

Gordon Collett of Portsmouth, Ohio, No. 1 dragster pilot in the country, showed a strong field of Southland drivers why he holds that title as he ran away with gas eliminator honors before 6,032 fans Saturday night at Lion's Drag Strip.

Hank Clark of Norwalk won the fuel eliminator title when Tom McEwen of Long Beach blew an engine halfway down the quarter mile strip.

Top Speed went to Frank Cannon of Compton at 184.80 m.p.h., with fastest time going to McEwen at 8.70 seconds.

Donovan Captures Ascot Park Main

Dan Donovan, in an Olds, won the early model stock car feature at Ascot Park Saturday night, taking over on the third lap and easily drawing away from Joe Drew, who was piloting a Chevrolet.

All races took place on the "Figure 8" course, at Ascot. Results:

Heat races, 6 laps each — Willy Kimbrough, Chevrolet, 3 22.40; Irish Clarke, Ford, 3 18.36; Rocky Loren, Hudson, 3 07.96.

Semi-Main, 6 laps — Marty Quevedo, Mercury, 3 07.40.

Main event, 10 laps — Dan Donovan, Olds; Joe Drew, Chevrolet; Irish Clarke, Chevrolet, 5 02.28. Irish Clarke also won the destruction.

L.B. Lawn Bowlers Gain World Finals

T. H. Morgan and Eugene Tincher of Long Beach won a rain-delayed semifinal doubles match in the world lawn bowling tournament at Seattle Saturday.

Morgan and Tincher defeated Pat Madden and George Guest of Australia, 16-12. John Henderson of Montreal edged Alex Houston of Vancouver, 21-17, to win the singles title.

Three Tied for Flint Open Lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Pete Cooper, Tony Lema and Bill Collins made it a three-way tie in the third round of the Flint Open golf championship Saturday with four under par totals of 212, but little Jerry Barber closed to within two shots of the lead with a hole-in-one which also won a $5,200 automobile.

The 47-year-old Cooper, who was tied with Lema at the end of the second round, matched the 28-year-old Californian even-par 72 to cling to the front end, but the balding Collins fired a 71 which moved him even with them.

That moved this trio one shot ahead of Dave Ragan, who closed a big gap with a 33-34—67, and Jim Ferree, the little Carolinian whose 70 also put him at 213.

• • • •

BARBER MOVED into a four-man group at 214 when he holed out a two-iron tee shot on the 222-yard 17th to win a new automobile—as Butch Baird of Galveston, Tex., did in the first round.

That pushed Barber into a deadlock with Joe Campbell, Dow Finsterwald and Doug Sanders. Campbell and Finsterwald fashioned 69s while Sanders had a par 72 over the 7,280-yard Warwick Hills golf club.

At 215, only three shots off the lead in a day of 90-degree heat, came former U. S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff, Bob Goalby and Gardner Dickinson. Goalby had a 71 with 72s for the others.

Once Over Lightly

Yanks, Dodgers Still Series Choices

One of the most fantastic success stories in recent baseball history is being written by the Los Angeles Angels, but it doesn't alter the fact that the Yankees and Dodgers are still the best bets at this stage to meet in the World Series.

In fact, the Angels most likely will slide to a position anywhere from fifth to seventh.

DAVE LEWIS
Likes Yanks, Dodgers

Only more crippling injuries to key men seemingly can stop the Yankees. Meanwhile, the Dodgers have a tough row to hoe in the National League although they hold a slight edge over the Giants on our "trend chart" at the halfway point.

The American League picture appears to be more clear-cut at the present time than the National, which could change sharply in the next month.

Some American Leaguers believe that 95 victories will be enough to win the pennant this season. However, at the present time the Yankees have a potential of 100 or more, which appears to give them a safe margin. Last year they won 109 games to finish eight in front of the Detroit Tigers with 101.

The Yanks are running five games behind their pace of '61 due mainly to their mid-June slump during which they lost 9 of 10, including four straight to the dangerous Cleveland Indians.

Their "hospital" list and their second-line pitching may account for a few more setbacks than usual during the second half of the race, but they are now working on the advantage of having the most favorable schedule from here on out.

For instance, the Yankees still have 36 games with the bottom three clubs—Kansas City, Boston, and Washington, while Cleveland and Detroit have only 24 with the same teams. That alone should produce a decisive winning margin over their two most dangerous rivals. The Yanks should play at least .667 ball in those 36 contests despite their injuries.

OUR CHART SHOWS the Yanks should pull out to at least a three-game lead by August 1 after a crucial three-game series with Cleveland in Yankee Stadium July 27-28-29. If the margin is greater than that on the 1st . . . it's all over but the celebrating.

After the Yankees' potential of 100 comes Cleveland with a "shaky" 96; Detroit, 91, and Baltimore with 90.

While Cleveland shows up at this point as the Yanks' most serious challenger, many baseball men feel that Detroit may reel off the most vigorous run down the stretch, especially when they get Al Kaline back and their other injured men recover.

Despite a strong start, Cleveland only is a game ahead of its opening pace of last season when the Indians faded in the last half by winning only 35 while losing 50, and some feel that they may again slow down to a walk when the "dog days" roll around.

At the present time, Minnesota, Chicago and the Angels appear to have about the same potentials in bidding for fifth—anywhere from 80 to 84. The Angels could finish fifth, but the "trend chart" tabs them for sixth or seventh. Other potentials: Boston, 75; Kansas City, 63, and Washington, 50.

The Angels are a rousing 14 games ahead of their '61 pace, but they are expected to slow down to about a .500 pace this month, and then travel at about a .400 to .450 pace during August and September.

WHILE OUR CHART STILL favors the Dodgers in the senior circuit, the race actually is still wide open with San Francisco just a notch behind and Cincinnati looming tougher as the season progresses.

The Dodgers currently have a potential of 106 wins with San Francisco next with 105 followed by Cincinnati with 99; Pittsburgh, 95; St. Louis, 85; Milwaukee, 83; Philadelphia, 65; Chicago, 62; Houston, 59, and New York, around 40.

Cincinnati's chances of being closer at this stage were wrecked by being unable to handle the Giants and the Phillies thus far. They stand only 9-17 against those two clubs.

Pittsburgh is hanging in and if everything jelled as it did two years ago, the Pirates could make a big run for it.

ST. LOUIS HAS A good schedule for the second half, but still hasn't shown signs of making a sustained drive.

In the end, the race should settle down to a two-way fight between the Dodgers and Giants. Unless, of course, one goes into an unexpected tailspin.

The Giants have a bit more favorable slate from here on out than the Dodgers and the O'Malley's will have to clinch the pennant in head-on meetings with S. F. After today, the two clubs play 10 more times and the Dodgers probably will have to win around seven of them to safely hold off the Giants . . . unless, of course, San Francisco fades in the late going as it has done in recent seasons. Then it will be a breeze for Los Angeles! Meanwhile, today's game at Candlestick Park is a crucial one. The Dodgers need this one badly!

Dodgers Rap S.F. Quicksand Pit

By GEORGE LEDERER
L. P-T Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO—While Dodger players continued to cry "foul" Saturday, manager Walter Alston decided to take Friday night's 12-3 licking with a grain of sand.

"I consider it a compliment to our club if they (the Giants) have to resort to those things," said Alston. "It should make (Maury) Wills feel pretty good."

You may recall that the topography around first base resembled a Louisiana quicksand pit before umpire Jocko Conlan called in the ground crew for emergency repairs after the third inning. By mere coincidence, Giants manager Alvin Dark is a native of the Bayou country.

Dark, who preaches good sportsmanship, naturally took the role of the innocent bystander. "I didn't put it (the sand) there," he said. "As soon as it was removed, we scored eight runs. It's my guess that some extra dirt was put on the infield to compensate for that blown away by the wind Thursday."

Chub Feeney, the Giants' general manager, managed to laugh off the incident. "The best infields are made up of one-third clay, one-third loam and one-third sand. It just happened that our sand was concentrated around first base."

Alston didn't think it was funny, but he wasn't bitter, either. "The worst thing that could happen is that someone can break a leg. It could happen to Mays as well as to Wills. That's all I'd complain about."

Ron Fairly, the first to discover that the terra was not too firma, said, "I don't know what the Giants had in mind. But I know that the dirt was watered down Thursday and it wasn't Friday. When I asked the groundskeeper about it, he told me that a hose broke Thursday."

Fairly inspected the field before Saturday's game and still was not satisfied. "It's every bit as bad as it was last night. I wish I had my golf clubs with me. I'd practice a few sand shots around first base."

"I know why they put the sand there," said Dodger captain Duke Snider. "(Orlando) Cepeda has bad feet and they gotta make it soft for him."

The Dodgers hope to have the last laugh today. When the Giants are at bat, it'll be Sandy on the mound.

Tyus Steals Spotlight in National AAU Spikefest

Wyoma Tyus, a 16-year-old protege of Olympic star Wilma Rudolph Ward's coach, Ed Temple, stole the show at the girls' National AAU track and field championships Saturday night.

She won three races, tied two dash records and came within one-tenth of a second of equalling another.

She had record-equalling times of :05.8 and :08.3 in the 50 and 75-yard dashes, respectively, and her :11.0 clocking in the 100 was one tenth of a second off the AAU and American marks in the 14 to 17-age group.

Meanwhile Tamara Davis of Frederick, Md., broke the 50-yard hurdles mark with a time of :06.9. The previous record of :07.0 was set in 1955 by Jeannette Contrell of Ponca City, Okla., and tied in 1960 by Kay Miller, Corpus Christi, Tex.

Including preliminary dashes in morning heats, Miss Tyus, originally from Griffin, Ga., won nine races during the meet.

Coach Temple, of Tennessee A&I, who twice piloted American teams against the Russians, said Miss Tyus has a bright track future and compared her favorably to Mrs. Ward at the same age. Miss Tyus, a high school junior, is a two-time 50 and 100-yard dash winner in the Georgia State girls' championships.

Wyoma is a member of the Tennessee State Girls' Track Club, which Temple coaches during the summer. She finished third in the girls' 75-yard dash at the National AAU at Gary, Ind., last year.

"Wyoma has been running for me for two years," said Temple, "and has improved tremendously."

A sparse crowd of 1,500 watched the girls in the Coliseum, which will be the site of the women's National AAU championships today. The first two places in each event today will qualify for berths against the Russian women's team July 21-22 at Palo Alto.

Columbus, Ohio Track Club set a record in the 440-yard relay in its class at :49 seconds flat with a team consisting of Melissa Long, Karen Williams, Wanda Fuller, and Sandra Fears.

Final team standings in the girl's competition found Los Pocos Diablos of Pleasant Hill scoring a narrow victory over Tennessee State, 45-44. Frederick Track Club was third with 40 points, followed by Ohio Track Club of Columbus, with 39; the Oakland Oakettes with 24 and Southern California Spikers of Los Angeles with 20.

Pagliaroni Homer Beats Angels, 5-4

the final four Angels in order to preserve Schwall's third win.

It will be Eli Grba (4-4) and Bill Monbouquette (7-8) in the final game of the series.

This afternoon, Rocky Bridges will be replaced by Rice as the Angel coaches continue to take turns in the managerial chair.

• • • •

THE GAME, however, took second billing to Fred Haney's fiery, pre-game, clubhouse lecture directed at Bo Belinsky, who has been on the carpet more times than an infant learning to walk.

Belinsky, who walked four of the first five Boston batters Friday evening, was censored in front of the whole squad for: (1) leaving the mound before his replacement had arrived, and (2) saluting the crowd with an ugly gesture on his way to the dugout.

"He has no right to embarrass the manager that way, for the manager will never embarrass a pitcher," said Haney. "Bo is in the major league's now and it is the custom here to wait until the relief pitcher arrives at the mound. As far as the gesture to the crowd, that has no place in baseball. I thought Bo was a higher-type individual."

• • • •

ALTHOUGH a similar gesture cost the Dodgers' Roger Craig a $250 fine and five-day suspension two years ago, Haney said there would be no fine.

The Angels dynamic general manager also defended the use of Belinsky after manager Bill Rigney had told this writer Wednesday he planned to give Bo's injured leg another day of rest by starting Lee Friday night.

"Any suggestion that we used Belinsky to boost the gate when he wasn't ready to pitch is ridiculous," said Haney. "Winning the game means much more to this club than any one night gate. I am sorry to see that Bo sees fit to use his sore leg as an alibi. I thought he was a different-type pitcher."

ANGELS, ANGLES: Belinsky's troubles began Saturday long before Haney got to him. . . . Bo was ejected from the Tent Club at Hollywood Park for (1) not wearing a tie and (2) the ugly gesture he gave to Chavez Ravine fans Friday night. . . . The ejecting officer was none other than Marvin Lebow, Hollywood's area czar.

ON WHITE'S 3-RUN HOMER

Nitehawks Winners in 13

The loss was a bitter one for Rudy Fincher, who had homered earlier and had held the Hawks to but one run after the first.

L. B. rests atop the WSC, now one-half game ahead of Mary Star.

YANK CREW LOSES OUT AT HENLEY

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (UPI)—The National Provincial Bank crew won the Thames Cup for eight-oared shells in the Royal Henley Regatta Saturday—beating Washington and Lee High School of Arlington, Va., in the semifinal and the Thames Rowing Club in the final.

The Bankers, averaging 24 years to the American high schoolers, 17, won the semifinal by 2½ lengths in six minutes, 54 seconds over the one mile and 550-yard course, and then came back to whip the Thames Club crew by three lengths in 6:16.

A's Owner Welcomes Senate Pry

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, said Saturday night he welcomed a threatened congressional investigation of his operation of the Athletics.

Finley promised his "full cooperation" to Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Kan., who announced he was making a detailed study of Finley's operation of the club.

"I am making this study," Long said, "because of numerous complaints from Kansas City about Mr. Finley's operation of the baseball club.

"If my study substantiates these charges, it is my intention to ask Sen. (Estes) Kefauver to investigate the operation of the Kansas City Athletics," said Long, who is a member of the Senate Anti-Trust and Monopoly Subcommittee.

ROUNDUP

In gate 3:12, off 3:12. Start good for all except Bobby's Legacy, won driving. Winner, gr. g. 3, by Turk's Desert-Martha Hackett. Trained by J. Jordan. Naleka claimed by Mr. or Mrs. R. C. Kidder for $7,500. Trainer, D. Landers. Greek Sea claimed by Vadnais & Yadnais for $7,500. Trainer, J. M. Leavitt. Mutuel pool $425,319.

LITTLE WALTIE was well placed from beginning while racing close to leaders, moved up strongly on outside on stretch turn, took command a furlong out and under strong handling held advantage in last furlong. Bobby's Legacy ducked his head just as break came and was off slowly, closed a wide gap rounding far turn, made a bold bid entering last furlong then gave way slightly. Greek Law closed steadily while on inside in final quarter. Master Verdict moved up while racing slightly wide going to far turn, held on with good courage to last furlong then gave way. Nicavette was slow to settle, moved up fast while on extreme outside on stretch turn then appeared to hang. Naleka gave way in last quarter after showing some early speed. Greek Sea was never able to reach leaders. Equity tired after setting pace to stretch. Turk's Blaze was through after three quarters.

City Table Tennis Play Wednesday

The All-City playground table tennis tournament for boys will be held Wednesday at 1 p.m. at George Washington Jr. High, 15th and Pacific.

There is no entry fee. All boys age nine through 21 are invited to participate. There will be four age classifications, with prizes for the winners—class A, 16-21; class B, 14-16; class C 11-14, and class D, 9-11. Admission is free.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

It's a Long-Finned Weekend . . .

Unless the albacore pull a remarkable disappearing act, there should be several hundred longfins back-packed across Long Beach, San Pedro and Newport Beach landings this Sunday. And, of course, San Diego will get into the act, just as it has been doing since July 3.

The schools of longfins, however, are remaining practically stationary—about 20 miles off the east end of San Clemente Island. The party boats, the 65- and 85-footers from Pierpoint and Pacific Landings, will have plenty of company this weekend.

Numbers of the faster private boats from Long Beach and Newport will be out there trolling everything except the tackle box itself.

Such trolling may reduce the totals of the regular sportfishing fleet, which will be using live bait.

Meanwhile, there is news of more interest for those who like to fish just offshore. The barracuda, bonita and bass are wild at Huntington Flats and other banks. Just in case you like a short trip, try one of the local boats for a lot of fun. You get to fish longer and ride less.

ANOTHER RECORD BLACK SEA BASS—a 557-pound monster and the largest of its species ever recorded—was caught last Sunday by Richard M. Lane, 41 Blaboa Cove, Newport Beach, aboard his boat Sylinda just off Silver Canyon, Catalina Island.

The word about Lane's fish was a bit slow in reaching the mainland, but the fish is going into the record books just the same. Not only is the fish the largest California black sea bass ever caught, but it also sets a record for 45-pound-test line on medium tackle.

Two anglers held the former record of 514 pounds. J. Patterson got his 514-pound fish off San Clemente Aug. 29, 1955, and Joe M. Arve tied that with a fish of similar weight—right to the ounce—on Nov. 15, 1961, at Box Canyon. Both Patterson and Arve were using 130-pound-test line on heavy tackle.

Lane fought his fish for 65 minutes after the bass took a big squid that he was using for bait. He had to tow the fish to the Avalon Pleasure Pier, where Stan Kimball weighed it. Ray Caswell, of the Tuna Club (Avalon) certified it.

It was in the same area where Dr. J. Gordon Bateman, Long Beach, recently caught a 337-pounder on light tackle. He, too, was using squid for bait. A ruling still is pending as to whether it will be a record.

A NEW TYPE OF CLUB, the Executive and Professional Men's Hunt-Fish-of-the-Month Club, has just been announced in Los Angeles by Rick Williams, travel agency owner and narrator of TV's show, "Wide World Hunting and Fishing."

Associated with Rick are Pete Brown, Sports Afield magazine's gun editor; John Gartner, editor of Western Outdoors magazine; Louis A. Gordon, attorney, and Harvey Diederich, public relations man.

Purpose of the club is to charge membership and annual dues which will enable the directors to research personally every fishing and hunting resort so that there can be no mistakes when the patron leaves on a trip.

Literature will be provided each month for a trip four months in advance, with all information about fees, accommodations and what to expect in fish and game.

Details about the EPMHFMC—how's that for abbreviating—may be had by sending a postcard to 1116 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Zebco Division of Brunswick Corporation assumed even greater importance in the fishing-tackle trade last week when it announced the purchase of Langley Corporation of San Diego.

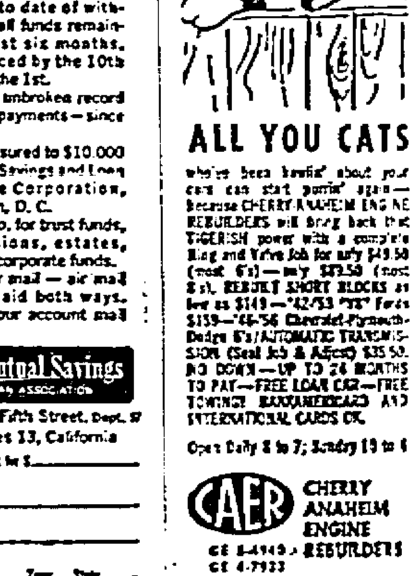

Zebco, famed manufacturer of closed-face spinning reels, thus put itself in a position to manufacture and sell—along with its own product—open-face spinning reels, conventional type reels for ocean fishing and level-wind reels for every type of casting.

Zebco plans to introduce a broad line of reel products under its name at the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturers' Association trade show in Chicago Aug. 5-8.

While no official announcement reached this writer, the rumor that Browning Arms had bought Sila-Flex of Costa Mesa was substantiated by Herb Jenks, general manager of Sila-Flex.

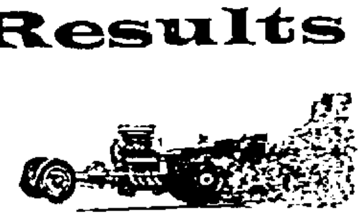

Such an acquisition puts Browning in the market with fiber-glass vaulting poles, high-quality fishing rods and archery equipment, along with its guns. The archery section is expected to be a very important part of the Browning operation.

South Prep Grids Begin Work July 21

The South All-Stars will work out at Whittier College for the 11th North-South Shrine prep football classic at the Coliseum Aug. 1.

Two-a-day drills will begin Sunday, July 21, and will continue until two days before the game. Teams report July 20 and picture day will be July 22.

The Northerners go to Bovard Field on the Southern California campus for their workouts. They'll follow the same schedule. All drills for both teams are open to the public.

• • • •

LONG BEACH will be represented by two players, Wilson High tackle Bill Robinson and Poly fullback Joe Pearson. Both made the all-CIF first team.

Veteran coach Jim Blewett of Manual Arts will handle the South team along with Frank Serrao of Redlands. Blewett coached South wins in 1953 (20-0) and 1955 (17-0).

Tickets, priced at $1.50, $3 and $5, may be obtained by writing the Shrine Football Office, 655 W. Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles 7. Presently, there is no ticket outlet in Long Beach.

Ray, Davey Headliners at Arena

Sugar Ray Robinson, a five-time champion in two divisions, and busy little Davey Moore are the headliners Monday in 10-round bouts at the Sports Arena.

The 41-year-old Robinson meets Phil Moyer of Portland in one of the features while featherweight champion Moore engages Mario Diaz of Mexico in a nontitle battle.

On the same program, Herman Duncan and Don Johnson clash for the California State featherweight title in a 12-rounder. The Duncan-Johnson fight is also a featherweight clash.

• • • •

PRESIDENT John Horn of the United World Enterprises said that one of the three featherweights could get a title bout with Moore.

Robinson, the ex-welterweight and middleweight champion, was reported in top shape but has been boxing daily to sharpen his punching for the aggressive Moyer, one of the Oregon family of boxers.

The bout marks Robinson's first return here since December, 1960, when he was narrowly defeated by Gene Fullmer, the NBA middleweight champ.

Monday's card is another arranged by ex-heavyweight champion Joe Louis, who is matchmaker for United World Enterprises.

Joe Louis Guest at Maritime Luncheon

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis will be special guest of the July Maritime Industries luncheon at Mary Star of the Sea Hall, San Pedro, on Wednesday.

Louis' guest will be former welterweight - middleweight champ Ray Robinson.

Social hour will begin at 11:45 a.m. Admission is free. Pat Ahern is master of ceremonies.

Low Net to Craig in Sweepstakes

Jim Craig Jr. took low net honors in the Saturday Sweepstakes at Virginia Country Club with 69-7—62. Results:

Blind Bogey (74)—Fred Richards, Herb Wagner, Max Becker, Dick Brownell, Ed McManus, Dr. Milo Elrick, Ray Dubuy, Bill Murrell.

SHORT-TERM MAT CHAMP DUE BACK

Japanese wrestler Rikidozan, who won the heavyweight championship recently only to have it taken away and restored to Freddie Blassie on a technicality, this week begins a drive for another shot at the title.

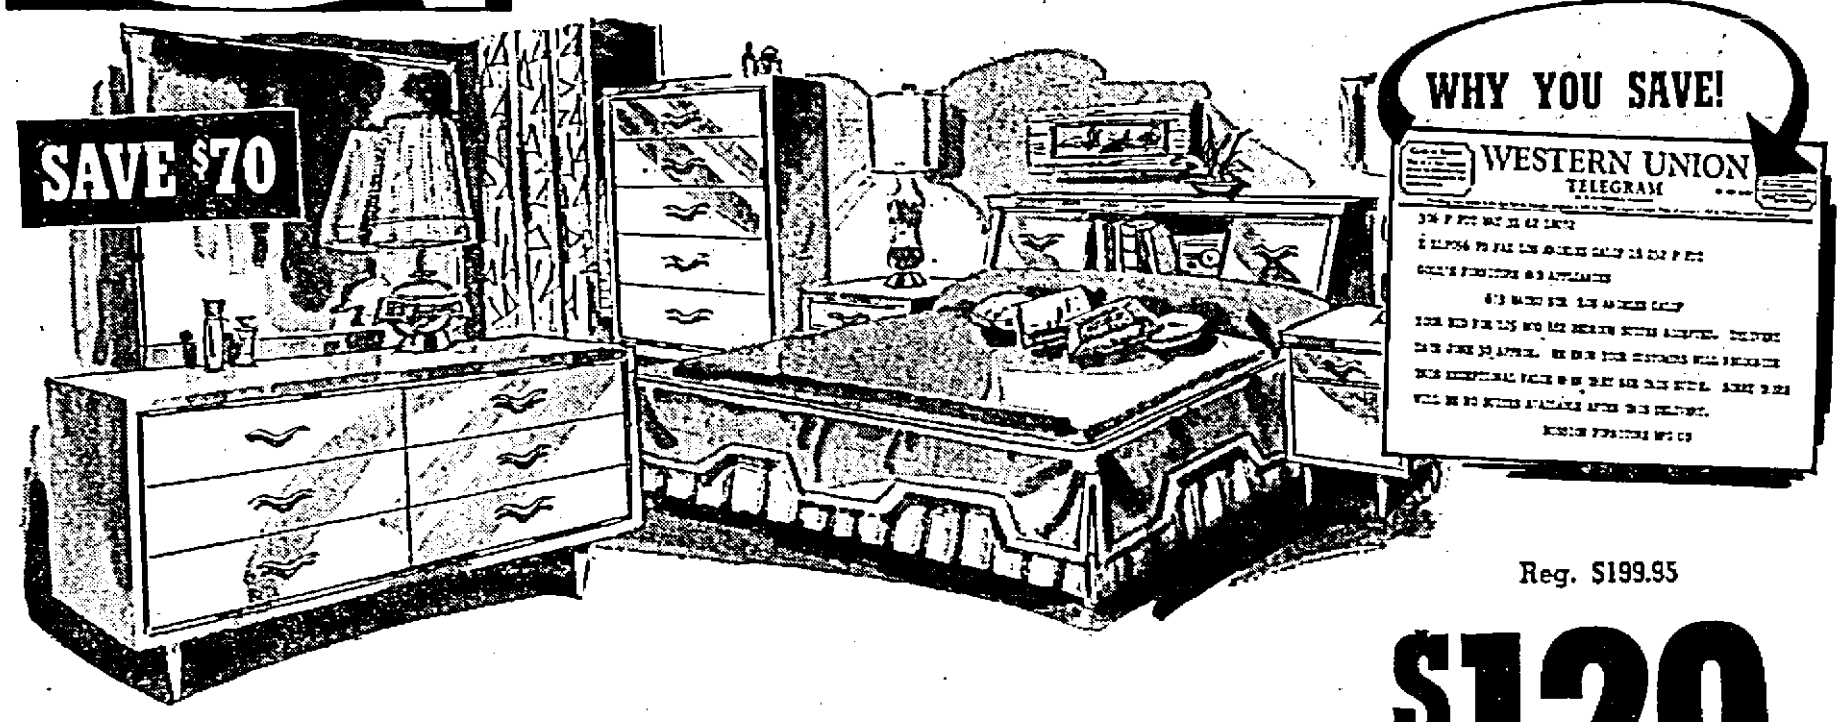

He opposes La Pentera on Tuesday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

LOOKING FOR A HOME?

Here is a choice selection of 12 homes from 450 of our exclusive listings.

The One to See Is From Walker & Lee

Six Conveniently Located Offices to Serve You

LOS ALTOS

"NEAR STATE COLLEGE"—Very attractive in modern motif — you'll fall in love with it. Three bedrooms, 2 baths, excellent decor thruout. Professionally landscaped with large park-like rear yard ideal for outdoor enjoyment. Priced at $15,950. Just $1950 down. Key at 2265 Palo Verde. GE 9-2134.

STATE COLLEGE ONE-HALF MILE. Beautiful landscaping just outside either front or back door. Inside is the smartest modern you've seen. A 3-bedroom 2-bath home we challenge you to match for just $15,950. To see call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

HUGE-HUGE FAMILY ROOM with wet bar and acres of storage and closets. Second bath off family room, 3 bedrooms and large screened dog kennels. Immaculate in and out. Just listed, so be first to call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

LAKEWOOD

SEPARATE DINING ROOM is only one of the many nice features in this 3-bedroom home. New nylon carpet, lots of used brick and right near all schools. You could move in before school starts. $1000 down and $111.71 per mo. includes taxes and insurance. Key at Hwy. 101 and Anaheim. GE 4-7426.

"$500 DOWN NON-VET!" and $95 per month including taxes buys this large 2-bedroom home on quiet tree-lined street. Completely developed inside and out — double garage — fenced yard — 15x18 covered patio. You can own this house cheaper than you can rent it, but you'd better hurry! Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd. HA 5-1214. Open eves.

LONG BEACH

GI LOAN BENEFITS BEGIN EXPIRING JULY 25. Don't gamble with yours. Check on this large 3-bedroom home with separate dining room and screened patio that can be yours for nothing down and payment no more than rent. Call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

SEAL BEACH

PAINT & SAVE! 3 AND FAMILY ROOM plus 2 baths, built-in kitchen with smart ash cabinets, oak floors, sliding glass door to yard. Top location near beach and marina but dirty in and out. For a real saving call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

STATE COLLEGE AREA

"4-BEDROOMS PLUS FAMILY ROOM." Ideal for that large family. Built-ins plus refrigerator in large kitch., sprinklers, professional landscaping. Walk to all schools. Quiet dead-end street, best area. $6000 will handle. Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134.

PLAZA

"TAKE 4 FINE BEDROOMS" plus kitchen — family room home with 2 baths. Then add solid mahogany kitchen cabinets — knotty cedar paneling in the family room — contoured polished slate floor and a beautiful Loma stone fireplace in the large living room. Set this outstanding home on a quiet street near schools—you'll have a wonderful home for a large, happy family. Just $21,500 on easy FHA terms. Key at 4100 Bellflower Blvd. HA 5-1214. Open eves.

CITY COLLEGE

UNUSUAL!! To find a home with a 3-ton Amana heat pump already installed. Cool in summer and warm in winter. 3 Bedrooms, 1¾ baths, in deluxe location for only $2000 down. Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd. GE 3-7493.

ROSSMOOR

BEAUTIFUL EL DORADO—This beautiful 3-bedroom home has been customized and has added den. Built-in range, oven and dishwasher, huge living room. All for only $29,500 and owner says sell. Your terms — FHA, conventional, or owner will help finance. Key at Hwy. 101 and Anaheim. GE 4-7426.

DUPLEXES

LOVELY DUPLEX — Spacious 1-bedroom each, pullman baths, 30-gal. water heaters, 3 garages, beautifully landscaped, near 2 super markets and 3 doors to bus. Income $160 mo. Try $3000 down. Key at 2060 Bellflower Blvd. GE 3-7493.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:

. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

HERE ARE THE FACTS

The used cars we have at our huge plant are the cleanest and best in the world. We say this without fear of contradiction. Here is the procedure for our cars at:

MARSHALL DUFFIELD COMET-MERCURY

1. Wash Motor and Chassis.
2. Inspection by foreman.
3. Motor compression test for rings and valves.
4. Transmission and rear end tested and checked.
5. New liners, bearings, listen 5 pins, crutches, replaced as needed.
6. Carburetor, distributor checked and tested.
7. The car is road tested.
8. Oil changed and lubed.
9. All parts properly lubricated.
10. Factory specifications.
11. Wheels pulled to check the brake linings.
12. Front end examined and necessary corrections made.
13. Necessary bumping done in metal dept.
14. Polish and clean up. Upholstery completely renovated.
15. Tires checked, made to meet our specifications, which should be good for approximately 25,000 miles.
16. Front end aligned and (4) wheels balanced.
17. 10-Day Trial Exchange.

Does not apply to full price ad cars.

NORTHWARD VIEW TELLS STORY OF HOW WESTMINSTER AREA LOOKED IN 1954

Westminster Triples Population in 5 Years

More than tripled in population in the last five years, Westminster, in southwestern Orange County, goes by the slogan that the city is "a wonderful place to live, work and play."

Only 12 years ago, 3,131 persons lived in that part of the county.

At time of incorporation, March 27, 1957, the population was 10,755.

Latest count was more than 35,000—and rapid growth continues.

Postal receipts have zoomed from $18,242 in 1950 to $190,644 in '61.

Bank deposits were $9,171,276 in '61, jumping from $3,303,284 in four years.

THE CITY COVERS 9.78 square miles and lies 50 feet above sea level. Only a few miles from the beach, Westminster has a climate advantage of daily sea breezes, which maintain cooler temperatures than even nearby areas farther inland.

The city's elementary school district includes 13 schools. Three more are abuilding. The large high school plant is part of the Huntington Beach Union District, and another is planned.

Home building permit valuations, $2,441,150 in 1957, totalled $18,233,303 in 1961. There were 1,515 houses built in 1959.

Westminster has its own police and fire departments and has a City Council-administrator form of government. The councilmen, from five districts, elect one of their body as mayor.

RECENT EFFORTS have been made by city officials to push industrial expansion. The area has 914 acres zoned for light industry, with an additional 640 acres adjoining.

Completion of the San Diego and Garden Grove freeways will give Westminster quick access to the Southland freeway system.

The city has a fulltime parks and recreational program, besides being located only short distances from such attractions as Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, Newport Harbor and a variety of ocean sports.

Business Upturns Reported by Savings and Loan Associations

Savings and loan associations in the area have announced increases at mid-year in assets, savings, mortgage loans and interest payments to savers.

Deane Sanders, manager of the Lakewood office of Great Western Savings and Loan Association, said total assets on June 30 amounted to $483,158,000 compared with $411,497,000 on that date a year ago. This was an increase of $71,661,000, or 17.4%.

Savings amounted to $372,924,000, against $318,897,000 a year ago, a gain of $54,027,000 or 16.9%. Mortgage loans outstanding were $419,657,000, an increase of 13.6% over the $369,452,000 reported on June 30, 1961.

Interest payments to savers during the first half of 1962 totaled $7,704,000. This was at the rate of 4¼% during the second quarter of the year. This same rate has been announced for the third quarter.

Sees Business Chances Good 'Down Under'

"There's a profitable business to be had for American industry in the Far East and in the 'down under' countries, but there is nothing common about the markets," said Carl E. Wynn, president, Wynn's Friction Proofing of Aruba at a recent press conference in Los Angeles.

Wynn just had returned from a three-month business trip to Australia, New Zealand, the Far East and the Philippines, exploring economic and business conditions and expansion opportunities in those countries.

"The variations in marketing problems are caused by a number of factors," he continued.

"In some areas it may be economic — in others it may be political—or geographical —or a language barrier; but the complexities of each area must be carefully studied and analyzed before setting up shop."

Broker Institute President Offers Hints on Selling

By VERN ANTHONY
Real Estate Editor

One of the brighter aspects of being in the real estate business is the years in which you can work at it, believes Gordon Williamson, who visited the Long Beach area recently as president of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers.

He cited instances of men over 70 having great success at an age where persons in other businesses would have had to retire at 65.

Williamson, who received his apprenticeship in salesmanship in the auto business at Detroit, is now a nationally recognized authority in realty operations. He had some pithy commentary during his discussions here.

• • • •

THERE'S ALWAYS a triangle in selling, he said: the buyer, who wants to get all he can for the least price; the seller, who wants all he can get; and the broker, trying to get the best deal for all concerned.

• • • •

IT'S IMPORTANT to have written instructions, rules and regulations for sales staffs in offices.

• • • •

• • • •

• • • •

IT'S IMPORTANT to know prospect sources, Williamson said. He revealed surveys of his own realty business showed 20 per cent of sales came from classified ads in newspapers; 20% from signs; 10% from drop-ins at the offices; 10% from customer visitations at houses; and the balance from referrals. He stressed importance of 'seeing people.'

• • • •

• • • •

"DISCOUNT STORES are here to stay," he said urging attention to site sales for such businesses.

• • • •

MOBILE RETAIL stores may appear on the scene . . . Air freight will change demand.

• • • •

LEASES are being written now with cost of living clauses.

• • • •

STUDY your community as if you didn't live there, and get a new slant on things you're selling.

• • • •

GAS STATIONS of the future will have 4 to 6 or more stalls instead of two.

• • • •

CHECK with new industries as to where their employes will want to be living.

• • • •

FINALLY, punning in reference to the upcoming November convention at Detroit at which special stress will be placed on entertainment for wives of realty delegates: "Once, going to a convention with your wife was like going hunting with a game warden!"

But it won't be that way at Detroit.

Record New Membership Taken in by Realty Board

A record number of new members received their certificates the past week at induction ceremonies held during the regular Long Beach Board of Realtors breakfast meeting in the Crown Cafeteria.

The group was sworn in by Melvin Mould, first vice president.

Names of those inducted, and the firms with which they are associated include:

WILLIAM J. TEAGUE
Speaker Tuesday

New Record at Mesa

COSTA MESA — An all-time high of $31,469,000 in construction has been reported here for the past fiscal year. This was an increase of $2,600,000 over the previous year.

Realtors to Hear Vice President of Pepperdine

July program chairman for the Long Beach District Board of Realtors Elmer Roswurm has announced that William J. Teague, vice president of Pepperdine College, will be the guest speaker at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday at the realtors breakfast in the Crown Cafeteria.

With a background in college administration and a reputation for success, Teague has been described as quietly dynamic. He is known for getting the job done, a quality which he has exhibited at Pepperdine as proficiently as he did in similar capacities at Abilene Christian College in Texas and Harding College in Arkansas.

Teague is a member of the Los Angeles Breakfasta Club, American College Public Relations Association and other professional and civic groups.

Association to Install Tuesday

L. G. Toner will be installed as new chairman of the Lakewood-Los Altos Real Estate Association at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Lakewood Country Club.

Installing officer will be James O. (Pete) Banes.

Also to be seated as new officers will be Gene Nebeker, vice chairman, and Betty Bell, secretary-treasurer.

The association just has wrapped up a record year of business, according to reports for the fiscal year ending June 30. More than 7,000 homes were sold and volume hit the $32 million mark.

Forty-nine realty offices are represented in the 400-member association. Regular meetings are held at noon on the second Tuesday of each month, at the country club dining room.

B of A Shows Gains in Deposits and Loans

Loans and deposits, barometers of Bank of America's earning potential, showed major gains during the first six months of 1962.

In the bank's statement of condition for June 30, 1962, President S. Clark Beise reported total loans outstanding of $7,193,994,949, an increase of $653,407,303 during the past 12 months, and a gain of $366,385,870 since the end of the year.

"This six-month increase alone is greater than that recorded for all of 1960 and 1961," Beise said.

• • • •

PARALLELING the loan rise, total deposits of $11,533,063,540 were $905,791,623 greater than a year ago.

Beise reported net operating earnings reflecting the added cost of higher savings interest rates, were $38,653,656 for the first six months of 1962 or $1.36 per share on the 28,480,000 shares outstanding. This compares with $41,969,181, or $1.47 per share for the first half of 1961.

Total resources of $12,787,175,208 set a new high, and compare with $11,796,997,240 a year ago.

The bank's investments in securities totaled $3,158,744,264 against $2,924,772,429 a year ago.

Beise reported that 23 new branches of the bank were opened during the first six months of this year for a current total of 761.

• • • •

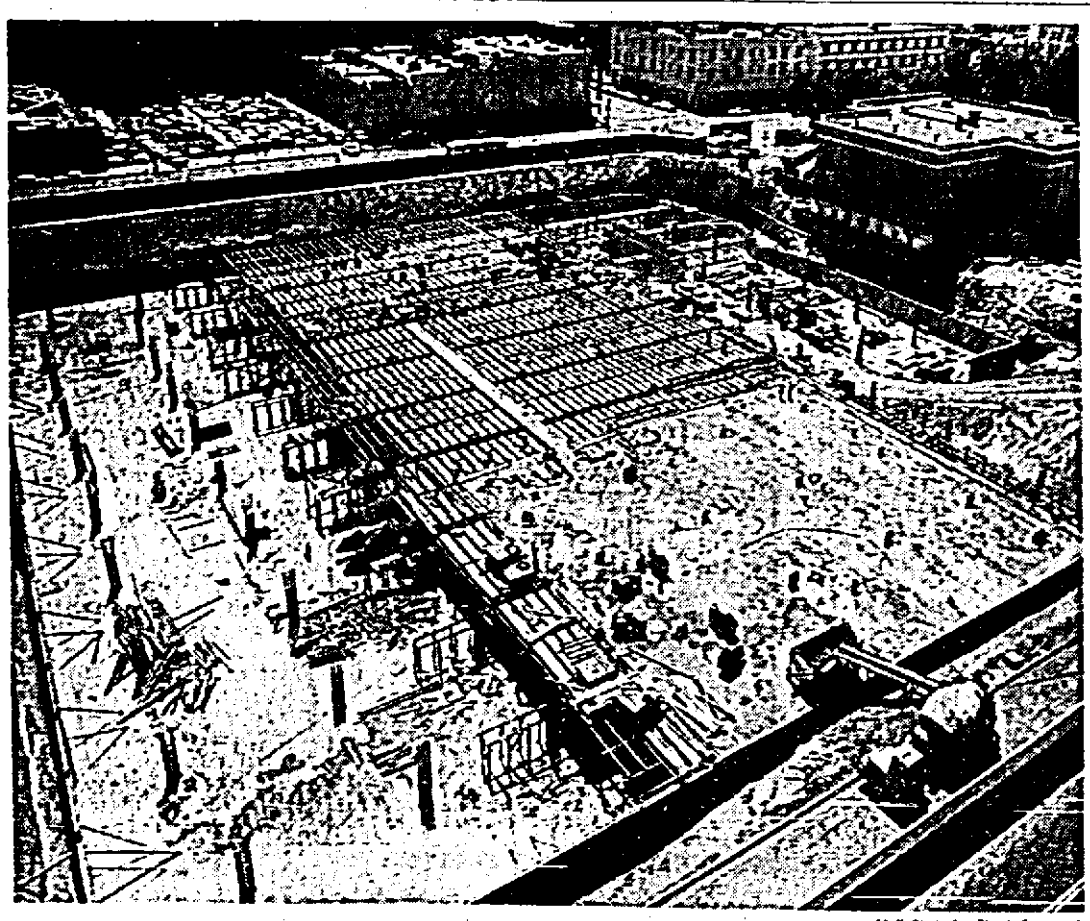

SUMMING UP his report on earnings the president reported that transactions in securities yielded a net profit of $1,077,212 compared with $1,255,055 for the first six months of 1961. Transfers to reserves, after resulting tax benefits, amounted to $2,634,000 leaving net earnings and profits of $37,096,869 available for dividends and addition to capital funds, compared with $40,590,236 in the first half of 1961.

Dividends totaling $28,480,000 were paid during the first half of 1962 to more than 200,000 shareholders at the annual rate of $2.00 per share.

Total capital funds together with reserve for possible loan losses of $136,189,539 now amount to $929,919,877, representing an increase of $123,033,145 over mid-1961.

Sales Increase

Consolidated retail sales of [illegible] Tea Co., Inc., for the four weeks ended June 16, 1962, totaled $46,656,009, a gain of $4,764,076 or 11.4% over comparable sales of $41,891,933 for the comparable weeks a year ago.

YORBA LINDA HOME
Recently opened Yorba Linda Highlands, new home community in the great "moon rocket" project area, lists beautifully color-coordinated all-electric kitchens among its many luxury features.

Many Appealing Features in Yorba Linda Highlands

Recently opened Yorba Linda Highlands in the park-like area near Yorba Linda Country Club, boasts among the many fine home features, all-electric kitchens with built-in range and oven with matching hood, fan and light, built-in automatic dishwasher with the electronic range as an optional "extra cost" feature, officials of Calstate Agencies, sales agents explained.

Termed the "Space Age" community because these modern dwellings are located in the great "Moon Rocket" project, Yorba Linda Highlands presents diverse home selection. Plans are flexible and designed with three and four bedrooms and two attractive baths, plus separate dining or family room, and extra-large two-car garages. Plans encompass from 1711 to 1840 square feet of actual living area, and homesites are comparably spacious.

THE HOMES are distinguished by such features as master bedroom suites with private dressing rooms and baths, lots of closets and storage space, pantries for food storage as well as hardwood cabinets, and convenient linen closets.

Financing is convenient conventional and full prices, officials said, are from $23,950 to $25,700.

To see the homes from the Long Beach area drive the Santa Ana Freeway to Anaheim, then on to the Riverside Freeway to Jefferson St. turnoff and go north on Jefferson to Orangethorpe. Go right on Orangethorpe to Richfield, then left to Yorba Linda Blvd., then right (east) on Yorba Linda to Lakeview and left (north) on Lakeview to Oriente Drive.

Westmont Bonus Room Home Again Available

A WESTMONT INTERIOR
Rich paneling, fireplace, built-in kitchen, and family room are combined with the big 440-square-foot Bonus Room at George M. Holstein & Sons' new Westmont Community on Highway 39 three miles south of the Garden Grove Freeway intersection.

The Southland's most popular new home concept, the big extra Bonus Room is meeting with continuing popularity at the newest unit of Westmont where all plans and exteriors are available once again following a record-setting sell-out, the developers reveal.

The big room is ideal for extra bedrooms, rumpus room, play or game area, and includes over 400 extra square feet, the Westmont builders pointed out.

Available in many exteriors in both three and four-bedroom plans with family rooms, the new Westmont unit features a score of other luxuries along with the big room, the pioneer building organization stressed.

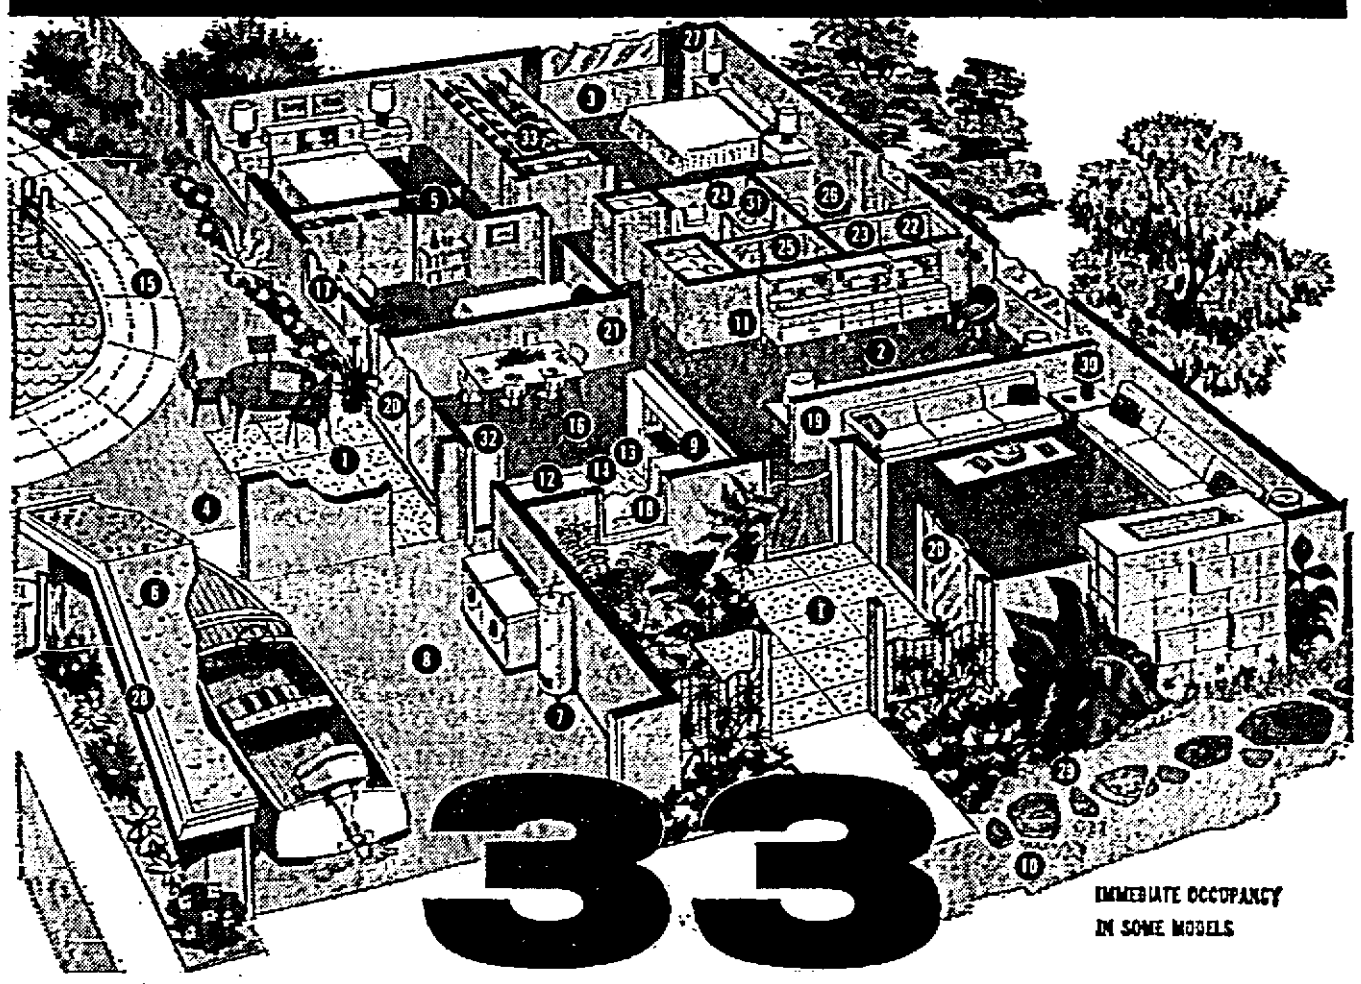

• • • •

EVERY WESTMONT home will have concrete driveway, oversize pool lot, built-in tile kitchen, and most plans also offer wood-shake roof, fireplace, paneling and other custom-like advantages.

Early purchasers in the new unit will be offered a selection of colors, tile and other details with occupancy set for late this summer.

The Westmont Bonus Room home also offers choice financing with FHA terms as low as $500 down and no down payments to qualified veterans.

From Long Beach drive east on either Seventh St. or Westminster Blvd. to Hwy. 39. Turn right about three miles, just past Heil, to the big Westmont arrow. The models are on the left of Hwy. 39 about five miles from the beach.

Recreation Director Launches Many Pacific Sands Activities

Over three hundred persons were on hand as Bob Lent, club director of Pacific Sands Cabana Club, began his official duties at the first community meeting held in the spacious clubhouse recently, according to Pat Yeiser, community coordinator.

Jim Deane, speaking for Deane Brothers and M. J. Brock and Sons, Inc., developers of Pacific Sands, a community located near the ocean in Huntington Beach, revealed that much time was spent seeking a club director. "Quite by chance," said Deane, "we discovered Bob Lent living right here in Pacific Sands. Bob, who holds a Masters Degree in recreation from Michigan University, is an elementary school teacher in Huntington Beach."

OUTLINES PROGRAM

Lent outlined an array of activities that encompassed every age group. "We will have a complete recreation program," Lent declared, "one that will be year 'round in scope and with activities that will appeal to every interest."

• • • •

ACTIVITIES PLANNED for the children include swimming, baton and dancing lessons, scouting, league teams, day camps, side trips, arts, crafts and hobbies. Teen Clubs, drill teams, sports and dances are on the agenda for the teenagers. Adults will enjoy fashion shows, fishing and boating clubs, bridge, swimming, skin diving lessons, Golden Age Clubs and barbecues and party nights.

"Pacific Sands residents will have an opportunity to become excellent swimmers," said Lent, as he introduced the Cabana Club swimming instructor, Norman Holiday, who will also act as full time life guard at the club's official swim-meet size pool.

The Cabana Club will also have a tennis pro available for lessons.

In addition to the swimming pool, tennis court and spacious club house for parties and dances, Pacific Sands Cabana Club will feature shuffleboard, volleyball courts, chidren's playground and cook-out facilities.

Pacific Sands Homes are located on Beach Blvd., one-half mile north of Pacific Coast Hwy. The homes are available in 26 models, ranging from $14,450 up to $20,950 for the deluxe two-story model. Membership fee is being waived for first buyers for a limited time.

Salvation Army Band to Play at Dedication

Dedication services will be held at 1:30 p.m. today for the new recreation and chapel room at Crestwood Convalescent Hospital, 1775 Chestnut Ave.

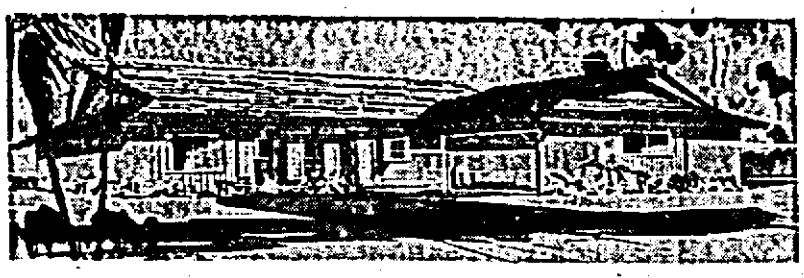

Tom Greholver, Salvation Army corps assistant here, will give the dedicatory address, and music will be by the Salvation Army band and singers.

The service will replace the usual worship service today and is open to the public.

In addition to the completed chapel and recreational unit for patients, construction is under way on a 28-bed hospital expansion program. More than $100,000 is being spent on the project.

NEW BRANCH OFFICE
Key to new Long Beach branch office of Metropolitan Savings & Loan Association at 5901 Atlantic Ave. is handed over by manager E. V. Hatch (right) to Dr. Orville Cole, head of L. B. Chamber of Commerce, as Gunther J. Shirley, Metropolitan president (center), looks on. Occasion was preview reception for special guests. Gala opening for public ends Tuesday.

ONLY $95 DOWN

For $95 down, a family may start home ownership in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes, Unit 2. Builders are S. V. Hunsaker & Sons.

Finest of Features in Sunshine Homes

Southern California families find all the most wanted features in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes, Unit 2, according to Richard C. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons builders and developers.

Moderately priced, requiring only $95 down, Huntington Beach Sunshine homes offer three and four bedrooms, two full baths, two-car garage, family room, and large kitchen.

• • • •

LOCATED CLOSE to the finest beaches and near both Orange County and Long Beach industrial centers, these attractive homes feature forced-air heat, metal sliding windows with screens, all-copper plumbing, and plenty of built-ins. Other popular features are wall-to-wall carpet, floor-to-ceiling folding wardrobe doors, and a large number of roomy closets.

The ultra-modern kitchens are convenient and have natural finish cabinets, Formica counter tops, vinyl tile, disposal, and built-in range and oven equipped with hood and exhaust fan over range.

Academically, residents are served by grammar schools, high school, and junior college. Shopping centers and churches are close by.

The homes are open daily for inspection from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and may be seen at Golden West and Smeltzer in Huntington Beach.

Appointment of Robert W. Walker of Los Angeles as vice president and executive representative of the Santa Fe Railway with headquarters at San Francisco has been announced by Ernest S. Marsh, president, Chicago.

Walker is a graduate of Wilson High School, Long Beach, class of '31. His mother, Mrs. Rhoda Walker, lives at 320 Granada Ave.

A general attorney in California for the railroad since 1948, Walker will succeed Leo E. Sievert, deceased.

the $50 million mark as of June 30, a 16.7% gain over year-end figures of 1961.

Martin announced that Union Federal Savings' more than 13,000 savers have received a total of $460,000 in dividend payments for the second quarter at the rate of 4¾%, which will continue for the third quarter ending Sept. 30.

"We anticipate that the last half of 1962 will show even more substantial gains due to the opening of our Orange County Regional Office in the Rossmoor Shopping Center of Los Alamitos," Martin said.

The Long Beach regional office is at 4512 Atlantic Ave. A new Orange County regional office soon will open at 12501 Los Alamitos Blvd., Rossmoor Shopping Center.

JOE CRAIL, president, Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association, announced a record $430,291,804 in savings as of June 30, an increase of $22,948,196 in a six month report issued by the association.

Crail emphasized that "Coast's leading position in providing security and availability to our savings account holders is demonstrated by our reserves of $38,067,399 and cash and bonds of $53,500,836."

The six month statement also reported the following assets — $526,290,162; and first mortgage real estate loans of $401,344,863.

Coast Federal Savings and Loan Association has an area office located in Long Beach at 200 E. Third St.

Calls for Minimum Lot Sizes

A near-record homebuilding year for Southern California in 1962 may hinge on continuation of a recent trend by cities to reduce their minimum lot size requirements, according to Joe H. McCormick, president of the Building Contractors Association of California.

He predicted Southland builders would construct more than 170,000 dwelling units this year "if our cities quickly adopt a more realistic attitude toward the housing needs and purchasing power of middle and lower income families."

SMALLER LOTS are the only means by which builders can effect substantial reductions in housing costs, McCormick asserted. He said only moderate savings could be gained from changes in building methods and materials without undermining structural soundness.

"Essentially, the cost of land dictates the price level of the house built on it," McCormick said.

He warned that the Los Angeles metropolitan area has reached a point in its development where it "can no longer enjoy the luxury of wasted land."

He called on Southland cities to examine the necessity for maintaining their minimum lot size requirements at present levels and to reduce them wherever possible.

McCormick emphasized that smaller lots do not necessarily result in a poorer grade of housing, noting that some of the finest homes in Southern California are on lots with 25 foot frontage on Balboa Island.

LET'S TALK "PRIDE"

We are proud indeed of Orange County's most recommended Homes...the beautiful Sol-Vista Luxury Series. We are also justly proud of each Sol-Vista community. Communities made up of discriminating buyers like yourselves. People who have purchased a Sol-Vista home because they have found it to be their best home value. It fits their family needs (and purse) and it's a wise investment. All these people take a great deal of pride in the appearance of their community they are helping to build. This wonderful pride of ownership is part of what you buy when choosing a Sol-Vista home. A fine community, friendly neighbors, excellent schools for your children, established convenient shopping for you...if these factors are important in your selection of a home, we cordially invite your inspection of Sol-Vista Luxury Series. We know you will like them.

Fashion Homes Offered in Two Sites

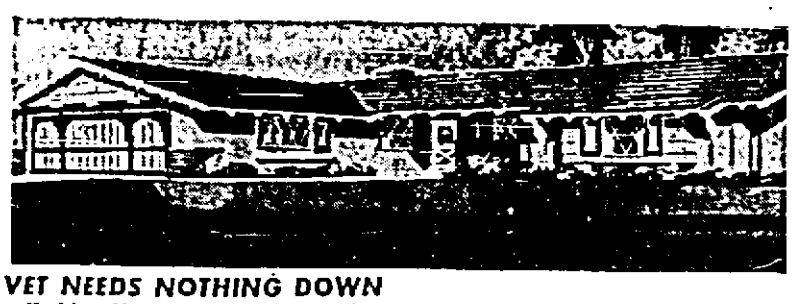

Fashion Homes are now available at two choice locations in Orange County, Garden Grove and Huntington Beach, according to builder-developer, Marvin Johnson.

Many different types of homes are available at the Garden Grove and Huntington Beach locations. There are 20 floor plans and five exteriors from which to choose, including Hawaiian, modern, ranch, Cape Cod and Early American.

• • • •

NO - DOWN - PAYMENT terms are available for veterans and liberal FHA terms also are available. FHA monthly payments are from $94.66 and prices are from $17,950 at Garden Grove. In Huntington Beach prices start at $18,600 with FHA monthly payments from $98.64.

Fashion Homes Huntington Beach is located on Sugar Ave. west of Hwy. 39. Garden Grove Homes are on Bolsa east of Hwy. 39.

VET NEEDS NOTHING DOWN

Fashion Homes, located in Huntington Beach and also in Garden Grove, offer many attractive models such as this. A veteran needs nothing down.

Captive Listeners to His Speech

FRANKLIN, Ky. (AP)—Kenneth L. Fleming likes to talk to his cows, and he has made it pay off. Fleming recently won his third prize in three years in a Future Farmers of America speaking contest.

Asked the secret of his success, Fleming said, "I practice my speeches while milking."

Bakery Firm to Occupy Plant at Buena Park

Cal-Ray Bakeries, Inc., Glendale has purchased the Venus Foods cookie plant in Buena Park and will move its operations to the new plant later this year, it has been announced.

Richard S. Sheehy, Cal-Ray general manager, said the transaction involves only the property and equipment of Venus Foods, a subsidiary of Nalley's, Inc., of Tacoma, Wash.

At Glendale, where the company has been operating in leased facilities, about 300 people are employed.

"Space will be available at Buena Park for special equipment needed for several new products," Sheehy said.

Location of Sol Vista Luxury Series of Home Is Appealing

A SOL VISTA HOME

Priced from $19,100, Sol Vista Luxury Series of homes are in a locale which has great appeal. Here is one of the many attractive models offered.

"Sol Vista Luxury Series homes, are located in one of the fastest growing areas in Southern California where the population surge is being matched with growth in industry. These communities are located at the heart of the Southern Playground area. They are within a relatively few minutes' drive of some of the finest beaches in the world. Mountain resorts or the desert areas are an hour or two away," says Irving Solomon, executive vice president of Alco-Pacific Construction Co., Inc., the builder.

In addition to location, Sol Vista offers the buyer quality construction and originality in design. One may choose from 23 exterior elevations and five floor plans. These homes have three and four bedrooms with two baths and are priced from $19,100 with minimum FHA down payment. VA terms—no down payment (except costs and impounds) Cal-Vet and conventional financing is also available.

• • • •

A MASSIVE brick or stone fireplace is included in every Sol Vista Home. Kitchens have all electric Frigidaire built-ins, natural grained ash cabinets. A Frigidaire dishwasher is also included.

Sol Vista Homes have hardwood floors throughout and have forced air heat.

Sol Vista is located on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) 3 miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. (Seventh St.) Model homes are also conveniently located in Santa Ana, on Sugar St., just west of Verano.

Seahaven Homes Reports Sales So Good Another Unit Is Open

PRICING BEGINS AT $13,950

Offered by Seahaven Homes is this model, the Sea Sprite, with two bedrooms, bath, living room, separate dining area, all-electric Westinghouse kitchen, two-car garage and many quality features unusual in a home in its price range. It is priced from $13,950.

The third Unit of Seahaven Homes has been opened 30 days early due to the demand for the homes," according to Jim Deane, of Deane Brothers, developers of the community in Huntington Beach.

"One hundred and forty-eight Seahaven Homes were sold in the first 30 days after the preview showing," Deane reported.

"Another interesting point is that many of the home buyers were not searching for a home but are beach lovers who stopped to view the models on impulse. After seeing the quality of the homes and finding out that veterans can move in for $89 with total monthly payments including taxes, as low as $59 or low FHA financing, these viewers, who had always wanted to live near the ocean, decided to purchase Seahaven Homes."

• • • •

SEAHAVEN OFFERS two, three, and four-bedroom models, each with a choice of three exterior designs, according to Deane. Each of the models offers its own unique features. However, all are equipped with Westinghouse All-Electric kitchens, double sinks, ceramic tile, hood and vent over ranges, two-car garages, and as the firm describes it, "a wonderful beach location that is air conditioned by nature."

Seahaven Homes are located just off Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39), two miles north of Pacific Coast Hwy (101) at the corner of Adams Blvd. and Buschard St. Directional signs will guide interested viewers to the furnished models which may be seen daily.

Huntington Village 10th Unit Is Open

SELLING FROM $17,150

Spacious living areas are one of many features of the three and four-bedroom, two-bath Huntington Village homes. They are selling from $17,150 with $395 down, plus costs.

Huntington Village, one of the most successful home developments in Orange County, enjoyed another week of crowds of home buyers attending the opening of unit 10 in the community of 1000 homes.

A Doyle and Shields development, with almost 1000 homes already occupied, it is one of the largest home communities in Orange County and is located in what the State Dept. of Finance has termed "the fastest growing community in all of California,"—the city of Huntington Beach.

The seaside village has expanded its borders from a tiny 4½ sq. miles to its present size of nearly 24 sq. miles. In 1960, the official population totaled about 11,500. By June 1 of this year, the population was estimated to be more than 27,000.

• • • •

DAN MYTINGER, sales manager for Doyle and Shields said: "We are pleased that we have contributed toward the growth of the city of Huntington Beach. Our relations with city officials have been more than cordial. Our building program for Huntington Village is by no means finished."

The three and four bedroom homes in unit 10 contain many new "wife-saving" features: RCA Whirlpool built-in range and oven, RCA dishwasher, wall-to-wall carpeting in living room, hall and master bedroom, central forced-air heat, slate entry, spacious family room, two baths and fireplace.

• • • •

PRICED FROM $17,150, and with down payments starting from $395 down, plus costs, Huntington Village homes are within the financial reach of practically anyone with a steady job, a spokesman said.

Several custom homes, priced from $23,950, are now available for public sale. The homes are located directly opposite Meadowlark Country Club, and offer "country-club" living at reasonable cost.

Huntington Village's newly redecorated model homes are open daily and are easily reached from the eastern Orange County area by driving south on Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) to Edinger, left on Edinger to Springdale, then south on Springdale a short distance to the model homes and ample parking lot. From the Long Beach area, drive east on Seventh St. to Golden West St., south to Edinger, west to Springdale, then south to the models.

Golden West Sales Group Is Rewarded

In recognition of their sales record, the Pageant Realty sales staff of Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach was treated to dinner recently at the Stuft Shirt in Newport Beach.

"We wanted to do something special to show our appreciation for their really fine efforts," said Jim McCarthy, vice-president of the McCarthy Co., builder-developers.

Sales at Golden West have now passed the 5000 mark and are proceeding into the eighth and final unit.

• • • •

LEADING all sales at the development is an unusual plan with two separate patios, one serving as an enclosed front entranceway while the other offers outdoor seclusion at the side. The garage in this plan may be converted into a poolside cabana simply by lifting the "boat door" in the rear wall.

Inside, the double patio home features a separate formal living room and a separate family room which is distinct from the dining area. A number of these homes, in varied exterior stylings, are ready for occupancy.

Priced from $17,800, the homes are offered with 5¼%, 35-year FHA terms featuring down payments from $875. Also available are GI no-down-payment terms and conventional financing with down payments from $695. Trade-ins are accepted.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via Seventh Street east to Golden West Street, then right to the models.

LAW IN THE NEWS

Courts Try to Heed Intent

The other day Smith made a lucky buy of Antibiotics, Inc., and he already was now becoming a rich man. His first 100 shares had grown to 20,000 shares.

His will left most of his estate to certain relatives, but he had a dear friend Suzie to whom he willed 200 shares of his stock. Soon afterward, Smith became ill and no longer could change his will. Just before he died, his stock split three for one.

Suzie claimed that she should get the additional shares of stock as the substance of her shares. The court agreed with Suzie, saying Smith meant to leave her the stock before it split. Since it did split, she should get the additional shares.

• • • •

AS A RULE, no will takes effect until the testator dies. He can change his will any time before he dies. Some terms of a will have no meaning because it has no effect until the person dies.

A person may say in his will that whatever he has in his safe deposit box will go to a nephew. When he signs his will he may have had much in the box. But at death, he may have taken most of it out. The nephew would get only what is in the box.

Likewise one could say that he leaves all his real property in the city to his son. When he dies without any, the gift is meaningless.

• • • •

IN ONE CASE, Jones willed the family home on Elm Street to his daughter. But Jones had sold the home and bought another home on Maple Street before he died. The court nevertheless awarded the daughter the Maple Street home since this was what the testator meant to do.

Our courts try to carry out the wishes of the will maker without violating the express written terms.

Now and then someone may make a settlement with his family or his heirs before death to take the place of the will provisions.

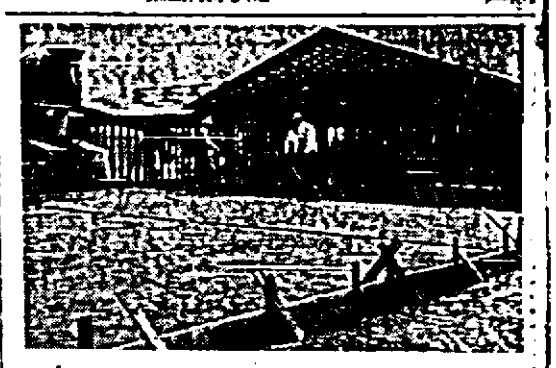

• • • •

A WILL expresses the testator's wishes. Things often change after he makes the will.

So review your will from time to time and see if it still expresses your desires for those who live on. And while you're at it, get a lawyer to scan it to see whether any changes in the tax laws may have affected the way you should pass the property on to your heirs.

Dividend Declared

The board of directors of Hoover Ball and Bearing Co., Ann Arbor, Mich., has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 15c per share, an extra cash dividend of 5c per share and a 2% stock dividend all payable July 31, 1962, to stockholders of record July 6, 1962.

MORE LAKEWOOD HOMES

The third unit of homes is under construction at Lakewood Manor, the walled community in the city of Lakewood. The three and four-bedroom homes have two baths and sell from $18,750 to $19,250, according to Ray K. Cherry, president of Hadley-Cherry, Inc., builders.

Astronics Division President Named

Appointment of Andrew F. Haiduck as president of the Santa Monica based Astronics Division of Lear Siegler, Inc., has been announced by John G. Brooks, chairman of the board.

Associated with the aviation industry since 1929, Haiduck joined Lear in 1948 as vice president and general manager of the Lear Romec Division at Elyria, Ohio. Since May 1961, he has been general manager of the Astronics Division.

Upswing Noted in Real Estate Field

Real estate activity both nationally and locally is on the upswing, according to James A. Edmonds Jr., president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors.

He cited membership gains of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and the local board during the first five months of the year as one of the factors indicating increased real estate activity.

"Through the end of May," he reported, "NAREB gained 1,332 new members for 1962 and now has a record membership total of 72,042 realtors. During the same period, the association gained 14 boards for another record total of 1,424."

The Long Beach Board of Realtors also is enjoying continuous membership gains, he noted. The board has an increased membership of 226 more than the first of the year.

• • • •

"MEMBERSHIP figures provide a good yardstick for activity in real estate, as well as in other fields," he asserted. "When conditions are good, membership usually rises, and when conditions are not good, membership frequently falls. This is particularly true on the national level."

Edmonds added that a recent survey of the real estate market by NAREB's Department of Research also shows increasing activity with more prospective home buyers looking for existing homes in well-established neighborhoods than was the case a year ago.

This survey found that more families are entering the real estate market with personal income and levels of employment on the rise.

Another factor which should contribute to increasing real estate activity is the ample supply of funds available for residential mortgages, Edmonds pointed out.

Big Orange Valley New Unit Opened

E-g Orange Valley Ranch Homes, located in North Orange, are again available with the opening of unit two, Sales Co., Inc., the sales agency announced.

Priced from $24,200, the homes may be purchased on FHA terms for as low as $2,505 down or on VA terms of nothing down.

In three or four-bedroom styling, the homes have great appeal. Included in features are hardwood floors, cedar closets, three large baths, mirror wardrobe doors, shake roofs and formal dining rooms.

• • • •

THE RANCH EXTERIORS have much stone and there are slate entries on the interior. The homes have double fireplaces, service porches, raised panel cabinets, custom light fixutres, family rooms luminous ceilings and step-down living rooms.

Each home is built on a lot with at least 8,000 square feet. All-electric Medallion kitchen will be found in each with the new deluxe Frigidaire "Flair" range, oven and dishwasher.

To view the homes, from Long Beach drive east on Katella Ave., from Los Alamitos, to Glassell, turn left and continue to the junction with Orange and Olive Road, continuing north on the latter to Shaffer, then turn right on Shaffer to Meats Ave. and the homes.

Named Director and Vice President

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, president of Cosmopolitan Underwriters, Inc., has announced appointment of Marvin D. Uritz as director and vice president of Cosmopolitan Underwriters, Inc.

Uritz continues in his position as general manager and a member of the board of governors of Cosmopolitan Insurance Exchange in Beverly Hills.

Resource Total Tops $4 Billion

For the first time in history, Security First National Bank's total resources at June 30, 1962, topped $4 billion, Lloyd L. Austin, chairman of the board, has disclosed.

Resources totaled $4,058,034,377, compared with $3,699,216,965 for the comparable period a year ago.

Also reaching record highs at the same date were loans and deposits.

Net operating earnings were $12,672,430 for the first six months of 1962, compared with $13,912,650 for the same 1961 period. This amounted to $1.77 per share, compared with $1.94 a year ago. The decline was 8.9%, but the comparable decline in the quarter ended March 31, 1962 was 12.4%.

• • • •

OTHER FIGURES from the bank's six months report include:

Loans, less reserves, $1,767,679,311 for June 1962, compared with $1,649,322,122 for June 30, 1961.

Integrated Housing Venture Launched

By JOHN F. McDONOUGH

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UPI)—A New England supermarket chain and 62 Rhode Island citizens and organizations are betting $7.5 million that integrated housing can be successful.

Even as Negroes shuttle through the city on their "Reverse Freedom Rides" to the north, plans are moving ahead to build an integrated apartment house complex in Providence.

The project will be located in what is known as the Lippitt Hill Redevelopment Area, abutting the fashionable and historic East Side . . . the home of Brown University.

• • • •

AND IT IS NOT too far from the city's Fox Point section where police dogs were used last fall to quell a disturbance in a non-white neighborhood.

The $7.5 million venture is being undertaken by the development firm of University Heights, Inc., which is made up of the chain store and the other parties. The store is a 50 per cent stockholder.

The corporation is affiliated with Modern Community Developers, Inc., of Princeton, N. J., which is guiding it on housing problems. The New Jersey firm was organized specifically to assist in development of integrated housing throughout the country.

• • • •

IRVING JAY FAIN, a director of Modern Community Developers and head of the Rhode Island corporation, said: "We propose to show that mixed housing is associated with the best of housing, the most imaginative. It is important to raise the public image of what racially integrated housing is."

The quest for an economic cross-section of tenants is obvious. The monthly rents for the garden apartments will run from $60 a month for efficiency units to $175 for three bedrooms.

Included in the project is a shopping center, a neighborhood public park, a school, a playground and about 460 apartments in two- and three-story structures arranged in clusters.

Fenced-in Boat Lot in Bolsa Park Home

Special fenced-in boat lots with a gate at the rear are offered to buyers of Bolsa Park homes in Huntington Beach, said sales director Ernie Merrill. Boats have access to the extra-wide lots by way of the gate and a 20-foot paved alley behind the homes. Besides room for boat storage, the lots include ample space for a swimming pool.

The homes are situated near the new Huntington Harbor facilities for small-boat enthusiasts.

Available is a popular 5-bedroom plan offering direct access from rear yard and pool area to the central shower bath. Designed as a single-story model with no stairs to climb, the plan includes a large living room, separate family room, ample dining room, and built-in efficiency kitchen.

• • • •

THE MASTER BEDROOM suite, which occupies a private wing of the home, includes master bath, large walk-in closet, and a separate wardrobe. Entrance to the home is through a front sun patio. A second, pool-sized patio is situated at the rear. Pricing is from $22,990.

Bolsa Park also offers four-bedroom homes priced from $19,500, and three-bedroom models from $19,250.

From Long Beach, the homes may be visited via Seventh St. (which becomes Garden Grove Blvd.) east to Bolsa Chica Road, turning right and continuing south 2 miles to models.

Bolsa Park offers 35-year, 5¼% FHA terms, VA no-down-payment terms, and 6% conventional terms.

'Rank' Deal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County auditor's office recorded a land transfer it said wasn't "major." In a "private" transaction, the record shows, one "Admiral Ross" transferred a lot to one "General L. Jones."

D. S. CONNELLY
Named Hunsaker Treasurer

Treasurer of Building Firm

After a recent board of director meeting of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, developers and builders of Sunshine homes, Richard C. Hunsaker, president, announced appointment of Daniel S. Connelly as treasurer.

Connelly is a graduate of the University of Minnesota with a degree of Bachelor of Business Administration and is a Certified Public Accountant.

As treasurer he will be responsible for the fiscal operations of the many subdivisions, apartment projects, and industrial developments ranging from Sacramento to and including Orange County.

Connelly resides in Claremont.

Registration Set for Realty Course

An expanded instruction program has been announced by the Barbara Moss College of Real Estate Knowledge at 500 E. Fourth St.

Registration for the five-week course will open at 7 p.m. Monday. Classes will be Mondays and Wednesdays, with guest privileges on registration night to hear a talk on "Your Future in Real Estate — Just What Is the License Law."

The California Real Estate Association, of which Miss Moss is a director, has been working toward legislation that would require more preparation toward state exams. She instructs at all classes.

TORRANCE — Alfred J. Cheak has been appointed assistant manager of the United California Bank office here, according to Frank L. King, chairman of the board.

A long time resident of Long Beach, Cheak has been in banking for his entire business career.

Mr. and Mrs. Cheak and their two children live at 4127 Walnut Ave., Long Beach.

All-New Unit Attracts in Garden Park Estates

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE
Garden Park Estates all-new unit, which is the "talk of the town" and the area, presents exciting new one and two-story luxury homes. Handsome living room pictured is in the two-story furnished model.

Quite literally, Garden Park Estates' all-new unit has become the "talk of the town" and the entire area, for with its opening, this walled "city-within a city" at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, presented a most comprehensive selection of floor plans.

Garden Park Estates' architects created a diverse selection of one and two-story contemporary and conventional exteriors, and a range of plans geared to the needs of families both small and large.

Buyers will find two-bath plans with two bedrooms and den (ideal for the family without children or for those whose families are grown), three and four bedrooms with family rooms and dining areas and two-story residences with five bedrooms and a family room.

• • • •

THESE TWO-STORY five-bedroom plans are designed for the really large family. Planned for the maximum of privacy and pleasant communal living, there are three bedroms and a bath on the second floor where the master bedroom has its own fireplace.

The first floor entry hall serves to completely separate the other two bedrooms from the zones of noise and activity so that they form a "sleep wing" at one side of the house. At the other side of the entry hall is the appliance equipped kitchen which commands a view of the entry and front walk, and the dining room. Overlooking the rear garden, are the living room and adjoining family room. Both share the pleasure of the living room's fireplace.

• • • •

ALL OF THESE homes have decor-keyed fireplaces, and the two-story dwellings boast two. There are sliding glass doors to the patio area, and the homes have the all-year comfort of forced-air heating with summer cooling switch. Baths are attractively appointed with pullman lavatories, imported Italian tile and colored plumbing fixtures.

Kitchens are equipped with built-in color-matched range and gas wall oven, semi-automatic dishwasher, matching hood with fan and light and superamic tile countertops.

These homes are available on popular "four-way" financing with veterans terms of nothing down, except impounds and closing costs; or Cal-Vet loans; good conventional terms and choice of 30 and 35-year FHA financing. Full prices are from $17,800.

Furnished models are reached from Long Beach by driving east on Seventh St. to Knott Ave.

Wins Contracts on Hospital Fixtures

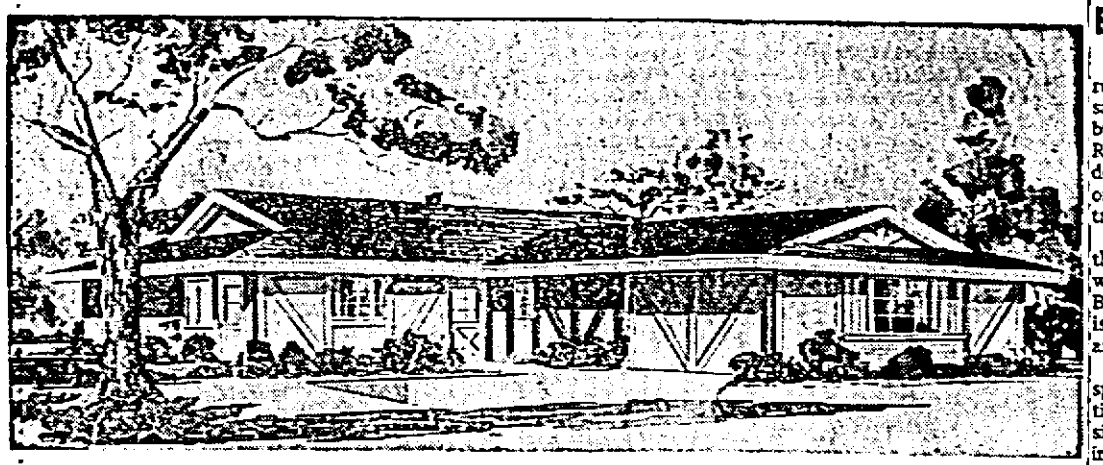

COMPTON — Vendaversal Manufacturing Corp., producer of automatic merchandising equipment, announced that its recently formed Hospital Equipment Division has been awarded $175,000 in new contracts.

With a new line of hospital room furnishings, and several advanced automatic merchandising products, the business outlook for the first half of 1962 is excellent, it was stated by J. T. Willoughby, president. Corporate sales volume in this period is expected to exceed $1,000,000, he indicated, and since much of the product development work has been completed, the earnings picture should be favorable.

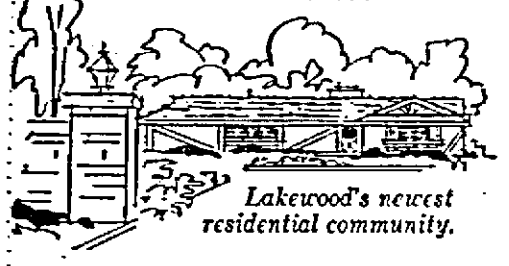

The Hospital Equipment Division's contract awards consisted of an order for 577 motorized hospital beds and 459 overbed tables for County of Los Angeles Hospitals, and an order for 235 overbed tables for Orange County hospitals.

Vendaversal also manufactures canned soft drink vending machines, a hit record vendor, Insurance policy vendors, and a machine for rapid chemical cleaning of automobile and aircraft engines. Research, development and manufacturing activities are centered in the firm's modern 74,000-square-foot facility in Compton.

Income Survey Puts Orange County at Top

Orange County leads 14 Southern counties in median family income with an average of $7,219, according to the monthly business summary released by the research department of Security First National Bank.

Median income is the level exceeded by exactly one-half of the families.

Orange County also led in percentage improvement during the 10-year period since 1949. Los Angeles County maintained its second place position, with $7,046.

• • •

HALF OF THE state's nearly four million families reported annual incomes topping $6,700 in 1959, according to information the Bureau of Census obtained in the 1960 census.

In median family income, California ranked fifth among states as follows:

Alaska	$7,396
Connecticut	6,857
New Jersey	6,756
Nevada	6,736
California	6,726

Statistics disclosed that counties with large urban areas tend to have higher incomes than the predominantly agricultural counties. The survey theorized that this was caused by two factors: 1. Lower participation in the labor force by women living in rural areas; 2. Farm income generally is lower than income from non-agricultural occupations.

• • • •

STATEWIDE, median income of urban families was $6,550, compared to $5,161 for farm families.

However, it was emphasized that the survey did not take into account the fact many farm families receive an important part of their incomes in the form of free housing and of goods produced and consumed on the farms.

If non-money items were added to the median income figure, California's farm families no doubt would show more comparable incomes, it was noted.

California farmers generally are much more prosperous than the typical U.S. farmer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA had 48,370 families whose 1959 incomes were at least $25,000 a year.

Of these, 35,001 lived in Los Angeles County and 3,065 in Orange County.

The following table of counties shows percentage of distribution of families by size of annual income in 1959:

	$5,000 to $7,499	$7,500 to $9,999	$10,000 & over
Fresno	22%	10%	4%
Imperial	22	10	4
Kern	23	11	5
Kings	23	11	5
Los Angeles	23	12	6
Orange	23	12	6
Riverside	23	11	5
San Bernardino	23	11	5
San Diego	23	12	6
San Luis Obispo	23	11	5
Santa Barbara	23	12	6
Tulare	22	10	4
Ventura	23	12	6

Percentages not listed were of families below $5,000 income.

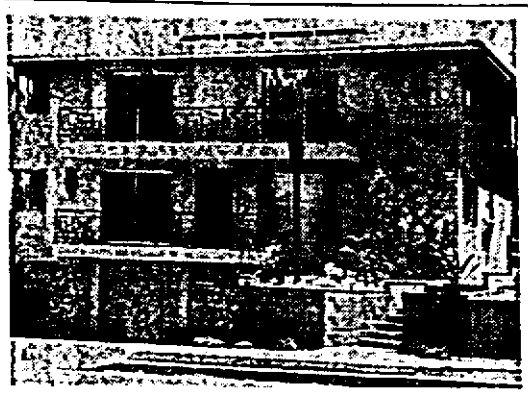

A factor which has played an important role in America's rising middle class is the increase of women (particularly married women) in the labor force.

• • • •

THE CENSUS REPORT revealed that, in 1940, 26 per cent of California's feminine population over 14 years of age was in the labor force. By 1960, this figure had jumped to 36 per cent.

The report credited the Southland area with 733,510 working wives in 1960, meaning that one out of every three wives here contributes to family income. Ten years ago, one out of four made a similar contribution.

By 1970, Security estimated, more than half of the nation's families will depend on at least two paychecks for their standard of living.

ANOTHER BY McKENZIE

Open house will be held today for the Crown Imperial, own-your-own apartments at 2204 E. First St. This is the newest development by Paul McKenzie, builder-developer, and brings to 280 the number of apartments he has built here. One and two-bedroom units are offered.

Distributor in Expansion

Increased sales volume brought about by Southern California's population growth has led Bohemian Distributing Co. to greatly expand its services to dealers, according to Frank Vitale, president.

New Norwalk Building to Be Ready July 15

The first phase of Norwalk's new ultra modern professional building is nearing completion at 12340 Firestone Blvd.

Jack Gorham, owner, announced that nine air conditioned, sound proofed offices will be ready for occupancy before July 15. The office spaces range in size upwards from 312 square feet.

All offices are on the ground floor and open onto a tropical patio. There is a 10,500 square feet paved, floodlighted and fenced parking area.

Plans call for the construction of another building with nine more offices following occupancy of this present facility.

Two Natural Gas Wells Flowing OK

Santa Fe Drilling Company, as operator, has announced completion of two natural gas wells in the Sutter-Buttes west field, in a joint venture with Buttes Gas & Oil Company and G. Randolph Scott.

Well No. 32, in the western area, flowed at a rate of 1,800,000 cubic feet per day, and well No. 33, on Community No. 1 lease, was flowing at a rate of 9,500,000 cubic feet per day. Well No. 35, drilled to a total depth of 7,261 feet, was plugged and abandoned as a dry hole.

'Displaced' Families Seen as Housing Market Stimulant

Families displaced by urban renewal, highway construction, and a wide range of public works will be a growing force in the housing market over the next decade, predicts James A. Edmonds, Jr., president of the Long Beach Board of Realtors.

"With some 1,000 renewal projects planned or under way in more than 500 cities along with expanding highway and public works programs, there will be a major increase in residential displacement over the next decade," he said. "This presents the real estate industry both a responsibility and an opportunity to improve the housing of an important segment of the population. The largest single source of relocation housing must be the existing inventory of sound residential structures, a large portion of which need modernization to provide desirable living accommodations."

He asserted that the real estate industry can meet this need with improved financing aids now available under the Federal Housing Administration if brokers, builders, modernizers and lending institutions will be alert to the new market and cooperate with renewal agencies in planning private relocation housing.

Trend Mixed in GI Loans

There was mixed GI loan activity during May, Mort Webster, manager of VA's Southern California regional office, has reported.

The May total showed 902 VA starts as compared to 1,075 for April. Applications for home loan guaranty totaled 1,722 while the April figure was 1,442.

Appraisal requests for new units were down with the May total at 1,829. The April total was 2,122. Requests for appraisals of existing units jumped in May to 1,307 as against 1,079 for April. All categories were up sizeably over the May figures one year ago.

Competition Keen, But Fun Parks Still Big Business

As schools shut down for the summer, says Business Week magazine, some 700 permanent amusement parks and kiddielands launch their annual struggle to capture the pennies, nickels and dimes of the nation's small and not-so-small fry.

Though the gross annual income for the amusement park business as a whole has remained fairly constant at about $300 million, intramural competition gets more aggressive every year.

Toughest competition has arisen in the feud between the new historical "theme" parks," such as Disneyland and Freedomland, the old-style amusement centers such as Palisades Park and Coney Island.

In fact, the battle for customers became so hot that many experts in the trade predicted total eclipse for the traditional parks.

Despite these predictions, observes Business Week, many of the longer established amusement parks, such as Coney Island's Steeplechase Park, are successfully weathering the storm.

A New Boom Seen in Housing Restoration

ANAHEIM—The new FHA home improvement loans will increase the nation's construction business by four or five billion dollars within the next five years, according to Dr. Robert C. Weaver, housing administrator.

"But more important," said Guy Boschke, administrator of the American Home Modernizing Institute, "the money spent for rehabilitation and conservation will restore $20 billion of blighted dwellings to livability."

Boschke said 30 per cent of the dwellings in California —despite the rapid suburban growth — are more than 30 years old.

• • • •

"THERE ARE ONLY two choices," Boschke said: "Restore them through pride and private enterprise or hand them over to the local government through urban renewal."

"An investment of pride and private enterprise can restore most of these blighted areas at a fraction of urban renewal cost," he said.

The American Home Modernizing Institute, located at 300 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim, is a research center and training school for remodeling and modernizing contractors.

What's Out-- and IN for Fall

. . . I, P-T to Cover Fashion Showings

By MARY ELLIS
I. P-T Fashion Editor

NEW YORK—Fashion designers are throwing a few curves for fall.

QUITE a few, in fact. After tossing a number of fouls (i.e. chemises, cocoons, trapezes), they're back on good fashion basis with lines and curves that promise to make a hit.

The anatomy of the woman, it seems, rules the fashion designers' thinking for fall.

At least, that's the prediction here in the hustle and bustle of New York's Seventh Avenue as 250 fashion editors from hither and yonsville get set for a busy week of notetaking.

It's the 39th semi-annual fashion Press Week sponsored by the New York Group. Illustrated stories will appear in the I. P-T daily, beginning Tuesday, as the week-long fashion extravaganza unfolds.

* * * *

A BIT of pre-show snooping indicates that almost any fashion "mood" will fit the new season. Three seem apparent:

One, a precisely skinned-down mood with every hair in place;

Another, muffled, bloused, wrapped and dashing;

And the third, a natural outline with bias cut, wide sleeves and full skirt as soft and ample as a classic Greek costume or a friar's habit.

Most important, whatever the mood: the natural lines and curves of the body have become the focus.

"The figure is no longer encased in a cocoon, a capsule or a free form shape," say members of the New York Couture Group.

All of which should bring hoorays and hooplas from the female cheering section.

Male, too!

NEW LOOK FOR FALL . . . Davidow's blue suit of flecked boucle tweed with pussy cat bow. Fabric of wool and orlon drapes into soft skirt folds, easy lines.

Courtship, Typhoon Style

A Romance Bloomed in Monsoon Climate

By MARY NETH

It's easy to snag a tall, dark, handsome husband.

Just take up quarters in a quonset hut on a humid tropic isle, live through a couple years of typhoons and monsoons plus water shortages, electrical blackouts and work, Work, WORK.

That's the sure-fire formula.

At least, it was for Mrs. Leo Goodman-Malamuth, assistant to the dean at Long Beach City College.

She met her husband (now chairman of the Speech Department, Long Beach State College) eight years ago on Okinawa.

Come September both will take a second look at that then-bleak island. The occasion? First stop on a long yearned-for, year-long globe circling Sabbatical.

• • • •

THE TEACHER twosome will spend the fall in the Orient, visiting — besides Okinawa — India, Hong Kong, Japan and Thailand. Then, they'll head for Europe where they'll holiday with his son.

With the 12-year-old offspring back in Swiss school, they'll be off again, this time for by-auto look at the Occident.

"It'll be a marvelous trip," says Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth. "Most of all, I'm eager to see Okinawa. I've heard it has gone modern—new buildings, new business."

That wasn't the case in 1954 when the Goodman-Malamuths met. At that time the war-torn island still was limping along on a broken economy.

Then, Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth was Miss Margaret Pagelow, one of 290 civilian women stationed at the U.S. Air Base at Naha, Okinawa's capital.

Her job: education director. Her pupils: high-flying airmen taking down-to-earth courses (USC extension classes, USAFI correspondent work, etc.).

• • • •

GOODMAN - Malamuth, also a government teacher, had been stationed in Japan and Korea for three years before being assigned to Okinawa.

He didn't stay long—just long enough to set the wedding date. And, it was his slim, brunette bride-to-be who took care of publicity announcing his arrival.

"When I pinned up those "Meet the Prof" posters, I had no idea they were pictures of the man I was to marry," she says.

The courtship went in a typical island typhoon fashion. The couple went together for eight weeks, then following his reassignment to Korea, continued by ham radio until their marriage four months later in Tokyo.

A separation of six months followed while both completed teaching assignments, he in Korea, she on Okinawa.

• • • •

HER ISLAND life? "Living conditions were primitive," she says.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Goodman-Malamuth

There was a housing shortage (home was a quonset hut), a shortage of off-duty recreation (golf was about the only thing offered) and a shortage of water (great after a day on the links).

The climate? Highly humid. Result: one stayed uncomfortably warm and sticky around the clock.

And typhoon mess kits were a must. When those tropical cyclones hit (winds up to 150 miles an hour), it paid to be prepared.

"Sometimes, there was no electricity for two or three days and telephones for two or three months afterwards."

But, all wasn't bad on Okinawa. There were some nice things, too.

"The sunsets were the most beautiful in the world, the natives were friendly and I had a full-time personal maid for only $12.50 a month," she says.

And, of course, had Mrs. Goodman-Malamuth not been, for a time, a non-native Okinawan, she might never have been island wooed and wed by husband Leo.

Dildays Are on Seattle Trip

A friendship which began in second grade and flowered into romance during Poly High School days culminated in the marriage July 1 of Lenell Marie Bainum and Robert Burr Dilday.

First Baptist Church was setting for the afternoon marriage ceremony witnessed by 500 guests. A reception followed at Long Beach Yacht Club.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bainum, 3645 Weston Place, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie fashioned with sculptured neckline of Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls and sequins. The empire waistline was accented by a single satin rose defining a bouffant skirt.

Adding contrast to the bride's white attire were the lavender gowns with purple accents worn by her attendants: Terry Bell, maid of honor; Joyce Airth, Pam Dilday, Velma Bainum and Francine Caldwell, bridesmaids; Cindy Dilday, junior bridesmaid. Lori Doyle was flower girl and candles were lighted by Dan and Jimmy Dilday.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dilday, 3845 Pacific Ave., asked Joe Calwell to attend as best man. Guests were shown to their places by Jim Decker, Jack Dilday Jr., Toby Jarvis, and the bridegroom's brother, Decatur Dilday. Randy Dilday was junior usher.

The newlyweds will be at home in Long Beach after a honeymoon visit to the Seattle Worlds Fair.

Mrs. Dilday is a student at Long Beach State College where her sorority affiliation is Alpha Phi. She was recipient of the Gold L while a student at Poly.

Mrs. Robert Burr Dilday

The bridegroom is an alumnus of California College of Mortuary Science. He now is studying at LBSC where he is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon pledge. He is a member of Queen Beach Lodge, Masons.

Pair Sets September Nuptials

Sept. 3 has been chosen for the wedding of Charlotte G. Sanger to Bernard G. Bryson, son of William H. Bryson, 917 Bennett Ave. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sanger of Frazier Park.

The couple's bethrothal was revealed with the traditional offering of chocolates at Chilcott Hall, Miss Sanger's dormitory at Occidental College. The bride-elect has attended Oxy for two years.

Bryson, an alumnus of Wilson High, was graduated last month from Long Beach State College, receiving his bachelor of science degree in engineering. While at LBSC, he received the Outstanding Engineer Service Award, was president of the California Society of Professional Engineers, and member of the Engineering Student Body Council and Civil Engineering Club.

Judith Kathleen Flynn

Sue Ellen Dikeman

Sue Ann Hidlebaugh

Wedding Plans Are Revealed by Misses Flynn, Dikeman, Hidlebaugh

Dr. and Mrs. George T. Flynn, Santa Barbara, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith Kathleen, to James Roger Senske, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Senske, Long Beach.

The bride is working toward her B.S. degree in bacteriology at Mount St. Mary's College in Los Angeles. Her fiance, a graduate of St. Anthony's High School, received his B.A. in history at Loyola University, Los Angeles, and currently is stationed with the National Guard at Fort Ord. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epilon.

The wedding will take place in June, 1963.

Dikeman-Nolleman

At a luncheon for the faculty of Hilltop High School, Chula Vista, Sue Ellen Dikeman revealed her forthcoming marriage to Lt. (j.g.) Jerald Avery Holleman.

Miss Dikeman is the daughter of Mrs. Geneva Safford Dikeman, Long Beach, and the late Mr. Clifford Stephen Dikeman. She is a graduate of Wilson High School and Long Beach State College and qualified for her secondary teaching credential at UCLA. She is now a teacher at Hilltop High School.

Her fiance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Avery Bryant Holleman of Raleigh, N. C. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem, N. C. and now is stationed with the Air Force at North Island Naval Air Station, Coronado. His affiliations include Pi Kappa Alpha.

After their marriage on Aug. 25 the couple will reside on Coronado Island.

Hidlebaugh-Perry

Aug. 4 has been chosen as their wedding date by William Oliver Perry, both of Long Beach.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Hidlebaugh, Cucamonga. She was graduated from Woodbury College, Los Angeles, where she majored in interior decorating.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. William Albert Perry of Miami, Fla., and the late Mrs. Dorothea Perry, is a graduate of Columbia Military Academy in Columbia, Tenn., and of Long Beach City College. He received his B. A. in psychology at UCLA and served four years in the U.S. Navy. He now is a member of the Long Beach Police Department, assigned to the Juvenile Division.

Establish a Curfew and Make It Stick

Dear Molly Mayfield

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I'm the poor mother in a dilemma with a daughter. It's that usual quandary: When should a date terminate?

When my daughter says "everybody does," I don't want to be the stick-in-the-mud, but do you actually think coming home at midnight and then into the house to chat is proper?

My husband and I have to get our sleep, but that's a mere matter in comparison to her getting her sleep.

We feel that midnight is plenty late for a girl of 15 to date. We set the curfew definitely but a word from you would help tremendously.—SLEEPY MOM

DEAR SLEEPY MOM:

I have talked with parents of 15-year-olds and they think midnight is a generous hour. In fact, some think 11 p.m. is late enough for a girl her age to date. Later you can lengthen the time, but for now stick with your curfew. So few have the sense to.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Our baby-sitter steals. We've had her as a regular sitter for almost a year. She seems especially reliable and careful with her young charges. But it looks like she's a petty thief.

During the summer she has been working in a discount house and so one day out shopping I decided to give her some business. She gave me the business!

For there on her arm was a bracelet just like mine. I would have thought nothing of it except that she seemed so flushed, so embarrassed and fussed.

When I returned home I looked in my jewelry box and, sure enough, no bracelet. I decided not to ask her about it but give her time to return it. It has not returned.

Now, suspicious like, I have been watching her carefully and found last time she was here that money was missing from a coin purse I left purposefully. Perhaps I really should speak to her.—DISTRESSED

DEAR DISTRESSED:

By all means, speak to her. Unless she is discouraged now with her stealing she may go on to higher brackets than bracelets and small change. And you're the one to make the change in her.

Check her now or you'll be party to short-changing her life.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Parents are the biggest problems we juveniles have. I don't approve of them—any of them.

I'm 15 and I know the difference between good parents and bad parents and I don't know any good parents.

Mine play cards for a front, but when I peeked in at them there was Mother sitting with another woman's husband. They weren't just talking. They were petting and drinking.

Parents like mine make me sick. Do you suppose it would help if I discussed this with their parents?—JULIE

DEAR JULIE:

Parents can be difficult. If the picture you paint is true, go to your grandparents. They may have the influence that is desperately needed now. If you ever run into a social worker, tell him. There are laws for unfit parents.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Once and for all, is it proper in this day for a young man to sit outside his girl's home and HONK? Oh, I know he's fond of that horn. But I'm not. In fact, I shall refuse to allow my daughter out until he comes to the door if you say so. —MRS. B.H.

DEAR MRS. B.H.:

I say so. As loud as I can. And I'd tell the boy how rude he is.—M.M.

Mrs. Jack E. Hall

Mrs. William C. Jaques

Names Linked in Nuptial Services

Janice Marie Choura and Jack E. Hall exchanged wedding vows in Lakewood Village Community Church before the Rev. Walter Benson. The couple is at home in Long Beach after honeymooning in Carmel and San Francisco.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. John Choura Jr. and the Clifford Halls, all of this city.

The new Mrs. Hall was graduated from Lakewood High School. She attended UC, Berkeley, and LBCC and plans to continue her studies at Long Beach State College.

Her bridegroom is an alumnus of Millikan and LBCC. He will attend USC in the fall.

The bridal entourage included Susan Choura, maid of honor for her sister; Sharrie Sanden of Santa Ana, Ginger McCauly of Fullerton, Penny Poulton of Salinas, Carol Russell of Berkeley, and Debbi Choura sister of the bride, who was flower girl.

The bridegroom chose Roger Erickson as his best man. Ushers were Keith Wandrey, Erle Kelly, Larry Kline, and Glenn Lowes, all of this city.

Jaques-Eagle

Monterey and Carmel were honeymoon destinations of newly married Mr. and Mrs. William C. Jaques (Janice E. Eagle). The couple was wed in evening services in St. Luke Lutheran Church before 270 guests.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Eagle, 6040 California Ave., wore a formal sheath of silk peau de sole and lace. She was attended by Chery Eagle, maid of honor; Ann Miller and Mmes. Ronald Yanover, Michael Murphy, and William Omo. Flower girls were Diane Eagle and Margie Nickerson.

Richard Wurth stood as best man, while guests were seated by Gordon Pearson, Ronald Yanover, Bill Blakely, and Jerry Thompson.

Both newlyweds are graduates of Jordan High School. The bridegroom, who attended both LBCC and LBSC, will enter the USC School of Dentistry in September. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Jaques, 470 E. Louise St.

July Date for Wedding

July 21 wedding plans shared by their daughter, Jeanice Ellen, and Gary Dwayne Davis were revealed by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Elbert Clinton at a recent gathering in their Seal Beach home.

The wedding will take place in St. Ann's Church, Seal Beach.

The betrothed pair met while both were students at Orange Coast College, Costa Mesa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd L. Davis, Huntington Beach.

Hallinan-Baker Say Vows

In late afternoon ceremony at Atlantic Avenue Methodist Church the marriage of Lois Helen Baker and Robert Neville Hallinan was solemnized recently before 275 guests. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Baker, 3900 Lemon Ave.

She chose a gown of organza with Chantilly lace panels, its neckline embroidered with pearls, and its bouffant skirt falling into a chapel train. Her illusion veil was held with a crown of lace and pearls, and the cascade bouquet was of orchids.

Gold hued chiffon was worn by Carolyn McCulloch, maid of honor, and Mmes. Ralph Irwin, Phil Clock and Melvin Rowan, attendants. Miss McCulloch was the bride's Stanford roommate and they toured Europe together.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Thomas Hallinan of Long Beach and the late Mr. Hallinan, had David Keen as best man. Ushering guests were Robert E. Baker, brother of the bride, Don K. Wells, Charles Sherman III and Robert Swenson.

A GARDEN reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Following a honeymoon in San Diego and Las Vegas the newlyweds will be at home July 14 at 3642 Weston Place.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hallinan were graduated from Polytechnic High School. He attended Long Beach City College and U of Arizona, and served three years in the U. S. Air Force. The bride attended Stanford University where she was chosen the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, and is an alumna of Long Beach State College. She teaches at Bret Harte Elementary School.

Karen Kagy Joins Brides

Mrs. John Barbe

Karen Marie Kagy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Kagy, 5541 La Pasada St., became the bride of Lt. (j.g.) John Alfred Barbe, USN, in an afternoon ceremony at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with short sleeves and rounded neckline appliqued with sequins and pearls. A crown of crystals held her fingertip length veil and she completed her costume with a single strand of pears, gift of the bridegroom.

Linda C. Kagy was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Ann Roberson, Diana Miller and the bridegroom's sister, Kathleen Barbe.

A RECEPTION followed at the home of the bride's parents from which the newlyweds departed on a Las Vegas honeymoon. They will reside in San Diego where the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Barbe, Wellington, Ohio, is stationed aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard. He is a graduate of Purdue University where he affiliated with Triangle.

Mrs. Barbe was graduated from Polytechnic High School and Long Beach State College as a home economics major. She relinquishes membership in Bachelorettes with her marriage.

Play, Hope for the Best

It is not easy to decide when to violate the second hand low rule and play a high card from dummy, but you should consider doing this any time dummy holds a doubleton or tripleton honor will be of no value if honor will be or no value if you don't play it right away, you should play it and hope for the best.

Usually that honor will be the king, queen or jack, but on occasion you should rise with a ten spot.

With 13 high card points and two apparent stoppers in the unbid suit, South had a sound jump to two no-trump and, needless to say, North's raise to game was correct.

• • • •

WEST opened the seven of spades and South noted that if West had led from the ace his two spade stoppers might be reduced to one stopper only.

He also noted that dummy's ten spot might prove of great value to him if used right away and he played second hand high.

When the ten spot held the trick, South was back to two stoppers. He came to his hand with a diamond and tried the club finesse. It lost but the loss did not hurt South. He was sure of 10 tricks.

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

They are "visiting" us on the world trip which will exentually return them to their current home in Manila, P.I. Before arrival here they visited Hong Kong, Tokyo, Alaska, stopped off at the fair in Seattle, took a swing through Denver to visit daughter and son-in-law, Charmaine and Tom Trimble, and grandson Allan.

Al, widely known in the oil business here, has been in Manila for over three years serving as a geologist. He was severely injured in an automobile accident a while back but he's well recovered now, looks great. So does Jimmie. One reason may be that at home in Manila she has a girl to do the washing and ironing; a girl to do the cleaning; a girl to do the shopping and cooking; AND a houseboy who also serves as chauffeur.

The Carreys are staying in their home while here which Jimmie's sister, Muriel Merwin, is occupying during their tour of duty overseas.

Greatest opportunity for the visitors to meet the whole old gang was when Auxiliary to Children's Memorial Hospital had a just-for-fun party cruise aboard the Princess. Jimmie was one of the co-founders of the auxiliary so this occasion truly was a memorable for her.

• • • •

A NUMBER of fortunate witnesses have mentioned that Norma and John Craig's summer cocktail and buffet party was basis for a big, grand and beautiful evening.

• • • •

UP THERE where the sun and the horizon have a cozy thing going for each other each midnight . . . Alaska, by name . . . are Marilyn and Doug Graham. This snowfari is strictly a pleasure trip with part of the time to be spent taking the inland cruise up the coast from Seattle.

ALL WORK and no play, y'know . . . so they played, those diligent provisionals of Junior League, at a cocktail buffet dinner at Betty and Dr. Bob Buffum's ocean-front home. A couples party, it gave husbands of the new "pledge class" an opportunity to become better acquainted, too. Martha and John Tylicki planned the affair, were given aid and committee type comfort by Dorothy and Paul Wheeler and Patti and Walt Landis.

• • • •

A PLEASE-join-us date for cocktails and dinner has been set by Ellen and Ted Krec for next Saturday night. A few of those who said we'd love to are Ruth and Don Driscoll, Joy and Dr. John Cantelon, Betty and Carrol Gewin, Wilma Hastings, Elaine and Jack Kirschke, Pat and Jimmy Allen and Ardyce and Hansel Nowling. Ah, yes . . . a good group.

HAWAII IS practically a commuting run anymore for Loyse and Bob White. He jetted over last Sunday as major domo in charge of the first surfing safari originating here. He'll return today to get everything set for another such jaunt in August.

Loyse and the boys were to meet him at their home on Kauai. Last month when they were over Bob was telling me that they found a wallet packed with green stuff one night at the Hawaiian Village, which they turned over, true Boy Scout style, to the desk and which was claimed minutes later by grateful tourists from Ohio. That same night they went to visit friends at the Royal Hawaiian and, as if touched by some kind of Fort Knox magic, darned if they didn't find another chunk of money, this time just seven dollars, in bills in the middle of the street. True blue again. This time they turned the loot over to a newspaper reporting type friend. Heavens only knows what happened to it after that!

• • • •

THE HOST AND hostess have their work cut out for them, believe me they do, when they entertain members of Passe Partout, a gourmet eating, wine tasting bunch. Last week it was Liz and Sandy Lucas' turn to be working hosts.

Now, this crowd doesn't just come for dinner. It's an all day affair beginning before lunch and going on through the evening, with carefully prepared food and snacks the order of the hour, on the hour almost.

Among those who sipped and tasted, rolled their eyes heavenward and pronounced it excellent, were Reba and Walt Masters, Marie and Fred Sander, Murial and Max Briney, John Celano and Lois Roher.

BOBBING around on their boats at Catalina last weekend was the only way to go for a sizable number of our town's mariners. Taking the sun at Avalon were Mary Jane and Bob Parke, Betty Lou and "Dutch" Krutzfeldt, Earl Sullivan and Ed Abercrombie aboard Sully's boat, Marion and Don Locke, Frances and Henry Clock, Dr. Julian Knutson and Mel Marsh on Mel's boat and Ruth and Dr. Fred Jensen.

Meanwhile, down at the Isthmus a few of those floating peacefully were Eleanor and Jim Foasberg, Dolly and Luke Corzine, Peg and Steve Martin and Mary Alice and Les Dahl.

HOUSEGUESTING with Marilyn and Jim Crooker have been vacation-bound Vi and Wayne Compton, who arrived Tuesday from Phoenix. They're now continuing their travels up the coast with stopovers in Carmel, San Francisco, Seattle and then on into Canada, on the agenda.

The hosts haven't exactly been staying put so far this summer, either. They flew over to Las Vegas, before that Carmel, with all manner of prior and between little sidetrips. One good thing about their Las Vegas trip: on their return it gave them a ready made tip on a horse to put their money on at Hollywood Park. It just came naturally to bet on "Bandit" and this time they won!

'WHO'S IS THIS?'

DEAR ABBY

Feels Need for Confession

DEAR ABBY: If a husband and wife tried for years to have a child and they failed, and they went to several doctors who all agreed there was nothing wrong with either of them, and if the wife stepped out and got in a family way and had a strong, healthy boy who the husband thought was his, should the husband and son be told? The boy is now a senior in high school and we love him more than anything on this earth. This has been on my conscience for 17 years. They say that confession is good for the soul.—MOTHER

ABBY

DEAR MOTHER: If you feel the need to confess, confess to your clergyman. Telling your husband and son would serve no purpose.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother-in-law. She refuses to be called "Grandma." She wants to be called "Mamma"—which is what my children call ME!

My own mother doesn't mind being called "Grandma." How can you explain this to small children that they are both grandmothers, but one should be called "Mamma"? I don't want to stir up trouble but don't know how to avoid it. The grandmother who thinks she is too young to be called "Grandma" is in her fifties. My own mother is in her late forties.—IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: No grandmother should insist on being called "Mamma." Tell your children to call her "Grandma Mary" (or whatever her name is) if she feels that being called "Grandma" ages her.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have an extremely sensitive 12-year-old daughter. She is very big for her age, and from the number of times she has heard it from adults who should know better, she certainly knows it by now. Her father is big (6 ft. 4) and I am big (5 ft. 11), so where would we get a small child? This child has been hurt badly when grown-ups see her for the first time and say, "My, she's big for her age!" Please print this for people who need to be told. There are so many of them.—JUST A MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for calling this to my attention. I probably have been an offender without realizing it. And while we're on the subject—the same goes for thoughtless adults who say, "My isn't he SMALL for his age?"

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO RUBE: You are certainly "broad-minded." (No pun intended). Settle out of court, if possible.

Reps at Mexico City Meet

Six local members of the American Association of University Women are in Mexico City for the 14th conference of International Federation of University Women. Thirty-nine countries will be represented by the 750 delegates expected at the conference Monday through July 20.

Mmes. Holmes and Barr will represent the South Pacific Region as public relations assistants at the IFUW caucus.

"Tradition and Modern Life: Latin America's Contribution" is the theme of the 12-day session and special interest groups. The formal opening reception will be given by the Mexican Assn.

• • • •

ONE OF the convention highlights for local representatives will be a reception-meeting with the U. S. ambassador to Mexico, Thomas C. Mann. Speakers will include Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, secretary for public education in Mexico; Senora Amelia de Castello Ledon, under-secretary for education and cultural affairs, and Dr. Ignacio Chavez, rector of the University of Mexico.

Special interest sessions will deal with arts, social work, philosophy, education, medicine, industry, and government as related to the conference theme.

Mrs. Ronald Snelgrove

Couples Exchange Vows in Mid-Summer Ceremonies

Formal military services in Long Beach Naval Station chapel united in marriage Nancy Ellen Hetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hetts of 3845 Studebaker Road, and Lt. (jg) Wayne N. Rauch.

The bride is an alumna of Polytechnic High School and Long Beach State College. A member of Delta Zeta at LBSC, she has been a kindergarten teacher at Patrick Henry School for several years.

Gowned in silk organza and lace, she was preceded to the altar by Mrs. Robert Vasey and flower girl, Sally Ann Howard.

• • • •

LT. RAUCH is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Norbert Rauch of Dubuque, Iowa. A graduate of Loras College in Dubuque, he was attended by Lts. (jg.) James R. Darwin, best man; Kelvin M. Mulkern, and Robert F. Cairo; and Ensigns Robert L. Vickers, Robert J. Wilson, and Stewart S. Dye.

The newlyweds will live in San Diego, where the bridegroom is stationed aboard the USS Wedderburn.

Botzbach-McFarlin

First Baptist Church was setting for the marriage of Ava Yvonne McFarlin, daughter of the H. E. McFarlins, 2324 Earl Ave., to Richard L. Botzbach of this city.

The bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace and white satin with bouffant tiered skirt of lace and tulle.

• • • •

ATTENDING her were her matron of honor, Mrs. Lona Mahan; her sister-in-law, Mrs. H. E. McFarlin, Jr. and Mrs. Ronie Mabery. Sherry and Jennifer Botzbach, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Nubert Baker stood as best man. Guests were seated by Frank Honea and H. E. McFarlin Jr., the bride's brother.

The new Mrs. Botzbach is an alumna of Polytechnic and Long Beach City College, where she was active in Entre Nous.

Her bridegroom, son of Mrs. H. A. Botzbach of Pittsburgh, Calif., was graduated from the University of California College of Pharmacy, San Francisco, and is a member of Phi Delta Chi.

Snelgrove-Clark

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Snelgrove (Patricia Clark) are at home at 4732 Lakewood Blvd. following their marriage in Los Altos Congregational Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Clark, 1911 Senasac Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Snelgrove of Downey.

• • • •

Ernest Kartinen Jr. was the best man. Ushers were Floyd Sanderson, Randall Hill, and Clarence Dickey.

An alumna of Millikan, the bride was graduated from LBCC. Her bridegroom was graduated from Mt. San Antonio Junior College, where he was a member of Alpha Eta Rho.

Dessert, Cards

Ways and means committee of Ladies Oriental Shrine will entertain with a dessert card party, 7:30 p.m. Monday, in Palos Verdes Masonic Temple, 5155 E. Pacific Coast Highway. Reservations may be made with Evelyn Hinkley.

Neutra Designs at LBMA

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Many structures in the Los Angeles area are depicted in the photographic review of architecture by Richard Neutra now on view at Long Beach Museum of Art.

The 96 photographic panels illustrate Neutra's residences, schools, universities, medical buildings, auditoriums and a planetarium.

The traveling exhibit, which also shows structures built in foreign countries, was organized by the University of California at Los Angeles. It ends its tour at LBMA, offering viewers a final chance to see high lights of a career that commands international attention.

A limited supply of illustrated catalogues is available for the exhibit which will be at the museum through July 29. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays; 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

• • • •

FIVE LEADING museums have contributed to the exhibition of works by Jean Dubuffett which opens Wednesday in Los Angeles County Museum. The museums: Baltimore Museum of Art, Art Institute of Chicago, Guggenheim Museum in New York, Museum of Modern Art in New York and Kunstmuseum in Silkeborg, Denmark. Nine other galleries and 55 collectors have loaned examples for the display which is made up of more than 200 works. It is the first retrospective of paintings, assemblages, drawings and sculpture by the widely-discussed French artist.

• • • •

FIFTEEN paintings by Joy Nye Elliott, longtime resident of Signal Hill, are on display at General Surgical Appliances, 1776 Obispo Ave., during July.

Mrs. Elliott has studied in Long Beach General Adult Division and City College art classes under the guidance of James Milroy, Robert Adams and Elsa Warner.

The show is sponsored by Long Beach Art Association of which Mrs. Elliott is an active member.

LEONARD EDMONDSON of Pasadena and Sueo Serisawa have joined the staff of Laguna Beach School of Art and Design which opens Monday.

Edmondson, now teaching at Pasadena City College, has a national reputation as one of the most original non-objective artists in this country.

Serisawa, born in Yokohama, is a naturalized citizen of the United States. He formerly taught at Scripps College and at the Institute of Art in West Los Angeles and now teaches privately at his West Los Angeles studio. He was educated at Otis Art Institute.

Other members of the Laguna school's first faculty are Mario Cooper, Sergei Bongart and Merlin Enabnit.

David Rose to Play in Irvine Bowl

Mrs. Robert J. Marshall of Lido Isle has been named patroness chairman for Orange Coast YMCA's "Building Year" benefit concerts by David Rose and his orchestra in Irvine Bowl on Aug. 17 and 18.

A Newport Beach City councilwoman and prominent clubwoman, Mrs. Marshall will have as aides Mmes. Donald Anderson, John Broughton, Oletta Schleiter, Don Wells, Elizabeth Swan and Miss Betsy Beman. Mrs. Susan Martin is coordinating women's activities for the event.

Patronesses will be introduced at a tea July 20. Mrs. Rose and Miss Lucille Norman, who will be soloist with the orchestra, will be guests of honor.

• • • •

PLANS include out-of-doors dinners in the Irvine Bowl gardens preceding the performances with patrons occupying special boxes. These will be the only performances of the orchestra during the summer. A program of popular and light classical music will be presented.

MNEMOSYNE

Mnemosyne, goddess of memory in Greek mythology, is interpreted as figure of bold contrasts in wood mortise by Robert Cremean. The work is in show at Esther Robles Gallery, Los Angeles.

New Records in Library Collection

Recordings of important speeches, writings, poems and stories have been added to the phonograph record collection at the Main Library.

"Sounds of the Third Reich" is a narrated history with a background of parades, meetings and music from this frantic period in Germany.

"Speeches and Letters of Abraham Lincoln" are read by Roy Basler and Carl Sandburg. "The Great Debates of the 1960 Presidential Campaign" has the main candidates in the leading roles. "America the Beautiful" is an anthology of verse and prose read by Vincent Price.

"Running Errands for Ideas" is a speech given by Charles F. Kettering to the Edison Foundation. Frank Lloyd Wright discusses architecture, life and its many facets on the recording "Frank Lloyd Wright on Record."

A new disc of Will Rogers' humor brings the homespun philosopher back. "The Fanciful World of Ogden Nash" has the author reading some of his clever poems.

Phonograph records may be borrowed for a two week period from the Main Library. A rental fee is charged.

New Cremean Bronzes Dynamic, Individual

By VIRGINIA H. LADDEY

Recent sculpture, mostly bronze, by Robert Cremean will be shown at the Esther Robles Gallery, 665 N. La Cienega, Los Angeles, until July 28. The opening Monday was jammed, for this young sculptor is widely known, and is already represented in many public and private collections.

Cremean worked in Florence, Italy, from last November until April, and it was there that the bronzes were cast. Until now, he has been known for his unique development of wood mortise and laminated wood combined with fiberglass and fabrics. The same qualities of dynamic and astonishing tension and suspension continue in the bronze works.

• • • •

CREMEAN'S work recaptures the flavor of great historical periods of sculpture: he is master of classic proportion; the sculptures have the brooding, spiritual quality of the Middle Ages; the movements of his volumes, planes, and draperies and the color contrasts have the richness of baroque; surprising abstraction comes from the contemporary period. Cremean uses all these factors at will, and rather than eclectic, the style which emerges is excitingly his own.

• • • •

THE FIGURE, "Portrait of Christopher Whitbey," is of laminted wood, doweled, fitted, and polished. One leg is of turned wood, the other leg and the arms below the shoulders are steel rod. The figure appears to turn back while running; the head is an elliptical egg shape.

There are seven bronze low reliefs from which the human figure emerges in vivid contour. Bronzes in the round include five studies for a self portrait, nine small sketches of figures in movement, five disrobing figures, and seven reclining ones. Of the latter, "Figure in Hammock" lies in its full weight; the viewer feels the pull of the suspended sling.

• • • •

AMONG the wood mortises "The Seasons" is the most enthralling. "Mnemosyne" is more shocking with an active figure resting on one pivot at the waist and too much emphasis on color contrasts and Cremean's other personal conventions.

It is a fascinating show. There is no doubt that Cremean is a giant and may take his place among the great sculptors of all times.

Steinberg to Conduct Bowl Bills

William Steinberg will conduct and pianist Guiomar Novaes will be guest artist for Tuesday night's "Symphony Under the Stars" in Hollywood Bowl. The program will include overture to "Beatrice and Benedict" by Berlioz; "Piano Concerto No. 2 in F Minor" by Chopin; "Six Pieces for Orchestra" by Webern; and "Symphony No. 7" by Beethoven.

Steinberg will conduct again Thursday with violinist Sidney Harth as soloist. On the bill will be "Eagles" by Rorem; "Symphony No. 3" by Brahms; Violin Concerto No. 2 in D Minor" by Wieniawski; and "Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2" by Ravel.

Featured on a Rodgers and Hammerstein program Saturday night will be Marilyn Horne, soprano; Peggy Coburn, contralto; Carl Olsen, tenor; and James Hurst, baritone. Roger Wagner will conduct.

'Patio Pop' at Burnett Branch

Burnett Branch Library, 560 E. Hill St., will begin its regular summer series of Patio "Pop" Concerts on film at dusk Tuesday with a showing of "Venice Concert."

Leonard Bernstein plays and directs Mozart's "Piano Concerto in G Minor" in this work which was filmed at the Venice International Music Festival. Between reels, Bernstein recordings will feature his ballet music, "On The Town."

The public is invited.

At Padua Hills

"Carnaval de Veracruz," three-act comedy at Padua Hills Theater, is a miniature version of "the gayest fiesta in tropical Mexico." Evening performances are given on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays; matinees are scheduled each Wednesday and Saturday. After performances, an outdoor festival under the olive trees brings the Mexican Players and patrons together for music and games.

On Stage---

CIVIC LIGHT OPERA, Municipal Auditorium, "Show Boat," 8:30 tonight, Friday, Saturday.

COMMUNITY MUSIC THEATER, Long Beach City College auditorium, "The Music Man," 8:30 tonight, final performance.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 3201 E. Anaheim St., "Everybody Loves Opal," 1:41 p.m. Thursday; 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MAGNOLIA THEATER, 2400 Magnolia Ave., "Period of Adjustment," 8 p.m. Thursday; Friday, Saturday, 8:30 p.m.

OFF-BROADWAY THEATER, 211 Lime Ave., "A Majority of One," 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Magnolia Opening Thursday

"A Period of Adjustment," Tennessee Williams' first comedy, will open Thursday at Magnolia Theater, 2400 Magnolia Ave.

The plot concerns the adjustment facing couples in the first hectic years of marriage.

Bud O'Neil stars in the leading role as Ralph Bates. Last seen at Magnolia in "No Time for Sergeants," he has done extensive work at Laguna Playhouse and Long Beach Community Playhouse.

Marlene Silverstein

Merrell Ann Hadden, who has just taught her first semester at Jordan High School, plays the part of Dorothea Bates.

• • • •

MARLENE SILVERSTEIN, who portrays Isabelle Haverstick, has been a professional pantomimist since she was 12. She has appeared in many productions, including those at Long Beach City College, Community Playhouse and Pasadena Playhouse.

Others in the cast are Fran Boston as Mrs. McGillicuddy; Hall Thompson as Mr. McGillicuddy; Fannie Stephens as Susie; and Bill Cataline as the police officer.

Reservations may be made by telephoning the box office; the play will run Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays for a limited time.

Greek Theater

New York City Ballet will give the final performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" tonight at Greek Theater. Two new ballets will be danced Monday through Wednesday, the amusing "Creation of the World" and "Raymonda Variations." Completing the program will be the Balanchine classic "Symphony in C."

Major & Minor Notes

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK BECKONS VACATIONERS

By RACHEL MORTON
L.P.T. Music Critic

There is, in northwestern Montana, a wonderland of nature's masterpieces, comparable to the European Alps. It is called Glacier National Park and comprises over a million acres of glacier and snow-spotted mountains, sparkling lakes, milky-green with glacial water, and vast expanses of coniferous forests.

In this park there are actually 60 live glaciers which move at approximately 36 feet a year. The wild flowers are abundant and many hued. Spectacularly attractive is the creamy-lacy blossom of the plant called bear grass. Fish abound—black spotted cutthroat, silver salmon, grayling and rainbow trout, and no license is required for fishing. The 1,100 miles of trails afford glimpses of the wild animal life which includes big horn sheep, mountain goat, grizzly and black bear, western white tail, mule deer, moose and elk.

• • • •

THIS FABULOUS playground for vacationists was established in 1910 by Congress and is the fourth largest national park in the United States. It is bounded on the north by Canada, and in 1932 Waterton Glacier International Peace Park was dedicated, a permanent commemoration of "the relationship of peace and good will, long existing between the peoples and governments of Canada and the United States."

There are excellent hotels in the park: Glacier Park Lodge, Prince of Wales Hotel on the Canadian border, Lake McDonald Hotel, and Many Glacier Hotel, not to mention the many cabins and campsites. Sight seeing buses, boats and horses make all points of interest easily accessible.

• • • •

I AM JUST back from vacationing at Many Glacier Hotel, a Swiss chalet type of hostelry with 240 rooms and baths. The lounge is cozily attractive and when the nights are really cold (as they have been!) a great log fire burns under the copper brazier in the middle of the large room.

It is so restful to sit by the fire and listen to the music played by the excellent trio of piano, violin and cello. One night all evening activities were suspended as the guests crowded the lounge and filled the two balconies to hear a beautiful song recital given by our own Long Beach contralto, Anne Barrows, accompanied by the trio. She was warmly received.

• • • •

ON MY LITTLE balcony I looked out over an emerald lake, Swiftcurrent Lake. Across the water, so near I could almost touch them, are giant mountains, all snow and glacier-bedecked. The sun lights up their glistening sides as the fleecy clouds cast purple shadows. It is beautiful beyond description.

Just in front, a monster pyramid of rock sharply cuts the sky. Its base is green with pine, but as it rises, it becomes stark with jagged peaks of rock. Here the snow is thick and a great glacier lies deeply imbedded. Although it actually is Grinnell mountain, I call it "Le Magnifique" (The Magnificent).

• • • •

WHAT PEACE is here! What inspiration! What exhilaration! After a day of intake of wine-like air and brisk activity, how relaxing it is to bathe and dress for dinner. The huge dining room looks out on all this beauty which, alas, is soon forgotten, as the diners keenly concentrate on the delicious food.

There is dancing every evening at 9:30. At 8:30 interesting and instructive colored films of the park are shown by the ranger.

Although I have vacationed in the Swiss and Bavarian Alps, at Chateau Lake Louise, Jasper Park Lodge and the Grand Tetons, I must admit that, for me, there is nothing in the world like Glacier National Park!

'Irma La Douce'

Direct from triumphs in Paris, London and New York, "Irma La Douce," starring Taina Elg, Denis Quilley and Joseph Bova, will play at the Biltmore Theatre in Los Angeles beginning Monday, July 16, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Mail orders are now being received at the Biltmore.

'Majority of One' Opens Saturday at Off-Broadway

"A Majority of One," Broadway comedy hit by Leonard Spigelgass, will open at the Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave., at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The story revolves about a Jewish widow and a wealthy Japanese gentleman who met on board ship en route to Tokyo. As the two become warm friends, the widow becomes enchanted with the customs, traditions and culture of the Japanese. She learns that bean-jam buns taste like halavah, that Zen Buddhism is as fascinating as Hebrew teachings, that sake gives the same pleasant glow as kosher wine. She even contemplates the possibilities of sukiyaki with kosher meat.

• • • •

ZELDA STATLAND and Clay Foster will be seen in the roles created by Gertrude Berg and Cedric Hardwick on Broadway. Others in the rast include Jac Morimoto, Erica Thotos, Lou Lyda, Helen Christian and Gonzalo Moya. George Fairchild directs.

The comedy will play Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays after the opening, with group rates available for the Sunday performances.

Annual Bach Festival Set

A program of Bach and baroque music will be presented during the 25th annual Carmel Bach Festival to be held July 20 through 29 in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Highlight of the silver anniversary concert series will be the performance of the six Brandenburg concertos featuring artists from throughout the United States.

In addition, the complete "Passion According to St. Matthew" is scheduled for both Sunday concerts on July 22 and 29.

• • • •

THE 70-PIECE orchestra will be conducted by Sandor Salgo, professor of music at Stanford, and conductor for the San Jose and Marin Symphony orchestras.

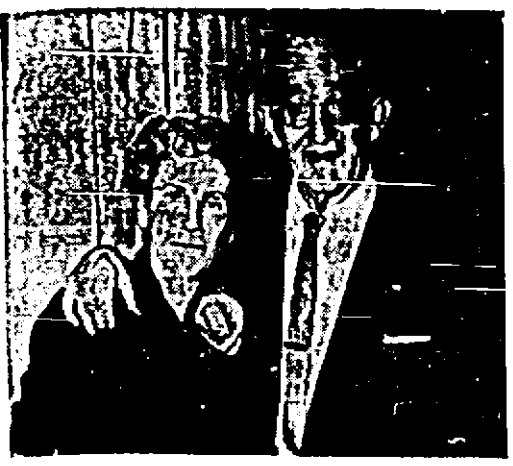

Tickets to the festival, which is a nonprofit organization dedicated to charitable and educational activities in connection with baroque music, are available by writing P.O. Box 503, Carmel, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lucas

Open House to Fete Goldenweds Today

Fifty years of marriage will be marked at an open house celebration this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lucas, 2524 Monroe St. Well-wishers will gather in the couple's home from 2 to 4.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Lucas' sister, Mobrey Thomas of Taft; Ella Mae Zellar, also of Taft; Marilyn Landon, Northridge, and Aileen Charlton and Jerry Weir, Long Beach.

Mr. Lucas, a retired oil driller, has been a member of Local Union, Engineers 12. He and his wife have lived at their present address 23 years. Their late son, Guy Jr., was a star athlete at Polytechnic High School.

Ebell Brunch

Members of Group J, with Mrs. Irving Smith as chairman, will hostess the first in a series of Ebell summer brunches at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the clubhouse, 290 Cerritos Ave. Similar parties are planned each Wednesday, July 11 through the month of August.

Seek Top Careerist in Contest

An opportunity for business firms to pay tribute and honor the outstanding career woman of their organzation is being provided again this year by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs' sixth annual merit award contest.

The contestant may be sponsored by a business firm, service club, professional or trade group, but need not be a member of a BPW club. She will be named Miss or Mrs. Business or Professional Woman of the Year. Invitations have been issued to these groups to enter their choices.

The week of Sept. 30 to Oct. 6 has been proclaimed by President Kennedy as National Business Women's Week. Nominee entries must be dated not later than Sept. 7.

• • • •

A PANEL of prominent men and women will serve as judges in the contest and will be from the greater Long Beach area. They will decide on the basis of most outstanding achievement made by the winner in her field of endeavor.

A banquet honoring the winning contestant will take place at the Petroleum Club on Oct. 1 at 7 p.m.

AT HELM OF CRUISER representing the merit award contest for "Miss or Mrs. Business or Professional Woman of the Year" is skipper Betty Coultrup, general chairman. Others beaming through life-rings are (from left) Kathryn Campbell, Margaret Ives BPW; Trudy Clark, Belmont Shore National Club; and Octava Roquemore, Manuela Nieto BPW Club.

60th Year for Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Brown, 1115 Loma Ave., will mark their 60th wedding anniversary today at a quiet celebration.

The couple was wed July 9, 1902 in Wellsville, Ohio, moving later to Cleveland where Mr. Brown was employed by the East Ohio Gas Co. until his retirement in 1945.

The Browns who moved to Long Beach in 1951, have one son living in Cleveland.

Police Event

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roberts, 332 Harding St., will host members of Policewives Auxiliary and their husbands at a steak fry, 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Swimming and games complete the evening's plans.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

At Sea Level-or Sky High

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L.P-T Food Editor

He's a fair cook at sea level, but improves with elevation. Get him up to 10,000 feet, and he's terrific! In fact, whether in a plane or afoot, today's Chef of the Week, Court Prowell Jr., prefers high altitude.

When "grounded" at sea level, however, wife Merretta, and daughters, Kathryn, 13, and Ellen, 10, join him in year-round water skiing. "Mom," a former Rick Racker, now is active in Assistance League, the Girl Scouts, and is leader of Brownie Troop 621, of which Ellen is a member. Kathy belongs to the Assisteens, the Junior Auxiliary to the Assistance League.

Prowell is a Long Beach native in every sense of the word, for his mother and father are both graduates of old Long Beach High School. His Dad is one of the oldest active used car dealers in Long Beach, having started in 1923.

Following graduation from Poly High, Court worked as a Life Guard for a short time before enlisting in the Army Air Corps. A graduate pilot, he flew B24 Liberators during World War II.

• • • •

RETURNING to Long Beach, he received his Associate of Arts degree from Long Beach City College, then went into business, establishing the first Vocal Air Advertising Company at the Long Beach Airport. It was outlawed because of the danger factor.

In 1949 he entered Long Beach State College from which he took his B.S. degree in 1951. He then went into the automobile business with his Dad.

Court maintained his flying status in the Air Force Reserves for the past 15 years, and has several thousand hours in many types of military and civilian aircraft. At present he is a captain in the Air Force Reserves and a Reserve Information Officer for the 2478th Sector Headquarters at the Long Beach Airport. He is also past commodore of the Long Beach Sportsmans Boat and Ski Club.

Court Prowell, Jr.

• • • •

HE HAS a long list of civic achievements to his credit, too! A past commander of the Air Force Association, he's also chalked-up the following "pasts"—director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, coordinator with the International Beauty Pageant, director of the Miss Welcome to Long Beach Contest, and is vice president of the Long Beach State College Alumni Association.

A member of Masonic Lodge 594, he also belongs to Elks Lodge 888 and to the Chamber of Commerce.

Prowell likes both fishing and hunting and is an avid amateur photographer; but as a family, they most enjoy their pack-in trips to the High Sierras. Once there, the culinary inspiration sets in, Mrs. Prowell relaxes and Court becomes the "chef." He can whip up anything from hotcakes, to Mulligan stew to eggs supreme. Trout, too, for he's taught his daughters how to haul them in.

But to get to his down-to-earth cooking, his pet recipe is for Sukiyaki. He's mastered that, even to the chop sticks, as you can see.

SUKIYAKI
(Serves 4)

Chill (almost freeze) 1½ pounds of thick round steak and cut into very thin bite size slices. Arrange in center of large platter, saving trimmings for suet.

Slice into small thin pieces the following vegetables: 4 small onions, 2 bunches green onions (tops and bottoms cut separately), 2 green peppers, 1 small head celery, 1 small box fresh mushrooms, 1 lb. spinach (frozen okay), 2 medium potatoes, 1 can water chestnuts and 1 can bean sprouts. Arrange the vegetables around meat on platter.

Prepare cooking sauce: ½ cup Soy sauce, Japanese style . . . ¼ cup if American style . . . 1 bouillon cube, ¼ teaspoon Ac'cent, 2 tablespoons sugar. Salt and pepper to taste.

Half of the fun of the traditional Sukiyaki dinner is the husband table cooking on a hibachi. (Of course, the wife prepares the vegetables in the morning to chill.)

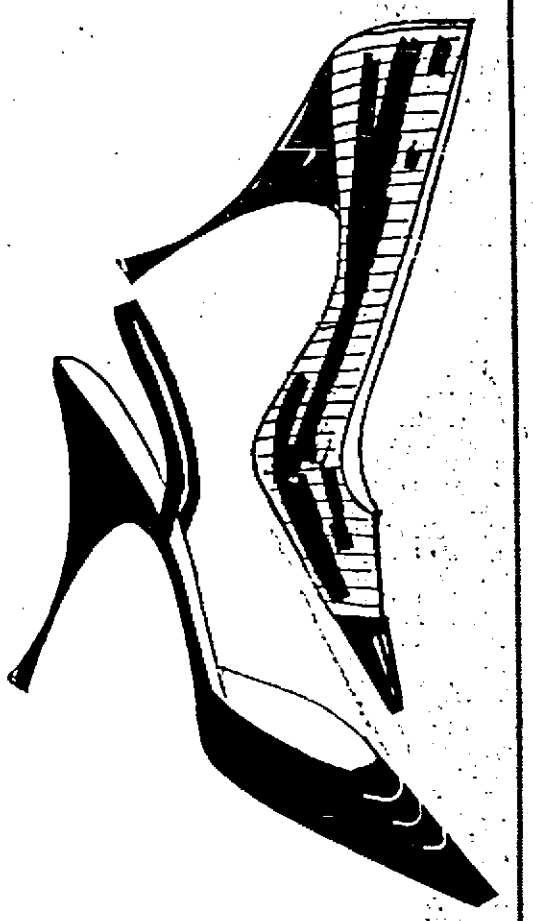

To cook: Render suet trimming in hot pan, remove cracklings. Add one-half of meat and brown. Next add one-half onions, green pepper, bean sprouts, celery and potatoes.

Stir lightly and add one-half soy mixture and cook rapidly for five minutes. Add mushrooms, water chestnuts and spinach and cook for one minute, then serve.

Because Sukiyaki cooks rapidly start second batch halfway through. Serve the second batch with rice. Saki is excellent before dinner—tea with meal. The secret of good Sukiyaki is not to overcook.

how is your home decorating IQ?

CAN YOU NAME . . . 7 DIFFERENT "TOPPINGS" FOR DRAPERIES? If you said pinch pleats, box pleats, accordion pleats, cartridge pleats, diamond pleats, and shirred smocking — you're right! You can choose the "topping" that best suits your room decor when you have your draperies custom-made in Buffums' workrooms.

CAN YOU DESCRIBE . . . FESTOONS, SWAGS, ROMAN SHADES, Austrian curtains, cornices, shutters, laminated window shades, canopies, room dividers and their uses? If not, let our Interior Consultant describe them to you . . . tell you how and where they could beautify and improve your home.

DO YOU KNOW . . . WHEN RE-UPHOLSTERY CAN MAKE YOUR furniture good as new? When Buffums' experienced upholsterers do the job! Wood is refinished, springs re-tied, webbing replaced with new, and the fabric covering of your choice custom-fitted.

DID YOU REALIZE that custom-carpet can be installed with no fuss, no muss . . . that you may choose from 100% DuPont 501 nylon or 100% wool. Be sure and see the new plush-cut all-wool pile from Italy!

WOULD YOU LIKE to see swatches of drapery and upholstery fabrics, and carpet samples in your own home (the only completely satisfactory way to choose) and, at the same time, have estimates of any work in which you might be interested—with no obligation?

(See Page 11)

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

Dorothy Brown claims she's a "traffic cop."

The American Broadcasting Co., by whom she is employed, has a much more formal title for Miss Brown.

To the company, she is the continuity acceptance director for the Western Division.

Her job, and that of the 18 editors who work with Miss Brown, is to handle the clearance of all programming on channel 7 except that in the news category.

Her job is to eliminate or modify from programs and commercials all material that offends the proprieties and moral values of the American public.

Some people call her a censor.

"I'd rather be called a 'traffic cop,'" said Miss Brown.

"I don't think traffic cops are more popular than censors, but they are more readily understood."

MISS BROWN COMPARES the public with television producers.

Some of the public likes to "get way with things" by driving 85 miles per-hour in a 65 mile zone.

"This kind of driver gets pleasureful glee from evading the policeman," she said.

"But what he's doing is endangering his life, and that of his passengers and the lives of other motorists."

The producer who gets a "thrill" by attempting to sneak by excessive violence or cleavage is endangering the television industry, according to Miss Brown.

Sometimes, in the matter of cleavage, it's a television actress, rather than the producer, that tries to get too speedy.

Although she may be wearing an approved dress, such an actress sometimes manages to shift the gown so that her physical attributes are more imposingly displayed.

In that case, the situation is usually handled by Miss Brown directing that the actress in such scenes be shown on the TV screen only from the neck up.

IN OTHER WORDS, the directive to "blow up" the shot deflates the overly enthusiastic actress.

The "blow up" is also used for men actors who wear too tight pants. When the "blow up" can't be practically used, the scenes must be re-shot—with looser pants.

Excessive violence, in Miss Brown's book, is a big guy knocking down a little guy, then stomping on him.

Excessive violence is "buckets of blood."

"On television, we can't use dripping blood, the gory wound, the soiled red spot in the shirt," said Miss Brown.

"Television is a friend sitting across from you in the livingroom and buckets of blood are much too shocking.

"In a movie theater, the screen is miles away from you in a darkened room and even 'buckets of blood' are much more impersonal."

MISS BROWN FROWNS upon the use of familiar household objects, such as a pair of scissors, being used to commit an act of violence. Scissors are too readily available and their use as a weapon on television conceivably could influence more easily impressionable viewers.

A gun, on the other hand, has been considered a lethal weapons from "time immemorial."

Guns generally are not readily available even in those homes where they are kept.

Many fathers who have guns instruct their families in care and handling of the weapons, emphasizing the "respect" one must have for the lethal capabilities.

The past season's hue and cry for de-emphasis on violence has created many more problems for Miss Brown.

She believes in the de-emphasis of the physical violence, but one result has been to create "hidden violence.

SHE FEELS THAT "hidden violence is much more violent."

For example, if off-camera or in the shadows a man strikes a woman and she screams, Miss Brown thinks this is unacceptable.

"What's left to the imagination is worse than actually seeing the woman slapped and realizing that she's not badly hurt."

Robert Taylor 'Very Relieved'

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Robert Taylor has a direct answer when asked how he felt about "The Detectives" (NBC-TV) not being renewed for the coming season.

"Frankly, I'm very relieved."

He is equally direct when asked why he thinks it—and several other cops-and-robber shows—went off television:

"I haven't really thought about it. I'm just relieved."

Taylor, who has the lead role of Capt. Matt Holbrook, said the hour-long show calls for a six-day schedule per segment. This means one day off per week for a man who used to spend two-week periods four or five times a year at his cabin in Wyoming.

"The hour show is terribly confining," he said. "I would have liked a half-hour show because it has a shorter shooting schedule and would have permitted me to do other things. I should say, however, that I honestly think the hour-long show is better for developing character and story."

TAYLOR IS LEAVING for Europe to make his first motion picture in three years. He and his wife, Ursula Theiss, will be in Vienna for three months of location shooting on a Disney picture, "The Miracle of the White Stallions." It's based on a World War II story in which a Spanish riding school was saved.

Anything to do with horses is pleasant to rancher Taylor, who has horses at his Mandeville Canyon spread in West Los Angeles and also in Wyoming. He figured he would enjoy making the picture.

"I'M CERTAINLY not knocking television," he said. "But this is a change. I like the story and it'll give us a little more free time. I've always been an early riser—usually at 6:30 a. m. When we were shooting the series, I had to get up at 5:30 a. m.

"I wasn't overworked, but I just didn't have enough time to myself. I'd like to say I have something coming up in television, but I do not. However, I am relieved that the show was not picked up for another year as an hour-long one. The contract had another year to run.

"I don't know why the show went off, and I did like it. But it sure did interfere with my hunting and fishing."

ROBERT TAYLOR AS CAPT. MATT HOLBROOK

BERT'S EYE VIEW

A second type of "hidden violence" is dialogue descriptions at a high-pitched moment.

Example:

"Jim never had a chance. Joe stuck it in his gut and blasted."

A third type is emotional.

"Picture a mother and daughter sitting across from each other. They rip at each other with words, each attempting to destroy the other.

"To my way of thinking, that's considerably more violent than if they had an old-fashioned hair-pulling."

MISS BROWN'S "way of thinking" has not brought her the label of censor—or even traffic cop—from most of those with whom she has worked.

Stan Freberg, who probably has had more censorship trouble than the rest of Hollywood put together, said Miss Brown was the most courageous continuity acceptance director with whom he worked.

It was she who approved his last season's spectacular in which he spoofed people, places, products and programs.

"I'll go right along to the edge of catastrophe for a fresh viewpoint, particularly one that is funny," said Miss Brown in explaining how she got along so well with Freberg.

"I think television is getting too serious.

"Laughter at our own faults and at each other is important in America."

It is obvious that "traffic cop" Dorothy Brown includes laughing at herself in the overall category.

Mounted on the wall behind her desk is a sign which she personally had posted. It reads:

"Headquarters of the Security Police."

All in Non-Tiring Day's Work for Kaye Ballard

By DOC QUIGG
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Kaye Ballard, the funny lady, has just finished up her first season as a regular on a television show. And as a trouper who has played every important club in America as a single, done everything from blowing a trick tuba and playing a flute for Spike Jones to giving a command performance at Windsor Castle, what does she think of the video medium?

"This has been the happiest time I've ever had in show business—working with Perry Como," said Miss Ballard. "He's the nicest, most thoughtful man. If you ask me what I'd like to do on TV, the answer is: Stay with Como.

• • • •

"I'D HOPE to establish myself on TV to such an extent that I could pick and choose what I'd like to do on Broadway."

Miss Ballard is nicely occupied on Broadway as the comedy lead in "Carnival," which won the New York Drama Critics Award as top musical and which is now going into its second year.

"I've noticed the difference in audience reaction in 'Carnival' just since I started with Como," she said. "There's a bigger recognition-hand from the audience when you come on. And they're ready to laugh. They know you."

Miss Ballard says there is absolutely no jealousy among the five comics who grace the Como show.

"We all do comedy, and that's it," she said. "There's no rivalry."

In general, in show business, she thinks female comics are discriminated against.

What to do about it?

"Grin and bear it," said Miss Ballard, grinning as if she isn't suffering too much.

• • • •

THE WORK of maintaining a starring role on Broadway and a regular weekly stint on television is no trouble for Miss Ballard. She's never tired at the end of the day—not even days that add TV rehearsals to two stage showings. She's got a vacation from "Carnival" coming up the first two weeks in August. What's she going to do? Work. She's doing "Gypsy" in Dallas for two weeks.

"I'm doing 'Gypsy' because the Ethel Merman part is the one part I'd like to do better than any — even though I know no one could do it as well as Merman. I'll never forgive the Tony Awards for not giving Merman the award last year for that performance.

KAYE BALLARD . . . Toots Flute

And I won't forgive television for not giving Judy Garland the award this year for the best female performer in a variety show."

• • • •

MISS BALLARD lives in a Greenwich Village apartment next door to a subway entrance which she never enters.

"The first time I was ever in a subway, I was halfway in and halfway out of the car and the thing took off. It terrified me. I've never gone in one since."

Her apartment pet is a poodle named Carmella — "because she's part caramel and part vanilla looking and because that's a good Italian name."

Both sides of the comedienne's family are Italian. The name of her mother's side is Ballardo, so she just dropped an "o" and got her stage name.

There was never any doubt in her mind as a child as to what she wanted to do. In her native Cleveland she got a job as a movie theater usherette when she was 13 — and got fired for entertaining in the aisles. While still in junior high school she began working as a waitress at the Cleveland Stage Door Canteen and soon moved right onto the stage.

• • • •

A CLEVELAND agent got her a job as a straight woman in a burlesque show that traveled by bus through the South. She was with them one season and found that "the offstage morality in a burlesque company is higher than any place else."

Then she went into night clubs. And in 1946 she did a benefit with Spike Jones in Cleveland. Jones said:

"If you ever get to California, I'll give you a job."

She took $75 in cash and a one-way ticket and was in California forthwith, and you may remember her playing that water-laden tuba in the Jones band and knitting between numbers.

Jones, she says, "was greatly responsible for developing me as a comedienne."

But, now developed, she must be bugged somewhat by that feeling of discrimination against lady comics. On her mirror she has pasted Robert Frost's lines:

"Lord, forgive the little jokes I played on thee, and I'll forgive the great big one You played on me."

Free Documentaries

NBC-TV is offering documentaries free to fledgling video stations in such foreign spots as Kenya, Sierra Leone, Jamaica, Tanganyika, Gibraltar and Uganda.

Opposes 'Tampering'

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., wants no tampering with American television programs that may be exported.

The broadcasting executive strongly disagrees with those who advocate that the effect on the U.S. image abroad be a factor in the production of television programs.

In a recent address before executives of CBS, Dr. Stanton made the following points:

1. WE CAN'T HAVE a double standard of reporting that directs us to hide our imperfections from the rest of the world.

"It is far more important to show people everywhere that the free press, in every form, has value because it is free to criticize as well as to praise, free to show shortcomings as well as strengths, free to document great needs as well as great achievements."

2. OUR ENTERTAINMENT programs should be concerned with an honest, undoctored revelation of our character.

"CBS cannot agree that we ought to conceal the fact we are diverted by mystery dramas or westerns or situation comedies any more than the fact that we are diverted by reading mysteries or reading westerns or going to musicals.

"Far more damage would accrue from attempts to represent ourselves abroad as something that we are not than by opening up our whole national life, its light moments, its fads and its follies, as well as its serious concerns, to the view of the whole world."

3. CBS STANDS for free, unrepressed communications with the rest of the world, excepting matters relating to national security.

'REHASH, REMAKE, REVERSE TWIST'

Television Sows 'Wasteland' Imitation Seeds

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The sincerest form of television continues to be imitation.

What was a hit this season can be a hit next season, the spring "idea" planters on Hollywood's TV rows are saying. Once again, they are sowing the "wasteland" with seeds packaged under the labels of "Rehash," "Remake" and "Reverse Twist."

Success of "Ben Casey" and "Dr. Kildare" has put 11 medical shows in the race for time spots next fall. Everyone seems to be calling for Dr. Kildare—with another name. Success of "Hazel," the maid, has inspired "Higgins," the butler.

This, of course, may lead to "Jacques," the chauffeur," "Myrtle," the cook and "Fifi," the upstairs maid. All will be employed, of course, by American families of middle-class means who can afford the sponsor's product.

More hour shows is a trend—50 at the last count compared to this season's 43 in prime time.

THE MOST creative idea for a possible new TV series was conceived in jest by Pat Buttram: "My idea," he said, "is based on the secret files of the TV networks to be produced by the FCC."

The best new "situation comedy," can't be filmed either. It's Hank Mancini's story about the FCC being all set to crack down on a show as "too violent" until they discovered it was a newscast!

WELL, AT LEAST we still have some of those good old movies—and one of Hollywood's best, all-time one-line quips is back with us in late, late reelings of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington." Unable to believe the naivete of boyish Senator Jimmy Stewart, newsman Thomas Mitchell tells Jean Arthur:

"I gotta go out and DRINK this over."

It's an idea for the TV planners.

Pan and Fan Mail

This is a note to protest against the dropping of "New Breed," "Robert Taylor's Detectives" and "87th Precinct."

Personally, among eight of us discussing it, I preferred Robert Taylor's show. But all of us liked all of them enough that at least one should have been renewed.

Mrs. H. B. Thomas, Long Beach

I agree with you that all of these series were quality written and quality acted. I think they fell victims to a trend away from police shows.

To miss a "Soupy Sales Show" used to be torture.

But now that it's been on so long, I (and my friends) think it's real corn. Once in a while I chance to turn it on and watch it.

It's always the same stuff.

One can take just so much of a sick sounding dog (White Fang) and pies flying here and there.

It used to be a blast to see Soupy receive a pie in the face.

Now he gets it so often that it's just unthrilling routine.

Bruce Singer, Rossmoor

If you feel that strongly about it, why chance to turn it on?

Hats off to KABC's Baxter Ward!

Just about every 'teen I know agrees with me that Mr. Ward's news' programs are the best in the Southland.

Many tell me that, if it wasn't for his newscasting, they wouldn't watch TV for news at all.

So for myself and others I say, "Thank you, Mr. Ward, for your wonderful program."

Karen Huffman, Long Beach

Is Baxter your uncle, Karen?

What can one do to get more variety programs on television?

We used to have them and most of them were wonderful. Instead of variety show now, we're getting nothing but psychopathic drama.

I'm tired of doctors, lawyers and detectives.

Isn't there anything I can do to try and get the Donald O'Connor's, Jackie Gleason's and Sid Caesar's back?

Jack Linston, Long Beach

You can try manufacturing money and sending it to the sponsors and networks. A variety show, including high-priced name stars, is about five times as expensive to produce as a dramatic hour.

But don't give up all hope just yet. I don't know about the O'Connor's, but Sid Caesar and Jackie Gleason are coming back next fall.

MARLENE SCHMIDT, the reigning "Miss Universe," holds a model of the Telstar Communications Satellite to symbolize her all-encompassing title. The German beauty will surrender her title to her successor during a 90-minute telecast of this year's Miss Universe finals at 10 p.m. Saturday, channel 2. Host and hostess for the Miami Beach telecast will be Dave Garroway and Arlene Francis.

LORNE GREENE . . . Sagebrush "Daddy Warbucks"

'TWIST AWAY TALENTS'

'Bonanza's Lorne Greene Criticizes Young Actors

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lorne Greene, one of television's most successful fathers, says many young actors today are twisting away their talents.

"My big beef is with the youngsters who dissipate their opportunities," said Greene, who stars on NBC-TV's "Bonanza" as the father of three sons, a sort of sagebrush "Daddy Warbucks."

"You read about them doing the twist at three o'clock in the morning," he said. "A lot of kids come out here to Hollywood and expect it to be easier than it is.

"I'm for everybody having fun but not at the expense of themselves. These young actors are their own commodity. A piano player can break up his piano and get another. But an actor can only destroy himself. He is his own instrument."

Greene said some of the misconceptions about Hollywood are fostered by fan magazines which glorify young stars and their romances, real or fancied.

"These young people are being built up to tremendous proportions," he said. "Here are kids who've had little experience and their talent has been shown only by the thimbleful.

"I've been trying to figure out this prediction for youth. It's a national disease. I think we're all afraid of getting old. By reading about the activities of the young, perhaps some people get a vicarious feeling of youth."

MUCH OF THE FAN magazine buildup contributes to a young actor's downfall, he said.

"There are kids today in this business who have the world by the tail," he said. "But they'll see to it that in three years nobody will hear of them."

Hollywood's young stars include Michael Landon, one of Lorne's sons in "Bonanza." Greene's criticism isn't aimed at him.

"Mike is a hard worker," Lorne said. "He can become a very big star. He has great potential."

There are untalented performers in Hollywood who waste their time trying to become stars when they should enter another phase of show business, Lorne said, citing an example.

"I know a girl who came to this town as an actress," he said. "She didn't have any great talent as a performer but she had to find a place in this business.

"She even worked in a supermarket waiting for an opportunity. And she had such tremendous energy that she recently signed with a major studio to produce five pictures."

Channel 13 Buys Three Series

KCOP (channel 13) has acquired three series originally aired by ABC-TV (channel 7). All are scheduled for fall debuts.

The hour-long programs are "SurfSide 6," "Bronco" and "Bourbon Street Beat."

The KCOP acquisition includes 74 "SurfSide" episodes, starring Troy Donahue; 68 "Bronco" programs, featuring Ty Hardin, and 39 "Bourbon Street" sequences co-starring Andrew Duggan and Richard Long.

Surgery Restores Hearing of Television Actress, Honking Truck Sounds 'Beautiful'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joanna Moore has been deaf in nearly all her television appearances this past season—so deaf that she couldn't hear a phone ring and a radio turned up full blast sounded like a distant, blurred noise.

She finally had an operation several months ago when she felt she could put it off no longer. Those who saw her in a recent "Route 66" (CBS-TV) show made on Catalina Island saw her with her hearing restored.

"The condition is something that runs in my family," she said, "I can't recall the exact name, but it became progressively worse. It became really bad about six or seven months ago and I had to depend on lip reading to converse."

(Miss Moore's doctor said the condition is known as otosclerosis and was relieved by a stapedectomy. He said it was caused basically by a calcium deposit in the middle ear).

• • • •

"NO ONE would believe that I was going deaf," she said. "The sound men were the first to wonder. I was very, very low. They used to turn me up, but I was still low. I was speaking without hearing myself."

JOANNA MOORE

The pretty actress said deafness taught her a number of things besides lip-reading and she reacted in several ways.

"For example, I noticed at first that things were getting quiet everywhere. I began watching TV without using the volume. I smiled a lot—like a pleasant foreigner who doesn't understand completely. This made people nervous, I found.

"People's attitudes come out. You know who your friends are, and this becomes more important toward final deafness. These people take the trouble to make sure you've heard them.

• • • •

"A CAR RADIO is no good any more. I became sensitive to vibration. I put the phone on the bed and could feel but not hear it ring. I heard footsteps throughout the building. I became perfect at lip synch—the tricky business of matching sound to lip movement on film."

After the operation, Miss Moore in effect discovered a new world.

"The miracle of hearing is beautiful," she said. "I left the doctor, went outside, and a truck honked at me. I was thrilled. Refrigerators purred. People sighed. I couldn't believe how wonderful it was to hear."

She's happy again, but she'll have to unlearn lip-reading. She sometimes tunes in on conversations across a room without realizing what she's doing before it's too late.

"I see a lot of jokes that way," she said.

Catholic Council Wins Award for TV Study

A dramatic TV study of prejudice, produced by NBC in cooperation with the National Council of Catholic Men, has been honored by the American Jewish Committee.

The AJC presented its Human Relations Award to the Council of Catholic men for: "Outstanding leadership in promoting man's understanding of his fellow man through television, and for the notable production of the 'Prejudice—U.S.A.' series on the 'Catholic Hour.'"

Debate Invites

Four Southland television stations, channels 2, 4, 7 and 11, have offered the use of their facilities for a debate between Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and former Vice President Richard Nixon.

CRY OF THE CITY—Sunday, 6:30 p.m., channel 11. Victor Mature, Richard Conte, Shelley Winters (1948). Rough brutal melodrama about a killer and a cop who came from the same neighborhood.

HIS MAJESTY O'KEEFE—Sunday, 7:30 and 10:30 p.m., color, channel 9. Burt Lancaster, Joan Rice, Andre Morell (1954). Pirate story, with Yankee sea captain finding romance and riches on South Pacific island. First run.

JOHNNY CONCHO—Sunday, 8:30 p.m., channel 7. Frank Sinatra, Keenan Wynn, William Conrad, Phyllis Kirk (1956). Cowboy uses his brother's reputation as a gunslinger to ride herd on a town. First run.

WHITE HEAT — Sunday, 11:15 p.m., channel 2. James Cagney, Virginia Mayo, Edmond O'Brien (1949). Brutal gangster melodrama with Cagney as a heartless killer.

THE LAST BRIDGE—Sunday, 11:30 p.m., channel 4. Maria Schell (German-1954). Wartime nurse finds that her love and her duty are on opposing sides. Filmed in Yugoslavia.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK—Monday through Friday, 9 p.m., color, channel 9. John Payne, Dennis O'Keefe, Rhonda Fleming (1950). Plot to oust Juarez so Napoleon's Maximillian can become Emperor of Mexico and attack Texas.

VALLEY OF DECISION—Tuesday, 12:30 a.m. (Wed.), channel 11. Greer Garson, Gregory Peck, Lionel Barrymore (1944). Millhand's daughter takes job as maid in industrialist's home, marries the son.

MIRACLE ON 34TH ST.—Wednesday, 3 p.m., channel 11. Maureen O'Hara, John Payne, Edmund Gwenn (1947). Kris Kringle is hired to play Santa Claus at Macy's — and Macy's tells Gimble's.

LANA TURNER stars in the 1952 Oscar-winning movie "The Bad and the Beautiful" at 8 p. m. Friday on channel 11. The film is about a movie producer, portrayed by Kirk Douglas, who injures those around him in his climb to success.

TOP HAT—Thursday, 7:30 p.m., channel 9. Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Edward Everett Horton, Helen Broderick (1935). Dancer pursues girl from London to the Riviera in first of weekly series of Astaire films.

MARK OF ZORRO—Thursday, 11:15 p. m., channel 2. Tyrone Power, Linda Darnell, Basil Rathbone (1940). Swashbuckling swordsman seeks to avenge evil in California of the 1820's.

SERGEANT YORK — Friday, 11:15 p. m., channel 2. Gary Cooper, Walter Brennan, Joan Leslie (1941). Tennessee hillbilly becomes greatest hero of World War I.

THE PRISONER — Saturday, 11:15 p. m., channel 4. Alec Guinness, Jack Hawkins (1956-Brit.). Superb performances as police of Communist state find Cardinal's one psychological weakness during questioning.

TOBACCO ROAD — Saturday, 11:30 p. m., channel 2. Charlie Grapewin, Marjorie Rambeau, Gene Tierney, Dana Andrews, Ward Bond (1941). Erskine Caldwell's celebrated novel is cleaned up for the screen with a story of moral depravity in the impoverished Georgia farmland. First run.

This Week

Devoted to keeping alive in true and exact detail the traditions of the western frontier in the days of the Indian Wars, a group of men rally regularly in Buena Park under a 36-star banner. They are the members of Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., and their activities are reminiscent of the times of Gen. George Custer and his contemporaries. Three of the Ghost Patrol stand beneath their outmoded but still glorious flag on today's cover. They are 1st Sgt. Jerry Laws, Capt. Al Fraumeni, commanding officer of the patrol, and Trooper Richard Sparks. For more about the Ghost Patrol, see Page 7.

Next Week

The show that began with artists hanging paintings on a fence is today in its 27th annual presentation—Laguna Beach's Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters. Begun in depression days, the festival has prospered until its modern version is a spectacular thing of great interest—one of Southern California's major events. Southland will tell you more about this delightful celebration next Sunday.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy on GRIFFIN and GRIFFING.—Mrs. G., Norwalk; J. G., L. B., Long Beach.

J. G., L. B., G.: GRIFFIN and GRIFFING are Welsh names. The family ancestor was Gruffudd-Ap-Cynan, a king of north Wales from A. D. 1081 to 1137. Griffin is from the old Welsh word "Gruffyn" meaning "Ruddy complexion." The Griffin coat-of-arms has a mythical silver griffin, a combination of dragon and eagle, with outspread wings on a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: What do you have on ECHEVARRIA.—C.E., Lakewood.

C.E.: ECHEVARRIA is a Spanish Basque surname. This family are descendants of the ancient Basque race whose language is completely different from any other in Europe. Echevarria was a manorial home descriptive phrase deciphered as "Owners of the new manor house." The Echevarria coat-of-arms has a golden, turreted castle tower centered on a red shield. At each side of the castle door is a silver greyhound, chained to the frame.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have data on DE LOZIER. —J.D., Buena Park.

J.D.: DE LOZIER, from the surname De L'Ozier, meant "Willow trees." This name is traced to western France and was an estate-descriptive phrase used by friends and acquaintances to point the way to the "family who lived on a small stream whose banks were fringed by beautiful willow trees." This name is very old and the family were granted a coat-of-arms portraying three crossbows on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of JOLLY and JOLLEY. — C.H., Compton; M.J., Lakewood; M.J., J.L., Torrance; H.J., Long Beach.

JOLLY is from the early English descriptive word "Joli" which was endowed on a "gay, jolly person" as a nickname. Henry Joly was a primary family ancestor in Yorkshire during the late 1300s. The Lancashire Jolly coat-of-arms shows three hands on a green wedge entered on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze COFFMAN and give the shield.—R.C., Long Beach.

R.C.: COFFMAN is an American spelling of the German surname Kaufman. The source, Kauf-mann, meant "Shop keeper and merchant." This family was granted a coat-of-arms in the Grand Duchy of Baden in southwest Germany many centuries ago. Their shield is green, with a silver half-lion issuing from the center.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on COTA. —R.C., Long Beach.

R.C.: COTA is an old, honored Spanish surname which was handed down from a skilled ancestor whose unique trade was indicated by his name. Cota meant "Coat-of-mail," designating a dexterous medieval coat-of mail or armor maker.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on ZIEGLER.—Mrs. M.Z., Long Beach.

M.Z.: ZIEGLER was shortened eight centuries ago from the German occupation of "Ziegel-bacher," meaning "Roofing-tile baker and maker." An important tile maker of bygone centuries achieved prominence in his specialized work and used the abbreviated spelling of his trade-title for his name. The family coat-of-arms has two silver stripes, each with three red roses on it, across the center of a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please publish data on PEARSON.—Mrs. J.P., Lakewood; Mrs. S.W., Long Beach.

J.P., S.W.: PEARSON originated from the given name Pierre (Peter in English), and old French cognomen of Biblican origin, meaning "The "The Rock." Pear son was an English distortion of the 11th century Anglo French phrase "Pierre-son." The Pearsons of Northumberland, England are traced to Thomas Pearson, living in 1484. Their coat-of-arms has three gold coins and three red bands across an ermine coated shield. American descendants include John Pearson in Lynn, Mass., born in England in 1617, and George Pearson, born in 1631.

Newest thing in beds is a special bathtub called by inventor: "Aquarest." It's said to cut sleeping time.

Go to Bed in a Tub!

By Fred Coleman

Associated Press Writer

He set the mark in developing an invention he thinks could revolutionize sleep, Aquarest, the salt-water bed.

Cameron, 39, who calls himself a fairly direct descendent of telegraph inventor Samuel F. B. Morse, was not content simply to tolerate the age-old problem of sleep. Five years of experiments led to Aquarest, which he says can normally cut in half the amount of sleep needed by any individual. It also may prove a boon to medical science and certainly ends the hazards of smoking in bed.

AQUAREST resembles an overstuffed bathtub. It is made of molded fiber glass and filled with a salt-water solution buoyant enough to float the body and strong enough to prevent the skin from withering.

A heating unit keeps the water a trifle below body

In Tune With a Bygone Era

WHETHER you are a tourist or a local resident, you'll enjoy visiting the stately colonial mansion in Banning Park, Wilmington. It was built in 1864 by Phineas Banning who had founded the town six years before, naming it for his birthplace in Delaware.

Several decades ago, the home and grounds were acquired by Los Angeles Park Department. Each spring, begining with the unique Wisteria Festival, when the great vine is in full bloom, and extending into the fall, Banning House is open on Sundays. Young college girls, in the costumes of the period when the mansion was the social center of Southern California, act as guides through the house, with its priceless furniture and other mementoes of bygone days.

One of the most intriguing antiques can be seen in the library; it is a decidely rare and quaint old musical instrument—a piano, that has much history connected with it. It was made in England by Collard and Collard, and brought from that country around the Horn, in a square-rigger sailing vessel, first landing at San Francisco and, in 1884, being brought to Long Beach. For many years the piano stood in the comfortable home of Capt. and Mrs. Charles T. Healey, on Ocean Boulevard between Locust Avenue and Long Beach Boulevard (then American Avenue).

Ghost Patrol

By Kenneth C. Hanson

ANYONE traveling the highways in the vicinity of Tucson, Ariz., on Sunday, April 15, 1962, would have been amazed to hear the blast of an Army bugle signaling the charge for scores of horsemen in frontier cavalry uniforms dashing across the crest of the hill.

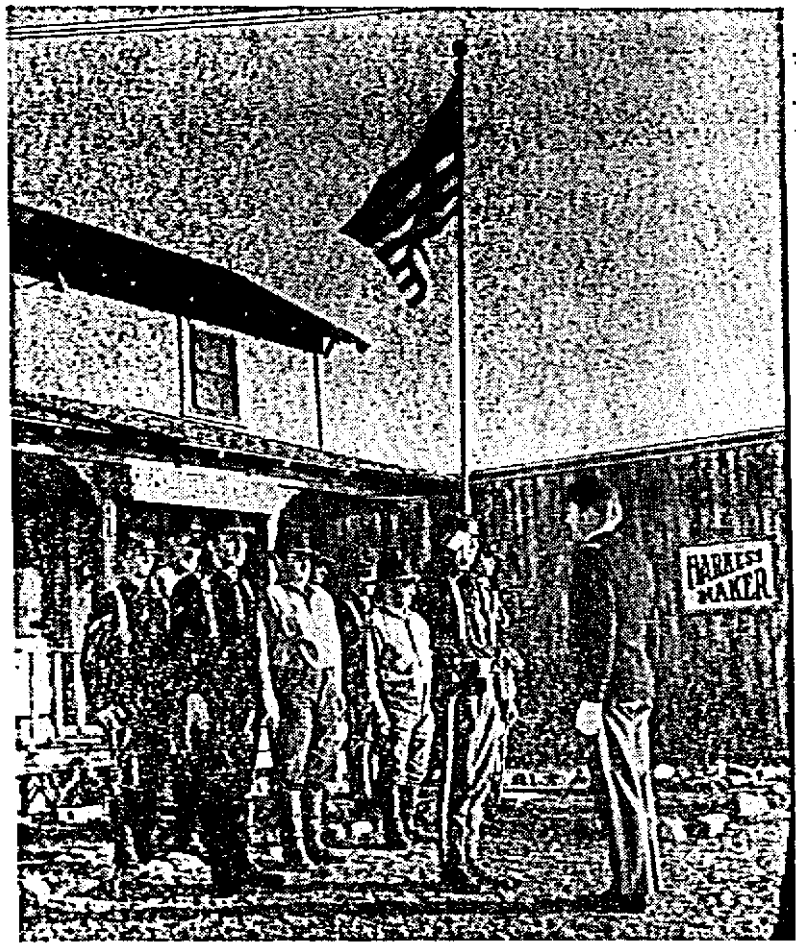

This was a re-enactment of the Battle of Picacho Pass, fought April 15, 1862, as the western-most battle of the Civil War. The Union troops of that early period had been the California Column, First California Cavalry, federalized into the armed forces, who had ridden from San Bernardino by way of Indian Wells to engage in this skirmish. As a part of the emphasis on Civil War history, the state of Arizona had planned the re-enactment of the battle as Arizona's only involvement in the war.

These modern troops participating in the 1962 drama were the members of Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., who have headquarters at Buena Park, Calif. The commanding officer, 2nd Lt. Al Fraumeni of Whittier, had received an invitation from the Civil War Centennial chairman in Arizona to participate in the drama and represent the original Union forces from San Bernardino. The drama had been written by Prof. John Burke, director of drama at University of Arizona in Tucson, took three days of rehearsal, and involved about 100 persons. Nearly 5,000 spectators crowded the side of Picacho Peak to witness the re-enactment of this bit of history.

THIS DRAMA was nothing new to the Ghost Patrol because, on two Sundays each month of the year, they meet to carry out military operations of another era. The members of E Troop are dedicated to the re-creation of the U. S. Army cavalry of the Indian War period about 1875 which is best known in people's minds for the famous last stand of Gen. George Custer, destroyed on June 25, 1876, when Gen. Custer and 263 cavalrymen of his and several other units were massacred by about 4,000 Indians led by Chiefs Gall and Crazy Horse on the Little Big Horn River in Montana.

The U. S. Army did not reactivate this unit as a part of the regular services until 1941 when it was formed for service in World War II and is still on active duty in Japan.

The idea for the Ghost Patrol was originated by John Lee, marshal of Knott's Berry Farm Ghost Town, while he was patrolling his beat in 1954 and dressed in the uniform of a U. S. Army cavalryman of Gen. Custer's period (1865-80). John Wittemore, Long Beach, and Harold Webb, Sunland, stopped Lee and talked to him about their mutual interest in cavalry tradition and decided to get together to form a historical unit. This led to their choosing the name Ghost Patrol, E Troop, 7th Cavalry, Inc., and by 1958 they were designated by the State of California as a nonprofit, historical and educational group. Through the interest and goodwill of Walter Knott of the famous Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town, the group was granted as headquarters use of a building that was reconstructed from about this period of American history.

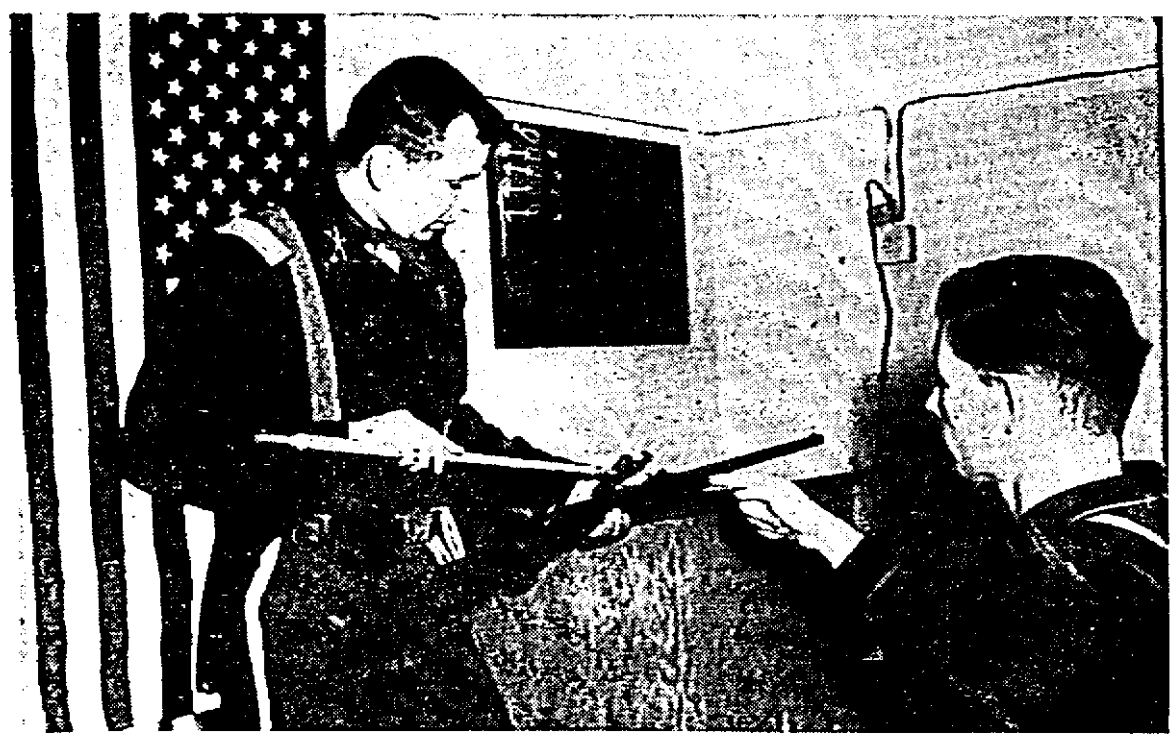

At Ghost Patrol headquarters, 1st Sgt. Donald Haley of Sierra Madre, reports to then Lt. Col. John M. Lee, the patrol's former commanding officer.

EVERYTHING THAT the Ghost Patrol uses in the way of equipment or practices in the way of conduct, is authentic to the frontier period. The uniforms are of the original pattern, and many are actually handed down from the period. When uniforms need to be made, the original patterns are used by skilled tailors to work over the sky-blue trousers from Marine Corps officer's dress uniforms and by adding the traditional yellow stripe.

Mechanism of a Springfield 45-70, single-shot carbine is explained by Sgt. Haley for Tom Welch of Van Nuys in a Ghost Patrol classroom session. Accuracy in reproduction of equipment and uniforms is a patrol fetish.

FOOTBALL'S QUICK CHANGE . . .

Businessmen to Behemoths

It may seem like summer has hardly started, but football season is not far away.

While the collegiate gridders still are cavorting beside swimming pools and at the beach on their summer vacations, the pros are preparing to unlimber. Next week the Los Angeles Rams players head for their new training camp at Chapman College in Orange, where they'll do a quick change from businessmen to behemoths.

Ram players in off season hold positions ranging from stock broker to engineering cost estimator to executive director of an internationally famous sports enterprise—the auto racing track at Riverside.

But on July 18 they'll all begin a month-long training grind in preparation for five months of hand-to-hand combat that is professional football.

True, professional football has its glamorous side, but, ahh, those college days.—JEROME HALL.

While the pros are getting serious about football, UCLA fullback Mitch Dimlich (above) still is unconcerned about coming season. At poolside, he's shown with Bruin coed Sherry Carmel.

Ram linebacker Martin McKeever will put aside sales pitches until next January. He is shown [right] with Dr. George Brown, Burbank.

Les Richter [right], Ram linebacker, has among other careers a boys' camp partnership with Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale. Boy is Tim Ross. Richter also has raceway and real estate interests.

Roy Hord [right] is a cost estimator in a large construction firm when he's not a guard on the Ram offense. He and company executive Bill Miller go over Hollywood building plans.

Halfback Jon Arnett, a click at the Rams' box office, also has clicked off some "mileage" in ticker tape in business circles. In the gridiron off season he's a broker in Los Angeles firm.

From New York's Peppermint Lounge to Hollywood's Le Crazy Horse, young and old dancers are still

Twist Crazy

By Aubrey B. Haines

Mary Mitchel and Jeff Parker do the Twist, which is just what they do in "Twist Around the Clock," Sam Katzman Four Leaf film, a Columbia release.

WHEN recently President Kennedy called upon Americans to make themselves physically fit, the response seemed typical: people began dancing the twist, and are still at it.

This was not what the President meant, but from New York's Peppermint Lounge to Le Crazy Horse in Hollywood dancers are "twisting" off tons of flabby weight. If the current dance craze continues, Americans may become the best-conditioned people on earth.

Actually, the twist is not new. "It's about six dances behind," teen-agers say. Fred Astaire recalls doing the basic twist step some 20 years ago with his sister Adele. "We used it as an exit routine in several dances," he says. "It isn't a dance that I especially like, but if it's what people want, we should teach it in modified form with finesse."

RECENTLY, the twist took over several Hollywood film studios when four pictures were dreamed up, filmed, and completed. This proves that Hollywood producers move as fast as television film producers. The pictures were "Don't Knock the Twist," Columbia's "Twist Around the Clock," Louis Prima's "The Continental Twist," and Paramount's "Hey, Let's Twist." The Louis Prima picture was completely filmed in just a week!

Principal requirements for performing the twist seem to be skin-tight clothes and total lack of inhibition. Partners never touch each other—a result of its New York beginnings in cafes where the proprietors ordered no holding hands of partners, to avoid paying the city dance tax.

The dancer stands about eight inches from his partner, twisting his hips in circular motion—to the right, then to the left. He keeps his hips twisting as he superimposes various steps with his feet. He keeps his weight on his left foot and pretends to put out a lighted cigarette with his right foot. Then he shifts to his right foot and puts out another imaginary cigarette with his left foot. He wiggles simultaneously as though drying himself with a towel.

In the Los Angeles-Long Beach area not only night clubs and ballrooms but even burlesque clubs are featuring the twist. Any band leader who can wave a fiddle and shake his body is practically considered to be an authentic exponent of twist music. With few exceptions night clubs have stripped their marquees of famous names of entertainers in favor of selling twist music and other deviations.

Chubby Checker is a top Twist entertainer. He's also in the lineup for Katzman's "Twist Around the Clock."

THE TWIST craze has posed a problem for managers who book cafe entertainers. Most of them are familiar with standard night club attractions, but when it comes to twist idols, they are at a loss.

Last New Year's Eve, a twist contest was held at Freedom Hall in Louisville. The scene was described as "a huge room filled with cloth bags, each of which contained an angry wildcat." On that occasion William H. King sponsored the first national twist contest with several hundred squirming contestants and thousands of spectators. Prizes in merchandise totaled about $5,000, and entry was free.

The twist is not for everyone. A 79-year-old real estate broker dropped dead, apparently of a heart attack, just before Christmas as he danced the twist with 500 other dancers in a Los Angeles ballroom.

Someone has called the twist "the only dance in which you can wear out your clothes from the inside."

Another calls it "akin to a rain dance performed by a barefooted religious fanatic on a ground covered with nails."

It did not take long for the twist to make its way across the nation after New York's society set took the dance to heart in Manhattan's Peppermint Lounge. Dances such as the cha cha and the mambo achieved interest gradually, but acceptance of the twist has come with the impact of the weather phenomenon from which its name is partly derived.

OLDER PEOPLE seem to like it because it reminds them of the frantic Charleston and sinuous shimmy of their younger days. Matrons like it because it is guaranteed to take pounds off the hips. And teen-agers go for it because they are probably the instigators of the dance.

"It's like getting on a vibrator," a supermarket assistant manager observes.

A school teacher says: "My students talk of nothing else, and I was beginning to feel quite dated. Now I can teach them a thing or two about current dance history."

And a nurse from Massachusetts remarks, "Frankly, it goes against my New England upbringing."

Louis Prima does the Twist with June Wilkinson. Prima has a movie Twist assignment in "The Continental Twist." He recalls dance as the "Snarz."

She Packs a 50-Megaton Wallop

THE FRAGILE 96 pounds which is Sarah Miles packs a 50-megaton punch that is being heard all over Ireland, and right into Trafalgar Square.

Miss Miles is the wispy English girl who is a star in her first motion picture, playing opposite Laurence Olivier in "Term of Trial", the James Woolf production for Warner Bros.

It is not, to be sure, her physical strength which has drawn attention to Sarah—although the reports that she once shattered the ankle of a schoolgirl opponent during a lacrosse game. The Miles wallop comes from her personality and talent. She has a ready tongue, an uninhibited approach to acting and to life in general, and she is an appealing combination of sophistication and immaturity.

Although she comes from a prosperous Essex family ("My father builds steel plants all over the world"), Sarah has been more or less on her own since she was 16. At that time, with parental consent, she took an apartment in London so that she could study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. "They trust me. Mostly, I guess, because Mother thinks I'm sexless".

Sarah strikes a whimsical pose in "Term of Trial," in which she makes one giant stride to stardom. She has had two London stage roles and repertory experience.

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

This "instant" boat was built in one weekend for less than $35. It's roomy, safe, and easy to handle.

By Bill Meyerriecks

NOW IT'S an "instant" dinghy!

Starting from scratch, we built the pilot model pram from this plan in one weekend. That doesn't include painting, of course, because you have to let the paint dry between coats. But you can be in the water one week after you go to the lumber yard.

The only power tools we used were a portable saw and a rotary sander. You could do the same job with hand tools at a slower pace.

What's more, the boat materials can be purchased for between $30 and $35, depending mainly on what the charge is in your area for the two sheets of exterior plywood which form the sides and bottom.

The two plywood sheets are the main item on the lumber bill. Only other substantial items in the boat shopping list are a pint of waterproof glue and a large quantity of brass screws.

With this outlay and a weekend's carpentry, you get a broad-beamed, snub-nosed pram with an over-all length of 7 feet 10 inches and a beam amidships of 46 inches. It will accommodate up to three adults or more children. If you don't like to row, you can put a small kicker (up to 1½ horse) on the stern.

It doesn't look like an America's Cup contender, but it takes a backseat to none in easy handling on water or land. It weighs only 60 pounds one man can pick it up. It slides easily into the rear of a station wagon or rides lightly on the roof of a sedan.

The secret of its simplicity and speed of construction is the foolproof jig on which it's built. The Sketchbook plan, a real bargain on this project, tells you exactly how to prepare it and takes you through the boat assembly step by step in language everyone can understand.

If you want a boat for fishing or just for fun, here's your chance to get afloat at a remarkable low price in money and in time.

TO ORDER, specify Dinghy Plan S 60 and send name and address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif.

Restful Togetherness

RESTFUL togetherness is the feature of this handsome, easily made chaise-for-two for lawn or patio. It's just the right size for two, has an adjustable back that may be raised for reading, relaxing, sunbathing or watching television. The back may be lowered for a standard size bed for a nap in the lazy hours. Wheels make it easy to move.

Two regular outdoor furniture pads serve as a mattress. Parts are made of stock lumber and cost is slight when made at home, using full-sized pattern that has all details, materials list and illustrations.

To obtain pattern, send name and address and $1 in currency, money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine, Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. Specify Double Chaise Pattern No. 162.

Steve Terrell and Sibyle Collier of NBC-TV enjoy a rest, a bit of sun and a chat in chaise-for-two.

Address That Turned the Corner

By Stella George

WHERE they once wrote their address as 2316 San Vicente Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Speraw now give their residence as 5936 Los Arcos St., Long Beach—but they still live in the same house!

The situation came about when they completely remodeled their corner home and moved the front door to another side. The home, which was once quite small, consisted of a living room, tiny dinette and kitchen, three small bedrooms and a single bath. It now has a large entry hall, a family room off the enlarged kitchen, and a master bedroom suite the size of a double garage—in addition to all the former space.

Formerly the home contained 1,056 square feet of floor space plus 400 square feet in the garage. The house now has 1,865 square feet, the new garage 550, a covered patio 250, and a garden hut 75. To make the story about changes even more interesting, Speraw did the work and all the designing himself. He also designed the new landscaping that surrounds the home, having help only in such areas as the brick and stone work.

THE NEW front door leads to a large, square entry hall which was once the dinette. To the right is the living room, to the left a family room. The entry is very attractive in its smooth simplicity. The floor is white-and-gold vinyl; there is a low, white table along the far wall; a ball lamp hangs from the ceiling; and a facing mirror adds depth to the wall. A single colorful flower arrangement decorates the low table. Beside the front door is another smalled screen door (as tall but not as wide) that opens onto a full length glass. This adds light as well as ventilation, maintaining the privacy in the home.

Two changes were made in the original living room: the former porch area was inclosed to become part of the room and the fireplace area was redecorated with paneling above and mosaic tile around the fireplace.

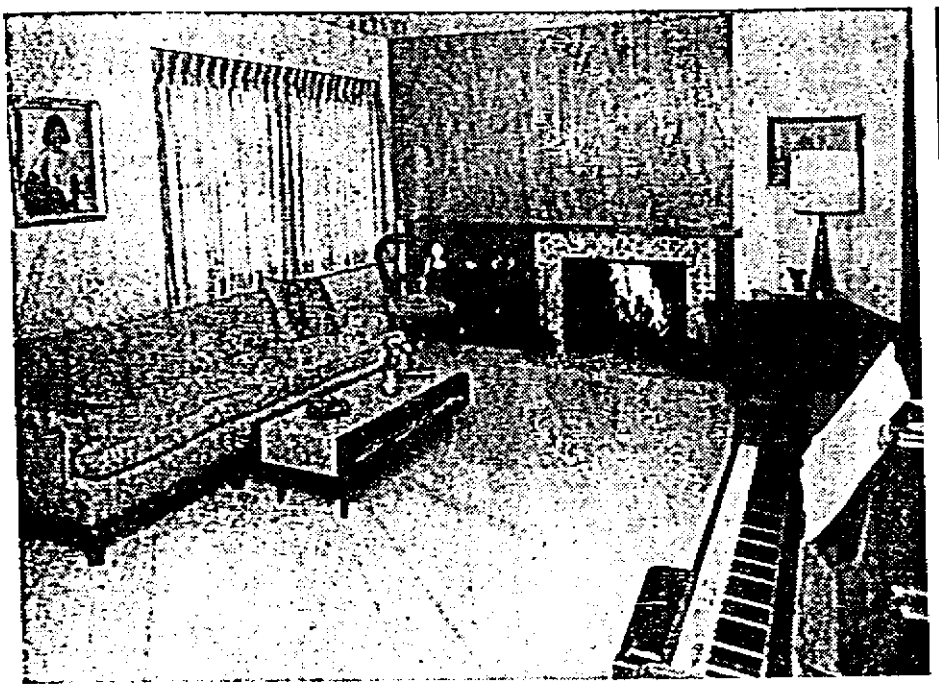

Furnishings are contemporary with a long couch and coffee table facing a spinet piano on the opposite wall. An heirloom chair, Queen Anne type, is near the fireplace. Other pieces are contemporary and shown to advantage on carved, champagne colored carpeting.

DOWN THE HALL from the living room, the three original bedrooms and bath provide a private wing in the home for the Speraws' three sons.

The new family room is just what such a room should be. One wall is entirely of glass, overlooking the patio. A round formica table and chairs are handy for dining and games. Two built-in couches, large enough to serve as beds when needed, meet in one corner at a built-in end table.

A bar which separates the kitchen from the family room is extra wide, which gives the kitchen an unusual amount of work area. When the bar was built, doors on the family room side below the bar at one end open to reveal the washer and dryer, ever handy for daily use, yet out of sight at all times.

The new master bedroom is in the area which was formerly a double garage. To add a luxury and functional aspect to the room, a bath and separate dressing room with walk-in closet adjoin.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Luxury Features And Economy, Too

By Jules Loh

WHAT constitutes economy in a home?

Architect Rudolph A. Matern provided an answer when he designed an imposing ranch with sleek, low lines and luxury features that impart an air of prestige.

"Nine rooms in less than 1,500 square feet is economy," said Matern, "and that's what House-of-the Week design B 66 has. Economy means a lot for the money — not necessarily an inexpensive home."

Matern provides more for the money, for instance, by putting back-to-back plumbing in the main bathroom and the bathroom off the master bedroom. Another half-bath (convenient for kids playing outdoors) was added off the mud room at a minimum of expense because it adjoins the plumbing facilities in the laundry, which in turn are in the same general location as the kitchen.

FURTHER economy resulted in the open plan of the kitchen family room and the living and dining rooms. Vertical separaters retain the formality of the latter. A simplified roof design is another money saver.

Matern sacrifices nothing to luxury or livability in any B 66 economy features, however. For example, the home has two fireplaces — a real touch of elegance—but both are served by an all-in-one chimney which also provides for a heater flue.

The 1,495-square-foot house has four bedrooms, though one could serve equally well, because of its location, as a music room or den. At 14 feet 4 inches by 10 feet, bedroom No. 2 can accommodate twin beds adequately, and is equipped with three closets. The master bedroom, 11 feet by 11 feet 10 inches and with four closets, has its own personal bath with shower stall. The main bath room, which has twin lavoratories, has a combination tub and shower.

The house is 27 feet 7 inches deep and 69 feet 4 inches wide, requiring a minimum lot width of 100 feet.

"AN IMPORTANT item in the economy consideration," said Matern, "is resale value. Subject to neighborhood, this home has top resale potential because of its livability and attractive exterior."

Much of the livability results from the excellent design of the kitchen family room area.

From the well planned 11-2 x 12-8 kitchen, mom has full view of the large 14x10-8 family room and the rear trellissed terrace which opens off the family room through sliding glass doors. The kitchen also has ready access to the garage, convenient for grocery shopping, and to the basement stairs and laundry.

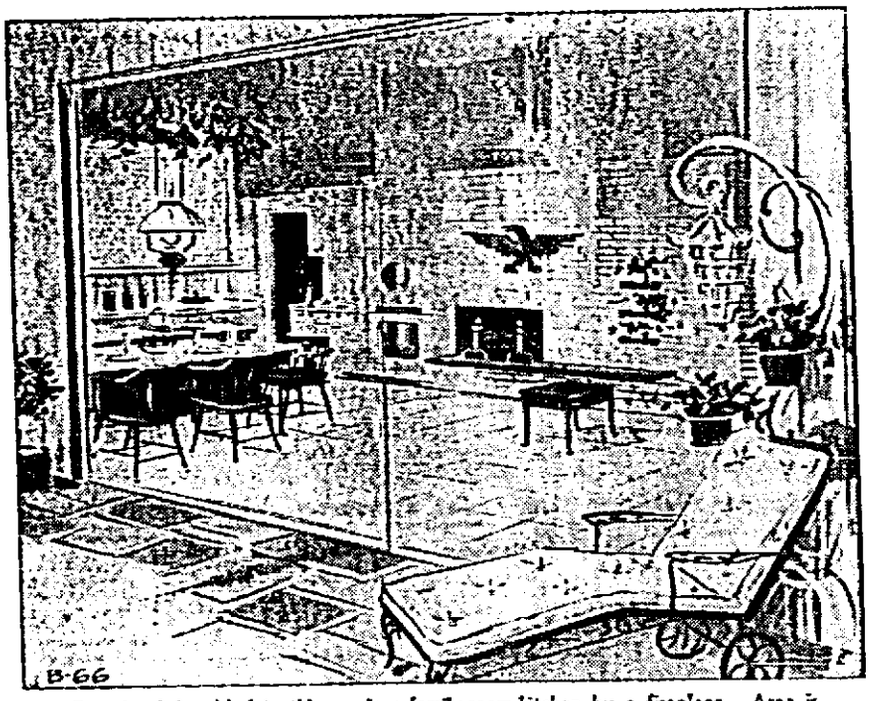

The house is clearly zoned for a quiet bedroom area, including a soundproof wall between bedroom No. 4 (or den) and the family room.

THE SPACIOUS living-dining room area also has elegant features.

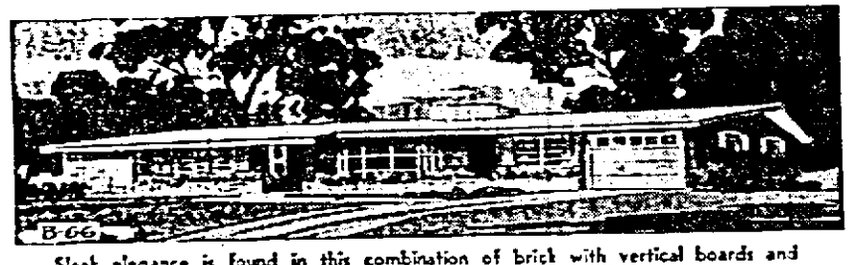

Highlighting the exterior is a brick veneer wall on the bedroom side which flows down into a long planter. Another planter, running the full 28 feet of the living and dining rooms, further accentuates the long, low lines of the house.

The end view of the attached garage is made attractive with two shuttered windows with flower boxes.

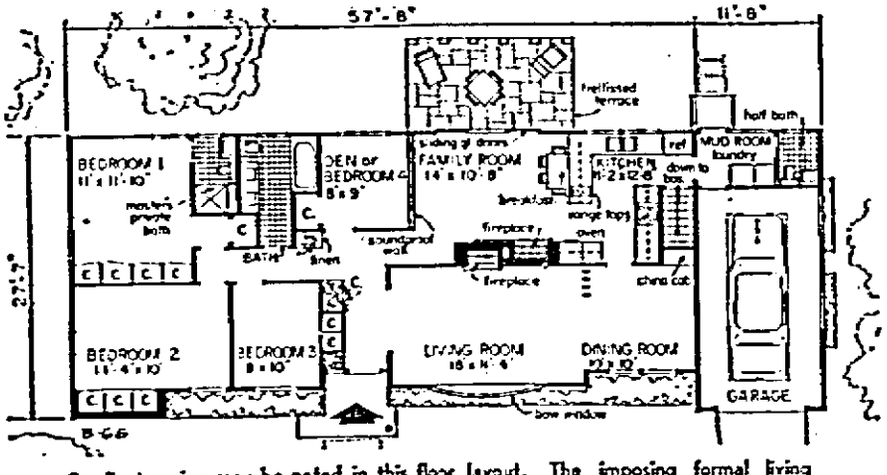

To obtain plans, address Building Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., enclose 50 cents and request House of the Week Study Plan, Design B-66.

Cozy touch is added to this spacious family-room-kitchen by a fireplace. Area is viewed through glass doors from a trellised terrace. Convenience is evident.

Sleek elegance is found in this combination of brick with vertical boards and planters, giving this four-bedroom ranch home a luxury look but with economy.

Excellent zoning may be noted in this floor layout. The imposing formal living and dining rooms are by the entrance, and family activity center toward rear.

GRADE CARD

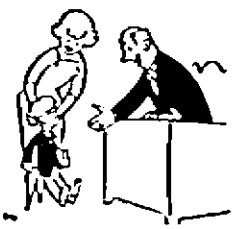

Choosing a School

By Harry Karns

Education Research Associates

QUESTION: "We are moving to a new area this summer. There are several school systems we can live in and still be near my husband's new job. How can I make sure I'm picking a good system?"

ANSWER: You won't know for sure until you have made your choice, lived in the system for a time, followed educational affairs closely, and visited school often.

But here are some factors to consider when making your choice:

1. Has the community been meeting its school needs? A system which has been defeating school bonds with regularity, neglecting its buildings, and underpaying its teachers probably is a second rate system and one which you should avoid.

2. How do the students of the system rank with other students in the nation? If the system ranks consistently low, something is wrong with its academic program.

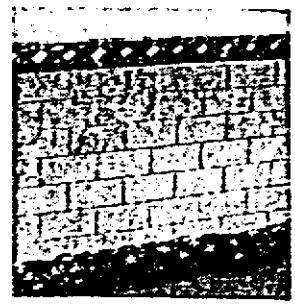

3. Is the system in a state of harmony—or in turmoil? Frequent changes of superintendents and other administrative personnel suggest instability. Is the system undergoing one of those upheavals that find advocates of one philosophical theory pitted against those of another? In such battles, the school child is the loser while the parents and schoolmen argue.

4. Does the system have a reputation for balance, or is it known for extremes? The system that follows the fad of the moment or consistently concentrates on one field at the expense of others turns out confused students, poorly prepared for college and life.

5. Does the system have serious discipline problems, or is the school administration firmly in control? A school's failure to maintain discipline can rob your child of valuable hours of learning every day. Avoid a system run by the students instead of the teachers.

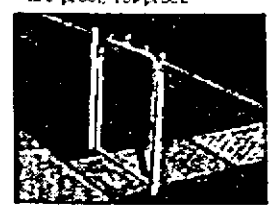

WHERE DO YOU obtain such information about school systems? Write the state superintendent of education, the county superintendent of schools. Talk with the education director of the nearest newspaper and with the education department of the nearest college. But as I said to begin with, you'll never know about a system for sure until you live with it.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

Redwood in modernized form features this new home addition: Lifecoat redwood siding on the outside, paneling inside for warm, rich color. The door is constructed of new Sonata Symphonic by Walter Dorwin Teague Associates.

Redwood Is Friendly

By John A. Senning

Wood and wood products from the giant redwood forests of California now are more popular than ever among homeowners, architects and builders, not only across the United States, but throughout the world. However, today redwood forests are scientifically managed to conserve the timber while assuring a continuing, dependable source of redwood for years to come.

Redwood's warm, natural color makes it a logical choice for both interior and exterior applications. Its resistance to weathering and insects give it a special plus as a building material. Its natural properties include durability and high strength in relation to light weight. It is easy to work and holds nails better than most woods.

AS A PAINTABLE surface, redwood is outstanding and has no peer among woods in a paint retention qualities. Its open cellular structure and low shrinkage factor help to maintain a strong bond between wood and finish films. Also, there are no oils or resin in redwood to weaken the paint film.

According to laboratory tests conducted by the California Redwood Association, one inch of redwood siding is equal to insulation value to 6¼ inches of brick, 15 inches of concrete block, 16½ inches of stucco and 1,863 inches of aluminum.

Recent scientific developments have improved even these characteristics of redwood. Lifecoat factory priming, developed and introduced by Simpson Timber Co., provides cost savings up to 40 per cent on finishing and eliminates weather worries during construction. This new product, shown in the color illustration, can be installed under almost any weather conditions. Only one finish coat is necessary and that can be applied whenever weather conditions are just right. This is a particular advantage to homeowners who wish to start projects in the late fall in localities plagued with inclement weather. A project started this summer or fall can have the finish coat applied even in the spring. The factory prime retains its handsome appearance during this entire period.

LIFECOAT REDWOOD is available in three stain primes: natural redwood red, as shown on this page; dark brown, and a driftwood gray. It also is available with a neutral paint prime for homeowners who prefer a painted surface.

This is a practical product for new construction and remodeling. Using furring strips, it can be applied directly to stucco, concrete block, or other materials, to reside an older home.

Redwood is available in either vertical or horizontal siding in a variety of patterns and surface textures. It also is available for interior paneling in a variety of patterns and finishes.

'Atomic Knife' Aids Surgery

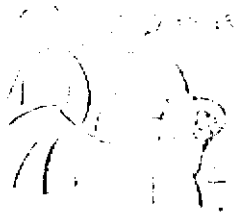

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical Science Writer

AN "ATOMIC KNIFE"—an invisible proton ray—has been used in Sweden to destroy cancer.

The procedure has been used so far to treat about 15 cases of uterine cancer at the Gustaf Werner Institute at Uppsala University.

The atomic knife is a synchrocyclotron or atom smasher that produces protons.

This ray acts as a surgeon's scalpel. It is invisible and painless.

Housed in the basement, 45 feet below the ground, the giant atom smasher directs the proton ray through a 70-foot horizontal tube into the operating room, where the patient is alone.

A SEMI-AUTOMATIC stapler that can join the cut ends of tiny blood vessels is being tested.

Canadian surgeons say the device will be especially valuable when organ transplantations become feasible.

Meanwhile, in Texas, a quick-setting plastic adhesive has been used to join the severed ends of major blood vessels in experimental animals.

As for transplantation of organs, the "immune reaction" still prevents it. The immune mechanism, which defends the body against invasion of foreign substances such as microbes, also rejects transplanted tissues. But a new finding by Dr. Robert A. Good of Minnesota may help scientists to hurdle this barrier.

Dr. Good reports new evidence that the thymus gland, long a puzzle, is the master organ in the development of immunity. The thymus, located just below the neck and behind the breastbone, appears to be responsible for producing antibody-making cells which establish the body's immunity system.

OF ALL DINNERWARE, the spoon is the cleanest from the standpoint of bacterial contamination, a study of restaurant hygiene in Connecticut reveals.

The problem is bar glasses, the study shows. High bacteria count on bar glasses was found to be almost commonplace, reports Modern Drugs.

A count of 100 bacteria per utensil is considered to be a safe level. But on bar glasses investigators found bacterial counts approaching 3,000.

WHEN IT FINALLY becomes possible to transplant human hearts, how long will doctors have to remove a heart from a dead human body?

Not very long, two Cornell University professors believe.

Up to now they have been able to revive the heart of a guinea pig that has been dead for 15 minutes. The heart was restored to full functioning, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The researchers put it this way: "The results suggest there is a definite, probably short, period of time after death that a heart can be removed and still function."

A NEW ANTI-ULCER drug called Robanul has produced excellent results in 57 of 62 patients, according to two Boston doctors reporting in the American Journal of Gastroenterology.

Three other patients experienced good results. Only two failed to respond.

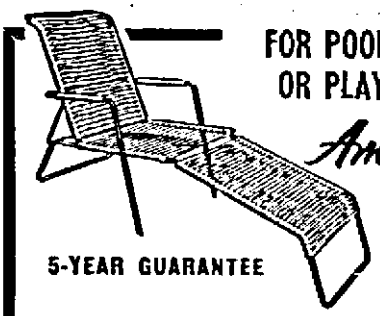

In almost all cases relief of discomfort occurred in two or three days, the researchers report.

The doctors call Robanul "extremely effective."

CAPSULES: Height of an 18-year-old dwarf was increased by nine inches in only 38 months by treatment with human growth hormone, Scripps Clinic researchers report. . . . Heavy cigarette smokers are true addicts, claim Boston University scientists. Sudden cessation of smoking by these persons is often followed by restlessness, irritability and sometimes a slowing of the heart.

The stresses against an artificial heart valve are tremendous, observes the AMA Journal. Reason: A prosthetic heart valve must open and close about 100,000 times a day. That's 37 million times a year.

The tempo of medical communication increases. The world's 4,000 medical journals now publish more than 250,000 articles in 30,000 issues a year. Endeavoring in vain to keep up with this flood are ISS indexing and abstracting services.

Bygone Era

The piano was part of a consignment of fine furniture purchased from a merchant in San Francisco, given to Mrs. Healey when she married Capt. Healey and transhipped to Long Beach when the Healeys finally established their home here. It arrived in San Francisco by ship from around the Horn and may have been the first instrument of its kind on the Pacific Coast.

Miss Dorothy Kenyon, a granddaughter of Mrs. Healey presented the piano to Banning House when the house was being refurnished in the style of the period when it was an important social center.

A NEW ACHIEVEMENT IN SANITARY PROTECTION!

5 reasons why new Confidets make other leading sanitary napkins out-of-date, ill-fitting and inadequate...

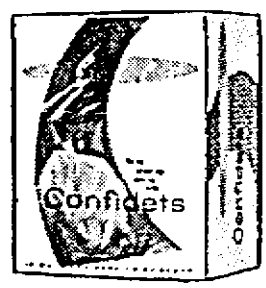

1. Only true anatomical shape. Confidets® are the only sanitary napkin fully tapered and shaped to fit body contours. Wide in front for more protection—narrow in back for greater comfort—don't bunch or bulge. Confidets can be worn with any standard belt . . . fasten easily, fit securely.

2. Only one with proportioned depth for more protection. No other napkin has extra thickness in middle where greatest absorbency is needed. Protects like a super pad with less bulkiness than a junior size.

3. Only accident-proof inner shield that's full size and securely held in position. Moisture simply cannot penetrate this feather-light shield, so under part of this new napkin stays dry, soft.

4. Only multi-layer filler with this unique arrangement. It holds 8 times its weight in moisture as proved by laboratory tests. The pure, fine quality materials absorb at maximum speed. You're blissfully secure with Confidets!

5. Exclusive ultra soft-strength cover. Only Confidets has a cover so comfortably soft against the skin yet has so much flexible strength in use. Try Confidets—developed and patented by Scott Paper Company.

temperature. A powerful pumping system tucked under the vessel insures a soothing circulation through 10 jets in the sides of the tub.

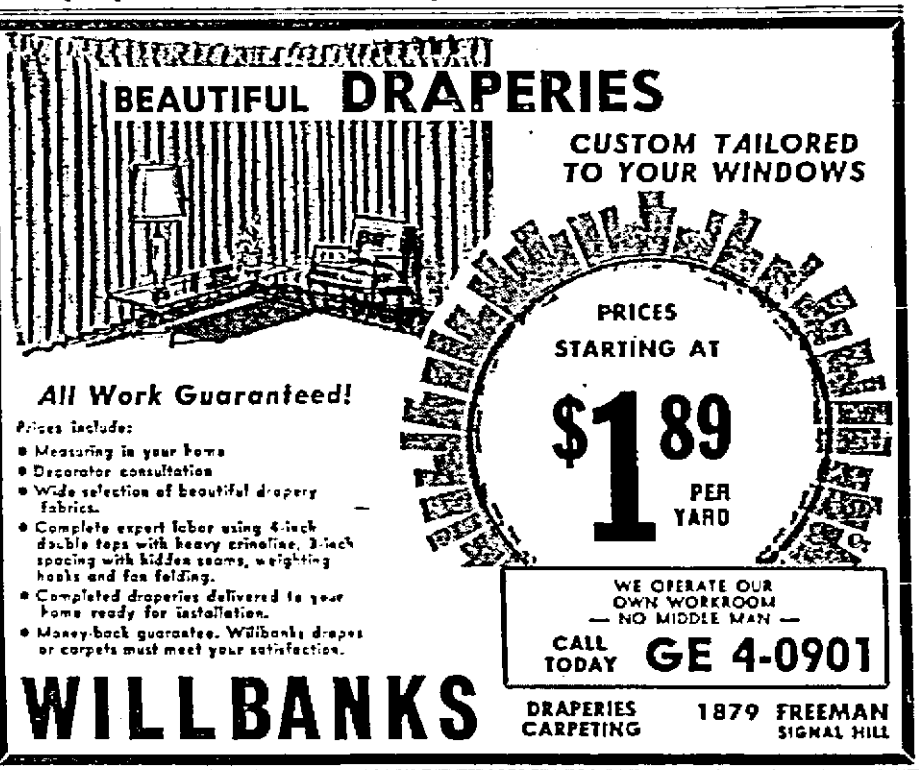

As the result of relaxing neutral buoyancy, constant body temperature and a built-in hydromassage, Cameron says the sleeper awakens completely refreshed after only three or four hours of slumber instead of the usual seven or eight.

"We already know that the brain needs only about an hour's sleep — most sleeping time is spent becoming comfortable enough to give the brain this brief rest," he explains.

CAMERON INSISTS there is no danger of drowning in his bed. Normally, unequal pressures against the body produce tired muscles and force the sleeper to roll over. But Aquarest eliminates the unequal pressures, Cameron says, thereby removing the urge to toss and turn.

Several bugs must be ironed out before the device has a chance for mass appeal. For example, milady is hardly ready to risk an $5 hairdo in the soothing waters.

At this point Aquarest seems ideal only for the single man with no psychological prejudice against sleeping in a bathtub and $945 to spare.

You Ask, We Answer

By Haskin

Q. How much did old-time country doctors charge their patients for a call? N. A.

A. Fees were not standardized. An average country doctor might charge 25 to 50 cents for a local visit, or $1 for an all night vigil with a patient. Small-town doctors sometimes set a scale such as $1 for a daytime visit, $2 for a visit not over four miles, and 50 cents for each additional mile. Even when fees were set, payment was uncertain or long delayed, and was often in the form of produce. Few doctors expected to be paid in full or in cash.

Q. What was the biggest cheese ever made? R. M.

A. There are records of a number of outsize cheeses dating well back into the past, but it is difficult to identify the largest of all time. In 1937, a monstrous Cheddar weighing 6 tons was exhibited in the New York State Fair at Syracuse, N. Y., and about 75 years ago the Toronto Fair boasted a 4-ton cheese. The gift of a mammoth cheese to President Jefferson on New Year's Day 1802 started a tradition which extended to the Van Buren and Jackson administrations. Jefferson's gift cheese weighed 1,600 pounds and Jackson's 1,400.

Q. Where in the Bible is the passage about the "voice of the turtle"? — L. P.

A. In the Song of Solomon 2:11, 12. In the King James Version the passage reads: "For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; The flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voice of the turtle is heard in our land." In the Revised Standard Version it is: "The time of singing has come, and the voice of the turtle dove is heard in our land."

Q. How long were the Philippines a U. S. possession? N. C.

A. From 1898, when they were ceded to the U. S. by Spain and became a territorial possession, until they became an independent republic on July 4, 1946.

Q. What is the maximum age at which a midshipman may enter the U. S. Naval Academy? T. M.

A. Twenty-two. A candidate must be not less than 17 nor more than 22 years of age on July 1 of the calendar year in which he enters the Academy at Annapolis.

Patio Buffet That's Different

For a happy start on the patio season, serve Rock Cornish hens. See article right for the full menu.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

TO GIVE a buffet served in the patio a "different" turn, serve Rock Cornish hens with corn flake-pecan stuffing and currant sauce.

The corn flake-nut dressing is a good texture and flavor contrast for the succulent Rock Cornish hens. It is a combination of crushed corn flakes, fresh mushrooms, celery, onion, light raisins, and pecans. This dressing is especially easy to make because the corn flakes require so little preparation; merely crushing.

Breakfast cereals, when used as a recipe ingredient, can add variety and interest to your creative cookery—plus making nutritional contributions by the addition of protein, B vitamins, and minerals.

Rock Cornish Hens

- ¾ cup chopped fresh mushrooms
- ¾ cup chopped celery
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- ¾ cup butter or margarine
- ⅓ cup light raisins
- ½ cup chopped pecans
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 4½ cups corn flakes, crushed to make 1½ cup crumbs
- ¼ cup hot water
- 4 Rock Cornish hens, about 1 pound each

Saute mushrooms, celery, and onion in ⅓ cup butter or margarine until onion is soft. Add raisins, pecans, ½ teaspoon salt, and poultry seasoning; mix well. Stir in cereal crumbs. Add water and toss. Spoon into covered baking dish. Bake in oven with Rock Cornish hens during last 30 minutes of roasting time. Clean hens; salt cavities with remaining ½ teaspoon salt. Truss. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Roast in moderate oven (375 degrees F) until tender, about 1 hour. Melt remaining butter or margarine. Brush hens several times during cooking time with remaining melted butter or margarine. Serve with Currant Sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

Currant Sauce:

- 1 jar (10 ounce) currant jelly
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon or ground cloves.

Combine ingredients. Place over low heat; simmer until jelly melts and flavors blend, about 5 minutes. Yield: 1¼ cups.

$5 for Your Recipe

TASTY SALAD is the recipe chosen for the $5 prize this week. The winner: Mrs. Robert E. Shaw, 11712 Glen Cove Dr., Garden Grove. The recipe:

Pineapple-Cream Cheese Delight Salad

- 1 pkg. orange Jello
- ½ lb. marshmallows (about 36)
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
- ½ lb. cream cheese
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup cream, whipped, folded in last
- 1 pkg. lime Jello

Dissolve the Jello in the boiling water and mix in the marshmallows and chill until slightly thick. Then mix in the pineapple, cream cheese mayonnaise and the cup of cream whipped as last ingredient. Return to refrigerator until firm. Prepare the package of lime Jello and pour on top of above mixture when it has cooled but before it sets. Serves 12 to 16.

Lt. Lee points to original recruiting poster placed on patrol headquarters building at Knott's Berry Farm.

Custer's Ghost Patrol

The uniforms and other equipment are eagerly sought by the members who scour antique stores, attics of friends and relatives, and appeals to the general public. The Quartermaster Corps of the U.S. Army has much brand-new equipment stored, but it is difficult to get them to release it.

A fine supply room is maintained in the headquarters building and when a new man is recruited he can be issued clothing and equipment to start him on his training period. As the man continues with the unit, he has the responsibility of supplying his own uniform and turns in the original issue as soon as possible.

SOME SUPPLY items are corporation equipment, but a man may have guns, leather equipment such as belts, boots, gloves, and McClellan saddles, blankets, canteen, bayonet, mess kit, brass fittings, and other items to use as necessary. This policy meant a lot of hard work for the men, but it was John Lee, a skilled gunsmith and now advisor to the group, who was able to gather together a number of regular issue Springfield 45-70 carbines, a single-shot rifle. By trading parts he was able to supply serviceable weapons for issue to each trooper.

THE UNIT'S dedication to these purposes is one reason its total enlistment is only 22 men and officers. The problem in recruiting men was well stated by Trooper Dennis Hoggarth of Long Beach: "Men are often interested in joining up with us until they find out that we are not a social unit. We lose them fast when they see that we are serious about reproducing the soldier's life and training of the Indian War period."

The patrol's dedication is further emphasized by the fact that the group meets two Sundays each month to train, for which they receive no remuneration. The spirit of the group was stated by Cpl. William Olsen of Corona del Mar: "Instead of paying us for service, members of E Troop contribute their time, effort, uniforms and equipment, and $25 per year dues to belong. I feel it is a matter of patriotism to keep alive the accurate historical image of the frontier cavalryman."

Recruiting is helped a great deal by the public relations program E Troop is carrying out. 1st Sgt. Jerry Laws of Redondo Beach explained these activities: "Any group can have the services of two of our soldiers who will bring items of interest for display and put on a 35-40 minute program by making arrangements at least one month in advance. We can also show a silent movie on the cavalryman that will be narrated by the attendant."

For the past two years, the unit also joined the U.S. Army in presenting an unusual historical display of uniforms and weapons at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona.

Besides this recruiting and obtaining of physical equipment, it is necessary for a cavalry unit to be mounted on occasion. Many of the men own their own mounts, but those who do not rent them from a ranch at Glendora where 1,000 acres of diversified land is available for riding and for overnight bivouacs that give the men the real feel of the frontier.

Ages of the men are from 19 to 60, and the patrol draws from all walks of life. The men have combined their efforts to win prizes in every parade they have entered, and have made numerous appearances on TV. However, they have refused many offers to appear in Hollywood films because they would have had to sacrifice the "trueness" of dress and manner of the cavalry man, as well as accuracy in equipment used. Keeping accurately alive the tradition, dress, training, and discipline of the cavalryman of 1876 are the important factors in keeping together this group to perpetuate a colorful chapter in American history.

The Time of Adam

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

PERHAPS the most ambitious work of fiction this year is Hiram Haydn's "THE HANDS OF ESAU" (Harper, $7.50). This exceedingly complicated and introspective novel is the first of a projected trilogy entitled "The Generations of Adam." In preparation are "Jacob at the Well" and "The Banks of Jabbok."

The central character in "Esau" is foundation executive Walton Herrick who, at the beginning of the summer of 1953, has recently acquitted himself brilliantly before a congressional investigating committee dominated by the influence of McCarthyism.

Three life-changing situations confront him: a struggle at the foundation is indirectly related to Herrick's appearance before the committee; he is being considered as a possible candidate for governor of Connecticut; and his wife is leaving him.

Herrick, an eminently successful man at 45, spends most of the summer reassessing his life and trying to find himself. A third of this long, 784-page novel is divided into flashbacks dealing with several generations of both his paternal and maternal forebears.

Author Haydn makes Herrick walk the dark and bright corridors of the soul. The shadows of Herrick's strong — and opposite — minded grandfathers wrestle for supremacy in that soul.

Unquestionably, this book is largely autobiographical. In many ways it is a great novel. The action flags occasionally, expecially in the exhaustive flashbacks, but the torment is so honestly and beautifully presented, the reader finds he also is involved in this ambivalent mental war.

The novel's central truth is contained in one sentence spoken by Herrick's essential self (neither conscious nor subconscious) to the reader, "Walton Herrick's no nuttier than you."

This striped, slant-eyed fellow adorns the cover of "WHOLLY CATS," by Faith McNulty and Elisabeth Keiffer, new book on cats and cat lore (Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50)

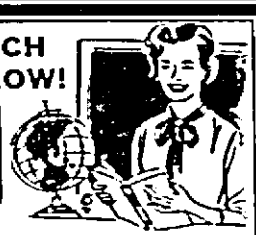

SURE, AN' SHE ISN'T afther bein' sassy Irish, like Shaw, or wild Irish, like Behan, nor smitin' Irish, like O'Casey, but the lady, bless her, is Irish nevertheless, even though she's Anglo-Irish, and Elizabeth Bowen's "SEVEN WINTERS AND AFTERTHOUGHTS" (Knopf, $5) is Irish through and through, which, in literature means thoroughly charming.

The fine novelist turns her hand to reminiscences of her day at dancing school she says: ". . . as we trickled into our places across the floor, we little girls, as white as the ballerinas of Swan Lake, but with the action of clumsy cygnets . . . we all felt that something psychic inside each child or the day had already determined whether that child, today, should be a duffer or able to dance."

In the "Afterthoughts" section of the book there are discussions of Trollope, Katherine Mansfield, Virginia Woolf and other writers, well worth staying for.

STUART CHASE, in "AMERICAN CREDOS" (Harper, $3.95) uses Elmo Roper, Gallup and other pollsters to fix the American character. He does this by way of revealing the basic attitudes and beliefs of Americans on such matters as foreign policy, defense, science, education, big business and religion.

Tahoe Takes the Dice

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Southland Magazine Travel Editor

LAKE TAHOE

IT USED to be that folks motored up here over somewhat primitive roads to get away from it all.

Many still do, but a great many more swish into the area from the south on Hwy. 50—now a freeway most of the way from Sacramento—and keep right on going through the South Shore district until they reach Stateline, Nev.

Stateline, Nev., is just across a narrow street from a place called Stateline, Calif., apparently has become the third largest gambling city in Nevada, and is growing like Jack's beanstalk.

Cuddling right up to the imaginary line on both sides of the street of the Nevada side is Tahoe Harrah's, which would be big league among the casinos in either Reno or Las Vegas.

WHETHER THEY play a nickel, a C-note, or nothing, visitors find Harrah's quite a sight. It's not only claimed to have the largest casino anywhere, but has other amenities. For instance, the South Shore Room, which has a mammoth, electronified stage, can seat 800 or more for dinner (with champagne, if desired) and entertainment by such talent as Dinah Shore, Art Linkletter and Danny Kaye.

Next door on the left is Harvey's Wagon Wheel, now undergoing a multi million dollar expansion which in no way interferes with the dice, roulette, black jack and slot machines on the lower levels.

THE WAGON WHEEL will be an 11-story resort casino and convention center with eye-popping innovations. As an example, an entertainment pavilion has just been opened over the parking area. When this, the Tahoe area's first skyscraper, is completed in the Fall it will have 204 rooms, a convention hall seating 750, and a 550-seat restaurant on the top floor.

Oddly enough, there will be no gaming in the new restaurant.

What do parents do with their kids when they roll the dice?

That's a good question now, but it is being solved by one casino. In addition to moving its children's theater to a new building, a complete children's recreation center is being built. It will include such sports as basketball and table tennis for teeners who can't crash the gaming rooms, even with parents.

BUT EVEN WITH the completion of the Wagon Wheel's hotel facilities, the California side of South Shore will remain the community's "bedroom" for the most part.

Grace Carriker of the Lake Tahoe South Shore Chamber of Commerce estimates that there are more than 300 motels all around the lake, 225 of them right in the South Shore area. The South Shore establishments, alone, will bed down more than 4,000 visitors a night. Accommodations run from $5 to $25 and more for two people, depending upon the type of unit desired and its proximity to the casinos. Some of these are ultra swank, and with two pools each.

But to get back to those who drive up here to forget their troubles AND the casinos: the view is still here, and it's magnificent. The weather is sparkling. The Forest Service is constantly adding facilities in the parks and on the beaches.

FOR THOSE who like sports, swimming, boating and sun-lazing remain popular. The first of future annual speed boat regattas is slated Sept. 29-30. And, advertised for completion in November is a new aerial tramway with enclosed cable cars for sightseers.

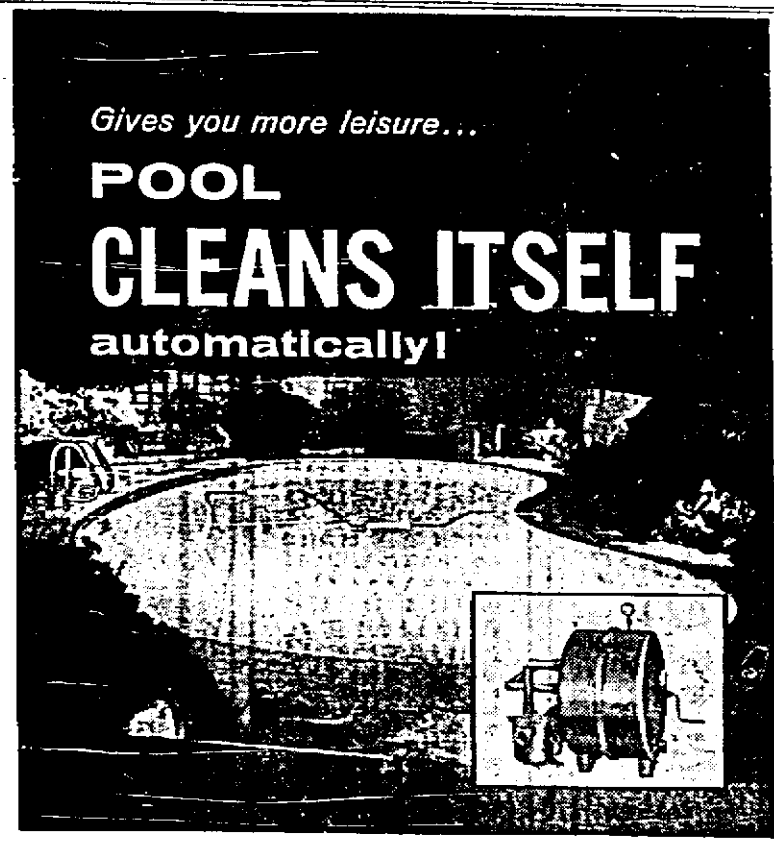

But, after all, the greatest number of visitors bring with them a gambling spirit. Demonstrating this fact is the story told by one visitor, who approached an elderly woman playing three slot machines at once.

"May I take over one of these bandits?" he asked.

"No you can't," she replied without taking her eyes from her work, "I'm playing them all and I've never had so much fun in all my life!"

"Most books on countries are for people living out of a suitcase and touring. But we want something that tells how to live in a European country for one year. . . ."

BEST I've found is put out by Pan American Airways—"New Horizons Living Abroad." Covers living conditions in 88 countries. Schools, cost-of-living, health, things you need to bring with you. Some book stores or write Box 1790, New York City. Price: $4.95 plus tax.

"My greatest worry is how many cigarettes can I take into France. . . ."

Customs says five cartons and you could probably stretch it to six. American cigarettes are available in all tourist centers at 60 cents a package.

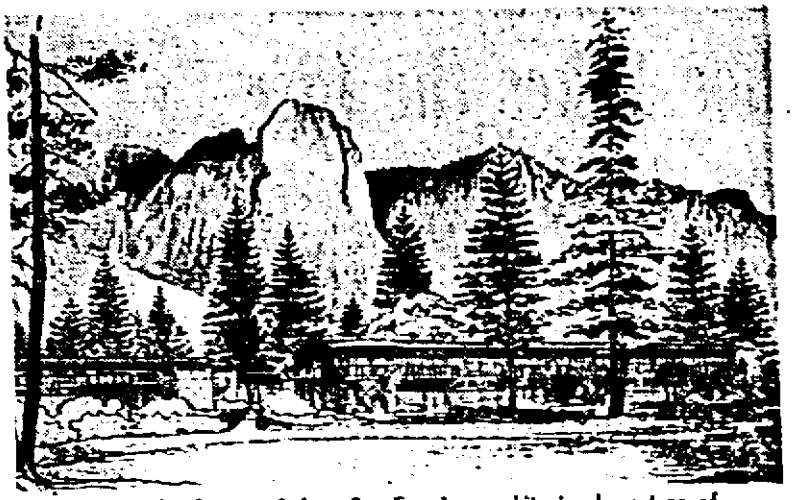

"Would you suggest going to Hawaii by tour or independently?"

Independently. This is the U.S. You don't need the language, tipping and other help of tours—though a tour does give you companions and assured hotel reservations.

Once in the islands, tours to the outer islands might be better for easy organization. Also I'd make the Gray Line tour around the island, the visit to Iolani Palace and the Pearl Harbor tour. Cheaper than doing it by taxi on your own.

Drawing by Spencer & Lee, San Francisco architects, shows type of construction of new $2 million guest facility at Yosemite Lodge.

$2 Million Yosemite Improvements

CONSTRUCTION will start soon on a new 100-room guest facility at Yosemite Lodge, in Yosemite National Park.

Decision to proceed with the long-planned $2 million project was reached by Yosemite Park and Curry Co. following approval of a 30-year contract with the National Park Service.

Two types of buildings (shown in the sketch) are planned. The building at the left will provide 30 rooms, half of which will face the north, half south; each ground floor room will have a small private terrace; each second-floor room, a balcony. There will be 20 rooms in building sketched at right. Exterior construction will be of redwood, finished in natural tones to blend with the wooded surroundings. To accomplish the 100 rooms, two buildings of each type will be constructed.

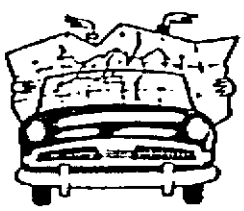

In addition to improvements at Yosemite Lodge, 100 units at Housekeeping Camp also will be built.

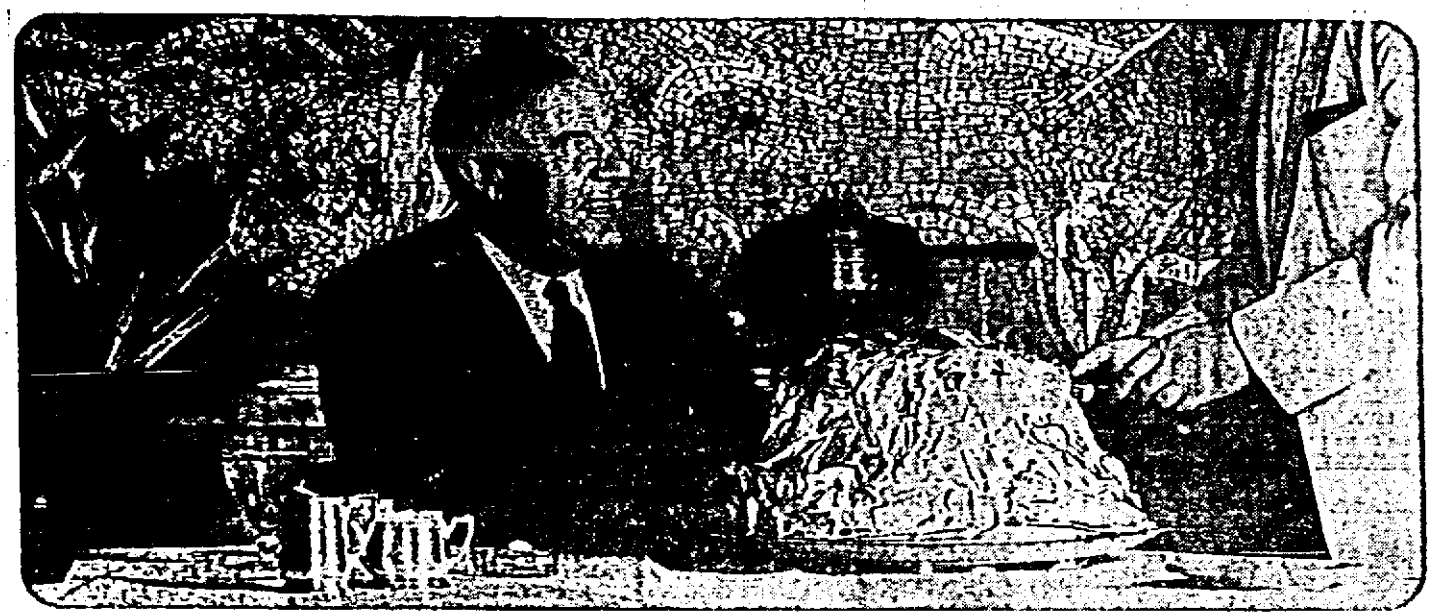

The new construction will represent replacement of existing accommodations to improve public service and will not mean an increase in capacity, it was pointed out.

"Fine. So long as it's business. But when it comes to personal leisure, I draw the line. In my book, there's only one kind of holiday worth taking. The kind that gives you a complete change from your normal routine. In this class, Matson Resort Liners to Hawaii win in a walk.

"These ships are full-fledged, vacation resorts, staffed by the finest personnel to come down the pike. You can't touch them for competence.

"And when it comes to food, facilities, comfort, Matson does it in spades. As well or better than any first class spa you'll find on land – anywhere in the world. And I've sampled more than a few.

Little Sun-Bather

By Eleanor Avery Price

Favorite of all the interesting and helpful lizards is the "horned toad." With good care, he's a good pet.

IF you have a little "dragon" like the one pictured with this article, give him good care and he may live for some time as a clean, curious, amusing, shly friendly pet.

The horned lizard, popularly called horned toad, is not easily seen in his native habitat for he blends with his environment. He is an expert at freezing, and at other times will rapidly disappear into a rocky crevice or under a bush. He may go into a series of contortions and quickly bury himself in soft sand. Nature also helped by giving him horns on his head. They prevent snakes from swallowing him. And some species can squirt a tiny stream of blood from their eyes, a phenomenon seldom seen as it usually occurs only if the lizard puffs up angrily when roughly handled after shedding his skin following winter hibernation.

A female horned lizard is usually plumper, her tail shorter. Her mate may sport a brighter coat.

A CAPTURED horned lizard may hiss occasionally, but once you hold him in your hand and softly stroke him on his back, he will calm down. If you stroke him between the eyes, he will seem hypnotized and fall asleep. He dislikes being turned upside down.

Obtain a desert terrarium with hinged screen top, or get a wooden box and put a screen lid on top. Spread an inch of clean dry sand or grit on the bottom, deeper at one corner so the lizard can burrow. Don't be alarmed if he sinks out of sight. He digs in for the night. He also needs to have a winter nap so he will be spry the next spring.

Sink a shallow pan of water in one corner of his home in case the pet wants to sit and absorb moisture. He probably does not drink water but gets it from the food he eats.

The horned lizard may not eat if the temperature drops below 70. You can keep his home warm with a light bulb, but remember he is a sunbather and appreciates being placed where mild sunshine can get to him several hours daily. Never put a glass over the box, however, for it will concentrate the sunshine and cook the pet.

OFFER soft-bodied insects and meal worms. If there are large red ants in your yard, collect some on a piece of wax paper smeared with a bit of honey or soft candy. The lizard will lap them up with his thick, sticky tongue. Don't be alarmed if the pet eats only once or twice weekly.

Some species dig holes in sand in spring or early summer and lay as many as two dozen eggs. Others give birth to their young along about August. The babies like to crawl upon their mother's back when she is perched on a rock. This gives them a sunbath while at the same time rests their legs.

CAMERA ANGLES

Give Your Lens New Speed

By the Shutterbug

FOR STILLS, or for movies, just about any camera worthy of the name will make good pictures of every-day subjects in good light. Where the faster lenses get in their licks is for fast-moving targets, especially when the light is poor.

But all picture-makers know this. And all of them also know that it's the extra bit of lens speed that makes a fast still-camera shutter really useful, and, often, slow-motion movies possible—as well as being the reason for the amount on most camera price tags. Now, however, for full-color picture-making, you can "buy" yourself added lens speed by merely loading with a faster color film. When, for example, that film is Kodachrome II, your camera lens immediately becomes 2½ times as fast as it has been before. And this is for optimum exposure results. As this new color film has a marked degree of exposure latitude, the gain is even greater than this.

APART FROM increased picture-making range, outdoors or indoors, a faster film means that you can shoot at smaller lens openings — and it's no news to anyone that the-smaller-the-lens-aperture, the-sharper-the-picture. What's more, Kodachrome II, itself, is a "sharper" and more detailed film, which virtue you'll find particularly apparent in extra-bright and extra-dark picture areas. Outdoors, in other words, for sand or snow, and for otherwise dark shadows; indoors, for often over-lighted flesh tones, as well as for the frequently underexposed surrounding areas.

Spring and summer activity is often fast-paced. Stopping such action, with the fastest-possible shutter speed, has been the objective of still-picture makers. Now, with a speedier color film, they can really fracture seconds!

IN MOVIE-MAKING, of course, the goal is not to stop motion but rather to record it as clearly as possible — which is especially true of 8mm filmers who want to show big-screen movies with one of the newer and more brilliant 8mm projectors. For them, and for almost any movie opportunity, the new film is the obvious answer. Yet in movies shutter speed can become important for the making of slow-motion pictures that do such a beautiful job in transforming fast and sometimes uneven action into detailed and graceful motion studies. The four-times-faster shutter pace of 64-frame filming demands a compensating increase in either lens or film speed — and, especially in bad weather or late in an otherwise bright day, a faster film can be a big help.

Indoors, of course, speed is everything. Speed of film means that, most times, you can use one of your camera's smaller instead of one of its larger lens openings. And on the count of shooting range, extra film speed, translated into added lens speed, means that you can now capture subjects which, heretofore, have simply been beyond your reach.

Roses Don't Just 'Happen So'

By Joe Littlefield

DESPITE all the advice from the professionals, many gardeners like to know some of the secrets of individual growers, particularly in the field of successful rose culture.

Mrs. George J. C. Thorne, president of the Santa Barbara Rose Society, gives some rules that are particularly appropriate because Mrs. Thorne is a business woman and has limited time to care for her garden. Nevertheless, she grows a bountiful garden of beautiful roses.

Here are some of Mrs. Thorne's comments:

"High temperatures that are encountered in July make thorough, deep irrigation of roses at regular intervals a necessity. If this precaution is taken, plants will suffer no setback, which can easily occur if they are allowed to dry out. Given a normal monthly feeding of a complete fertilizer (4-10-4 is best here), and regular spraying as a preventative rather than a cure, the reward will be many lovely blooms.

"MANY GROWERS in the Southland have kept their roses relatively free of mildew and some pests by a daily overhead watering of the plants in the early morning hours. However, in the Santa Barbara (coastal) area such a practice would be unwise. Our close proximity to the coast with fogs and the humidity that prevails, is a perfect buildup for fungus diseases and overhead spraying can increase the chances of both mildew and rust invading the rose beds. This does not mean however, that the roses should never be watered overhead. Indeed it is most refreshing to them but should be done early in the day to avoid leaf burn from the heat.

As pointed out, roses need plenty of moisture and a brief overhead watering does not supply the needed amount. Using soil soakers is suggested to insure good penetration. If this is done first and followed by a refreshing overhead watering much benefit is obtained. But the wise rosarian will then follow up the watering session with a thorough spraying. A combined fungicide and insecticide should be used. It is never advisable to spray roses that have not been watered ahead of spraying.

"GOOD housekeeping in the garden means healthier plants. Remove open blooms before petals fall. Rose gardens with dead flowers, discarded petals and foliage accumulating, offer little beauty. Under proper management, roses are used with dramatic success in landscaping.

"This is a good time to make sure there is sufficient mulch on the rose beds to keep the root zone cool. Also check to be sure the crown area is not covered with mulch. Removing spindly growth from the plant, maintaining an open center to insure better air circulation, are helpful in keeping fungus and pests out of the rose garden."

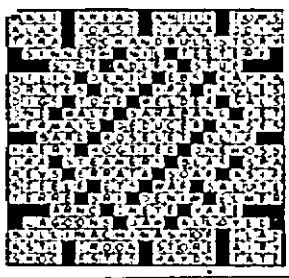

Beautiful roses, like Tiffany (above), don't just happen. They come about through following cultural rules.

Fuchsia Events

Two events of interest to shade plant fanciers and their friends are scheduled for the coming week by Long Beach Fuchsia Society. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave., for a showing of slides of the recent fuchsia and shade plant show. A plant table will be offered. Visitors are welcome.

A pancake breakfast will be served by the group from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. July 15 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, 3736 Falcon Ave. Joe Littlefield, garden writer and lecturer, will be a guest of honor. Tickets may be obtained from all Fuchsia Society members.

Junipers Are Forever Young

Junipers grew at each side of this entrance, adding a note of grace to the more formal architectural lines.

By Walter Finch

THERE IS a juniper for almost every garden purpose. They range in height from 20-inch specimens used as ground covers to the upright varieties that may grow to 15 feet at maturity. One of the most desirable features of the juniper is its ability to look well even when subjected to persistent abuse and given a minimum of care.

Junipers belong to the pine family and during ancient times the genus name of juniperus was believed to indicate a plant that was "forever young." Even modern-day junipers bear out this interpretation for the oldest specimens have a young and healthy look. There are a large number of varieties although the average nurseryman stocks only about five or six types.

THE CREEPING junipers are of course recommended for ground-cover purposes and all of these prefer an open exposure and plenty of sun. The better varieties in this group will remain under two feet, although all respond favorably to pruning. Some of these produce both scale-like and needle-like foliage on the same plant.

The upright-growing forms may be employed toward the rear of borders, as dividers and for screening purposes. These junipers range in height from about 8 to 15 feet. Many make massive-sized shrubs at maturity. One of the most notable in this group is Pfitzer's juniper, which has been grown in this area for many years. It is fast-growing and produces gray-green foliage. Some varieties have greenish-yellow leaves.

One of the most popular of the spreading varieties for Southern California is Juniperus sabina tamarix. Because if its ground-hugging appearance nurserymen refer to it as a prostrate-growing type. It seldom grows higher than 18 or 20 inches, although in time it may attain a lateral spread of close to six feet.

ENTIRELY different in appearance is the narrow Irish juniper recognized botanically as Juniperus communis hibernica fastigiata. This should be used where height, rather than width, is desired. The plant grows to about seven feet but seldom exceeds 20 or 22 inches across. It is at its best in either full sun or part shade.

One of the more novel varieties is Juniperus chinensis twisted, its name being due to the twisted appearance of the plant. This is a compact variety, seldom growing beyond a height of 7 to 8 feet tall.

I think it is best to stop cultivating chrysanthemums about July 15, and at that time give them a 3- or 4-inch mulch of cow manure. This seems to carry them along to the time when the buds start to set. Then give them one feeding with a good well-balanced commercial fertilizer that is heavy in potash. Keep the plants well staked and tied and, when they show color, spread cheesecloth over them to protect them from the hot sun.

I believe in watering overhead up until the time the buds appear because it seems to keep the foliage clean and allow the plants to breathe oxygen. However, after the buds form, it is advisable to change to irrigation.

When chewing insects become prevalent, such at Diabrotica, Fuller's rose beetle, chrysanthemum green worm and others, give an occasional spraying with a material combining malathion and dieldrin.

The Decor Is Indian

When you step inside, however, you are immediately transported far away from Santa Fe Avenue. Instead you find yourself in the colorful, romantic world of old Sante Fe, N. M. This effect is achieved by more than a dozen large murals of New Mexico desert and Indian scenes and the restaurant's brilliant modern western style of architecture.

Owned by Gabriel (Bill) Dovalis and his wife, Goldie, Currie's Santa Fe quite naturally features cuisine which matches its decor. Since nothing is more western than charcoal-broiled steaks, Currie's serves beautiful special sirloins for $2.85; choice filet mignons for $3.50, as well as T-bones and extra-cut New Yorks.

The restaurant also features an extensive variety of sea food delicacies, tender roast prime rib au jus for $3.50, loin pork chops with spiced peach for $2.75 and handsome double French lamb chops for $3.50.

Always popular with the patrons is the "out-of-this-world" broiled ½ chicken for $2.50.

All of these entrees are accompanied by choice of tomato juice or soup du jur, large tossed green salad with choice of dressing, potatoes, toasted garlic cheese bread, and choice of beverage.

A large restaurant with seating for hundreds, Currie's Santa Fe has two banquet rooms and an impressive cocktail lounge.

Q. What happened to Rita Hayworth and Gary Merrill in Hong Kong? Will you tell the truth?—Carolee Lansing, Stockton, Calif.
A. After touring Southeast Asia together for a month, they had a spat and Merrill flew out of Hong Kong, leaving behind a note which said: "Rita, I'm sorry it has to be this way. I'm leaving."

Q. Is it true that the Christian Science Monitor would not report anything dealing with "materia medica" even if the medical world announced the authenticated news of a cure for cancer? — Irving M. Sandberg, Miami Beach, Fla.
A. Untrue. While not inclined to carry speculative reports on unproved "wonder" drugs or cures, the Monitor prints factual medical news, fully covered the Salk vaccine development.

Q. Who is the author of the expression "He is a foul-weather friend"?—Bernadine Houcard, Atlanta, Ga.
A. Winston Churchill said it of his close friend, Lord Beaverbrook.

Q. I'm a Little Leaguer and would like to know what was the longest home run ever hit—how far did it go, and who hit it?—G. Owens, Springfield, Ohio.
A. Babe Ruth's 587-foot home run, made in 1919 in an exhibition game between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox in Tampa, Fla.

Q. I would like to know the official home residence of both Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor.—A. Hirsch, Newark, N.J.
A. Switzerland.

Q. Has Franco of Spain signed with an American press agent to get him a better public image? Please identify the press agent if true.—N. Rosler, Duluth, Minn.
A. Communications Counsellors, Inc.

Q. Several weeks ago a family in Detroit sold $23,000,000 worth of General Motors stock. Which family, and where did they earn their money?—T. T., Ann Arbor, Mich.
A. Members of the Louis Mendelssohn family of Detroit sold 430,000 shares. Louis Mendelssohn was secretary-treasurer and a director of the Fisher Body Corporation before it was taken over by General Motors in 1926.

Q. Why was William Faulkner absent from the White House Nobel Prizewinners' Dinner?—B. C., Washington, D.C.
A. Faulkner, in Charlottesville, Va., at the time, declined, saying the trip to Washington was "a long way to go just to eat."

Q. Which major network TV shows have been cancelled so far for the coming season?—J. Hoffman, Seaford, N.Y.
A. GE Theater, Pete and Gladys, Window on Main Street, Ichabod and Me, Frontier Circus, Hennesey, Father Knows Best, Father of the Bride, Groucho Marx, The Investigators, Checkmate, Bob Cummings, Gertrude Berg, Follow the Sun, Lawman, Bus Stop, Adventures in Paradise, Expedition, Surfside Six, Calvin and the Colonel, New Breed, The Hathaways, Bachelor Father, The Roaring 20s, Target: the Corrupters, Top Cat, Straightaway, Margie, The Real McCoys, National Velvet, 87th Precinct, Thriller, Cain's Hundred, Outlaws, Robert Taylor's Detectives, Wells Fargo, Tall Man, Bob Newhart.

Q. How old is Tito of Yugoslavia, and is he really a great Don Juan? — Ronald Alvarez, Santa Barbara, Calif.
A. Tito is 70. He had that Don Juan reputation as a young man.

Q. Can you tell me anything about the feud between Samuel Goldwyn and William Wyler? — Ed Leavis, Baltimore, Md.
A. Wyler is suing Goldwyn for approximately $400,000, an amount allegedly due him. Wyler claims that as its director he was promised 20 per cent of the net profits of The Best Years of Our Lives.

Q. Wilhelmina, former Queen of the Netherlands—how old is she, and what is her current rank? — Jan Havenred, Chicago, Ill.
A. Wilhelmina, who will be 82 next month, is now Princess Wilhelmina, having relinquished the throne to her daughter, Queen Juliana.

Q. The new Lucille Ball TV program—what will it be about? Is Desi in it?—Jerry Weingarten, Oklahoma City, Okla.
A. Desi is not in it. Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance play two young widows with children, on the prowl for husbands.

RACE TO THE MOON

Will the risky, headlong Russian program put the moon behind the Iron Curtain? Or will our safer, more painstaking methods win the race?

WASHINGTON, D.C.

AT A RECENT RUSSIAN EMBASSY RECEPTION here, the German-American rocketeer Wernher von Braun and Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov drifted into a quiet corner and began talking shop. Titov spoke with great excitement about landing on the moon. He illustrated by bringing a pencil down with a weaving motion onto the palm of his hand. The pencil was a stubby Russian product as, he promised, would be the spaceship it symbolized. "The first men on the moon," he said confidently, "will be Russians."

Von Braun, who understands as well as any man the seriousness of the Russian challenge, did not take the boast lightly. Manned moonflight has been a Soviet goal since the early 1950s. Not until last year did it also become an official U.S. objective.

Our space scientists now believe they can land an American on the moon in 1965. The Russians, it is known, are aiming for 1967 (as a glorious climax to the 50th anniversary celebration of the Revolution).

Another Soviet Satellite?

Even on earth, we have seen what happens when the Russians get their foot in the door first. Ensconced on the moon, they may be even more difficult to dislodge. Russian science is reported to be seeking the means not only to build a permanent lunar base but to prohibit other explorers from landing, creating in the heavens yet another Soviet satellite.

Some skeptics doubt that any nation will place a man on the moon in our time. The problems in astrophysics, biology, communications, engineering, and guidance are truly staggering. (Austrian physicist Hans Thirring has compared the task to leveling the Rocky Mountains.) Others contemplate the hostile lunar landscape, tote up the $10 million a day the attempt will cost, and ask: "Why go to the moon at all?"

The answer lies, in part, in human inquisitiveness which has ever driven men to explore the unknown. The Space Age can no more be held back, say enthusiasts, than could have been the Industrial Revolution.

But there is a more compelling purpose: the simple fact that the Soviets are going to the moon forces us to compete. A Russian landing upon the moon, added to their other space firsts, would be an incalculable political and psychological setback for the West. It could destroy confidence in our leadership.

Military theorists warn, too, that the first nation to seize and hold the moon may also hold the earth in thrall. Its craters could become launching sites for the fantastic weapons of the future, its "hidden side" a base for space battleships. To be sure, the Russians deny that they have military designs upon the moon. But significantly, their space explorations are directed by Marshal K. S. Moskalenko, commander of the strategic rocket forces, whose military crews launched the cosmonauts into orbit.

Fortunately, the race for the moon is a relay race. Victory will not necessarily go to the side which makes the fastest start. But it would be foolhardy to deny that Russia's early start is an advantage, and the Russians have shown no disposition to give up their lead. Quite the contrary, they are reported to be taking extra risks to reach the moon first.

This has led to a controversy at the highest levels of American space science: Is the U. S. being too cautious in the space race? The great explorers of the past faced the fact that exploration was a dangerous occupation, and the great discoveries went to the daring. Have our modern explorers gone soft?

One group contends that free men place too high a value on life to risk it needlessly. A space tragedy might so shock public opinion, they warn, that it would set back space exploration for years. Therefore, they argue, risks should be reduced to a minimum; nothing should be left to chance.

But another group contends that Columbus would never have discovered America if he had been held back by the same conservatism that marks our space-work. "We have got to win the race to the moon, and we aren't going to fly there on a featherbed," declares one space authority.

Another charges that our space program is bedevilled by what he calls "the anti-shark-bite-spats approach." He explains: "During World War II, one policymaker came up with an astounding recommendation to protect our Pacific fliers against sharks. He suggested that they be issued metal spats, which would shield their legs after they hit the water until they could spread shark repellant around themselves. Of course, heavy, metal spats would have dragged the men to the bottom where they would have become shark bait for sure."

He claims our space capsules are similarly overloaded with safety systems and gadgets. "They carry just about everything," he says, "except a do-it-yourself surgical kit for emergency operations." He mentions 15 kinds of radio sets, electronic gear for every conceivable purpose. There is even a 300 pound periscope to give the astronaut a 360-degree look around. Yet he could see all he really needs to see through a simple porthole.

This expert believes the astronauts, themselves, are over trained and over schooled. Both John Glenn and Scott Carpenter have confessed that they spent hours training for emergencies that didn't arise, then had to invent on the-spot answers for those that did. The Russian cosmonauts go through far less painstaking preparation. They are also younger and less experienced. Most aren't even test pilots, have done comparatively little flying. But the expert contends that they learn faster, not only because of their youth, but because they have less to unlearn. For space flight is a new art and bears little relation to testing jets.

Both Russian and American scientists agree that the "rendezvous technique" would be the quickest means to the moon. The idea would be to send the moonship up in two sections, couple the segments together while in orbit, then dispatch the combination on to the moon. To carry three men to the moon would require a 75-ton moonship, a monster alongside the five-ton Russian Vostoks which are now the world's heaviest capsules.

The dramatic rendezvous of two rockets in orbit, bringing them together as they whirled around the world at 18,000 miles an hour, would require less power than a straight moon shot. But it would require split second timing and incredible control. A possible alternative: put a mother capsule into orbit around the moon, then detach a landing pod containing the lunar explorers. The pod would contain its own engine for getting back into orbit and rejoining the mother capsule for the voyage back to earth.

The lunar orbit technique would be simpler for the scientists, therefore quicker to achieve, but more dangerous for the astronauts. They might get stranded on the moon without enough rocket power to take them back to earth. Typically, the Russians are reported to be working on the riskier but speedier lunar technique while the Americans are concentrating on the safer method.

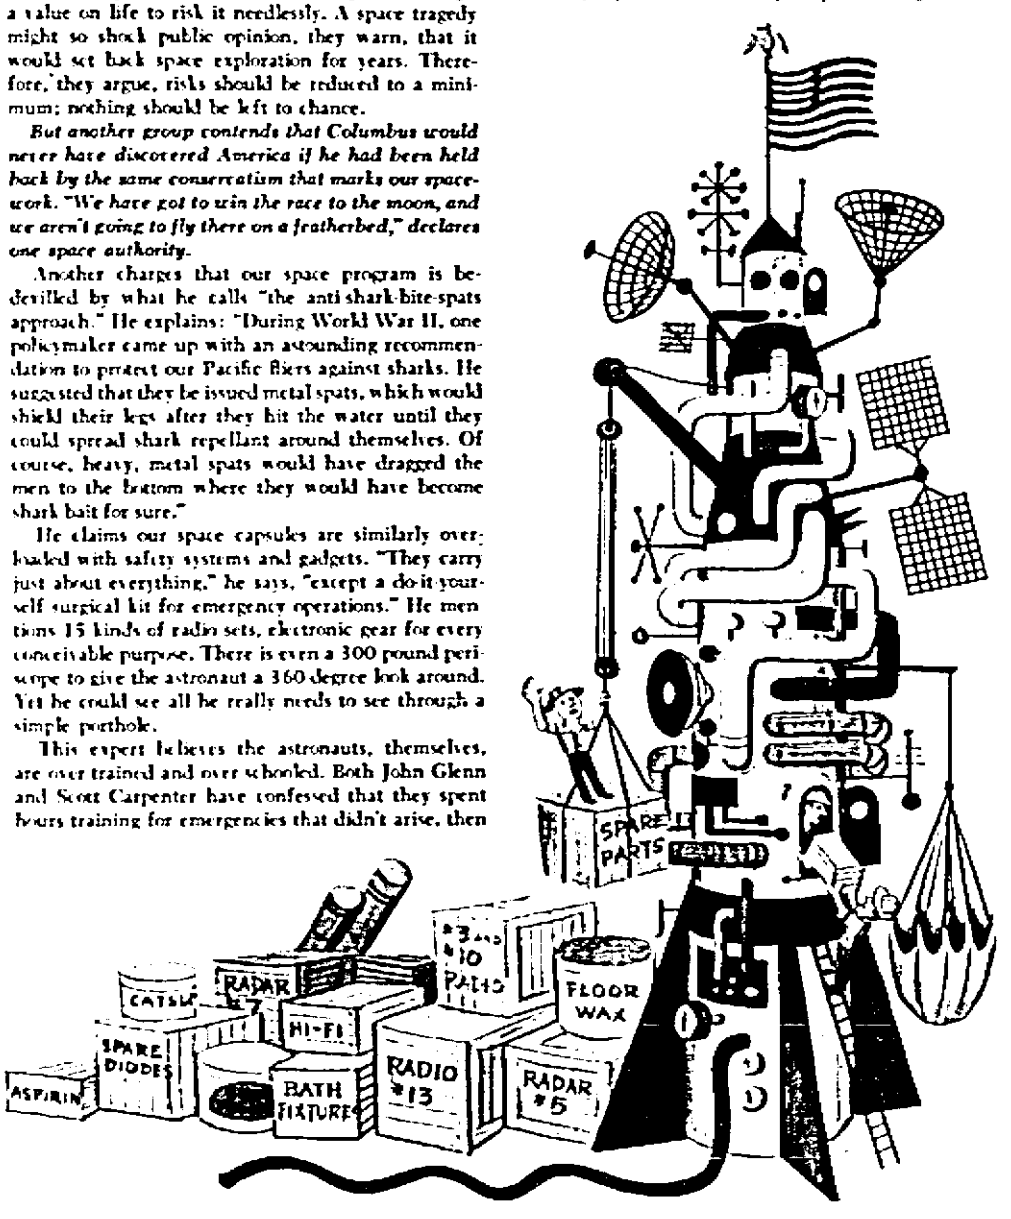

Another report from behind the Iron Curtain indicates that the Russians may also train lady cosmonauts for the moon journey. The practical Soviets are less concerned with skill than with weight, and women are generally lighter than men. But the American authorities still look upon space exploration as men's work.

Stakes May Be Too High

Despite Soviet willingness to put victory ahead of safety, the U. S. can't be counted out of the moon race. Hints have appeared in Russian writings that the stakes may have gotten too high for the Kremlin, that the massive cost of the moon project is beginning to slow the Soviet effort. But others warn that the Russians are sparing no cost to beat us to the moon. "The results of their research will soon become painfully apparent," warns an Air Force general familiar with the Soviet program. "It may come as a shock to those who prefer complacency to realism."

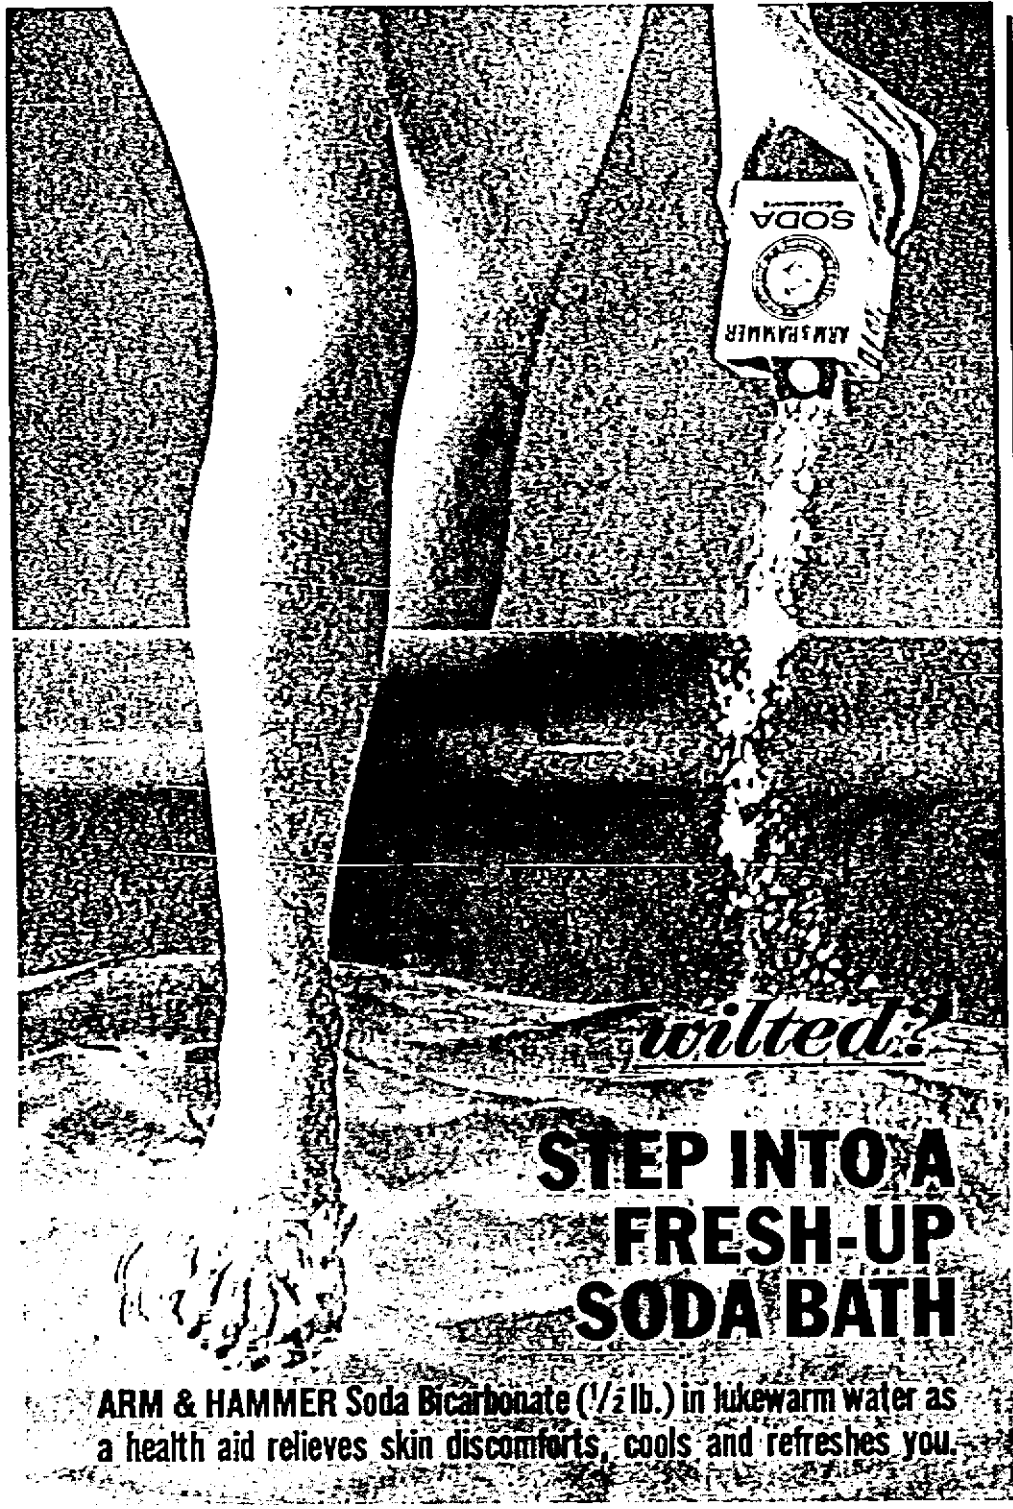

But most of the 435,000 men and women now being mobilized to work on the space projects within the government and industry are anything but complacent. Slow in starting, the U. S. is getting ready for its own sprint. We are now outspending the Russians and can do so indefinitely. Our astronauts are as eager to land on the moon as the cosmonauts.

The moon is by no means certain to fall behind the Iron Curtain. But it could go to the Russians by default if we let over-caution hamper our efforts. Perhaps the answer—and the victory—lies in giving the astronauts, the men who will go to the moon, more say about the equipment they want and the risks they will accept. After all, they were the first to warn that all space shots won't be successful, the last to demand a foolproof guarantee of Safety First. ■

Is she another Ingrid Bergman?

Ulla runs in France. Happily wed, she puts love ahead of career.

by LLOYD SHEARER

VIENNA.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO I asked a Hollywood casting director what quality he would look for first in any young, photogenic movie actress. Immediately he answered, "A 38-inch bust."

I pointed out that Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergman, two of the world's most enduring screen stars, had never been so bountifully endowed. He conceded, but then asked, "How about Marilyn Monroe and Elizabeth Taylor?" I agreed that he had a point, or rather a curve, in those two cases, but I suggested the likelihood that the public was rapidly getting fed up with sexpots and sex-oriented films.

He agreed and said that all Hollywood casting directors were now searching desperately for actresses who generated "clean, wholesome sex appeal, the respectful, romantic kind which attracts men but doesn't antagonize women." In the trade this is known as "the Bergman quality."

As Fresh As Mint

One actress who exudes it is Ulla Jacobsson, a small stalk of Swedish loveliness with deep blue eyes, dark blonde hair, and the flawless complexion of a new born rose. A European screen and stage star of 29 who gives men the impression that she has spent the previous night on a bed of mint, Ulla recently finished her first American made film, The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm with Charles Boyer, Ricardo Montalban, Glenn Ford and Hope Lange. For the most part it was shot on the French Riviera; and Ulla was so good in this film, so professional, so cooperative, so naturally feminine and friendly that by the time it was over, she had become the darling of the crew, and another leading actress in the cast, reportedly consumed by jealousy, refused to speak to her.

"It is very funny," Ulla recalled in English, tainted by her half-Swedish, half-German accent. "This actress, she will not talk to me; and Glenn Ford, he will not talk to me when he is with her. She cannot think that I try to steal Glenn from her. I have wonderful husband of my own."

Ulla Jacobsson (pronounced Yakobson) is that rare creature—a woman who honestly believes she can make a success of both acting and wifehood. Here in this once-picturesque Austrian capital she is married to Winfried Rohsmann, a well known ethnologist (ethnology is the science which deals with the characteristics and origins of different races). They have two children, Ditte, a girl of seven, and Martin, a boy of five.

Rohsmann lectures all over Europe, and Ulla likes to travel with him. "I limit myself," she explains, "to two jobs a year. When a very good part comes, there is temptation to take it, but I refuse, even if it hurts I refuse because every woman must ask herself, 'For me what is most important in life?' I love success. I love make myself something. But I love more my husband and children.

"You know what we do this summer? We put packs on our backs and climb mountains and walk across open country and sleep in haystacks under open sky. I know it is not the way Hollywood stars spend vacation, but I am not Hollywood star.

"I was there once five days and what I remember best is place where they sell so much food—the Farmer's Market."

Because she is considered another Ingrid Bergman with all the qualities that made Bergman so great a star at the box office, Ulla has been offered several Hollywood contracts. Martin Poll, who produced The Grand Duke and Mr. Pimm, would like to place her under personal contract, but the shapely little Swedish actress—5 feet-1, 108 lbs., 34-23-33—will accept no long term deals even though she has been a dedicated actress since she was 15.

Ulla was born in Gothenburg, Sweden. She was one of four girls in a group of 48 candidates chosen to attend the famed Gothenburger Theatre School. She was discovered for Swedish films by director Arne Mattson who saw her on the Stockholm stage, signed her for One Summer of Madness.

Ingmar Bergman, Sweden's so-called directorial genius, then called her for Smiles of a Summer Night, a film that won both of them international acclaim. After that, Ulla was signed for plays and films all over Europe. In 1952 she met Winfried Rohsmann, and married him. They maintain two apartments, one in Vienna, one in Gothenburg.

As an actress Ulla is best known in Europe for her realism and "healthy sex appeal." Says Charles Boyer: "She is one of those enormously gifted Swedish girls like Garbo, Bergman, Viveca Lindfors, Signe Hasso. She has training, beauty, dignity, sex appeal and the acting talent to make any scene, no matter how unreal, come alive. If she were ambitious, Ulla could become one of the truly great stars of our time. All she needs is a Hollywood buildup."

And that of course is the one thing Ulla Jacobsson does not want. She realizes that in so many cases a Hollywood buildup turns out to be nothing but a big bust. ■ compounded with undecylenic acid, a standard Athlete's Foot Treatment used by the U.S. ARMY!

DESENEX!

MEDICAL SCIENTISTS REPORT:
"amazing results" "dramatic improvement"*

Probably nowhere is the control of athlete's foot more important than in the Army, Navy and Air Force, with millions of men in service. Thanks to a remarkable preparation, it no longer is the problem it once was.

The treatment (undecylenic acid) is so simple and dependable, it is now a standard Athlete's Foot Treatment used by the U.S. Armed Forces!

This Desenex treatment is also most often prescribed and recommended by physicians, for it works where others often fail. It promises new freedom from athlete's foot itching, pain and danger of spreading, as evidenced by clinical studies involving over 6200 men and women.*

What Desenex does

Desenex seeks out, attacks and kills not only common athlete's foot fungi, but also checks bacteria that often cause more stubborn cases. Maddening itch is relieved, healing rapidly promoted. Simply use Desenex Ointment at night; Powder during day. It's guaranteed to work or money back! Desenex—at all drug counters.

*Clinical results were described professionally as "dramatic," "immediate," even "amazing." Key facts from these studies by leading hospitals, medical schools and clinics are available to your physician or your foot specialist.

Townsfolk kick off clean-up program. Man with mop in foreground, second from right, is Gov. Barron.

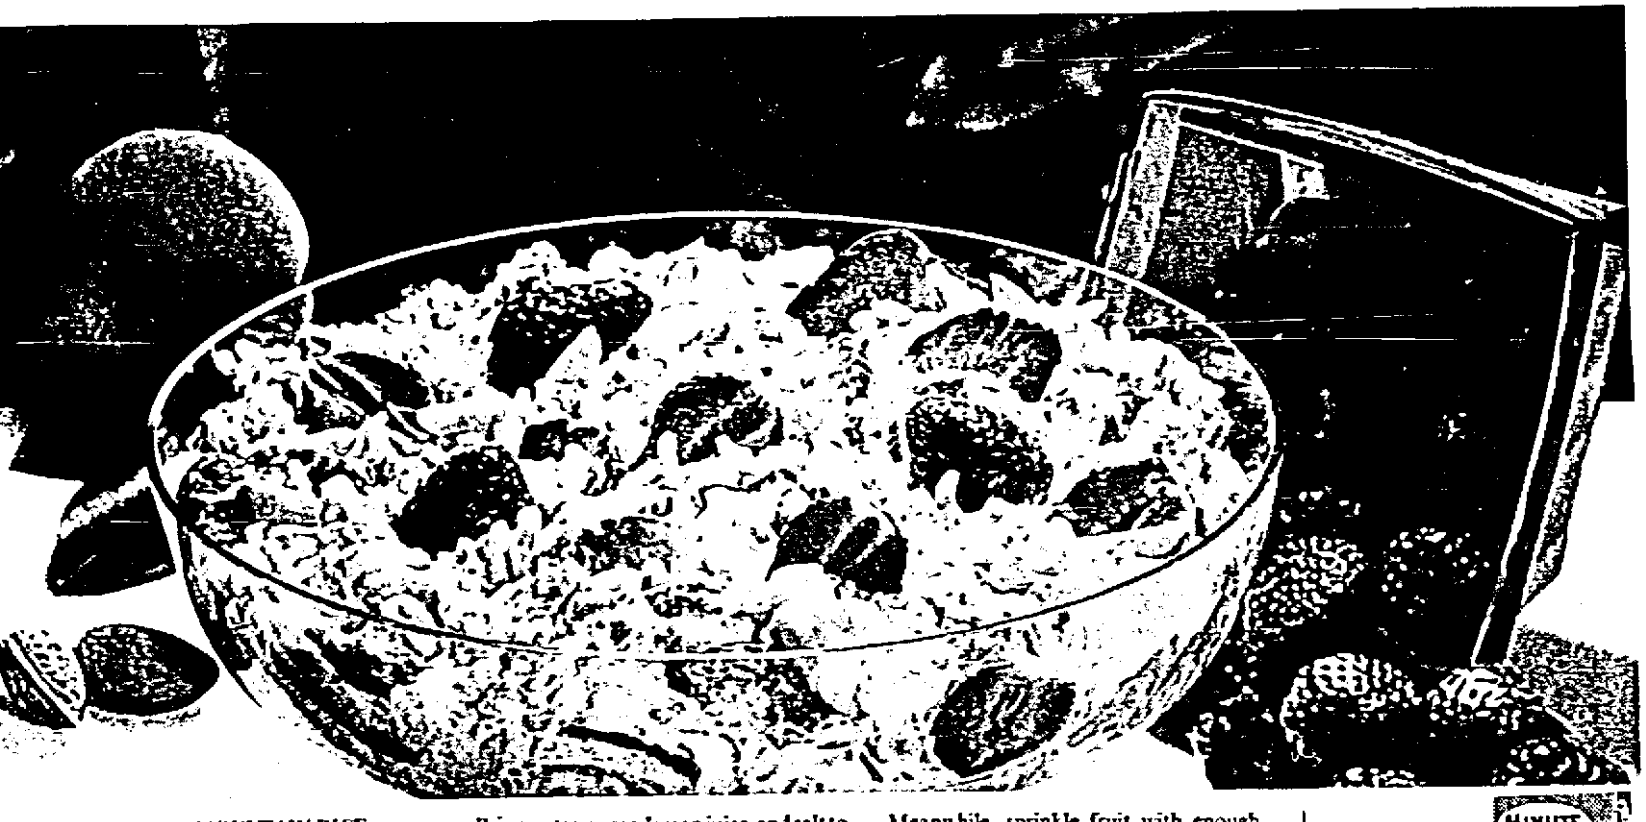

the BIG SWEEP

ELKINS, W. VA.

COULD YOUR TOWN use a face-lifting? If so, take a hint from West Virginia, where it's clean-up time from the panhandle to the highlands. The new state pastime is mop-up, scrub-up, paint-up, fix-up and pick-up from now on through the winter snows. West Virginia is out to capture the "Keep America Beautiful" award, but more important, it wants to start '63, its centennial year, with a brand new face.

While Operation Clean-Up has been in effect throughout the state for a year and a half, the campaign has taken on new vigor ever since this community of 8,300—home town of Gov. William W. Barron—rolled up its sleeves in an all-out effort to be the cleanest town in the state. That was on May 4; now other communities are competing for best-scrubbed honors.

Eight years ago when Gov. Barron was mayor of Elkins, he took a broom down the main street to dramatize the need for keeping the community tidy looking. This year the whole town pitched in on a voluntary basis to spruce up the streets, stores, public buildings and homes. Jailhouse inmates cleaned their cells; ladies got out on the highway and distributed litter bags to motorists entering Elkins; schoolchildren, carrying brooms, brushes and mops, paraded down the street and the whole town came out in a mass demonstration to Keep Elkins Clean. If your town needs sprucing too, try a clean-up. Write for free help and information to: National Clean up—Paint-up—Fix up Bureau, 1500 Rhode Island Ave. NW, Washington 5, D.C. Then grab a mop and pitch in. —ROSALIND MASSOW

1 cup water • ¼ cup sugar • ¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt • 1 cup Minute Rice
2 cups summer fruit (such as strawberries, peaches, raspberries, or a combination)
¼ cup slivered almonds • 1½ cups whipped cream or prepared Dream Whip Dessert Topping Mix

Bring water, sugar, lemon juice, and salt to a boil. Stir in long-grain Minute Rice, right from the box. Because you don't boil it first, Minute Rice can gather in all the tart-sweet flavors—and do it so fast, none can steal away. Cover, remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Uncover, stir, cool thoroughly. Meanwhile, sprinkle fruit with enough sugar to sweeten. Let stand while rice is cooling. Then drain fruit, measuring ¼ cup juice; add this to rice along with fruit and nuts. Fold whipped cream or prepared Dream Whip Dessert Topping Mix into rice mixture. Serves 8 grateful people.

Try new Minute Spanish Rice Mix, too. Delicious spice, seasonings, rice —right in the box.

A chocolate cake for summer

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

A rich chocolate cake "baked" right in your refrigerator is our cool contribution to your summer menu. This luscious cake is easy to make, requiring very little cooking—a fact which makes it especially welcome in warm weather. Serve our chocolate refrigerator cake after a light meal of jellied consommé, lamb chops, green peas and tossed salad. Make your beverage tea or coffee.

CHOCOLATE REFRIGERATOR CAKE

20 lady fingers
½ lb. sweet cooking chocolate
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream, divided

Line straight-sided loaf pan, 11 x 4 x 2½-inches, with waxed paper, leaving overhang. Separate lady fingers. Place 8 halves in a row in bottom of pan. Melt chocolate over hot water; remove from heat; add egg yolks one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Add vanilla. Whip ½ cup cream; fold in. Spread ¼ chocolate mixture on lady fingers in pan. Add another row of lady finger halves. Repeat until there are 4 layers of chocolate. Top with remaining lady fingers. Chill several hours or overnight. Lift cake from pan with waxed paper overhang. Remove waxed paper. Place on serving dish. Whip remaining cream. Frost sides of cake. Makes 8 servings.

SPENCER GIFTS 47 E. Spencer Bldg., Atlantic City, N. J.

by MARY V. R. THAYER

MACAO.

RECENTLY the eyes of the free world have been focused on Hong Kong, where a sudden horde of refugees, fleeing from famine-ridden Communist China, has poured into the city looking for food and freedom.

Here in Macao, however, the desperate influx of Chinese refugees is an old story. Each day for more than 10 years, a steady trickle of starved and disillusioned Chinese has crossed the border into this bustling, tightly-packed Portuguese colony 35 miles west of Hong Kong. Instead of being turned away by local authorities, these refugees find a haven here. And the man they turn to for shelter and relief is a Catholic priest, Father Luis Ruiz, known throughout Southeast Asia as the "Chaplain of Refugees."

A chunky, handsome Spaniard with red cheeks, Father Ruiz radiates strength and optimism, works an 18 hour day, seems to buoy other people up with his own extraordinary vitality. His headquarters here is a ramshackle villa called Casa Ricci, founded as a refugee center in 1951 by Ruiz and other missionaries who had been kicked out of Red China.

In his office, Father Ruiz showed me his card file with snapshots of every refugee family—10,000 of them—that has passed through Casa Ricci. "We give every new arrival a shirt, trousers and sandals," he said. "The women get dresses—or cloth to make a Chinese trouser and tunic. We feed everyone for 10 days. This gives them stamina and cheers them up. Then we make a serious effort to get them jobs."

Blind Man's Story

He took me out into the hall, already crowded with refugees, and pointed out a blind man. "That's a sad case," Father Ruiz said. "This young man—he's 34—was director of a district school, and therefore very valuable to the Communists. A year or so ago his eyesight began to fail. He asked permission to leave Red China for treatments and was turned down. But three months ago, when he went completely blind, the Reds tossed him over the border."

Father Ruiz opened a drawer. Inside were stacked small packets of money. He pressed one into the blind man's hand.

"My emergency funds," he explained to me. "To rent a bed in a crowded room this young man must pay four U.S. dollars a month. I'm tiding him over until he can learn a new trade. Hundreds of the blind are being expelled from Red China these days for being unproductive."

Father Ruiz' pockets have become a legend in Macao. He always seems to be able to find a little more money in them for a bowl of rice for one more person. Recently Casa Ricci was plagued by a series of thefts—but the only thing stolen each time was Father Ruiz' pants! To the thieves, these pants with their pockets seemed like a Christmas stocking.

"Let's talk to some of those who escaped across the frontier last night," Ruiz said to me. He inched his way through a crowd who reached out distraught hands, trying to stop him. Three older women, painfully thin and shabby, chattered shrilly at him.

"They have a brother in Hong Kong who could help them, but they can't write him because they don't have the money for a stamp," Father Ruiz told me. He reached in his pocket, handed them a few coins. "Those who get exit visas are allowed to take one Red Chinese dollar out. These old ladies were half starved when they arrived, and blew their dollars on food."

Finally we managed to reach one of the less crowded rooms. Two young men, neatly dressed in the mission's Western shirts and trousers, stood up as the priest entered. They had swum the river the night before—the river that divides Macao, a peninsula, from mainland China. "I try to give special help to those who escape by swimming," Ruiz whispered to me, "because they're the bravest."

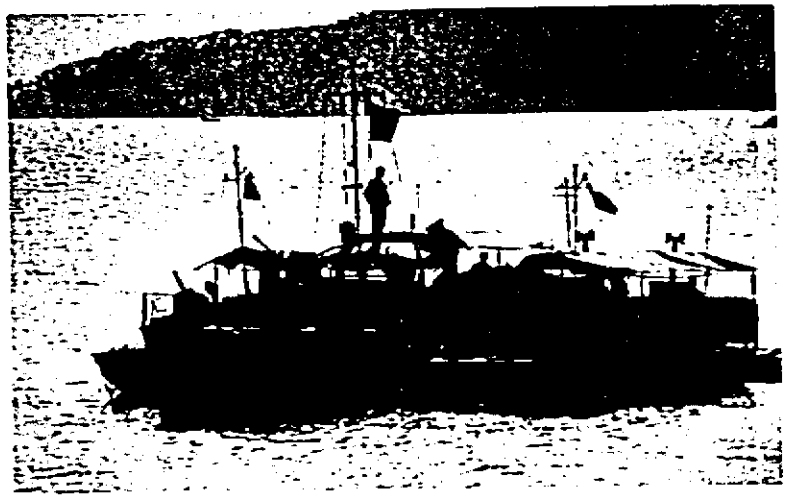

The young men, 24 and 31, were thin, undernourished, but not starving. The story they told was to become increasingly familiar as I talked to dozens of refugees. This had been their second escape attempt. The first time they were captured and given three months of forced labor.

They were farmers; everything they produced went to their commune, and they were paid in rice on the basis of work accomplished. Usually they earned a six-ounce serving twice a day. They hadn't tasted meat in years, and fish only on Chinese New Year's Day, when a three-ounce portion was rationed to everyone. They foresaw sure starvation unless they quit Red China before the autumn harvest.

A Daring Escape

"This was a good week to escape," explained the younger one, "because the moon is dim." He said they had walked six hours each night until they were opposite Macao. They had a friend with them. He couldn't swim, so they rigged him a life belt of plastic balls. "When the guards spotted us and started shooting, we held our breath and swam under water. But our friend couldn't, and was killed."

Since they were good looking Chinese, I asked if they were married. "Married?"

FATHER

RUIZ The fabulous priest of Macao

exclaimed the 11-year-old in astonishment. "We can't even support ourselves—so how could we get married?"

"What about the girls," I asked, "don't they want to leave too?"

"Everyone wants to leave Red China," they cried, "but it's a hard trip for girls."

As we turned away, Father Ruiz told me that the initial money to run Casa Ricci comes from Catholic Welfare. The rest must come from private appeals—enough to cover expenses of more than $15,000 a month in direct help alone.

"We used to get such wonderful clothes from the Catholic Welfare," sighed the priest, "but those sent us now are often very worn and useless. And we're so short of men's clothing that I've given most of mine away." Children, too, have to be educated.

But even as he confided these worries to me, Father Ruiz seemed cheerful, convinced that with enough compassion and love of life he could truly accomplish anything for the helpless, desperate thousands who trust in him. ■

How you can help Red China's refugees

AT MACAO AND HONG KONG, the world has seen the desperate faces of men, women and children who have been living under Chinese Communist rule. We must show these people we care about them.

A group of private citizens, headed by Mrs. Claire L. Chennault, widow of the famed Flying Tigers founder, have formed Chinese Refugee Relief to help them. Honorary co-chairmen are ex-Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman; secretary is Jack Anderson, PARADE's Washington correspondent; treasurer is David Lee, a Washington businessman.

You can give a bowl of rice to a hungry refugee, take a homeless orphan off the streets, send medicine to those suffering from malnutrition. Send your contribution to CHINESE REFUGEE RELIEF, C/O POSTMASTER, WASHINGTON 13, D.C.

When childhood constipation occurs

More mothers use Fletcher's Castoria than any other laxative

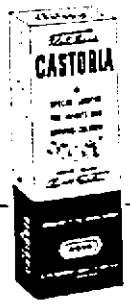

Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too. Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances . . . the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.

It takes a child's laxative to fulfill a child's needs

Make milk a meal-time habit, as the wisest families now do. The fresh clean taste of cool milk goes so well with your favorite foods. And it balances your diet, for milk and milk products are one of the four basic food groups you need each day. You never outgrow your need for the nutrients in milk... so keep milk on your table each day...it's the pitcher of health.

REPRESENTING THE DAIRY FARMERS IN YOUR AREA

EDITOR'S NOTE: Marty Ingels, 26, a raspy-voiced redhead, is a bright, freckle-faced comedian who will appear this fall on a new TV situation comedy series, I'm Dickens—He's Fenster. Brooklyn-born, Ingels is one of those human beings who simply look funny, so that people laugh at him without his having to say anything. Marty studied acting at the Pasadena Playhouse and was given his big break by Jerry Lewis who two years ago cast him in Ladies' Man. Since then Ingels has appeared on TV, in movies, and at night clubs giving out with such gags as these.

My favorite jokes

The veteran paratrooper was high in the air instructing a group of young recruits before their first jump. "You line up close together, clip your chute hook to the wire above your right shoulder, jump off, yell 'Geronimo' and hold tight as the chute opens."

One by one the recruits jumped till the plane was empty. The instructor closed the door, took a deep breath, and sat down to light a cigarette. Suddenly came a loud knock on the door. The instructor opened it and there hanging from one hand was one of the young recruits who asked, rather apologetically, "What was the name of that Indian again?"

A hungry drunk walked into the automat, put ten dollars in nickels and dimes into the slots, and soon had two tables piled high with food. The manager walked over to him and said, "Come on, buddy, get out of here. You're drunk!"

"Oh, no you don't," replied the lush. "Not when I'm on a winning streak!"

"I'm going to enter my dog in the dog show."

"Do you think he'll win anything?"

"No, but he'll meet some nice dogs."

A highly publicized Hollywood sex pot was stopping at a New York hotel. She had just stepped out of the bathtub and was reaching for a towel when she noticed a window-washer at the window. At the same moment, he happened to look in at her. The glamor girl, too paralyzed to move, kept staring at the man on the ledge.

"Watcha lookin' at?" he finally asked. "Aintcha ever seen a window-washer before?"

A grimly determined inventor, undaunted by a series of grisly failures, kept working away on a long range automobile powered by electricity instead of gasoline. He dashed triumphantly into the Explorers' Club in New York one evening and cried, "I've done it! All the way here from Mexico City without a single mishap!"

Pressed for a report on the cost of the trip, the inventor replied, "Exactly $3955.88—three dollars for electricity, and $3952.88 for the extension cord."

A California home-owner, using his new outdoor barbecue for the first time, was whistling away happily. Turning the roasted chicken on the spit, he whistled louder and longer as the bird grew browner. A passing drunk, struck by the happy sounds, staggered to the gate and watched the happy whistler cranking away.

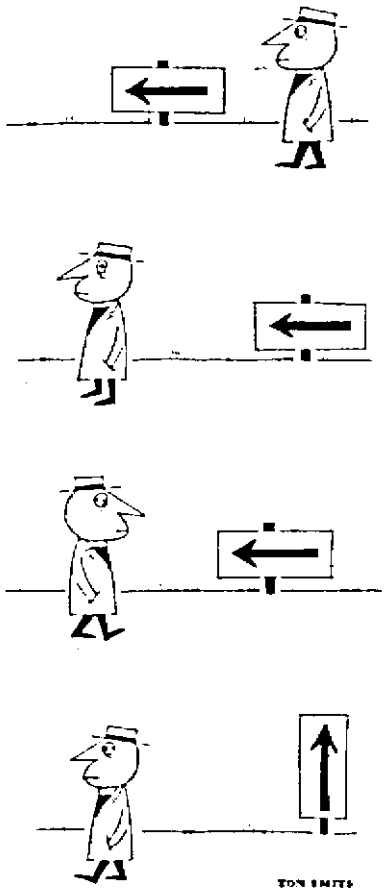

"The music's fine," the inebriate yelled approvingly, "but you're burning the monkey."

During a house call, Mrs. Smith kept chattering to her doctor until he finally interrupted and said, "Now, please, Mrs. Smith, put this thermometer under your tongue and keep your mouth closed for two minutes."

When the doctor later removed the thermometer from his patient's mouth, her interested husband, who had been standing by, motioned the physician to one side. "Say," he asked, "what will you take for that gadget? —It's marvelous!"

Little boy to his mother after returning from a ride to the grocery store with his father: "We passed two idiots, three morons, four damnfools, and I don't know how many knotheads."

ANECDOTE of the WEEK

Victor Borge has a favorite bet—that he can tell time by piano. A few days ago while working in Las Vegas he made that bet with Stan Irwin, entertainment director of the Sahara. Borge sat down at a piano in his room and began banging out some hot boogie-woogie. Immediately there came a pounding on the wall and a sleepy voice shouted, "Cut out that noise, you damn fool. It's 2:30 in the morning!"
